EDITORIAL COMMENT

One thing sure, Saugeen council does not believe in law suits. Last year their expenditure in legal matters was but $1.

Sir George E. Foster says everyone must begin to save. We believe it, and it should begin with the government of which Sir George forms a part.

A good reviewer makes money out of the dogs, and Saugeen council has quite a nice little money-making scheme in its dog tax. Over $200 was collected last year and only one claim against the dogs of $4.33.

Bruce Township made Reeve Johnson and his councillors a present of another term without opposition. Bruce township is one of the big ones of the county and with its municipal telephone system ranks as one of the foremost townships in the province. We congratulate the worthy reeve and his councillors on the confidence the electors have in them, and hope that their term of office may be a busy and fruitful one.

Henry Dent was given a presentation last week. Henry is the telephone operator at Underwood central, and the fact that the subscribers in that district saw fit to present him with a well-filled purse was simply the best kind of service rewarded. Henry's reply was: "He believed he was only doing his duty." If this little affair had been known The Times is sure there are many who are not in the immediate vicinity of Underwood, but who are glad of Mr. Dent's prompt service and happy "belle" would have been glad to have helped to make the purse overflow.

Councillor Cottrill in his address before the electors at nomination said he would like to see the council place the water main to the property of anyone who desires to use it, whether he be poor or not. It has been the custom of persons who live a block or more from the main to assist the council in digging the trench. Whether this is good or bad practice is another question. Certainly Councillor Cottrill was in line with the proper businesslike way, but it seems that in several of these cases that only one tap, which would bring a revenue of about three dollars a year, would be used, whereas the cost of installation might use up that revenue for many years. We believe that many of the people who have helped the town in extending the water main have done so willingly and have been satisfied. In towns our size and where houses are widely scattered, it may not be the business way of doing it to ask the user to help, but it is the custom, and rather helpful, too.

The suggestion of Councillor Reid, in urging the ratepayers to seriously consider the paying of a couple of blocks on Godditch street, has taken hold among our citizens who are anxious to see progress. This same suggestion has been made, and is adhered to yet by our esteemed clerk, D. Geddes. The street is level, the conditions warrant the putting in of concrete as the minimum of cost, and when the past expenditure has been taken into consideration, it would be cheaper in the long run. It would be well for the business men on the street to consider the question seriously. We believe all our citizens are interested, and, as Mr. Reid hinted, a lot of gratis work would no doubt be tendered. The splendid condition of Lakeshore park is the result of the personal work of some of the business men who interested all the town and country, with the result that we have a park not equaled in any of the towns in Canada. Let the concreting of our front street be much on the minds of our men during the beginning of this year, and perhaps when the good weather comes it may culminate in one of the finest front streets of any of the towns.

LIQUOR IN SASKATCHEWAN

"The Dispensary system established in Saskatchewan by the Scott Government is the subject of attack from many quarters and of approval from many different sources. It is doubtful, however, if the system will endure in Saskatchewan or will be adopted by any other of the Canadian Provinces. Mr. Scott's opponents describe the dispensaries as Boozoriums and insist that they chiefly dispense Scott's Enthusiasm." The above is taken from the Toronto News, and is one of the little ways in which The News seeks to assist the liquor interests. If the opponents of Mr. Scott thus describe the dispensaries in Saskatchewan is it necessarily true? Does The News have to give publication until it finds out? Or is it just a little habit it has of discouraging the temperance movement.

SAUGEEN TOWNSHIP AFFAIRS

The fact that the town hall, where the Saugeen township men held their nominations, was crowded, was an evidence of interest, but a better evidence that the ratepayers are thinking about their affairs is brought to notice in the fact that there are always a goodly number of responsible men nominated and generally they stand.

It may be true that acclamations are compliments, but to be honest, is it not true that acclamations are also a pretty fair sign of indifference. But there is no indifference on the part of the men of Saugeen.

The points under discussion which seem to be uppermost in the minds of the men who addressed the gathering were mainly regarding roads, but Warden McConnell touched on a new subject, that of the publication of the assessment of each ratepayer in the voters' list. This would be a decided innovation. It might be vigorously opposed by some, but whether in town or township we believe the idea is good, and will soon be mine. Not one ratepayer in a hundred has the means of finding out the assessment of another unless he takes the trouble to go to the clerk's office and inspect the roll. The warden's contention was that there was altogether too much evasion of taxes through the neglect of improving property, some believing that they could save money by letting their buildings run down, while the man who took sufficient interest in his township to improve his property, was saddled with the greater burden for his public-spiritedness. The publication of the assessments would show whether or not there was a fair assessment, at least it would create discussion and publicity, and most errors are corrected after that.

A glance at the financial statement shows a good condition. There is no debenture debt, and a surplus of $2600 this year. The county rates for 1914 were quite heavy, amounting to $4,837.96, while the payment for school purposes were nearly $5,000. Telephone rates of the Bruce Municipal System and local improvement debentures paid by the parties benefited required another thousand dollars, leaving the expenditures controlled by the council at about $7500.

But while councils may not have control of all the expenditures, it is a good thing that councillors and ratepayer should be inquisitive about the accounts. The expenditure which is put on to the people is labelled "uncontrolled," is no good reason that there should not be enquiry and the wide-awake towns and townships are the ones which are looking into all sides of public affairs.

The township of Saugeen's rate this year, was still mill lower than last year, and the new council has a nice balance to begin business with. The rates were about the same as for several years past, with the exception of the Provincial war tax.

Saugeen councillors as a general rule have proved themselves capable men. It is not the wisest thing to decide not to spend money. There must be judicious expenditure. The men who aim only to have a surplus and let the affairs of the township go to pieces, are not working in the best interests of the people they represent, and it is satisfactory to know that the roads, bridges, etc., in Saugeen are in fairly good shape. They are not being neglected and the good council is the one that keeps the township up to a high standard of efficiency through personal oversight and interest, and in keeping in touch with the various deeds and desires of the people of the township which it represents.

At the annual school meeting of S. S. No. 1, B. A. M., Mr. John Scott, was the retiring trustee, but he was returned for duty. The other men are J. W. Grant and S. A. Fleming.

S. S. No. 1 Saugeen school meeting was held as usual last week. Mr. Ewald wished to retire, and his place was taken by Mr. H. G. Daniels. The board now consists of Messrs. E. E. Lidd, Loeder and Daniels.

Brant Pioneer Dead

Mr. John Gowanlock, one of the very first settlers of Brant, passed peacefully away at his home in Walkerton on Monday afternoon at the advanced age of 81 years. The deceased, whose maiden name was Jane Armstrong, was born on the border of Scotland and England, and when still in her teens came with her parents to Canada. She was married near Hamilton in 1846 to her late husband, Mr. Robert Gowanlock, and in 1848 they migrated to Brant Township, which was still a forest and had not yet been put on the market for settlement. They made the journey from Durham by canoe, and passed by the only house which was then in Hallowell. The couple later discovered that there was only one house about this time in the township. A few families had come into the township, but they and their families had not yet arrived. Mr. Gowanlock taking on the land on the north side of the township, he lived on a small farm, and a splendid farm and where for over half a century he lived, prospered and when he finally passed away in 1908. On the death of her husband, Mrs. Gowanlock left Brant, where she was highly respected, to become a resident of Walkerton. Her death on Monday last, while not unexpected, is deeply regretted. She was 81 years of age and was left to mourn as follows: William and S. B. Robertson and George of Deloraine, N. B.; Blake of Winterton, Sask.; James of Toronto; and of Mrs. Hill, Mrs. J. A. McCall and Miss Christina of Walkerton.

U. B. Services

Prof. C. W. H. Range, President of Central College, Huntington, Ind. gave a splendid address in the U. B. Church on Christmas eve, and for the space of an hour and a half kept the audience in rapt attention as he unfolded the great need of man to find his place in this vast universe and to allow the God of love to direct his steps day by day both in preparing him for his work and in giving him daily grace to accomplish it as such a manner as is pleasing to his Father in heaven and to help his fellowman in building character that will stand the great test.

The Professor claims that man can acquire whatever he wills if he wants it badly enough.

He made a strong plea to the young to do their bit to get prepared for the great battle of life and there do their best daily.

The careful listener will surely benefit by the visit of the President of Central College, and no doubt the college will be much more than ever under the management of Prof. Range.

Hockey

Port Elgin has not entered a team in the Northern League, but they have in team just the same, and one that is trimmed up the Paisley lancers to the tune of 12 to 8 on Thursday night last. They defeated last year and left the local club with all the advertising expenses on their hands. The team which is representing the town is composed of the following: Mr. H. H. P. Macdonald, Black, W. Hendry, E. Aldout, P. Howe.

The late Alex C. Campbell

The death occurred at Tenino, Washington, last week of Alexander C. Campbell, a former resident of Saugeen. He is survived by three daughters and one son. Angus, who with his sisters, Miss Anna and Mrs. Peterson, came on a large successful business to Tenino.

The late Mr. Campbell was a man of high character and a strong personality. He was a member of the Baptist church, and much concerned in its welfare. He was a Liberal, and a student of public affairs. The youngest daughter, Mrs. W. H. P. Macdonald, is now a part of the state. Among those from a distance who attended the funeral were Mr. Eddy, (nee Miss McNeill) from Almonte, Washington, and John Gordon, New Westminster, B. C.

"As a loyal Canadian, and a former Port Elgin boy, I have often thought that a more practical proof of my loyalty to the Empire would be fitting at this time. I have therefore sent $2 to add my little, and to hope for the success of the Allies in this noble war, forced upon the world by Kaiserism."

J. H. Busch Writes from the West

To the Editor of The Times:

Dear Sir—Enclosed find my renewal to read of 1918. We take great pleasure in reading the old home paper, and eager to look forward to its coming every week. We like the local and the letters from the heroes at the front. I think the Port boys have done well to strike out and fight for King and country, and no doubt many more will go.

The west has harvested a bumper crop but the farmer may as well have a bushel crop as a 20. Last year was a poor crop, but I got 98. A bushel for what I sold at three dollars and 33 for what I sold at 40 cents. It's a good crop, but we can't get No. 8. Other years we would get No. 1 hard. For this year's sample.

We are just in for weather and we are all healthy in this clear climate. Wishing all who know my wife and I, a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Henry Dent Honored

Henry Dent, the man who is always there with the deep "hello" at the Underwood central, was honored on Christmas eve by the Underwood subscribers to the Bruce Municipal System presenting him with an address and a well filled purse.

In his reply Henry was grateful to his many friends and summed it up in a few words by saying he "thought he was only doing his duty."

Following is the address:

Dear Friend:
We, subscribers of the Bruce Municipal Telephone System having Underwood as our central desire to express our sincere appreciation of the excellent service you have rendered our whole community in the central office. You have all ways been on the job and have performed the arduous, insistent, and trying duties of your office with unfailing urbanity and good temper. Your unchanging gentleness and readiness to serve the subscribers to the fullest extent of your power we could not fail to note.

It has become common to hear it said that Underwood has such a central operator, that it would be hard to imagine the possibility of a better.

We have met with you to night therefore the purpose of conveying to you our high appreciation of your service, and of yourself.

We desire your acceptance of this address as a tangible token of our esteem. We wish you a very enjoyable Christmas and a long and prosperous life.

In the name, and on behalf of the subscribers we append our names,
David Wintu
Jas. Schmidt
H. D. McNaughton

Mrs. Bellback and family, are visiting her sister in Hamilton.

OLDER BUT STRONGER

To be healthy at seventy, prepare at forty, is sound advice, because in the strength of middle life we too often forget that mercurial or careless treatment of slight aches and pains, may undermine strength and bring chronic weakness for later years.

To be stronger when older, keep your blood pure and rich and active with the strength-building and blood-nourishing properties of Scott's Emulsion which is a tonic and a medicine to keep your blood rich, alleviate rheumatism and avoid sickness. At any drug store.

The farmers in this district are pleased to note that there is to be a Farmer's Institute meeting here on the 10th.

The children and grown up, too, had a very pleasant time at the B. N. Christmas tree in the church Monday evening. The children filled a hearty program with choruses, drills, recitations, songs etc., and did exceedingly well considering the short time they had for practice.

Several excellent prizes were under the tutelage of Miss McKeen were worthy of special mention. "Parade of the nation's history" "Children's Christmas flag drill" brought forth hearty applause from the whole audience. The open collection amounted to nearly $100.00.

There were also three special offering plates for Children's hospital, etc. A number of jars of fruit were also contributed. Quite a large number of tokens of merit were given to pupils for regular attendance, memory verses etc. There were no candles for the children this year except a quantity of pennants distributed from during the evening at long and short range by a few boys and girls who had passed from the classes to the unclass classes, signs of coming and were exhibiting apart from the regular program.

MARRIED

CORBETT-WHITLEY

A very pretty wedding took place in the Methodist church Tuesday evening at 5.30, when the Rev. Mr. Keall united in marriage Miss Lyla Corbett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Corbett of Arkwright, Ont. to Mr. Roy Whitley, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Whitley.

The bride, who was carried away by her brother-in-law, Dr. J. A. Corbett, wore a lovely gown of pale pink and French chiffon over silk tulle with a high collar and long sleeves and wore the customary veil caught in cap with tulle of the valley and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and white roses. The groom was attended by Miss Lena Whitley, wearing a gown of white with a high collar and long sleeves and a small veil. The bride's train was carried by her brother-in-law, Dr. J. A. Corbett, and the groom's by his brother-in-law, Dr. J. A. Corbett.

The wedding music was beautifully rendered by the choir of the church. The bride and groom were accompanied by their bridesmaids and groomsmen. The ceremony was a simple and beautiful one.

Write it 1916.

Of all the funny individuals just now the funniest is "I".

Long war, girl! Don't delay, the war is picking up the good end.

When complaining about late trains, just think of the rural mail carrier.

The time of good resolutions has arrived. Let's promise to have a paved street before 1917.

Canada is to raise 800,000 men. That means that Bruce county MUST raise the battalion. When you doubt, conscription stares you in the face.

Turning "the other cheek" is very good, but sometimes a fellow gets tired of it, and hits back just to hear the other fellow howl, for he usually is a howler.

The people of the United States are making progress toward prohibition in a few years. On New Year's day Iowa, Colorado, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Arkansas, and South Carolina wiped out three thousand saloons.

The men named by the central committee to look after the recruiting in the districts in Bruce have been notified to take a census of all unmarried men, widowers without children between the ages of 18 and 45.

It was expected that the matter of a water commission would have been discussed at the annual town meeting, but the illness of Reeve Lizard, and the fact that those nominated did not touch upon important matters of future, there was no discussion.

Warden Alex McLeod was at the school meeting in his community the other week, and in the afternoon he was a trustee. Look like Alex was going up the ladder of false merit, and being glistening at the ground level.

Now, girls, if you want to make your fellow split the kneeling wood, when the clock, and put out the cat, 1916 is yours. The next time you will have the chance will be in 1920, and then you'll be more than sweet sixteen—although you'll not really admit it.

Hydro power made great progress at the recent elections. The rural population was successfully carried. When a talking sound is to hear men, some of them will happen to be members of the parliament sitting the "biggie" that Hyatt "was good." Time is coming when people will demand of politicians to state openly where they stand on public questions, and it ought to be done now.

The young unmarried men are to be compelled to join the army in England. The fact that the Canadian government has given orders to raise the number of men to 500,000 in Canada means that some sort of compulsion for the unmarried men will be considered here. With all the efforts that have been made but 200,000 have been raised thus far. The 300,000 more will not be got by the "raising" method.

Speaking about heavy taxpayers in the township, Andrew Gammie, who is in the south of Ararat paid into the treasury $147.74 this year. Mr. Gammie is one of the heavy in the stock line here, and farms the acre. But then the amount is not very much, when compared with the man who pays a couple of hundred in a small town, where the rate is high.

Sir Sam Hughes is ready to create a "patriot" battalion. He announces that over a thousand have offered themselves as volunteers, and wonders why they could not become a fighting force. And why not? If it is right for them to administer to and pay for their daymen in the fight, why not get into the fray themselves? Perhaps the statement, if accepted by the "war party," might hasten the time when trench money would be a reality, rather than an argument.

A newspaper at the COLLEGE was reading about the salary of Superintendent Fisher. The clerk volunteered the information that it was $11 per week, and that it was divided part to the waterworks, part to carting at the library, and part to overworking. As was pointed out by another taxpayer at the meeting when a town was put a man, qualified to look after the pumping station, lay water mains, and do a hundred and one things under the heading of supervisor, and be on duty day and night, for the huge sum of $11 per week, the town should consider itself fortunate.

The Militia Department has decided it would be a good plan to keep back some portion of the soldier's pay, so that he may have something when he is through with service. The contention is that the Canadian soldier has all together too much cash to "blow in" which makes it hard not only for him but also for the other soldier who is paid but a few cents a day. It is just as well that some of this money is saved, and we believe the soldier will feel grateful for the new plan.

Mr. Barbour, a speaker at the farm-ers institute meetings here last week noted that the young men on the farms were not doing the plowing quite as well as the former generation, and regretted that the old time plowing match of were not now held. It is a good suggestion. Why not hold plowing match on the townships of Sargen and Bruce? It is only a matter of time to start it. We are sure that there are many men who would be willing to contribute a little to make the prize worthy in these annual events.

A suggestion which is being seriously considered and which has taken hold in the churches, is that of union prayer meetings. It was made at one of the meetings last week. Taking all the weekly prayer meetings held by the five resident ministers we suppose the total attendance would be under 15. This being the case, would not a union prayer meeting result in greater harmony among the people? We believe also it would be the means of interesting men in the mid-week service. It is only natural that people like to go to a meeting which is well-attended, bright and interesting in song and topic.

Owen Sound sustained its local opinion law by the sweeping majority of nearly 300. This city is apparently growing stronger in its opinion that the booze, now wiped out, should stay out. And the five majority ought to put under the barn a lot of the people who took delight in taking terrible tales of whiskey flowing free as water in Owen Sound. Of course, they're not true, and the worse feature is men will malign their own town, hold their own families up to dis- respect before the world just for the sake of love. The business men and men generally in the north city should be commended for the spirit in which they fight for a good cause, brought about by the selfish desire of the liquor interest.

In his nominating address Fred Lippert, of Walkerton and the local papers did not give enough attention to Council meetings, whereas the new editor of the Telescope, Mr. Louis Edy, remarks, editorially that councilors should see that every facility is given newspaper to report the council proceedings, and that the press has a separate table or that chairs are provided for them at the council board, convenient to the clerk's desk, so that the reporter will not have to sack his thumb in some dark corner or balance his writing pad on his knee. The Telescope editor is right. Too often small town council proceedings are carried on in some place not known to the public. The people have a right to know about the council proceedings, or court sessions, either, for that matter, and the local paper that misses the opportunity of "writing up" the council rather than publishing some dry minutes is not serving its subscribers in any sense of the word. It takes the personal attention of the editor to get the most out of the council meetings.

Mr. Barbour, who addressed the institute meeting, had a very important thing in a few words to his audience. It was the matter of uniformity, pointing out the necessity of the farmer choosing the kind of stock he to sired, and then seeing to it that they were all of one variety. He also in- sisted a farm where every gate on the farm was made of the same style, a uniformity in the fence, in the gates, in the stock, in everything. This would make a beautiful country if all farmers paid attention to the upkeep of their buildings, their fences, their gates, and all. The stockkeeper, the saw- paper, the business man generally, can do as much better, in an ordinary building, but it makes a town to have all its business men endeavoring to have good offices, fine stores, and nice houses. No, too, the rural districts could be much improved, with the same on the front gate, the grain shed in front of the house, the outbuildings well kept, all tending to create favorable comment by the traveler, and being a joy to the owner. True, there is not much more to be said in this, but it shows a man and his family interested in their chosen work, and heralds the time when, as Kipling says: "When no one shall work for money, and no one shall work for fame, but each for the joy of working."

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Constable McFadden complains that there should be a set, suitable for a hotel for prisoners in the police cell. He notes that a short time ago he had to bring a prisoner from Stratford and, believing it would not be a humane act to lodge a man in the cells without a place to sleep, took him to his own home.

The Times notes with a good deal of pleasure that the young people of Port Elgin have organized and have in good working order a live literary and debating club. There should be more of these organizations in this community. A few years from now the young people of Port Elgin will not be sorry for the time spent in literary endeavor.

The council had to give some serious consideration to the matter of making grants to the men who enlist. When the war first broke out, Port Elgin, following the lead of most other places, presented the volunteers with a gift of $10. But the war is taking a longer time than expected, and like other places, which are not now carrying out the first enthusiastic idea, the local council have also had to give the matter serious consideration, and the probability is that the practice will be abandoned here also.

The committee appointed at Walkerton are not more responsible for the enlisting of men than are citizens generally. It is a mistake for anyone to imagine that these men are "bottom-holing" young men to go to war. They were appointed to organize the district, and to take a census of the available men, and they have done this. They are also arranging for an occasional mass meeting. The responsibility of enlisting rests with every individual. All must bear this responsibility.

A Big Task

Sir Robert Borden has pledged Canada to furnish 500,000 men for the great conflict now being waged between the Allies and Germany. This will mean, in our humble estimation, that the pledge will almost surely be followed up with a measure of compulsion, at least in answer to the same manner as England has declared that the unmarried men must heed the call.

In an able editorial in The Sun last week there is wise criticism as to Sir Robert Borden making the pledge with out the sanction of parliament. It says: "Parliament was meeting in two weeks. The two hundred and fifty thousand army was not yet complete. There was no political necessity here, because Mr. Borden could always say to the critics, who might claim that he had not done enough, that he had done far more than Parliament had ordered. Parliament, if persuaded of the need, would probably be loath to limit Canada's effort to defend Britain and vindicate the liberty of Belgium. It might, however, having respect for public opinion declare that the Canadian army is not to be used in a war of annexation or conquest or in a war prolonged to dismember Germany or settle infinite feuds of Europe. It might once say that the whole Rapprochement was worth the bones of one man, in the opinion of a Canadian soldier. Parliament might weigh the value of a Canadian soldier."

Whatever it did, being the organ of the people, Mr. Borden would rattle off the responsibility, and he would be rattled off the responsibility that he is driven by Mr. Rowell, to whom and his Toronto press, he now leaves his old. That is his description.

Apart from the human and social value of the soldier, which in time of war it is not permitted to appraise, the withdrawal of five hundred thousand men involves, inevitably, the greatest consequences. The whole number of males in Canada at the last census, from infancy to old age, was 3,500,000. Taking no account of emigration, of which there has been not a little, the whole number of males of military age would be about 1,450,000. We are about to devote the half of these, or more to war. To the army will go 600,000; in munitions supply for foreign order are engaged, Mr. Bartram tells us, 100,000 and in the service and equipment of the here, are probably engaged 100,000 more. We must, therefore, give up the prospect of an unimpeded, prosperity based on munition manufacture. We must look for a smaller production of farm wealth, and we may find domestic manufacture unequal to its task of home supply. That is, we shall have diminished production and exports, increased imports, and a war and ordinary expenditure running far above five hundred millions a year. What an opportunity is sure to arise to test the unfathomed ability of Mr. White to redress exchange and conserve the gold supply!

"Granny" Chamberlain

Everybody's friend when they have coughs and colds and their children have croup and whooping cough.

Most everyone knows me. I have been going from home to home for nearly fifty years—always welcome, too, for I never fail in their hour of need.

I have helped young mothers whose babies were choking with croup, and been the comfort of parents whose children tramp to school through the wet winter weather. Many a cold and attack of bronchitis I have warded off, and thousands I have helped through the anxious moments of whooping cough. I have come to the aid of mothers and fathers when they had colds and influenza, and have been a relief to old folks suffering from bronchitis and asthma.

I have had a most varied experience. I go everywhere—among the rich and the poor, in cities and the country. Now don't forget "Granny" Chamberlain! You will see me often now, for I am going to tell you of my experience and what can be done in your home with

The Empire's Call to Ontario: "ECONOMIZE"

Lloyd George

"We are fighting Germany, Austria, and Italy, and so far as I am concerned, the only thing that has been decided is that they have decided to lose."

Lord Kitchener

"The man who has recently joined the colors and called their names to arms, is the man who has the least possible doubt. This man can only be achieved if by hard work and strict discipline they have themselves thoroughly fit and healthy."

Admiral Jellicoe

"In the Navy, there are three main qualities which are necessary for a successful career: first, a strong character; second, a strong physique; and third, a strong intellect. These three qualities are the foundation of a successful career in the Navy."

Baron French

"There is no doubt that the work which the Royal Army Territorial Association carries on is one of the most important in the Empire. It is a work which is of great value to the Empire, and it is a work which is of great value to the Empire."

The existence of the British Empire depends upon the outcome of the War. All our resources must be thrown into the scale.

The Empire's call is for men, munitions, food, clothing, and, above all things, MONEY. We are being called upon to give our millions to carry on the war. Sir Geo. E. Foster has stated that the Dominion Government might even ask for a Domestic Loan of $300,000,000. It is only a few weeks ago that Canadians subscribed over $100,000,000 to a War Loan.

These facts bring right home to us that this is, as Premier Asquith stated, "A War of Money as well as Men."

Sir Robert Borden, Sir Thomas White, Finance Minister, and other prominent men have emphasized the necessity of economy.

Conserve our wealth. Cut down expenses. This is what we must do.

Something to Think About

Did you ever seriously think about the millions of dollars expended annually for alcoholic beverages in the Province of Ontario?

As nearly as can be estimated from figures, based on Dominion Government returns, the consumption of alcoholic beverages in the Dominion in 1914 was $103,049,129. Assuming that Ontario, whose population is one-third of the Dominion, consumes one-third of the alcoholic beverages, her share amounts to $34,349,709.66. Let us say $33,000,000.

In other words, Ontario's Annual Consumption of Alcoholic Beverages represents the cost of—

- 1st. Rifles, Machine Guns and Field Guns for an army of 690,523 men on active service for a period of 12 months.
- 2nd. Or Accoutrements, Camp Equipment, Harness and Saddlery, Transport Vehicles, Signalling and Telephone Equipment, Tools and Miscellaneous Requirements for 1,269,231 men at the front.
- 3rd. Or one year's Clothing and Necessaries for 330,000 men.
- 4th. Or Rations, Subsistence or Money Allowances for 226,027 "boys" on active service for one year.
- 5th. Or the Canadian Government's Separation Allowance for 117,773 dependents for the entire year of 1916.

The foregoing figures are based on the war estimates of the Department of Militia and Defence for 1916-17, as published on December 31st, 1915, in The Toronto Globe.

Eliminate This Expenditure

The Citizens' Committee of One Hundred believes that as a war-time measure, if for no other reason, this colossal expenditure for alcoholic beverages in Ontario should be eliminated. The Committee also has every confidence that the Provincial Government will move in this important matter as rapidly as public opinion will support them.

The function of the Citizens' Committee of One Hundred is to organize, crystallize and give expression to the present state of public opinion on the question of prohibition. The Committee believes that it can demonstrate to the Government that Ontario is overwhelmingly in favor of prohibition. The people will shortly be given the opportunity of signing a petition for presentation to the Government.

The Citizens' Committee of One Hundred is the executive head of this big new prohibition movement. It represents the whole Province.

It numbers men of both political parties—men who welcome this chance to work for prohibition now that it has been taken out of politics—earnest men who are working together for the common good.

The public, and this includes those living in DRY municipalities, are urged to join hands with the Committee and insure the success of the movement. Doing so will show that you appreciate the benefits of prohibition in your own municipality and add great strength to the Committee's campaign.

If you live in a Local Option municipality your signature to the petition is just as urgent as it would be if you were under license. Prohibition is a benefit to people living where Local Option does not prevail, but would also help to enforce the law in Local Option municipalities.

Five Sons at the Front

Mrs. James Elder, wife of Pte. Elder, who has enlisted in the 10th Battalion, sends to The Times a clipping from The Weekly Herald of Tottenham, England, which shows that her five brothers are in the war, and that the King has sent a message of congratulation to her mother. The article reads: Mrs. E. WARREN, of 1, Derben road, Tottenham, has five sons in the army, and all are in the army. The attention of Mrs. George has been directed to the fact, and on Tuesday Mrs. Warren received the following letter from the Keeper of the Privy Purse: "I have the honor to inform you that the King has heard with much interest that you have at the present moment five sons serving in the Army. "I am commanded to express to you the King's congratulations, and to assure you that His Majesty much appreciates the spirit of patriotism which prompted this example, in one family, of loyalty and devotion to their Sovereign and Empire." The names, ages, and regiments of the five soldiers sons are:—Gunner Stephen Warren (34) Royal Garrison Artillery, Gibraltar; Corporal Arthur Warren (38) Royal Engineers, France; Pte. Charles Warren (30) 7th Middlesex, Germany; Pte. John Warren (21) 12th Middlesex, France; Pte. Fred Warren (19)—4th Middlesex, Flanders, Tottenham. All were born in Tottenham, and they attended the Lancasterian School. When the war broke out John enlisted, and in the following month Stephen joined. In January last Arthur took the shilling and Charles followed, and in March Fred donned the uniform in October another son, aged 17, has tried hard to follow the example of his brothers, but he is under age and under necessary chest measurement. Even a eleven year old son wants to be a regimental mascot.

Five Record

Donald W. Campbell who succeeded the late J. H. Keller as principal of the North Vancouver High School and whose duties commenced after the Christmas vacation, was born 16 years ago in the town of Paisley, Bruce County, Ontario. Principal Campbell graduated from Mc-

Master University, Toronto, in 1904, specializing in classics. Previous to coming to British Columbia six years ago he was engaged in the teaching profession in a private practice, being for a number of years principal of a public school in Ontario, and subsequently was principal of the St. John's College, Manitoba. On arriving in Vancouver he accepted a position on the staff of Lord Roberts School, which he held for only a brief period, when he was appointed to the staff of King Edward High School in recognition of his high qualifications and natural aptitude for the teaching of the more advanced subjects. After serving with marked success in King Edward High School for four years, Mr. Campbell, a year and a half ago, received the appointment of vice principal of the Point Grey High School, in which capacity he has served with much success. There were 14 applications for the position, and Mr. Campbell was chosen on the basis of his high qualifications and his successful teaching record. He is therefore, a man of difficult duty, which the school board has to do in making a selection, and must make an exhaustive inquiry, not only into the school record of the various applicants, but also into the character of the person, and the ability to handle the large number of the high school principal—North British Press.

DARBYMEN OF ST. MARY'S A GOOD YEAR

Prosperity Shown by President
Myrick's Address at Con-

MADE TO ORDER

1915, He Said, Was the Ideal Season—Weather Ideal and Prices High

St. Mary's, Ont., Report.—Not a very large crowd attended the morning session of the Western Dairyman's Association convention which is being held here. The president, Mr. Robert Myrick, of Springfield, Mass., in his address to the assembly, which he delivered this morning, was the first expression of dairymen ever held in the town of St. Mary's, a place having a radius of five miles over which eight cheese factories, and within its limits 150 excellent creameries. Mr.
Myrick said that the year 1915 was the dairyman's one made to order year.

The continued showers have abundant of pasture, and the midwest temperature had ideal conditions for the production of milk. Last year we were able to report an average price of 13½ cents per pound, the highest price ever paid to farmers of cheese factories for cheese, but this year we received 14½ cents per pound more. This total receipts of the Western Dairyman's Association for May 1st, 1915, to November 25th, 1915, showed an increase of $43,115.
The president said that the weather and production means to the cheese factory patrons a net gain over 1914 of $2,254,434 between dairymen and consumers. Total receipts of butter to Montreal between above dates were 15,057 boxes, or 3,104,872 pounds, increase over 1914 of 2,222 boxes or $16, 412 pounds. During the season of marketing for 1915 we exported 14,425 boxes of butter, as compared with 13, 500 in 1914, 1915, and 1914, or 925 other words, we were able to export 92,720 pounds of butter after supplying our own home market. It is said if it were not for the erratic and cheese factories to set a standard for export and with the fact that already maintained by many patrons.

The report of the directors showed a membership of 2,222 members less than in 1914. The usual member fee is $2.00. The president said that the year 1915 was the dairyman's one made to order year. He said that the weather and production means to the cheese factory patrons a net gain over 1914 of $2,254,434 between receipts of butter to Montreal between and cheese factories to set a standard

TEN NEW FACTORIES
Ten new cheese factories were started during the past season, some of them to replace those which had closed. The new factories are located in the following places: St. Mary's,

A WORD FOR MOTHERS

It is a grave mistake for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer in silence—this only leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life.

It possesses in concentrated form the very elements to invigorate the blood, strengthen the tissues, nourish the nerves and build strength.

UNDERWOOD

Draftsmen court was held at Underwood on Thursday, when a large crowd was interested in the two cases. It appears that Macdonald Bros were around for a couple of minutes in 1913 making real estate estimates in Melton Sisk. Representing them in the light case. Later these representatives were found out to be abominable scoundrels and it is alleged that the Macdonalds were not what they represented themselves. The notes were not to be sold, but left in the bank. They sold the notes, and they are now coming due. The case is now in this court.

OBITUARY

Many a heart was saddened in Port Elgin, when the news reached here, that Leslie Hopper lay dead in Harper hospital, Detroit. Leslie was always a prime favorite among his companions, and a welcome visitor to his old home town. He was ill just one month, as he doctor and specialist called in consultation could not locate his trouble, it was decided to remove him from his home to the hospital, where his medical science could be done, but to no avail. Death came on the fourth of January, six days after he was removed from his home. The doctors not being able even to locate the source of the infection which they had found was poisoning his system. (On post mortem examination they found an abscess in the liver.)

D. Leslie Hopper was the youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hopper. He was born 35 years ago to Elderale. When a child he moved with his parents to Arran, and later upon the death of his father, his mother moved to Port Elgin, where he finished his public school education. Mr. Hopper started his business career in Illinois at the age of 18, and after working a few years in Toronto, he became a travelling salesman through Michigan, Illinois and Indiana for the Brown, Hurst & Co. of New York and Boston, a position he gave up to take a similar one with the Montreal Real Estate Company of Montreal. At the time of his death, he was the leading salesman of that company. A distinction which he held for two years in succession.

Nine years ago last August, Mr. Hopper married Miss Eva Jeffries, of London Ont., whom he leaves with two little daughters, Helen and Mary Marjorie, to mourn the loss of a loving, kind and most thoughtful, kind father. The funeral service which was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Blaisell, to whose church the family belong, was largely attended by business associates and friends of his first days in Detroit. Mrs. John Forester, and Mrs. E. R. Baker, of Port Elgin, Mrs. H. S. Scott, of Hillsburg, and Mrs. John Hopper, of Huronville, a brother, who had been called to Detroit, when the doctors became alarmed, were also present.

The funeral tributes were very many and lovely. They came from associates, friends and relatives, from the business firm for which he worked, and from the pastor of the building in which he had his office. These along with the words of the Rev. Dr. Blaisell, to whom the departed, and the acres of loss when a good man goes. Among other words the minister used these, "His neighbors said, 'A man without a fault,' his best man association said, 'clean-cut, upright and honorable,' his intimates said, 'No matter how busy or tired on the road, he never forgot to pray.'"

Interment took place in Woodmere cemetery, Detroit.

THE REEVE OF SAUGEEN TOWNSHIP

Mr. Gilbert Christie, the newly-elected reeve of Saugeen, had his council proceedings opened this year with a ministerial and divine blessing invoked on the business of the new year. The proceeding is not new, although it is quite a new thing in this section. But Mr. Christie has ideas, and not only in the extraordinary methods of his council, but the great service was profitable in good work, the roads problem being tackled in real earnest.

The subject of this little sketch was born of Scottish parents in the Township of Hecce, County of Ontario in 1850, and is therefore in his first year, although he is a man of splendid vigor. He came to Saugeen in 1887 and settled on the same farm where he still resides at the little corner, Aherdore. The rural life is obliterating a lot of these old time places, and it is to be regretted that at Aherdore the Christies have been prominent people for many years, from father to son, and now that the

ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING

There was a good attendance at the annual meeting of the Presbyterian church, when there was a talking stock of the big things accomplished during the past year.

Rev. Mr. Mann, the pastor, presided, and after the minutes had been read and adopted he presented the report of the session, which showed increases and progress in every undertaking. There were 33 added to the communion roll, 13 by letter and 19 on profession. Nine had been dismissed by letter and five members had passed to their reward. There were now 360 members on the roll. It was with a good deal of pride that Mr. Mann pointed to the increase in mission giving, and that, in a year with big improvements and expenditures had been accomplished. Some $976 had been raised by the church for missions, while the organizations in the church had raised as well $152, a total of $1128.

The financial report was presented by the secretary, Joseph A. Thompson. The total receipts in his department were $1257, with a balance to the good of $1216 in the treasury. It is intended by the school to renovate the school room.

A very interesting report of splendid work on the part of the men's board was read by Flora Lamont. There were 31 members. They raised $101 and made three quilts.

The Sunday school report presented by J. D. Falconer showed 36 active scholars. They had received $186, and had $1216 in the treasury. It is intended by the school to renovate the school room.

Probably the most interesting business of the evening was the presentation by the building committee, Messrs. Simpson, Kennedy and Sparrow, of an account of the big undertaking in renovating and extending their church and installing a pipe organ. Mr. Murray was sponsor for the work, and having prepared and printed in advance a statement of the transaction, he called the members to understand just what had been done and the amounts. Although there had been some in cash, $1200. In making the report Mr. Murray's explanation of the work and those who had helped the work and was warmly in the presence of the assistance given by the Ladies Aid, who had raised $100 of the amount, and to others who had given support. Mr. John Falconer, of Chicago, reading $25, and being given a vote of thanks for his thoughtful.

Mr. R. M. Lowry, moved the vote of the congregation to Messrs. Simpson, Kennedy and Sparrow, the committee on building, and also the Ladies Aid, Mr. Cameron, and Mrs. Simpson, and to being so that at first he had up a book of 10 of things projected, but was glad they had men in the church who were so glad, and he was satisfied.

There was an order in the bank on the total business, which the committee had assumed, and Mr. Riddett, one of the trustees, moved that the church empower the trustees to take over the amount, which was unanimously carried.

Mr. Riddett, in closing up the year's work and providing the Presbyterians here with a fine auditorium and one of the best organs in this section.

Mrs. M. M. Mott read a glowing report of the work of the Ladies Aid, and it was received with much applause.

A motion was also carried which empowered the treasurer to close his books for the year, and later on January 15th. The retiring managers were Messrs. Simpson, Thompson and Geddes, who they were re-elected.

A very generous vote of thanks was rendered to the very efficient pastor for his devoted and able work in the year. Mr. Mann the Presbyterians have a deep thinker, a good preacher, and a man who was always in the advancement of the kingdom.

The choir was also remembered and also the sexton, after which the meeting was closed with prayer.

Taking everything into consideration there had been raised by this body in 1915, nearly $7000.

TURNERS
Mr. Walter Northgate was a welcome visitor in our midst last week, as every body was complaining of week returning. The food last week the need and even higher on account of the fact that they have been for some time. In the week there was a large jam gathered on George Osborne's flat and Nelson's bridge was in danger for awhile. It might have gone away had not some of the water-trading young men of the 2nd dumped a sally rake in the creek and saved the ice away from it. As it was, there was a struggle between the large pile of ice, which was along the shore, and a sally rake, which was a horse, about five feet cutting a channel through the road.

A sharp sudden thunder-storm had raged up from the mountain north of the picturesque old city of Friedrichsdorf, and at these old rest-houses, which have been the nucleus of the city, the storm had

The first river, that sweeps in from the north, is the gray wild, unbridled waves, tumbling the little boats, when we're taking for the day, up and down like a cork.

The calm, quietest boat piled on and on to the town and the village—wines, bread, beer, and the river and the pine-needle hills, where holiday-making citizens want to seek refuge from the summer heat.

Several men in blouses, with the steel, flat caps, accustomed to generally find, were concentrated to assist in disembarking the passengers and their baggage, and a row of carriages, covered and uncovered, were drawn in for "water dogs to take" which were over the landing-place.

The worst of the storm was over, but the rain fell heavily as the passengers came forth from the station which recorded the other part of the fiasco, and

"I persuaded you! Why, I did not

Ellie made no reply, but with some difficulty disengaged herself from the crowd, and reaching the side of the steamer as it touched the quay, spoke to one of the porters waiting there. He immediately ran to engage a covered drachky, and returned to take Mrs. Viroker's luggage.

"There, that was well done, Ellie."

These characteristics will vary somewhat with differences in breeds,

Such a score card will cull out the lazy droopy pullets and all those that show indications of slow maturity or poor physical development. The birds that moult early are also to be avoided, because this indicates that they are not perfectly developed or they would carry the first coat of feathers until late in the season. Of course, culls are sometimes responsible for the entire flock moult early, but if there are only a few in a large flock they had better be culled out.

If you have among the culls a number of birds that you hesitate to sell, it is a good plan to put them into a separate pen for a period of observation. With the present high price of pullets of the laying breed or

NOTES.

Remember that a large per cent. of the egg is water, and the hens must have a supply of clean, fresh water to drink at all times.

Dry-picked turkeys and dry-picked fowls and chickens, if the work is properly done, always make a better appearance in market and frequently sell for a higher price.

Usually it will be found that the pilchons which begin to lay in November or December will make good layers throughout the winter if properly fed and cared for.

Don't take the fowls off free range and shut them in tight houses all the time, but keep them in a part of each day at first so that they will get accustomed to confinement gradually.

Market ducks that have not been dry birds will not make the greatest profit. Therefore, when selecting ducks and drakes to keep over for next spring's brooding, select those of the right type.

If a lot of dry leaves are collected and stored away they will make excellent scratching litter for the floors of the hen houses during the winter, provided there is not plenty of cheap straw or hay on hand.

There is no question about the value of milk, whole, skinned, sweet and Buttermilk, for feeding Larkins or Hutterling fowls, and where enough can be had it will take the place of animal protein (meat or fish scrap) to a large extent.

Do not sell the old turkeys because the young ones look so limp and strange, and keep the old ones to breed from the following year, because the best results cannot be obtained when breeding from young specimens.

Although corn and wheat are both good poultry feeds, it does not pay to only way that the hen can be given the food elements that she needs to make eggs is to furnish a variety of grain, with meat food or milk, green feed, grit, charcoal and shells.

When one considers that the male bird in the flock influences the quality of all the chicks, it will easily be seen that it does not pay to economize when buying a male bird. The first thing to do is to select the best possible "rooster" and let the price be a

Drinking water should be given during the winter in a fountain or trough from which the ice can easily be removed if it forms, as it frequently will in most places. If the dish has straight sides, or sides that flare out a little, it will be necessary simply to turn a little hot water over it and the ice will immediately slide out.

Select the best of the early livers, and take the best care of them during the winter so that they will be in good

We must look the fact in the face that we are dealing with a nation of soldiers. We have never known a nation so determined to vindicate its honor as it is to vindicate its rights. The nation, even in spite of its weakness, if need be, will hold out to the Government of Germany the same aid and support with iron will. EDITORIAL COMMENT

From Lismington comes a proposition that town council be composed of a mayor, reeve and three councillors, all of whom shall receive remuneration for their services. No doubt the proposal is made with the idea that a revolution in municipal government would result and that the unsatisfactory conditions which exist in connection with most municipal councils would disappear. We believe that such hopes are illusory. What is needed is not so much a change of system as a change in the spirit of the people and a deeper realization by citizens of their public duties. When good and able men are willing to serve on municipal bodies, and electors are ready to vote for such men, rather than for glad-handers and good promoters, then we shall have good municipal government.—Goderich Signal.

A month of cold enough wheeling has whittled the surplus for more snow. A very few turkeys would make traffic wonderfully lively, as many farmers have quantities of legs and would be ready to draw to market. The funeral of the late Lawrence Brown was largely attended, although the day was very disagreeable. Rev. W. J. Watt conducted the services. The case was a very sad one. Deceased was well known here in his boyhood. Little he had been engaged in business in Toronto, and had bought property before him, which he was anxious to get back with disease in the heart, which eventually proved fatal. The remains were brought home by relatives who were called to the bedside, but were unable to save him alive. Interment took place a few days later in Southampton cemetery. The father, mother and remaining members of the stricken family have the sincere sympathy of the whole community. Skating was good for a few evenings on the field ice, and there are good many on the ice, and in the house.

THE BOYS IN KHAKI

The Times is in receipt this week of three bright and interesting letters right from the trenches.

They will be interesting to our readers. The Times is anxious to get letters of this sort, or in fact letters from soldiers anywhere.

Mr. J. H. Fowler, an English artillery recruit who was the first man to leave Port Elgin, writes to Mr. and Mrs. John Harrison, at this place, as follows:

I received the Christmas parcel from the Red Cross of Port Elgin, and am very grateful for them. I do not know who the secretary is but the publication of this letter will suffice. I also received the paper you so kindly sent me. Christmas here was very much the same as any other day. Of course, we didn't forget to wish the enemy a happy time. We are very busy and our time is limited and as we have orders to begin firing, I must bring this letter to a close with regards to you and my Port Elgin friends.

The Angus McIntosh of the local company, has received the following from a friend of his who is now in the trenches. It is dated Belgium, January 11th and says:

I received your welcome letter. I am still at the same old job, and it gets tiresome sometimes, for it is so hard all day and sometimes most of the night. We have a pretty hard time in this water, but perhaps in the summer it will be easier. I have often heard that war is hell, but I am sure it is not. We are still in the same place as when we came. On some days it is quiet, as far as firing is concerned, but most times the firing is continuous. We are very lucky for the time being. We are not very lucky at present writing. Still for all, this is a beautiful country. I think I shall be able to get a leave to have a few days in London. It is a great place and makes a nice change after the awful front.

Well, Angus, up to the present I have not seen those socks you were telling about in your last letter. I am well. Write me often. Good-bye.

Signed here in France.

June 7th, 1916.

To the Editor of The Times:

Dear Sir: Just a few lines hoping they find you well and the letter leaves me in the back of my mind. Well, Mr. Editor, I suppose you will be thinking the boys have made short work of the four regiments of the Eighteenth Battalion, but not yet awhile. We are in a tight corner pretty well. They must think the boys from Port are awful fighters when they have two of them among the water weapons. Fenton and Henry are on that job so you won't be surprised at the state of affairs in the line of water supplies being plentiful. A telephone is at the cooking, while R. Simpson is trying to keep his back from kicking his brains out, you see the pack animals are not used on this front. The boys at the rear are getting it to see which can kick the highest.

Well, Mr. Editor, before I go any farther I must ask you to please thank the people of the Red Cross Society for us for their kindness to the boys from Port Elgin. The boys have all received their parcels in O. K. order, and those stylish coats go for free.

Well, I see by The Times which Fenton got to day that the boys at home are beginning to awaken at last, and glad they took the term, because if they didn't soon take a notion some of the last ones will be just in time to catch the shrapnel and not get out of them. My opinion is that some of the old soldiers in camp were in Port yet who can find lots of recruits there. The most of them thought it was all right to take their pay from the government in the time of peace, but the good Canadian government pays them for the work they do and not for the pleasure which they find at camp. They think there is too much risk to run, as one fellow from the fourth of Bangen said to me in a letter the other day, "He might get a bullet in his head." Well it is all right to feel that way but I'd like to keep it to myself. There are some fellows who told us when we left Port to join the 18th that they would be right after us, and we are still to hear of them talking, and that does not look very well. Well I'll have to wait till I get back to Port before I can tell those "clackers" what I think of them. So good-bye and good luck from one of the Port Elgin boys with the Irish face.

P. S.—If you put this in the paper please put the whole thing in. Things done by halves, they say, are never done right. Wishing you all the prosperity of the world.

P. S. Wide A. Wake.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The Gore District mutual fire insurance company gave last year's profits amounting to $35,000 to the Canadian Patriotic fund. A splendid action.

A man out in North Bruce says he saw a frog stinging in his bush two weeks ago. That young frog is just an embryo removed from the foot that took his heavy shirt and socks off in March.

Wingham has had a mystery regarding its attention the past week or two. A box of cordite was found and a German handmaster has been arrested. Of course we may expect that the war will get nearer as the days pass.

The Flowering of the Association passed a resolution urging the Minister of Militia to arrange with the military authorities to leave one capable farm hand on every hundred acres. When the exodus to the West was in full swing it would have been well if this bit of advice had been followed in some of these counties.

Alberta, since the big calamity at Ottawa, has placed two millions worth of insurance on her parliament buildings. The western provinces have a very impressive legislative hall and the move is wise.

The New York Herald tells Canadians that a move is on foot to invade Canada by German across the border and that rifles and ammunition are hidden away ready for use. There is no real reason why Canadians should not expect trouble and we will be wise to remember that we have a wily enemy in the Kaiser and his war lords.

We Can Stand It

The Times is coming in for considerable violent criticism in a certain quarter for depicting the Kaiser as a very bad man.

Well we thrive on criticism. Any paper with a punch in it will be criticized.

Not regarding the epithets being hurled at the Times because of its denunciation of the Kaiser, we have no apology. We'll "take our" but we suppose those who have advised us to defend us will be prepared to "take theirs."

OBITUARY

The funeral of the late Mrs. Gus Smith was held on Thursday last, services being conducted at the home and grave by Rev. Mr. Mann. The late Mrs. Smith's maiden name was Ella E. McIntosh. She was born in Ansonia town ship in 1861, and was therefore in her 57th year. She was a daughter of Angus McIntosh. When a young woman she was married to Mr. Gus Smith of Port Elgin, brick manufacturer. Of this union there was no family. Mrs. Smith was a very active woman in the church and church life. In the Presbyterian Ladies Aid and Foreign Mission society she was an untiring worker, as well as in the Red Cross work of the town, whose meetings she always attended, and was always found working for the comfort of the men in the fighting line. A few weeks ago she was not feeling well, but completed little. Until about three weeks before her death her usual active nature and she went to St. Joseph's hospital at Guelph, where everything was done to effect a cure, but without result. She was suffering from an enlarged liver. Besides a husband, there is left one sister, Mrs. Brown, in Brant, and a brother in B. C. named Miss Rose McIntosh, who has lived with deceased for some years, and who along with the sorrowful relatives will feel deeply the loss of a loving wife and relative.

BURGUYNE

At the busy debate Friday evening the eastern provinces carried the western "for home advantage", the east won by several points. Mr. Rowland Baggot, Mr. Charles Ferguson and Mr. D. H. McLaughlin took the affirmative and Miss Maggie McAndrew, Miss Elsie Constellation and Mr. John Ferguson the negative. Mr. Arthur Baggot, Mr. Watt, Mr. Gowanlock and Miss Betha Stewart were the deciding judges. The subject was well debated by both sides and showed that man, time and study had been expended in gathering material for and against.

Mr. H. Teller, who has been confined to the house for over a month with rheumatism, is able to be about again. Tossing in humbling these days of western weather.

There were all sorts of conjectures about the break in the state news in the west a few cloudless evenings. Some were convinced that zeppelins were flying on as early as over the horizon.

Four deaths within eight days have been the toll from this community lately, two of them being young men and two being women well up in years. Miss McElvaine, late of Detroit, sister of Mrs. Wm. Hamilton, Arran, who was visiting home, passed away after a few weeks illness at the home of the latter and was interred in Port Elgin cemetery, Tuesday.

Another of our respected citizens, Mrs. Thos. Underwood passed away very suddenly on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. John Underwood, from Park, is leaving his brother, Mr. Thos. Underwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Underwood, of Toronto were in for a few days.

Recruiting officers are not greatly in favor among the farmers. They exhibit too much impatience. It is said, trying to inveigle young men into enlisting when there is great need for them to stay on the farm and do their bit raising extra provision, which generally will be needed if the war continues. Some of these officers are entirely unaware of farming necessities. Farmers throughout the whole country are rising up and insisting that the government should put a stop to this unscrupulous luring of men to rural districts where farms are much under manned.

NORTH BRUCE

Mrs. J. H. Brooks went to Woodville last week where she will spend a few weeks with her sisters before returning to her home in the west.

Mr. and Mrs. John Howe went to Burgoyne last Thursday to attend the funeral of an aunt, the late Mrs. Underwood.

Rebelling has come, and rampaging brisk.

Mr. C. Reibel went to Palmerston on Saturday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Jackson. Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Cicely and Miss Sarah Cicely, were in Southampton over Sunday visiting their cousins, Arthur and Peter Robinson, who were spending a few days with their parents. Arthur was to be travelling for about a year, was wounded, and on his recovery returned to the trenches again, was wounded a second time and is now being treated in Hamilton where he will remain for some months.

WOMAN'S WORLD for February.

NOTES.

No one can dispute that the poultry exhibitors of the country are good educators. It is true that the best in Iowa can be seen, the different makes of incubators, brooders and other poultry equipment. A poultry show is always a good thing for the town, and the poultry keepers in which some it is held. They need not be large, but quality should be the aim.

Early hatched pullets are not stopped by cold weather, after once getting down to regular laying, as long as they are properly handled. For to begin the early hatched chick is a paying proposition.

Incubators are better this year than ever before. Many advances have been made that improve the hatching of chicks, the kind that live, yet none are yet self-regulating and most need to a certain extent be controlled by the operator.

Perhaps the most rapid improvement in poultry equipment has been the brooder, the one great drawback to many poultry raisers of the past. This year the brooders that care for the chicks have made wonderful improvement over last year, and among the leaders one can find brooders that, with proper care, will successfully raise the chicks.

understanding by those starting, it to the teachings of the pious and the up-to-date experiment stations. The foundation has been laid, and with increased knowledge each year to the essentials that go to make success, and are now known, fewer failures will result.

The city man with a liking for poultry should try his plans now to get a few hens in the space he is finding for them. Poultry and even raising the fall and winter of this year.

IF YOUR THROAT IS HUSKY, CATARRH MAY BE STARTING

A weak or irritated throat is the first step towards catarrh. Everything depends on your remedy. A ough mixture slip quickly over the weak spots, drops into the pharynx and does little but hasten degeneration. It is altogether different with Catarrhazone—it can be used when it gets right at the trouble. You inhale Catarrhazone, breathe in the vapor of boiling steam that strengthens and restores the weak throat tissue. You'll never have colds or coughs. Throat trouble and catarrh will disappear with the use of Catarrhazone, cost the large dollar outlay, which includes the inhaler. It lasts two months and is guaranteed to cure. Another $2.00 and you, too, could strengthen.

To Purify Water.
The sterilization of the water by this process is made easy and accomplished by the use of an apparatus which J. J. A. S. of England describes as being composed of two bottles, one of which contains carefully the water, and the other is inverted over it. The larger is filled with a double perforated stopper, through which are passed two glass tubes, one short, the other reaching nearly to the bottom. The tubes are supplied with cocks. The long tube is connected with a short tube that passes through a stopper in the top of the smaller bottle.

water in the coastal zone. Levels of Fe^{2+} at water level ranged in the range of 0.0001 to 0.0002 mole/l. concentrated hydrochloric acid is recommended along with a more precise detection procedure suitable for the IR spectrophotometric method (1981). In the coastal zone, the Fe^{2+} is precipitated from the water by small amounts of a glass with respect to Fe^{2+} . This leads to a reduction of the Fe^{2+} concentration in the water sample. It is added to the solution of water concentration of Fe^{2+} in the water. No Fe^{2+} is extracted.

Reported on literature of Fe^{2+} in the coastal zone is 0.0001 to 0.0002 mole/l. and 0.0001 to 0.0002 mole/l. water.

J. BERT KNAPP, TIMES REPRESENTATIVE

Leave your order for blinder twice as Theodore & Drills. They handle only the best.

For correspondence will write up an article on the work the local Red Cross Society is doing, in next week's Times.

Woodcock Jr. from Paisley was visiting at Bert Knapp's on Friday. He has enlisted and is training at Walkerton.

Miss Edna and Archie McKay, visited on Friday on Friday. They had only the best.

Harvey Hatcher has now got his new oil engine installed and will resume grinding next week.

HORN On Saturday February 5 to Mr.
and Mrs. Hugh Hatcher a son.

Albert Abbe and Earl Berg have enlisted.

The recruiting meeting which was held in the town hall here on Thursday evening last, was one of the best things that this village has enjoyed for a long time.

The hall was packed. Rev. Johnson occupied the chair. We have never heard the Rev. speak so well before. He said that it was up to the man who stayed at home or out to overseas, to dig down into his pockets and pay, pay, pay.

M. J. Hunter, of Kincardine also gave a very fine speech, he said that it was up to the older farmers to once more do the harvesting and get out to work again, and so let the younger men go. He said that as a price the Germans wanted Canada and he wanted the young men of Canada that if the Germans were successful that they would carry out their dirty work here, the same as they did to Belgium and Poland. Our honor would be wrecked, our loved ones would be brutally ill-used and our lives be made miserable. He said that he should remember and give credit to where it was due, that the soldiers who represented Canada in the trenches today were 80 per cent British born, what were the Canadian boys going to do? Were they going to stand on one side, and let others fight?

Mr. H. Hunter, of Kincardine, also gave a fine speech. He mentioned that he had been a soldier, that he had had two or three boys at home, but who should be wearing khaki, but his farm was not for such people as that, but for someone who was indisposed for the army, his concluding words were "Come on boys, with us to France."

Rev. Foster, Allen Nelson, of Thorton, also mentioned, also Mr. McCarroll from Paisley, who spoke for a time in Gaelic, which was much appreciated by the Highlanders who were present.

One of the speakers who was the last speaker gave a very interesting speech dealing with the way in which the trenches are made up also the way in which our Red Cross work was carried on and he put the legacy to rest, when he said that the talk of some people (who objected to giving their share) that the Red Cross Society sent out money to buy back wood in the west, he said that it was all right, the soldiers did receive it and was very thankful for it and he thanked the ladies of the Red Cross Society for this splendid gift.

At the close of his speech he called for recruits and D. McNaughton, H. Nuttal, and H. Thier, responded to the call. Then McKay who was present with his army of soldiers also spoke, his talk of the Red Cross gave the soldiers a splendid supper on their arrival here. Others who helped in the program were Miss Marie McKay, Mr.
Fisher, of Kincardine, Mrs. S. George, J. McCall, with W. A. W. Brown and W. McCall.

About five thirty, Lieut. McKay with his squad of recruits arrived in Underwood marching from Thorton. While passing under a string of flags the crowd that had assembled, sang The Maple Leaf.

The recruits were joined by Rev.
Johnson, Ex-R. W. A. McWhinney, J.
McCall, and D. McNaughton, who marched with them up to the Township hall where they rested a short time before marching down to the I. O. O. F. hall, where a hot supper was served by the Underwood Red Cross ladies. Underwood is well known for having an ever abundant of cooking in all events. So a hot supper was served to all who wished it resulting in the tidy little sum of $13.40 to the credit of the Red Cross Society for the soldiers at the front.

The many friends and neighbors of Mrs. Knapp, upon learning that she was about to remove to Underwood gathered at her home and presented her with a beautiful silk dress and a box of the very high quality that held for her as a memento of their love.

The address was read by Mrs. H. O. Hunter and Mrs. Knapp made the presentation. A program was given by Deputy Mayor Peter Dobson in the chair. Ex-Lieut. A. McCall, R. Brown and others gave speeches all in complimentary terms of Mrs. Knapp and their esteem for her. Following is the address:

Dear Mrs. Knapp:

We leave you to regret that you will not leave this neighborhood where you have spent over forty years of your life, and where you have been so loved and favorably known. We realize that your removal from our midst is not an unhappy matter of change of necessity on account of your declining years and failing health and the great responsibility you have so successfully and cheerfully borne since the death of your husband sixteen years ago. It is indeed a credit to you the way you have managed your home and family and fifty (50) per cent by hand labour and economy, you have gained a home for yourself and daughters of which you and they may be justly proud. We have assembled here tonight to say good-by, and to wish you many years of happiness in your new home and we also ask you to accept this purse as a small token of our appreciation of your kindness as a neighbor and friend, and whom we have been so long associated with. You have been willing to help in time of need and we can assure you we will all miss you very much, but we know that with your estimable daughter Mrs.
Alexander you will be surrounded with all the care and comfort that a dutiful daughter can bestow. Signed in behalf of your neighbors.

Mrs. H. O. Hunter, Mrs. H. McLean,
Robert Brown, Wm. Young.

ship hall on February 26th. Members all

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body.

In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is failing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, dizziness, nervous sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown.

To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutrient gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the nerve cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. Free from harmful drugs.

Death of Mrs. Thos. Underwood

A prominent family of Arden Tp. was called upon to mourn on Tuesday of last week, when Mrs. Thos. Underwood passed into rest, after an illness from heart trouble.

Mrs. Underwood was her maiden name, and she was born in Clark Township in the county of Durham in N.Y. 1858, and was thirty years in this year. At the age of 15 years her parents moved to Arden township, where they resided until 1877. In this year she was wedded to Mr. Thomas Underwood, and they took up their home in the district for four years. They spent their fortune in North Dakota, taking up land and farming there for twenty years. But the loss of their fortune was among the losses of Mr. and Mrs. Underwood, and they returned in 1905, arriving in Port Elgin for three years. But they were active, and a retired life was not to their liking, so they purchased a farm in Arden, and later bought a larger farm in Arden Township from Wm. Atkinson. Here they built a fine residence, and made other improvements, where they decided to spend their last days. Mrs. Underwood was a very kindly lady, calm and well liked by a great host of friends.
She will be greatly missed, but none will miss her more than her husband, and her two stalwart sons.

One daughter is also left, Mrs. A. E.
Nicksie, of Chelmsford, and she is survived by three brothers and three sisters. The funeral services were largely attended, being conducted by Rev. Mr.
Watt, of the Presbyterian church, the church of which the deceased was a member, and in whose interests she found time to serve in many ways.

Good Program

There was a good crowd and a good program at the box social given at S. S.
No. 14, last Friday. The recitations, songs, music and dialogues were much enjoyed. The play "Too much of a good thing" was excellent. High Cinders, Tom Fickles, and Jim Cerrin as Fred Schuyler, were the leading characters, and did well. The songs sung by Dan and Jack McLean was thoroughly enjoyed. Mr. Fenton sustained the house in fine style. There was much refreshment served, which was well liked. Those taking part from Port Elgin were W. Miller, L. Schrank, E. Smith and R. Warner.
Miss Bertha Morrison is teacher of this progressive school.

Influenza

"No one who has not had Influenza can realize the suffering it causes or how it defies treatment. I know of nothing that will give such prompt relief as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, for when it is taken the pain in the chest disappears, the fever subsides and the whole body becomes more comfortable."

Then again, the after effects of Influenza are often even more distressing than the disease itself, but they can be avoided if you use

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

Though the greatest danger from this disease is Pneumonia,
I have never known a single case of Influenza to result in it when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was freely given. The persistent cough that frequently follows Influenza can be relieved by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and should not be allowed to run on until it becomes troublesome."

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Some people are inclined to feel that the new tax proposals of the Dominion government are of such a nature as to get after the big concerns and corporations. It may be so. But remember this, the people always pay.

The Port Elgin Times has just entered its 47th year. The Times is a bright, new, well edited weekly, and its new price of $1.40 per year should assure it of a continued measure of prosperity.—Thamesville Herald.

Our readers will be interested in an article written by Mr. T. J. Wallace in this issue, concerning Saugeen Reserve Indians. The article is one which has many progressive ideas, tending to make the Indian case into more importance in the community by pointing out in a few ways in which growth, materially and intellectually, can be accomplished. Mr. Wallace has been serving for many years as a school teacher among the Indians, and his article will be read with interest. After all, the thing in life to advance, so that our riches may be somewhat better than we found it, and the truest citizen is he who considers all classes.

Berlin, Ont., citizens, have petitioned the council to change the name of the city, believing that it is being looked down on because of its title, the city of Berlin, Germany. The people of Berlin while of German descent, mainly, have proven exceptionally loyal, giving large sums to all patriotic purposes, sending hundreds of volunteers, and are now engaged in raising a battalion of men. The petitioners will likely have their desires granted, for the business men and manufacturers are supporting it. The probability is Berlin and Waterloo will be joined, and the name of Waterloo adopted.

A kindly and an honest man was laid to rest on Thursday last, when the late John Tobin was committed to the grave by the Masonic brethren and a host of admiring friends. He was called "Iron set John," and although in politics for many years, was one of the few men who came through the temptations and snares of public life without falling. He did many a good turn to Bruce County men, and especially to the men who left this county for the west in the years gone by, he was a guide and a counselor. The whole country mourns the loss of a man, in whom there was no guile.

The county battalions are experiencing difficulty in getting men from the rural districts. But when the difficulties are fairly considered they are not insurmountable. A little patience is needed in some localities. It must be remembered that towns, villages, and country, have responded fairly well for the past year, and in the past few months the rage for county battalions has come upon the country and actually there will be a little difficulty in getting shaped up. In Bruce recruiting was not begun until December 23, and in less than 60 days 400 men have responded. If we mistake not the word "Coming" is ringing loud in the hearts of the young men.

No Excuses Needed

It seems to be the main object of some public speakers, politicians and preachers to use up a lot of time in making what they think is excuses for Canadians of German descent.

Do the loyal men of German descent in Canada need such slopping over on the part of these "word fighters" we think not.

A man of German descent who is loyal does not need this sort of championing. His life is all that is necessary, and the fine excuses and warnings handed out by men to be careful not to hurt the feelings of men of German descent of Canada is only so much palaver.

In fact, if this sort of guilt is kept up people will be apt to think that they are trying to white wash men who are favorable to the Kaiser and his policy.

Let the actions of the loyal men, both British and German, be all that is necessary. If their sons are enlisting, or if these families are doing all they can to further the cause of the Empire, they don't need any such excuses. But if they are not, then they do not deserve the respect which these public speakers are trying to get for them.

This respectable argument is carried too far both in church and state. A man by his actions shows which side he is on, and no amount of fine palaver on the part of these public sympathy getters will help them.

"Credit enclosed postal order for The Times for 1918. We are having one of the worst winters in years. I have not seen as much snow in the 27 years I have been here. January has been very cold, the thermometer reaching 45 below. Was very much pleased to see the way The Times printed the picture and wrote up my old friend, Gilbert Christie of Aberdeen, and to know that he has succeeded to the ownership of Saugeen. Having known Mr. Christie for many years, I feel that old Saugeen is in good hands. I often see the names of old companions mentioned in The Times away in foreign parts. Some day I may come back to the old town."

OUR LOCAL RED CROSS SOCIETY

It is surprising what a number of ladies can do when they get together, together and get right down to work. It is not so many months ago when some of the ladies of our district got together and called a meeting, with a view of starting a local Red Cross Society.

Mrs. McNab was elected president with Eva Henderson secretary and Mrs. J. B. Strathern as treasurer. Perhaps it is not known all around here, the great amount of time and energy the ladies put into this work. They went to the town hall once a week and set their sewing machines at work and some got to work knitting different things. Not satisfied with that but they take work home and work away at home, happy that they are doing something. The ladies know that they themselves can do a lot of good, and they are anxious for the boys' welfare, as they work away making things that will keep the boys warm and help make their comfortable in their trenches away overseas. Now you might say to yourself, we are proud of our ladies and will take our hats off to them. So we will. But there is another side to the question and that is how can we help the ladies in their work. We know very well that they cannot get along and do all this work without money, and that is where we can help. Would it not be a good plan if those who cannot go out to find work to get together and form some kind of a club, supporting 100 names were gathered together each pledging themselves to give 3 cents per week until the war was over. This would guarantee our ladies $3 per week or $240 per year, that would help them along fine. The collecting part could be looked after easily enough. One man on each congregation could look after that part. Of course we would have to see the ladies and hear what they may say on the plan, if we were wrong, you can trust them to soon put us right. The ladies have done and are doing their part. What are we men doing to do? Are we going to help them or not, if we are going to help, let us get to work at once, and not leave it all to the ladies. Miss Eva Henderson has resigned the secretaryship and Miss Jessie McNab is now secretary.

Donations received by the Underwood Red Cross Society up to the present time are: Mrs. Jas. Rose, $10; Mrs. Wm. McKay, $5; Miss Nellie, $10; Mrs. Percy Brown, $4.40; Wm. Nelson, $1; N. L. Gledhill, $1; Wm. H. Bull, $1; Mrs. J. B. Strathern, $1; Underwood L. O. O. F. $1; Port Elgin Agricultural Society, $10; Bruce Township

Council 333, Dear McNaughton, $5. These donations along with the members' collections, contributions etc. makes the total receipts $273.48 from August 15 the date of organization, which money has been nearly all used in purchasing supplies which were made into garments, and sent to the soldiers overseas.

The Bruce Township council has a motion on record to furnish Bruce Township Red Cross societies with all the money they require to purchase material for this purpose, as no woman in this Township has any excuse for doing her part in the war. And it is quite evident that they are all doing it. Bruce Township as well as elsewhere. An example of what can be done is given in the names of Mrs. Oxford, 32 years of age who has knitted 13 pairs of socks for the soldiers.

Mr. Tom Palmer and a friend visited Mr. and Mrs. Sommers. H. Gibson and wife spent Sunday at A. Pradins'. Mr. McKewen was visiting at John Wright's.

George Hoppel of the firm of Roppel Bros. has returned from the store on account of ill-health.

Andy's bank account is growing larger every week.

"Tommy" is quite an eloquentist. Mr. Mr. Barker has offered his services as Chaplain of the Bruce Battalion, and the boys hope that his appointment will be accepted.

Mr. John Coulter entertained the boys of the local company at the home of the local company at the home of Mr. Martin on Tuesday evening last. The boys numbering about 35 gathered about eight o'clock and soon all were engaged in games of some kind. Mr. Coulter was invited to the chair and a short program was given. It consisted of songs and recitations from the boys addressed by Dr. Scammon and Rev. Mr. Barker, a solo by Mrs. Scammon and a comic song by Mr. Scammon Jr. After an excellent lunch was served. All called in singing "For They are Jolly Good Fellows" after which three moving cheers for Messrs. Coulter and Martin departed for their homes.

Robbie Burns. Let us do or die. Who'll be the next volunteer?

You can prevent conception by co-acting now.

It is better to go willingly at a $1.10 a day than by force for the Kaiser at 13 cents per day.

The young manhood of this country has scarcely been touched as yet.

Young man, the country looks to you first. Don't wait till spring. Get in with the local company now, and help make it the best drilled in the battalion.

If you cannot get yourself to get a merit. Don't waste it.

It was only the proper size. I tell you I'd be there. Well, back it up by trying to get a recruit.

Let's the Bruce battalion good enough for you. You'll enjoy the company of the old home lads on the battlefield.

Rev. W. J. Watt preached a very practical sermon on Sunday morning, from the text: "Thou shalt not steal."

There were many ways of stealing. Children often grew up to be dishonest by seeing instances of dishonesty in the home.

The housewife selling stale eggs for newly laid was stealing; the hunter at the plaid to stivate conversation was stealing; the habitué Monday visitor was stealing his neighbor's time.

Canada had the name of being the most politically corrupt nation in the world. Millions of the country's property was stolen to wit: patronage, and acceptance.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

A politician pleading for the burial of party differences sounds about as funny as the Kaiser's peace proposals.

A Brantford butcher advertises that it makes his head ache to think of all the people who owe him, and that there are heads aches, as well as butchers.

A Pennsylvania man has had his spine repaired by grafting a piece of shin bone on it. It's probably better to have good stiff backbone and a little weak in the shins than vice versa.

The provincial government intimates now that they may raise their war tax past the one mill, where it was located last year. The provincial government should get out of the road. It has no business to get in the way of the war at all. It has never told us yet what it did with the mill rate it levied last year.

The People Always Pay

There has been a very mistaken idea abroad that, by some slight of hand work, the government, or the council, could raise money out of thin air; that getting money from the government was all right, no matter how it was done. If there was a little graft or a little work that was not quite honest and above board, it was not very seriously considered, or very violently opposed. In this way it had come to be part of our government law, in many cases, that grafting from the government was not in reality a wrongful thing, or that it was endangering our reputation as good citizens. Rather it was considered clever. "The government's putting up for this," was an easy way to waive an otherwise faulty conscience.

A Good Plan

Judge Horton of Brantford speaks out emphatically against the maintenance of militia regiments while officers and men do not intend to go on active service, and his plan for disbanding all such units will find a considerable amount of support, especially among men who have volunteered for the front. Whether it would be altogether advisable might be subject for discussion.

All are agreed that "church parade officers" are no credit to the country, and their appearance in uniform at social gatherings and other peaceful meetings is a subject of annoyance. But all these "church officers" and their maintaining at home must not be so-called. There are many who are undertaking the duties of an officer, at the front, because of physical defects or weight of years, have done valuable work in the country, and are now in the militia. These same officers are also helping in recruiting and assisting in the utmost of their ability in other ways. It might be unfair to depict them of their right to wear the King's uniform. Of course there are the others whose main object in becoming officers in the militia was the gaining of social prestige and to add to their personal fascination by appearing on state occasions in full uniform. For these there should be different treatment.

Could not some scheme be worked out based on the answers given by all officers to the questions recently asked by the militia department as to their willingness to serve? Those who are willing to fight and those who have done good work, but are no longer able to take the field, might be allowed to retain their rank with those whose answers failed to disclose any real obstacle to their presence in the trenches other than old age, infirmity, or lack of patriotism, might be crossed off the regimental roll without giving any offence to those whose opinions carry weight.

Make Haste Slowly in Moving to the City

We wonder if the experience of a dweller in the country in the Southern States has a counterpart in our country. It is the thing we are at present sure that many people who have left the rural districts for town or city life would make haste slowly if they had the opportunity of living life over again. A Southern contemporary wisely says: "To leave a village in a hurry for a family to go from the farm to the city, but more often than not, a great mistake is being made. The country is being made attractive and remunerative, while the city is perhaps growing more expensive and oppressive. Why should a man leave the farm where his children can grow up, and where he can be sure of a good education? Does he desire and expect to make more money in the city? Let him take care. He may be like the farmer who, according to an old proverb, figured out one rainy day that he had raised three hundred miles of corn, and then he had to go to the city to sell it. He then sold his corn and moved to town, where he waited six hundred miles to find it.

job, and—how still waiting! How much better if he had heeded some of the proverbs he knew: "Look before you leap," and "Let well enough alone!"

SOLVING THE QUESTION

The question which is uppermost in the minds of our country readers just now, especially those operating large farms, where the sons are running afoul, is whether or not the boys should enlist and bear arms, or whether they will serve by producing on the farms.

Last week "The Sage of the Swamp," in other words, our Burgoyne war correspondent, took exception to the methods of some of the recruiting officers, and claims that the call to till the farms, is just as important as that to serve by arms.

The editor, and our readers also, have a great deal of respect for our correspondent, but it seems to us that both sides of the issue are important, and the thing for consideration is to choose the right course under the circumstances.

The Canadian Military Gazette in its issue of the 8th inst. asks the question: "Is one man in arms worth two on the farm?" The issue for its question is its belief that in many cases if the farmer's son is taken away from the farm for overseas service, the farmer himself who is probably advanced in years, will probably quit farming, and thus two men will be lost to Canadian agriculture. It proceeds:

The whole question is: In what way can we do more to hasten victory? Let us put this in concrete form with regard to the proposal to place half a million young men under arms. Taken in that way, the question may be put something like this: "Will we contribute more to the empire's strength by giving 500,000 to a certain proportion of men in arms and food, or by mobilizing 300,000 with a much larger contribution in munitions and food?"

Now we do not propose to answer that question. We do not know, and it is certainly not a case for guessing. What we are is for careful consideration of the problem before we are irrevocably committed to what may be the wrong course.

The question which the Gazette raises is a most important one, and it is one to which the Dominion government ought to give a definite expression of opinion. It cannot, of course, do anything to deter farmers' sons who feel it their duty to enlist from carrying out their patriotic intentions, but it can make a declaration of policy, and give instructions to recruiting officers as to what ought to be the attitude toward enlistments of this character.

With The Boys in Training

By Pte "Sandy"

Private Avis is "very" fond of peace. Private Galbraith has been recommended for higher, and is taking the course at London.

The recruiting officer was in town last week and each of the boys received a razor, two brushes and a pair of mitts.

Privates T. McCaw and Harold Taylor have been promoted to the ranks of corporals.

Those winter coats are a long time in coming. However the boys do not complain as they are getting used to the cold weather.

A speaker at Lockport rather coldly stated his club for shooting away government ammunition, and then not enlisting.

Lieut. Cameron, who was here at Port Elgin recruiting recently, has been appointed signifying officer of the Bruce Battalion.

Came here and join the local P. M. C. (Patriotic Military Council). There are some right in the field now but there is room for more. Let's not now, do not wait for the officer fellow. Hence, County has established a record in recruiting. The local P. M. C. will soon be up to strength.

Mr. McClure received word that his grandson, R. L. Seamus who enlisted in Toronto last March is now "somewhere in France," having had ten months' rigorous training in Canada and England.

This young man of twenty years had finished his third year in University, but answered the call to King and country, and is with the artillery in the 26th Battery.

In his last letter from England he wrote: "Just a short letter this time as I am awfully rushed for time. We are all confined to barracks with a guard of over a hundred men in a corridor around the camp. We are on twenty-four hours notice which means that at any time in the course of the week we may be ready to leave for 'parts unknown.' Our list is in wild disorder now, but we are a pretty steady bunch, and there is a great deal of the barracks that often characterizes an overseas draft, but just a quiet determined group, and a sense of relief that the long and arduous training is over."

A good letter says: "Here we are at last across the channel, and it is strange to realize we are in the land where the war is on. But we are glad we can now put in exception the military spirit, and the tactics for which one long preparation and discipline have enabled us to practice in the days of our country."

AN APPEAL

Mrs. J. T. Wallace, who has given a son to the colors, sends the following verse to The Times, as appropriate: (Mother to Mother)

You say you love your son too well
To bid him go fight;
To face the German shot and shell
Where Wrong is throttling Right?
Think you those mothers who have sent
Their sons to face the foe,
Felt and their souls with anguish rent
Even while they bade them "Go!"
O blind to Duty's finger-point
And deaf to duty's call,
Last year's tender you, last the poet,
Barbarian on us fall.

Here in our peaceful, sheltered land,
Flourishing homes, and—Woe!
Too late, ah, then, to make a stand;
Hear'st thou our prayer nor curse!
"No British!" Heed your Country's call, Act not the Alien's part!
God keep your Boy while'er he fall,
And His Peace keep your heart!
—"Mother Militant."

EDITORIAL COMMENT

"Glad I collected," said a young recruit yesterday. "My conscience used to roar like a train of cars all night, but now I sleep like a babe."

The speech from the Throne in the Ontario Legislature last week hinted at new taxation. Well, we intended to get rid of our cat, anyway.

Most amusing indeed, are the remarks of politicians about thrift and economy. If newspapers were to give these men a little less publicity on their talk, and a little more publicity on their actions, this country would benefit.

The big temperance parade in Toronto to-day is only so much "parade" after all. It will not further the cause much, but it will be the means of attracting many people to Toronto where they might get rid of their extra dollars.

The young ladies who constitute the auxiliary to the Patriotic fund have saved the reputation of Port Elgin, when gifts to the fund are considered, the girls having raised nearly $700 in a year. Best of all they have enjoyed the work in weekly canvassing, and have not become weary in well-doing.

Bruce county is well represented in the west. In the British Columbia by-elections last week, Hon. Charles Tisdale, Minister of Public Works, was defeated in Vancouver city by Malcolm A. MacDonald, formerly of Bruce county. He had a majority of about 5,500.

A public meeting will be called shortly to consider plans to assist the Canadian Patriotic fund. All ratepayers should make it a point to be at this meeting. Many municipalities are making liberal grants from the municipal treasury by declaration. The people should decide whether Port Elgin will make a grant through its council or make a canvass as was done on Trafalgar Day.

Premier Hearst announces that there will be a plibic in the prohibition question. Plibetics have been taken before on this question, and we hope it will not be so lightly regarded by Mr. Hearst and his government as in the past. Complaint is made by some that too much time is being lost in offering a plibic. While plibicness is desirable, we would rather this thing be done thoroughly. If the government is sincere the little deal will not matter.

This is a war where men count more than feet. That is why men and more men are needed. The men are organized to provide, by force, the men necessary to carry on a program for a defined time, that time of which the foe is well aware, and no amount of reading of newspaper reports of starvation in Germany used to mean that the foe is on his last knees. Kitchener says that nothing but an overwhelming force of men will win this war, and the allies must have them.

A Willing Worker

An outstanding figure in Bruce county in the present war crisis is His Honor Judge Klein. Although not a young man Judge Klein has found time, amidst his arduous duties as senior judge of Bruce, to assume and carry on vigor only the work of recruiting, and as president of the Bruce War Auxiliary is responsible in a great measure for the rapid formation of the 160th battalion. In two months' time 100 men were in the battalion. The judge is better known now. He has traversed the entire county in connection with his judicial calling, but he is traversing the county to a greater cause, and the thousands who have heard him in his appeal for men have been enlightened and interested. Judge Klein owes his experience of long residence in this county to good advantage in showing the great burden the pioneers of Bruce undertook in road building, and settlement duties. In a splendid and convincing manner he compares the hardships to make a county to the task we are asked to assume to save the country for Canadians. Yes, the judge is a true patriot, a man who is willing to work and to pay. Bruce county is proud of him.

Taxing Cats

At last we have found the way to liquidate the debt of Port Elgin, and Reeve Lizard should take note on it. We read a suggestion to depatch offered by a gentleman delegated to look up means for revenue. He has discovered that all the cats were taxed a deal of revenue could be raised.

We are saved! If the recurrence and success will put this suggestion into force we could raise thousands of dollars in Port Elgin. Providing, of course, that each cat could be connected with an owner.

With the taxing of cats, it would be necessary to double the dog tax. Dogs are worth several times more than cats, so the owners say, and they would want to pay more. Therefore, the dog and cat tax would clear off the indebtedness in a short while.

PASSING OF TWO BRUCE TP. PIONEERS

The ranks of the pioneers are being thinned rapidly. Every winter sees the calling to their fathers' abode of these fine, sturdy people who with the fear of God in their hearts and love of their fellow men strong within, strove mightily and succeeded in making for the generations to follow, a good place to live.

Last week, Duncan McDonald and John McKinnon, two Bruce township pioneers passed away. It was the privilege of both these men to reach and to pass the four score mark. They were honorable men, and the world is better for their having lived.

The editor of The Times was privileged to know these men only casually, for they have lived with their families in other places. Therefore we have been assisted in the brief summary of these men's lives, by those who knew them well.

John McKinnon was born on the 1st of May, 1841, in Scotland. At the age of sixteen he landed with his parents in Vaughan Tp., York County in the year 1849. There he spent a couple of years and the family then moved to Bruce County and settled on the 12th con. of Bruce Tp.

Robust health and a powerful physique enabled him to become the successful possessor of a beautiful farm, forced by strenuous toil, from the forest wilderness. Here he lived a simple life, married Josephine McGillivray and raised a family of one son and six daughters. Of his family life he is still living, Peter in Paisley, Mrs. Thomas Swallow in Port Elgin, Texas, Helen and Phemie in Toronto.

It was with pardonable pride that John McKinnon felt hours in being rated as a pioneer of the year 1851, the day when he first came to settle in Toronto to carry a bag of wheat on one's back to the mill. At those times he was a hard worker, and a man of his contemporaries in recounting the happy variable days of toil and struggle at which he was engaged by a heritage so precious to be handed down to his sons.

Dotting with respectable intellectual gifts as well as with a happy disposition he was a favorite conversationalist in family circles, but could also feel equally at home among the cultured. He was an ideal son of the mother being conversant with Scotland's history even to details. "Her song her song and revelled in her folk lore."

As a family Christian he will be the best and most remembered. No one could be long in his company without knowing where his heart's treasure was. He loved the church of Christ and was editing and faithfully. He held the pulpit in the Gaelic language in the North Bruce congregation, and also served for many years as an elder in which office he adorned the doctrine of the meekness. His health, face at communion season, the glow of the inward glow of his devotion to Christ. Late in life he retired from the farm and resided in Paisley. Here his life habit of prayer became more manifest even to his children knew it. A little grandchild of his year was after visiting the old man "well what's grandpa doing to day?" "He's talking to God" was the child's reply.

Up to the close of his life he visited the sick and sorrowing, and dying, read and prayed with them, pointed them to the Good Shepherd, and many old people will miss his loving ministrations. With leisure for reflecting he saw in retrospect the protection of Providence throughout his career. On the eve of his departure for America he experienced an impression in which he saw the western heaven thrice flash open and angels formed back to him onward. He lay down before God all his life and drank deeply of his Master's spirit. "Even to old age" God followed him granting him the two closing desires of his heart that he might not in his closing hours be a trouble to others and that death might come with little pain. Death came as a sleep while reclining in his arm chair after having read a portion of God's word which, like Elijah's refreshing meal, strengthened him for his homeward journey.

Mr. McKinnon is survived by four sons, Mr. A. McGillivray, Port Elgin; Mrs. John McKinnon, Red Deer; Mrs. John Bell, Saugeen; and Mrs. Peter Giesbert, Guelph.

Town Council

Reeve Lizard and councillors Eld, Corbett and Patterson were present at the regular meeting last Friday. The business was light.

The reading of the auditor's report took up some time. It was finally passed and 100 copies ordered printed.

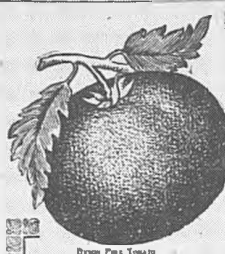

The board of trustees presented the Sick Children's Hospital and the National Sanatorium for Consumption, and voted $10 each to the worthy institutions.

Discussion arose as to a tax levied for the town. Reeve Lizard said some citizens had suggested that an inspector should be appointed. While no complaints were forthcoming the matter was left over.

The charity committee reported that the situation of a certain family had been improved.

Accounts were passed as follows: George Fisher $4; J. Kable, $4; W. Brown $1; Times $6.64; Lake Erie Coal Co. $117.75 and $11.00; George Talbot and Finch D. McKinnon $10 each as auditors. High school requisition $272; public school requisition $279.

The greatest marine tragedy known was that of the sinking of the French transport Provence, with 4000 troops, only 400 being saved.

James Burns, who passed away at his home in Tiverton on Thursday Feb. 10th, 1916, was a pioneer of this district. The deceased was born in Lanthorn on February 23, 1846, and there lived in his 70th year. His next home was in Berrie having moved with his parents from his birth town. In 1870 he became united in marriage to Miss Harriet James of Wingham making their home in Berrie. From Berrie Mr. and Mrs. Burns moved to Kincardine, then to the town for four years moving to Tiverton. After a residence of six months in Tiverton, they moved to the north of Kincardine, where they resided for one year moving to the town of Bruce, where Mr. Burns lived for three years during which time he became very widely known as a horseman. He was one of the very few of these years that could be called an old hand on a horse. Mr. Burns was well known through Harn, Kincardine, Bruce, and Bruce being a horseman for 40 years, in the past few years he was known as well, and since last fall had been riding. He leaves behind him a large family consisting of three sons and three daughters: Mr. Abraham of D. C. McKay's home and James Edward of Algoma's home. Mrs. J. W. Stone of Tiverton, Ont., Mrs. Donald Loughlin of Spokane Wash., and Mrs. Laura at home. The funeral took place on Saturday, Feb. 11th, 1916 at the Tiverton cemetery. The pall bearers were Messrs. H. WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form. Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body; and local treatments in the form of snuff and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by purifying your blood with the old-fashioned Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building tonic, free from any harmful drugs. Try it.

Fourteen More Men Needed

Here's a great chance. The local company training here has 41 men. To complete the platoon it needs just 14 more men.

What'll be the first of the young fellows to jump in and fill up the spaces. Mind you, the local lads are a big bunch. They'll have their uniforms now, and any young fellows who come forward will be put into a uniform at once.

Several men have been asked if it is now. Young men of Port Elgin and Saugeen, fall in, and keep this platoon from falling off right from this district. Boys you all know, so that you can train together and fight together.

Just call on Dr. Vetch, or Sgt. McArthur, and tell them you've come, and do it this week.

Will 16th Train Here?

While no efforts are being made locally, it is supposed that the 16th battalion may train here for two or three months.

The battalion has now reached 350 men, and to another 150 men the full number, 1900, will have been secured.

When the battalion is up to strength arrangements will be made for the centralizing of the force.

Port Elgin has three parks and a large commons, all of which are level, and the city has a training large companies of soldiers.

The battalion according to the general rule, should proceed to London, where up to strength, but London may not be ready for them, and there will likely be the months of May, June and July when the battalion will still be in Bruce County.

Deputations from other towns in the county have been busy setting forth their desire to have the men for the few months' stay, but none of them can show the facilities Port Elgin can. In the park a capable of accommodating the whole battalion for training and for drill purposes, and a large commons, all of which are level, and the city has a training large companies of soldiers.

Beyond that, there is the market square, the central square and the commons, and the high school, all within the town limits, and all level, suitable for the use of the army.

It is the officers in charge of affairs are looking this way, and it might be well for our council and business men to at least consider the invitation.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of the late Sebastian Busch who died on March 15th 1909. From the world of grief and pain a word reaches that happy shore. Where friends shall meet to part no more.

Weep not for him, for he has left All sorrow, care, and woe behind, And now he waits for us to join him, To dwell with him in heaven above.

Weep not for him, his work is done, And all his conflicts are over. The battle's fought, the victory's won, And he has reached that happy shore.

Where all joy and love and peace, And where there is no more of cease. Weep not for him he is at rest, His body sleeps in calm repose.

His spirit mingles with the host, Beyond the reach of earthly woes. Where waits with God immortal joys, And never, never part again.

A hot pan was set in the entertainment of the local soldiers when the members and friends of the Evangelical church treated a sumptuous banquet on Monday evening.

Covers were laid for sixty persons, soldiers, church officials and invited guests, and at 6 o'clock a full course dinner was served by the ladies who spared no pains or expense in providing the best of everything. The tables were very prettily decorated with cut flowers and candles, while the auditorium of the church was splendidly draped with a profusion of flags and bunting all joining to the centre at the front with a new standard "160th Bruce Battalion".

During the dinner music was enjoyed. Rev. Mr. Gieseler, the popular pastor, presided, and in introducing the toast

Recruiting Committee Meets

Messrs. J. W. Henry, J. Claxie, Alex McCannell, Fred Elliot, A. E. Nelson, H. H. Stevens, Dr. Vetch, Sgt. McArthur, Rev. Barker met at The Times office on Saturday to make an active effort this week to get 14 men to make a platoon of 65 for this centre.

A list of available men were gone over, and those present were asked to call on these young men during this week.

The battalion is about complete. Port Elgin and Saugeen need 14 more to make this platoon, without adding recruits from other places, or without having this company separated to fill other platoons.

The officers all want to be together, and the committee is anxious to have them together, and thus the concentration of effort to keep them together.

It can be done this week. Remember the number, let all assist. Up to the hour of going to press four of the number have been secured.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

If you are physically fit and unmarried and have no urgent responsibilities, it is your duty to enlist.

A German newspaper speaks of "the dasher's blazer". Has William's real spirit will take place once the 160th is on his trail.

The Globe remarks that politics is a "winning" game. It would be interesting to know just what The Globe would call the politicians.

The waste basket in a newspaper office does more to keep a town's citizens in good repute than any other agency, except, perhaps, fear of the law and the alleged top class.

The salary of the Hon. I. B. Lucas amounts to $11,400 per year. A first class athlete comes high. There are other ways to economize than in payment of officials.

Manufacturers tell us that the chances for obtaining customers' money for fall and winter of 1916, are not very good. Who cares? The old grey yarn variety with the Red Cross heel and toe, are the only ones that will be in fashion anyway.

Farmers generally will appreciate the remarks of J. W. Johnson M. P., of West Hastings in denouncing the increased expenditure of the province when he argued that the people "were better able to pay than they were some years ago".

British Columbia's population has decreased 10 per cent since the war. The decline is placed at 100,000 persons. After making allowance for soldiers, and railway construction men it is estimated that 50,000 people have left for the east.

C. M. Bowman, M. P., in criticizing the Provincial Treasurer's budget, declared that there was a deficit of two million dollars, rather than a surplus of about $300,000 as submitted by the Hon. I. B. Lucas. Just what the people would like to know is who is right?

During the big parade in Toronto Wednesday afternoon had extra thick uniforms offering them to men in the parade. During the past two months Port Elgin volunteers could have had these surplus uniforms, about half the young men here having no parade in civilian clothes.

The big temperance parade at Toronto last week would spin a row, soldiers and anti-temperance men attacking the procession and tearing up banners and injuring people generally. The rampus doesn't speak very well for the police force of Toronto. Neither does it flatter the military management.

If the Dominion parliament decides on prohibition it will put it into effect with just a vote being asked of the people. And why should the people be asked? These men are elected to represent the people, and they should do what they deem wise for the country, and be prepared to take the consequences when the regular election occurs.

The Ontario government is an endeavor to raise more money has decided not to raise more just yet, but will put a tax of one cent for each admission to the theatres, moving picture shows, amusement parks, circuses, baseball parks, skating rinks, etc. It is expected that this little picking will aggregate $350,000 a year. Taking a cent from a moving picture show ticket which has cost two cents in small towns as compared with a cent from a theatre ticket in Toronto which has cost a dollar looks a little sharp.

Burgoyne correspondent thinks "Sage of the Green" is a doubtful commitment. Not in the least. This title was carried by no less a personage than the late lamented Goldwin Smith. Times readers look for the correspondence from Burgoyne as soon as they receive the paper. It is something more than correspondence, much is frequently carried by good editorial articles. And Burgoyne budget is of unusual interest this week. The editor is glad that a representative of the farming community is endeavoring to put forward the side of the farmer in this time of recruiting. The Times shows that a great many peculiar methods are used to get recruits, but the only way in which the rural districts can create public opinion in their favor is through publicity. The city paper is full of the roars for conscription on the part of the politicians, and we are glad indeed that the columns of The Times are being used to discuss the same. There has been no objection to farmers' organizations, in fact they would be a benefit to the country as a whole. If the farmers were thoroughly organized the day of the politician and his tricks would be done.

The Ontario government took two million dollars from the people as a war tax. Of course, this is a mere trifle, it is not toward the winning of the war.

Educational work of any kind is slow and discouraging, and at times almost forced to the conclusion that mankind is quite contented with itself. At the farmers institute meeting last Thursday, a mere handful gathered to hear an expert speak on two important branches of Canada's greatest industries. Yet on Monday night, people came from far and near, and packed the opera house to the doors, to see a very fourth-rate company play "Uncle Tom's Cabin". The world owes a great debt to the countless people who continue to press on with the torch of learning despite discouragements and disappointments—Thamesville Herald.

Interesting Statistics

The value of farm property, stock and implements in Bruce County totals, $10,822,652. This amount is made up of land, $3,845,440, buildings $11,641,861, implements $3,999,500, and live stock $2,636,851. The county has 928,470 acres of assessed land. Of this amount 143,800 acres or 15 per cent is cleared. 118,718 acres are woodland, 107,430 are slashland, and 121,718 marsh or waterland. For every thousand acres of cleared land in the County of Bruce, there was 47 acres of fall wheat, 6 of spring wheat, 34 of barley, 190 of oats, 10 of peas, half an acre of beans, 1 acre of rye, 7 of buckwheat, 30 of corn, 6 of potatoes, 13 of other roots, 236 of hay and clover, 30 of mixed grains.

Farm Labor

The Minister of Education is to release, a month before the end of the High School term, 15,000 boys of the fifteen years of age for service on the farms. It is assumed that a condition of the release, which will be made with out a loss of school standing, will be that the boys must work during the summer on the farms. It is probable that the boys released will be mainly farm-boys.

The Minister's step will be an official recognition of the serious state of farm labor due to war recruiting. The farm labor supply, according to our informant, it has been so greatly reduced that it is now too late for Ottawa to do anything. It was, as we probably are possible to do much by restraining farm recruitment. The heavy enlistment in the cities and employment in war supply would in any event, have stripped the farms of labor. A new demand now comes from the Northwest, where 10,000 men are required for seed sowing. The war of attrition in labor is very high and it is absolutely general. Beyond the farmers' means. Mr. White's effort to reduce exchange and to stimulate munitions manufacturers, have apparently worked to depopulate the land as it deprive him of a farm production which would have been useful to reduce exchange next fall—Sun.

Do You Live In a Home, or Only In a House

Bruce Barton, the editor of the magazine section of The Detroit Tribune, is noted for the homely lessons he gives to his readers in editorial articles. Last week one of these articles bearing the above caption we thought exceptionally worthy, especially as it deals with the mistake often made in classing houses or homes.

People use words loosely. They speak of "owning a house" and "owning a home" as if both phrases meant the same. As a matter of fact, many a man who pays rent all his life owns his own house; and many a family has successfully saved for a home only to find itself at last with nothing but a house.

When you plan to build or to remodel, it is well to stop and ask: What is the ideal home? First of all, it is a "cozy" place, a place not too large. The Vatican has 15,000 rooms. The Pope could, if he would, sleep every night for forty years in a different room. The War Palace at Petrograd is so vast that, once when repairs were to be made on the roof, peasants were found living there in wooden shacks, their existence unprotected by the glittering turrets underneath. But these palaces are not homes. The turtle does not construct a shell. The bird does not spread her nest across a whole tree-top merely because materials happen to be handy. Only man commits the foolish error of building a home too large to be a home.

The ideal home is a place of rest. One can rest in a room simply furnished, but not in a department store or a museum. You would not fill your home with warring visitors; do not crowd it with pictures, bric-a-brac, and "souvenir" stat jars and clabs.

And the home is a place of peace. A place where the soul is "restored" where a few pictures suggest the fragrance and healing of the out of doors, where good books lift the tired mind out of itself into the companionship of the wise and great of all ages, where love and sympathy conquer care. The cave man who first piled stones together into a rude hut did it to provide a shelter for his most precious possession—the sacred fire.

There is a sacred fire that burns in every real home; an altar to reason and forbearance and love. To who can claim that altar, whether the shelter built about it be a mansion or only a single room, owns his home.

No Cause for Alarm

Complaint is made in some localities that pro German papers printed in the U. S. were being sent through the post offices to Canadians, and a report was current that many of these papers were coming to Port Elgin postoffice.

The Times made inquiry, and is satisfied that so far as this community is concerned there are no papers of this nature coming through the regular post office. Rumors are subject to exaggeration, and it seems that it was greatly exaggerated here.

Germany has taken on another fight and declared war on Portugal.

It made no difference to McArthur who went at McKay and gave him a beating, with the result that the German sympathizer had to be taken to the hospital, while Klondike pulled the bullet out of his chest and went on home.

Why Best for Babies?

"Gummy" Chamberlain "I am often asked why Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is best for babies. Well, there are several reasons:

First: It is perfectly harmless and can be given with every confidence to the youngest and most delicate child.

Secondly: It contains no alcohol, opium, chloroform, morphine or any other narcotic.

Thirdly: Children like it, and no persuasion is needed to get them to take it.

For the above reasons alone it is impossible to get a better medicine for babies than

EDITORIAL COMMENT

One thing about this Varden drive, the Crown Prince has not been reported dead.

Since it takes so long to get our soldiers ready we should be thankful we've got a navy.

Berlin, Ont., citizens are having plenty of advice as to what they should call their Mr. Anyway, do select something the brakeman can call out easily.

A Harvard baby expert says that speaking on the proper spot is good for babies, but anger and bare legs are bad. The professor does not say where the proper spot is.

The seed catalogs are alluring as other catalogs. We planted some of those "guaranteed inspected seeds," but we couldn't make our garden look nearly as nice as the pictures.

The Tiverton Watchman last week contained an item that the local soldiers there received shovels and cleaned off the sidewalks of the village. What a grand clause the Port Elgin bunch has of learning trench-making this week, by doing likewise.

John Meyers, of the Estevan district, lost the trail in a recent bitterly cold spell. Almost exhausted, he lay down to sleep and his frozen body was found next day. Before giving up Meyers loosened his horse and the animal, finally reached home. Not all the heroes are on the battle ground—Swift Current Herald.

King George is desirous that the National Anthem should be played at his more brightly in future, the royal family objectives to the dirge-like rendering of the hymn. Now, if something could only waken up the chords in some churches the singing of hymns might be a bit more enjoyable and inspiring.

Pastor Russell has been barred from giving lectures in several Ontario towns because he was opposed, or his lectures were detrimental to overturning Hat, if his lectures are detrimental, and he can be stopped from lecturing, why allow the gent in Canada at all? If we understand the laws of Canada rightly, it is criminal offence to hinder recruiting in a time like this.

"I would like to see the British flag torn to ribbons and I would like to walk knee-deep in British blood and shake hands with the Kaiser." This is what a resident of Guelph said to another man. He was arrested and fined $10 and costs. He was fortunate to get away with such a light fine. And if men are to be let off in this manner for such violent talk then the laws should be changed.

A list of men published last week as having secured military crosses for bravery was mainly taken up with Captain McLeod and the late. Such and Such for leading an attacking party, or for officering men who threw grenades and did all manner of daring deeds. These crosses are well earned, no doubt but they would look equally as well on the breast of some of the brave men who composed these parties that threw the bombs, that blew up the works, that killed the men that belonged to the army of the Kaiser.

Women are said to be signing papers in several cities wanting to take the places of men while they enlist. It has always been easy, and always will be, we suppose, to find people who can do someone else's job better than their own. If a lot of these women who think they want to work on farms and in factories would just go to work and look after their homes and families a lot more men would enlist, as they would then have some reasonable assurance that their children or their property they have would at least be taken care of if they desired to go.

Some Bruce county residents are indignant over the report of population given in "The Toronto Star" the other week, and are writing letters demanding that "The Star" stop reporting the population of the "Indiana List." Of course, the information given by the daily was wholly inaccurate, and "The Star" should not be singled out. If thoughts were given to a number of the articles on farming, etc., appearing in many dailies one would also come to the conclusion that a lot of special writers should be "canvassed." The daily, rather goes out of its reach when it attempts to discuss rural affairs, and so does the rural weekly when it attempts to give its readers a re-hash of daily newspaper clippings and magazine articles.

Figures are being given publicity which is placing the French-Canadians in rather bad light, so far as enlightenment goes. In the whole province there have been but 29,000 who have enlisted, and the total population is over 8,000,000. Ontario has had to bear the brunt of this alleged 42-50 per cent. But why not let us hear more of our political leaders go to that province. They have been very active to the past in securing many concessions for the French. (Perhaps they might be able to get before the French-Canadian his duty to the Empire. Not only should the French in Canada be concerned for the British Empire, in the war, they should also be concerned for their beloved France.

The following paragraph is from the Durham Chronicle, and written by Editor Lewis. It constitutes a real compliment to the Hydro power, as it is from the experience of Mr. Irwin in his own home and office:

"The Hydro bills are out for February and personally we have no reason to find fault. Our residence cost $16 which included floor space. The office cost $11.51 and we had all the light we needed in both places. All users can control the cost by controlling the switches. We have twelve lights in the house and thirteen in the office and we use what we need and all we need.

The question of thrift, not only in money matters and in what is only purchasable with money, but in what relates to training, ability and experience, is a very serious one, and only very partially understood and studied. It has hardly reached the majority that it is a far from simple thing to do. The artificial effort will help to win the war so far as strong emphatic campaign has been started and pressed, which has for its object forcing people to realize the need of thrift, and the necessity for making use of all the resources of the nation. The working people who are earning large sums do not realize that they should be saving against the time when the artificial prosperity is changed for a keen competition; the time when the war is over and men leaving the army are looking for work. Nothing of importance has been done to teach them thrift. Members of parliament talk great deal about what the people ought to do, regarding economy, but is the government setting an example or in any way endeavoring to show the people how to economize.

At the annual meeting of the Bruce Telephone subscribers in Underwood, before the new commissioners were elected, Mr. J. J. Hunter advocated the closing of the Underwood central. He said so on the grounds of the saving it would be to the system something like $7,000 in 15 years. Most men looking for re-election to office would have left the proposition alone. Mr. Hunter believed it was in the best interests of the system and strongly supported Mr. McLean, who made the proposal. The farthest comes from the south end of the system, and most men know that his stand would not be popular in Bruce, but he had the courage of his convictions. He could easily have been dropped from the commission, as the majority present were from Bruce township. However, the subscribers re-elected him, which must have pleased him to have this mark of esteem shown him, even if the proposal was not popular. Messrs. McLaughlin, McLean and Hunter have given good business ability to the affairs of the system, and it is just possible that when the next saving proposal is reconsidered, the subscribers may adopt the proposition at a later meeting. There certainly is a congestion on the trunk lines at present and Messrs. McLean and Hunter pointed out the operators are not to blame. If the change as proposed would give efficient service the proposal is one that every intelligent subscriber should look into and when it comes again be in a position to give an opinion on. After all it will be the service rendered which will keep Bruce Municipal Telephone a paying proposition.

Getting Recruits

Judge Barron of Stratford, has taken a very keen interest in recruiting—an interest that can be classed as both enthusiastic and sane, for it can be truly said that his appeals for recruits lose nothing of their common sense by reason of the enthusiasm with which he delivers them.

Judge Barron has tabulated a list of "don'ts", which it might be well for those addressing recruiting meetings to bear in mind. In brief, these are given as follows:

"Don't if we are genuine in heart and soul, let us be seen on the public platform and decline the 'collar work' which we lay to others."

patriotism and on their duty, as long as a single patriotic duty of our own remains undone.

"Don't let as pass a man in khaki without greeting him with the kindly smile of approval. Remember that he is ready to fight, and if he needs to die for you, for me, and even for the 'chickens'."

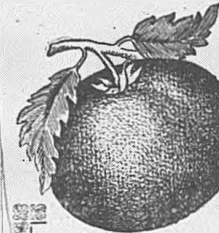

"Don't let as judge any man with the question 'Why aren't you at the front?' Let us persuade, urge and even request; but let it be in reason. Let us refrain from individual judgment. Let us follow the example of the One Man, whose example no living man has ever presumed to question, that Man who wrote upon the ground, "I judge no man."

It wouldn't be a bad idea if that were put into general practice right here in Port Elgin. It would cost very little effort to speak to the men in khaki. Just a nod and a smile—a recognition that you are there and appreciate the fact that they have responded to the call of duty—surely not very much to do.

We are anxious to get you men to enlist. We applaud when they do. Let's not forget them after they have taken the step.

Granny's Talk to Young Mothers

"Gee" Chamberlain "Few young mothers realize the extent to which a cold lowers the system and makes it susceptible to contagious diseases. It has been proven that the majority of diseases arise from germs, but it is not widely known that a healthy system will repel their attacks."

Where should never allow a cold to run for twenty-four hours without attention. If this is made a rule there will be less sickness for young mothers to worry over. A good reliable medicine for coughs, colds, croup and bronchitis should always be kept in the home where there are children. You may say that you have no confidence in cough medicines, but that is because you have never tried

Thimedicine is thoroughly reliable and has stood the test of nearly all a century. No, it will not hurt the children—there is nothing in it that would injure the baby."

Miss Emma Hiller returned to her home in London on Friday. The death of Mrs. Alan Heale, of Port Elgin, Alberta, occurred at the home of her sister, Mrs. T. McElloch. Mrs. Heale, who was formerly Miss Annie Heale of this place, and was well and favorably known, had been in poor health for some time and returned east in the hope that the change would benefit her health, but she grew steadily worse, and Mrs. Heale was sent for. Dr. W. J. McElloch, who arrived quickly away, surrounded by friends. Besides her husband, she leaves her father, her brother and sister, to mourn her loss. UNDERWOOD

At the meeting of the Farmers Club on Thursday evening last held in the workmen's hall, Mr. Norman McKay, of Walkerton, gave a fine address on "Sweet Clover." This subject is a very interesting one, and McKay, in his address, covered a wide field while others say it was a great stock feed. Mr. McKay said that the right sort of sweet clover to set was that which grew the white blossoms. In appearance it looks very much like alfalfa, but grows much larger and rank. It will grow from 3 to 8 feet high. For pasture the stock had to be turned in before the blossoms are out as when it is in bloom it creates an odor, which turns to bitterness and that was the reason the cattle would not eat it. It also makes the very best of hay, and as a feed it is not to be beaten. Some farmers grow it, and through the first crop purposely for enriching the soil. Sweet clover will grow in any soil, and the farmer without any of a catch. It is worth it long for a change, there are three things against sweet clover, and they are: First, when cutting the grain the clover is sometimes a foot or so high and gets into the sheaves there is a job to dry the sheaves secondly, when cutting it has to be cut high up, as an example above the shocks of the plant, so it is not too low, it will certainly kill it. Thirdly, the hay is so heavy and therefore hard to cut.

Our school here, S. S. No. 7 has been successful in winning the shield for the year 1915 in connection with the school. Now to win this shield is no small order, and it equals a lot of hard work for our scholars and our teacher. Miss M. McLean is to be congratulated on the interest and the work she has put into it. The shield is now on view at school.

ARRAN COUNCIL

Council met March 11th 1916. All present. Report from sheep valuator, A. Bailey, read and approved by J. A. Feath. Seven killed by sheep, the largest and three sheep were killed which was valued at $45 and five lambs which could not be decided on for some time. Ordered to send three thirds of the value of the three sheep killed and the matter of the lambs was left over until next meeting. Communication from the clerk of Port Elgin left over. A petition from Thede, McLean and several others asking for authority from council to keep logs in the old quarry. Seeing that such request was prohibited by the Provincial authorities, same issue was discussed. Council considered it had no authority to override the action of Provincial Board of Health and that the clerk of the county Mr. McLean to that effect. Treasurer's statement showed balance to credit of township $133.50. Orders to the amount of about $100 were issued.

FIGHTING OUR BATTLES

Mrs. R. M. Lowry sends letter to The Times received from her grandson in the trenches somewhere in France. It is dated February 24, and reads: "I am sorry for not writing sooner, but with Spring opening up here, and the German keeping us pretty busy, we don't have much time to answer letters. I have a pretty stiff job just now. I am in charge of a reserve trench, and it is our duty to see that the first line trench is kept properly supplied with rations and material. We have also to look after the men going and coming of duty. A number of my comrades are not in good shape. One of the boys has a sore leg, another a few boils on his neck, another who is very nervous, and another who is nearly dead. Some trench, eh?"

I am taking out a commination in the Imperial Army. The weather out here for the last few days has been very cold with about three inches of snow on the ground.

Annual Meeting Bruce Telephone

The annual meeting of the Bruce Municipal telephone system was held at Underwood in township hall on Friday the 17th inst. The old commissioners, Messrs. D. McNaughton, A. McLean and J. Hunter were re-elected to office. Later at a meeting of the commissioners Mr. McNaughton was again honored by being elected president for the year. J. H. Struthers was appointed secretary and J. G. McKay treasurer.

After taking up a number of business taken up was a proposal by A. McLean to close the Underwood central and do the switching at Tiverton. It was printed out that in Bruce town it would cost $7000 to keep this central open. The work necessary to make the change would cost about $2500. It is well known better service would be the result over the whole system.

J. J. Hunter supported Mr. McLean in his proposal. It was made matter of sentiment. It was a business proposition to shut down the central and switchers. In his usual blunt way he said the meeting that the Underwood central was an expensive proposition. If any of them present owned the system it would only take them about thirty seconds to close it up and make a saving of about $1,000 in fifteen years. Mr. McNaughton did not agree with the other commissioners. It was in favor of the Underwood central, as Bruce had inaugurated the system. He did not think closing that central would improve the service.

Mr. McLean in a few words made plain to the meeting how it was that the trunk lines were kept so busy and proper service not given. Thirteen lines went into Underwood. When these wanted to talk out on the trunk line the congestion was so bad that these were returned to Tiverton. It would leave the trunk lines free for long calls and those of four people being able to talk, as now all these lines could be in use at once. This would give a proper service and that was what the people demanded. He also took up Bell connection which he hoped to see shortly. The ruling of the railway board was the Bruce should pay $300 for this connection, but he hoped the appeal now pending would reverse this decision.

Mr. Hunter was in favor of Bell connection. It was not one using the system needed it, making more complete. He felt they could charge the business phones a higher price if they had this connection. This increase of revenue would pay for the connection. Mr. McNaughton was not in favor of losing the Bell people $300 for a connection.

P. A. Macdonald moved, seconded by J. F. Brown, that the Bell connection be secured if it did not cost too much. Mr. J. J. Brown was not satisfied with the financial statement. It was not correct no doubt, but was not comprehensible to the average man. He hoped to see shortly. The ruling of the railway board was the Bruce should pay $300 for this connection, but he hoped the appeal now pending would reverse this decision.

The White Plague

"A Winning Fight Against The Great White Plague" was the title of a most interesting address delivered by Mr. T. H. Hare, at the town hall on Thursday night. Mr. Hare presented what might be considered dry facts in a way that made his talk not only instructive but entertaining. The purpose of the campaign was to educate the people of Ontario into taking proper precautions against infection and the spread of the disease. The necessity for vaccination in the home was emphasized. The danger to children of milk from tubercular cattle was dwelt upon. The speaker told of a single dairy in the city of Edinburgh which had caused more deaths among children in one year than caused for three years. Thanks to the magnificent work initiated in this good work.

MEASLES UNDER CONTROL

The epidemic of measles is under control, and no more cases are reported. Dr. Wells, medical officer of health, in conversation with The Times representative, said that the epidemic was well under control, and that most of the boys and girls were only subjected to light attacks.

School will re-open on Monday, April 3rd. Those who have not had measles in their homes will attend on that day. While those children who have had measles themselves, or whose measles have been in their homes, must bring a certificate from their physicians or from the Board of Health.

The idea is to stamp out the epidemic. No one opening school and having to close it again. Let everyone co-operate. With the extended holiday owing to measles it is likely the Easter holiday period will be cancelled. It is fast approaching examination time, and in order to make these exams, pupils and teachers will have to get right down to hard study.

PORT ELGIN IS GROWING

Port Elgin is one of the small towns in Bruce county which is growing. Not rapidly, for their are few small places these days that are growing at all, let alone rapidly.

Recently Port Elgin is adding to its population, and its industries and buildings.

Looking back to 1910 Port Elgin Municipality had a population of 1392 and during that year and a portion of 1911, there was a decrease of 42 so that the report for 1911 showed a population of 1350.

In the year 1913, however, things began to turn for the better, and since then the population has been steadily growing. In 1913 the increase was 42, making the total 1392. In 1914 another increase was noted of 91, which brought the total to 1483. While the latest returns of the assessor for 1915, show a steady growth, the increase being 43, or a total of 1526. In the last three years, then, the increase in population in Port Elgin has been 210. This is not much, to be sure, but it is a splendid indication that things are looking up, especially at a time when most small towns are declining.

Another evidence of the fact that Port Elgin is on the way to continued growth, is the fact that real estate has increased in value, and suitable property is hard to obtain. In fact, the citizens of Port Elgin had a feast of the enthusiasm for their home town as many of them had a western real estate agent here last week, who had been looking for a place to build a house, and on our assuming the publication of this paper in January 1915, many citizens informed us that the population was anywhere around 1700. In putting out first reports of population were criticized a great deal in giving out information that might reduce prices of property. But believing that it pays to be honest in assessment returns, citizens are extended. Port Elgin's growth now agree that it was the right thing to do. Start right and when there is an increase it can be reported, and justly so.

It might be said to state that while there are 65 soldiers training here, none but those who have enlisted from the town proper were considered in the census. In this connection it might be noted that if there are any young men who have not been assessed, they should make it known to the assessor.

The returns made by Assessor Vandrick are as follows:

Value of lands—$77,495 1916
Value of buildings—$72,100 1915
Exemptions—$2,600 1915
Taxable property—$43,340 1916
Business assessment—$1,990 1915
Taxable income—25,885 1915

From the above table it will be seen that the total value of property for 1913 was $149,595. The total assessed for 1915 was $46,940, while for 1916 the assessor has put up $43,340, or an increase of over $12,000, or of about $477,407.

There are also increases in dues, though the military dues of 12 extra.

The exemption in the above returns amount to over $12,000. These returns include the property owned by the town, all churches, the armories and library.

THE ASSESSOR

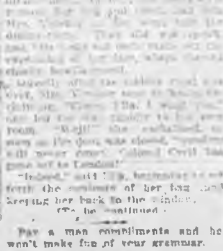

It might not be amiss, in connection with this to mention a word about Port Elgin's assessor, Mr. Alex. Vandrick. The town has a highly qualified official. He also is collector, and has a long record of service. Around the taxes are usually all paid. Assessor Vandrick has good judgment and is in his element.

Mr. Vandrick is a hard worker and plays no favorites. True he has a little trouble getting after income taxes, but he is sure to get them in the end. It is a pity that it is so hard for him to get them in the end. In the days when the income tax was up to $250,000, then when the exemption was raised to $100,000, then when it was raised to $150,000, then when it was raised to $200,000, then when it was raised to $250,000, then when it was raised to $300,000, then when it was raised to $350,000, then when it was raised to $400,000, then when it was raised to $450,000, then when it was raised to $500,000, then when it was raised to $550,000, then when it was raised to $600,000, then when it was raised to $650,000, then when it was raised to $700,000, then when it was raised to $750,000, then when it was raised to $800,000, then when it was raised to $850,000, then when it was raised to $900,000, then when it was raised to $950,000, then when it was raised to $1,000,000, then when it was raised to $1,050,000, then when it was raised to $1,100,000, then when it was raised to $1,150,000, then when it was raised to $1,200,000, then when it was raised to $1,250,000, then when it was raised to $1,300,000, then when it was raised to $1,350,000, then when it was raised to $1,400,000, then when it was raised to $1,450,000, then when it was raised to $1,500,000, then when it was raised to $1,550,000, then when it was raised to $1,600,000, then when it was raised to $1,650,000, then when it was raised to $1,700,000, then when it was raised to $1,750,000, then EDITORIAL COMMENT

New for that counter-offensive of the Allies. If successful, and it cannot but be otherwise, peace overtures may be forthcoming.

It is said that the Kaiser would not consent to the entire German navy making a raid on Great Britain. The Kaiser has always been a hoodoo.

Reports are that the war is ending and of course, peace overtures fall, but it would be regrettable to have peace concluded without a march to Berlin with General Hughes in the lead.

Government meat inspection cost each resident of the Dominion 4 cents a year. A more illuminating paragraph would be whether they got 4 cents in value from the inspection.

Six young women from Los Angeles, Cal. came up to New York last week and did a dancing act in the snow in Central park, before a large crowd. How would this suggestion do for the Toronto Re-creating League?

A great many local papers have advanced their subscription rate to $1.50 per year, and the others are falling in line but who will get it a additional 50c. It looks like the paper mills are after it for they have advanced the price of paper $5 per ton. —Winton Echo.

A despatch from Walkerton says that there is such a galaxy of officers wanting to get on the staff of the 160th that Col. Weir is having difficulty in selecting. Well, seeing that this is a Bruce County battalion, let's hope that the staff will compose men resident in Bruce.

Publishing a newspaper in France these days is a great task. The Toulouse Echo Laïque, a 4-page weekly, of which three and three quarters pages are entirely blank, only a few lines of advertisements remaining, as a result of the strict censorship. On the day after it was issued the editor received this telegram, signed "Old Subscriber": "Continue your magnificent campaign. You have my enthusiastic support."

A good deal of talk in Canada just now about allowing boys under 18 to see war films. In some cases there are strong young men not quite 18 who would make good soldiers, and might be allowed to enlist, but in the majority of cases recruiting officers are wise in refusing. We understand that the Militia Department is determined to put a stop to enlisting boys under 18, and it is just as well. There are too many conscientious objectors, to allow them to see their own destruction.

Capt. Barnham, member for Peterborough, asked the Dominion government if they were doing anything toward the education of the soldier, mentioning that a number of the men enlisting could not read or write, and that 75 members of the 160th battalion stationed at Kingston were illiterate. This bit of information submitted to the House brought forth a report from a French Canadian member. "That is Ontario for you. We might mention in passing that if the French Canadian Province of Quebec had done a proportionate amount of recruiting as had Ontario, the sample of illiteracy from Quebec might occasion surprise."

G.V. some people enough rope, and they will hang themselves. This seems to apply to rectitude in some places. Mayor Church of Toronto has resigned as chairman of the recruiting league and has decided to keep away from Monday recruiting meetings as the result of the actions of certain artists at the Royal Alexandra Theatre on Sunday night, when the Hon. Arthur Meighen was publicly insulted because his speech was a little too long for the artists who wanted to continue their "show."

The Provincial government has practically decided that prohibition shall prevail in this province by end of September. The temperance people set July 1st as the date, while the liquor people wanted an opportunity to remain open until end of the year. No real temperance advocate can object to the date the government has set. Where there is so much controversy in a matter of this kind it is an excuse to hope that all requests will be met. The government has apparently chosen a good time, and one which will give the liquor interests six months to arrange their affairs, providing they take the notice now.

Mr. Wm. McDonald, of North Bruce, introduced a bill asking that 75 per cent. of the fees paid by auto owners be returned to the municipality where the owner resides, so as to expedite road improvement. The member for North Bruce believes in taking lots of things whether he gets them or not. —Vance and the money for auto license agent on his mind. We were hoping that some member of the government might make these requests because they are both legitimate requests, but hardly likely to be carried out when asked for by such a petty Unit as MacDonald.

Had B. Dooley of The Simcoe Reformer, been made an honorary colonel on the grounds that he has helped greatly in recruiting in Norfolk, Simcoe, we must have three honorary titles, why not have plenty of them, and we submit the names of Judge Klein, of Bruce County, and also David Robertson, K.C. and John A. Macdonald. If work in connection with a recruiting officer, the qualification, then these men should be made honorary generals.

The Acton Free Press tells of a "Patriotic" gathering held at Norval where the officer commanding the battalion near there was refused the opportunity of addressing the young men gathered at the assembly. In fact, forcing the proceeds from such an affair over to "patriotic" purposes. It is to be regretted that a recruiting officer was refused the opportunity of talking to young men, but in a great many cases recruiting officers have themselves to blame. The fact that many papers contain apologies from local recruiting officers for party language, etc., is proof that not all officers have that splendid attribute of self-control.

Col. Denison of Toronto says: "There is no doubt of the right of having conscription, but I don't think that is the best way to raise the 100,000 men required. Why not demand a definite quota of recruits from the veterans' lists of each country? Let a definite proportion be set for each constituency, and if the number enlisting fails to come up to that percentage, let the district be disfranchised. A constituency should not be allowed to help govern a country that it was unwilling to defend." The colonies, militarily, and the military force is predominant, only they don't like the idea of having it classed as such. But if the suggestion were carried out, we believe the colonies and his friends would find that the people are not so mighty concerned about their voting as imagined. They did not want a number of men actually enlisted. Ask for them in a given time. If they are not forthcoming then the conscription law should become operative.

The War Stopping Waste

While war has been, and is being destroyed at a rate that will take centuries to replace as a result of the European conflict, the war is responsible for a saving of waste that was hitherto regarded as of trivial importance, but the high cost of which has now become one of the great necessities of at least the entire northern portion of the American continent. It has converted the dealer in rags, bottles, and similar junk, from one of the despised and despised members of society to an important business factor. Waste rags, which are colored are now worth more than the natural wool. They differ in value according to color and some have gone up as high as five hundred per cent. in advance of what they brought previously to the outside of the European configuration. It is not because of the wool they contain that these rags are valuable, although wool has also advanced in double its former price. It is because of the dye in them. Prior to the war these dyes were practically controlled by Germany and as a consequence are not now procurable from that source. Other nations have gone into the dye-making business, but it is a business that needs time and considerable capital to establish. The result is that the supply is far, very far from being equal to the demand. The dealers to whom the accumulations of the ragman eventually go buy these rags and pay big prices for them for the purpose of recovering the dyes they contain and using them again. And rags are but one branch of former waste that is being turned into useful channels at the present time.

A Correction

To the Editor of The Times: Sir—Will you kindly allow me space in your crowded columns for a few remarks called forth by the Bargoys Correspondent's article in your last issue concerning my recruitment letter last Sunday evening. Not that I wish to enter into any controversy through your columns with the Bargoys Correspondent, but I desire that the whole community, and the readers of your paper everywhere, may know the truth about the matter. I called the Bargoys Correspondent, seeking to help some earnestly inquiring young men here to decide whether their duty to the Empire at the present time. Had he reported correctly either my words or my intentions and conclusions, I would have nothing to say about it, but my words have been misquoted, and even attributed to me what I took particular pains to disavow.

He quotes me as saying "The young men who enlisted would be coming to the help of the Lord against the mighty while those who did not join were not fulfilling their duty." The first part of that sentence I did say and contained as well, but it is a truth that has given the courage of conviction to hundreds of thousands of our finest men to enable them to sacrifice all else they hold dear and the man who does not feel a call from his God to the call to enlist, is unworthy of his citizenship. But the latter part of that sentence, while those who did not join were not fulfilling their duty, I did not say. The Bargoys Correspondent took about half of the time of that talk to emphasize just the reverse of this. There are more right here in this district who have been eager to enlist, and have offered themselves to the recruiting officers, but have been advised by these officers that under their particular circumstances their duty was not to enlist, at the present stage at least. I agreed with them. I emphasized, as I thought this, that a farmer's duty might be to pay or might be to stay on his farm and work it as never before, that he had to decide that question for himself, with the help of his conscience and his reason, that the soldier and the shirker were not the man who wouldn't enlist, but the man who wouldn't square up to the question and decide where his life would count for most in this hour of need—at home or at the front—the man who sought to evade responsibility and let others bear the brunt for him.

STILL HOPEFUL

Prospects are that every county battalion will train right in the county in which it was recruited.

A movement is on foot among colonies of various county regiments to have their battalions in their own centres, and the probability is that this idea will be carried out.

And why not? Why should all the money be spent in a few of the large centres? After residents of Bruce county have worked hard and spent money to raise its battalion, would it not be feasible for it to train in the county until it was advanced enough to take up brigade training.

Here is where the strength comes in formation of future county battalions, in having the commanding officer and staff generally, residents of the county. This being adhered to there would be more desire to have the battalions remain in the counties in which they were recruited until it was absolutely necessary for them to train at a military centre.

It would also be advantageous from the fact that boys from the farms would be nearer their homes to help in seeding and harvesting. Get the boys down to city training camp, and how many would likely get back to help on the farm, spring and fall.

Letter From Lieut. Legie Foster

Lieut. Legie Foster, who is in London at Military college, and who was recruiting officer here, writes to The Times as follows:

"I am pleased with the way Port Elgin and vicinity is helping out with recruits and I shall be delighted when the full platoons is raised, which ought to be raised this week, according to the numbers shown by last issue of The Times."

I should like to have our squad of boys down here. Our Bruce record is a couple of general interest even at this distance, and I take pride in being connected with the 160th.

The drill I am studying at present is stiff and keeps one busy.

I'll see you at Port Elgin and to old friends generally.

$21 From Bag Committee

Away back in 1914 farmers of Bruce made a gift of oats to the war department, while the towns and villages in the county contributed the bags.

In Port Elgin enough money was advanced to pay for the bags and a considerable sum over. The local committee which had charge of the matter met a short time ago, and disposed of the balance of the money, which amounted to $21, to be paid to the treasurer of the Canadian Patriotic Fund.

This has been done, and the local branch of the Patriotic fund acknowledges the donation.

Pleaser Christian Ministers

In a series of sketches on "Pleaser Christian Ministers," printed by a New market paper, No. 5 has some local connection, at it concerns the grandfather of a former Port Elginite, Mr. D. Prosser.

Portions of the sketch read:

"John Prosser was born in Florida, U. S. 1794. He came to Canada in 1815 and resided near the Bay of Quinte, where he married in 1818, and in 1821 removed to North Drillingbury. Having received a better education than most of those among whom he was located, he was called to fill the office of justice of the peace. He was also a leader in all good movements in the community. In 1899 he was ordained to the ministry. He continued to work on his farm and preached Sundays, going to his appointments on horseback, along paths and blazed trails. He continued to reside in the same township and acquired a deep influence in the community. He was a man of great force and decision of character. Two of his sons are in the ministry. Rev. R. Prosser, of Castleton and Rev. J. Prosser, of Newmarket. Elder Prosser died February 28, 1884."

Mr. A. W. Pollock, who returned last week to his home in Port Elgin, may return to Port Elgin to reside. He has done well in the west, and looks to his old home place to spend the balance of his days. Well, we have plenty of room here. During the past six months there have been several families settle in Port Elgin, returning from the west.

WAYS OF DUSKY ROYALTY.

The Same When Abyssinia's Emperor Feasts His Army.

The emperor of Abyssinia is in the habit of inviting the 40,000 soldiers of the Ghebr geranos to a great dinner every Sunday. At the foot of the emperor's place in the imperial box. His tables are resplendent with European silver and glass, surrounded by unapproachable waiters, who serve the high dignitaries and distinguished visitors with a repast of immense variety with French sauces, Italian macaroni and so on. In the vast hall one can see nothing but a compact homogeneous crowd of black faces and woolly heads, among which the high officials are in no way distinguished.

Above all in the red throne on which sat his majesty, the Negus Neghest, under a great canopy supported by four gilded columns, with two tall candelabra lighted in front and on either side a row of Ras, Deghiah, ligas and other officials, the four provided by nature, viz. his first dagger—the engiers and the herberti produced in his dominions.

When he took in his hand the horn of plenty, the twenty present fetch, the Ras, the Deghiah, the ligas and the Ato closed round him and covered him with their acclamations and their hands so that the prince's eyes of the Negus neghest might not see the "Don of the tribe of Judah" drink. They also crowded round him and covered him when, tired of any dish, he washed his hands and turned to another.—Washington Post.

PRESENCE OF MIND.

It Covered an Enraged Lion and Saved the Trainers' Life.

At Cape Town a lion tamer was going through a performance in a cage with a full grown lion that had been lately caught.

Suddenly it was seen that the brute was putting the trainer through his paces rather than through the cage itself. Softly, crouching and creeping, the big cat edged itself between the thoroughly unversed man and the door of the den, fixing its victim with two glaring yellow orbs of dancing ferocity and sawing the empty air with its tufted tail as it crouched preparatory to springing.

Many men among the audience, used to the ways of wild beasts, saw and comprehended, but only one man possessed the knowledge and the presence of mind to avert the apparently inevitable. Turning on his lips as though he were going to whistle, he emptied a noose, low, coiling him.

The beast heard and understood, for the sound was an exact imitation of the baying of a police constable when its huge body is called for the throw that never misses, that never relaxes and that no beast of the field is strong enough to withstand. Again and yet again the coiled noose snapped the stillness, and the angry brute drew back its head, its great eyes grew small and dull, the backles rose and stiffened on its back, and it cowered, whining on the floor of the cage.—London Saturday Review.

The Home Jester.

There's a funny man in Harlow who is everlastingly trading out jokes, coconuts and other facetiae to his wife, and she stands for them because they are an improvement on everything; growing, as is the manner of some husbands when they are at home, sometimes he gets the joke on her, and she doesn't like it so well, but still she snuggles lest worse follow. The other evening at dinner he suddenly thought of something.

"Oh, I say, Mary," he said, "have you heard the latest Broadway conundrum?"

"No, dear. What is it?" she asked, thinking to encourage him.

"I don't know myself, so I guess I'll go downtown tonight and hear it." He went, too, but she went with him.—New York Sun.

The Bee's Stinging Apparatus.

A bee's sting, unlike that of a wasp, is always left in the wound, so the first thing to do is to remove it. Do not take it between finger and thumb, for that will cause it to open and release more of its poison. The right method is to push it out by rubbing up against it with the back of the thumb nail. To remove the pain there are many remedies, most of them homey. Here are a few: A slice of onion, ordinary laundry blue, sal volatile, honey, earth moistened with saliva. One or another of these remedies is always at hand.—Exchange.

One Million Seven Hundred and Twenty-four Thousand Dollars for New Buildings in Canada Since the War Began

WHY?

Is Canada prosperous? Are we justified in having the courage and confidence to put on full speed ahead in our business activities?

The experience of the Canadian Ford Company since that never-to-be-forgotten Aug. 1, 1914, indicates that courage and confidence should be away above par, that we are fully justified in casting aside anxiety and putting out full energy into an aggressive and progressive business policy.

It was some time before the outbreak of war that the Ford Canadian Company decided on an extremely broad policy of expansion.

If the demand for Ford cars should increase in the way that it had every indication of doing, then new buildings would have to be started at once to enable the company to meet this demand.

When war came the Ford Canadian executives saw no reason to change their plans—their confidence in Canada's prosperity never wavered.

So work was begun on a new building at Ford City costing $42,000. This is used as an addition to the office building and to the main factory building. It adds 130,000 square feet of floor space to the Ford Plant, bringing the total up to more than 3 acres. Then followed a new machine shop costing $50,000. The power plant was also enlarged at a cost of $110,000.

In four leading Canadian cities, handsome new buildings were erected as branch assembly plants, sales and service stations. Each one is as large as many automobile factories. All are of similar construction, being modern fire-proof buildings of brick and reinforced concrete trimmed with metal glazed terra cotta. The bases are of granite. The interiors are finished and fitted in accordance with the very best modern practice.

One of the branch buildings is located at Montreal, 118-139 Laurier Ave., East. It is a four-story building containing 124,000 square feet of floor space and costing $333,000. Over 100 people are employed here.

The Ford branch at Toronto, 672-682 Dupont St., is a five-story building containing 132,000 square feet of floor space. The number of employees is about 150.

The third new branch building is at London, Ontario at 606-630 Waterloo Street. It is a three-story structure having 49,872 square feet of floor space and was erected at a cost of $161,000.

The immensely increasing demand for Ford cars in Western Canada made it necessary to build a fourth new branch at Winnipeg. This is a handsome five-story building located at the corner of Portage Avenue and Wall Street. A quarter of a million dollars was put into its construction.

The total cost of these new buildings erected by the Ford Canadian Company since war began is $724,000. Additional to this are thousands of dollars spent to equip these buildings.

Why has this been done?

First, to provide Ford owners with greater service facilities. Each of these branches is so completely equipped with parts and machinery as to be able to build a Ford car complete. Also they are a base for the hundreds of Ford dealers in their part of the country, each of whose place of business is a well equipped Ford service station, in giving more rapid and more efficient service to Ford owners.

The second reason for this great amount of development work is to be found in the attitude of the Ford Canadian executives. If these men had been guided by the policy of many Canadian manufacturers they, with seeming good judgment, might have held up these plans for such enormously expensive construction.

But such was not their attitude. They were convinced that progress and prosperity were assured in Canada.

This decision was of vast benefit to Canadian industries, Canadian merchants and Canadian workmen in such a critical time as this. Practically all the material for these buildings was purchased in Canada. Canadian workmen were employed in their construction. And after the construction work was over, the whole community benefited from its enterprise, its industry, its wealth producing and distributing activities of these big establishments.

ALL SAFE YET

On Saturday night, a house received word that the two boys at Southampton were in danger from water and ice. He notified Mr. H. H. H. of Kincardine and they started the bridge.

It was found that at one end the iron structure had but two inches of hold on the abutment. After consideration it was thought wise to build a plank pier underneath, and in case it does draw away from the abutment it will rest on the plank structure.

Conditions at the electric power house are improving, and the street lights were on last night.

The Times in conversation with Mr. McVittie, was told that if the thaw continued in two or three days the power would be up to normal, and the service would be as usual.

Since away back in January, when the thaws were plentiful the light has not been up to standard.

WHAT "THE SAGE OF THE GRANGE" HAS TO REPORT

Spring, spring, beautiful spring, the budding young post begins to stir. The birds will whistle and the bees will hum.

The flowers bloom out and the grass grows green. The hens will cackle and the crows will crow.

The merry young tapers will shout Hurrah! The little lambs skip and the sucking calves call.

But men kill each other in spite of them all.

Miss Mary McLaughlin is home from Southampton, fully recovered in health after the rather serious operation of a month ago. A nursing home would be a good thing in any town where there are sickly visitors.

Mrs. Henderson has been confined to the house for some time, the results of a severe cold which developed serious trouble.

Mrs. McLean, sister of Mr. N. Swinton has returned home after a lengthy stay with friends in the west. Nell has been keeping "watch" for a year, enjoying its freedom and suffering its hardships.

This is the picture of a woman, now a nurse, who has been in the hospital for some time and has been very much improved.

572 From Picture and Coffee Quay

We respectfully beg to inform you that we have received your order for 100 copies of the book "The Grange" and will deliver it to you as soon as it is ready.

Last week they put on a play and made $50, and also won the prize of $100 for a beautiful picture painted by Mr. Mayor Schmitt of Berlin, and a coffee caddy donated by Mrs. Wm. Gledhill which cost $75.

The draw was made by the chairman of the parish fund, and the $10,000 was the lucky one for the picture. Mr. Fowler held it.

For the office, Mr. J. J. McLaughlin held the draw, which was $10,000.

Before the draw was made the ladies said there was to be no giving away of the picture. They want all the things they offer to be kept in the parish fund, and when they are over they will be remembered.

Send these young women for whom to get the picture, and if you can, it is a year they have raised nearly a thousand dollars.

$5,000,000

The above figures represent the estimated loss by smut, through smut in grain crops in Ontario in 1915. If you had a field of oats, barley or wheat you no doubt contributed to the great loss. By reason of the prevalence of smut last year the danger is rendered greater this year. There is one way to prevent this and that is to

TREAT YOUR SEED FOR SMUT

The method usually adopted is as follows. Mix one pint of FORMALIN with 40 gallons of water or 2 table-spoons in a pint of water. Place the grain to be treated in a heap on clean canvas or floor. Sprinkle the formalin solution over the grain then shovel. Repeat this UNTIL EVERY GRAIN IS MOISTENED by the solution. COVER THE PILE WITH SACKING and leave for 24 hours. At the end of this time spread the grain out thinly to dry; shovelling it over three or four times will hasten the drying. Forty gallons of the formalin solution is sufficient to sprinkle 30 or 40 bushels of grain, smaller amounts in proportion.

Immersion of the grain in a bag is sometimes practiced and is equally effective. Those requiring information apply to

EDITORIAL COMMENT

If there are any youngsters in Port Elgin who haven't had the measles, please get them at once and make it quick.

It must be extraordinary to some of our readers who live out there where there are no sidewalks, and who must see the roadway, to have to splash through adobe and water.

A Kincardine township lady has reported to The Review that she counted a dozen robins in a tree up the shore road. This surely has The Times aeruplane story faded.

Really a new name must be invented for the word "strapped". "Strapped" could be overlooked, but when a man tells about "them strapped shels" it's enough.

A subscriber wants to know if there can run at large until gardens are in
No. The by-law makes no exception.
In other words don't let your chickens, or anything else for that matter, be a nuisance to your neighbor.

Leading citizens of several counties are endeavoring to have county battalions train at home. When they get so encouraged from the D. O. C. at Loudon they propose to carry it to Ottawa.
Watkinson has appointed a strong deputation to go to Ottawa, to endeavor to secure the Brno battalion.

In the farm labor problem, there are many big boys and girls who would not be harmed in the least by a course of physical exercises during the seedling season. The majority of their paws and maws had to do before them and are none the worse. In many farm homes the hired man problem is a disease—
Swift Corbett Herald

The government is teaching the soft spots again, having decided to charge $5 for a marriage license. This simply means more money for the politician to spend and less for the parson. The former fee of $1 was used by the man who joined the license getting $1.80 of it, and the government did not know. Now the government will get $2.50.

All sorts of suggestions are being made for supplying the shortage in farm help. The Owen Sound Sun asks: How would the business men, clerks, and others in Owen Sound and other townships have been in the habit of taking weekly half holidays during the summer months, like to make it a whole day each week and spend the time assisting their farmer friends?

The Paisley Advocate announces that, after closing its financial year, it has found that it must also charge the $1.50 rate for subscription. It doesn't take long for a man to decide after the cost of the materials that go into the making of a newspaper to day. But, after all, is it anything to the individual subscriber to pay less than a cent a week extra for a paper that keeps the small town and the community on the map?

As statistics show that the 250,000 soldiers raised by Canada thus far 42,000 of the men are out of commission, it will be in order for all recruiting centres to prepare for the day when the men will be returning to their homes. If we have been interesting ourselves in the men to go out and fight, we should go all the way in the matter and prepare to help the man when they return.

The Walkerton Herald, in lamenting the fact that only two citizens turned out to the meeting called to consider a caveman for the patriotic fund there, says the Council should make a direct donation, and thus make everyone give.
When only two persons attend a meeting for such a worthy cause it is evident there is little interest in the community where the Brno battalion is mobilizing. One would think with all the sur of soldiers in Walkerton the people would be very enthusiastic.

Mr. Row is advocating the giving of certificates to those men who have been in the front. True, the city chap to get a medal for what he didn't do as well as for what he did. Now we have honorary colonels, unpaid officers wearing bluish cards for the respect, and certificates for the important men.
If we could only get something for the women and children! What politician will take this up?

The Provincial Government is considering legislation to help, with the provision of hotel accommodations, especially where the possibility exists that some hotels now operating under license may close with the enforcement of prohibition. This legislation, it is expected, will give municipalities wide power to treat municipal funds in a hotel proposition or grant exemption from taxation. This will give plenty of worry to many small places. Once the power, as stated above, is given to municipalities there will, we believe, be many old bootlegs who will make application for exemption, or for granted assistance, whether they are entitled or not. The hotel business can, and should be, operated on its own resources.

A plan by which the Ontario Agricultural College will send out experts to assist in the work of farm drainage in the province will be put into action this season. When requested the college will send a drainage surveyor, who will prepare a map of the farm, showing the size of the title to see and the grades and depths of the drains. The cost to the farmer will be the travelling expenses of the surveyor, and as several surveys are made on each trip the cost is reduced to $3 for each survey. On the same survey the college will send a man to give a start to the installation of drains.
He will show how to set grade stakes, grade the ditch bottom and soon. The department of physics at the college or the district representative of the county will attend to all requests for assistance.

Mayor Howley's daughter and friends were forced from the sidewalk just before the arrival of the "bayonet" held by a soldier who was guarding the old Post office building at Brantford where the 125th battalion had their supplies.
Mayor Howley at once directed a letter to the Brantford editor commending that the walks are for the use of the people of all classes, and no military or military direction can supersede or do aspire the civil law. It would only be in a case of martial law being proclaimed that the rights of the public streets can be interfered with. Therefore, as mayor of the city of Brantford, direct you and all other persons, military or otherwise, not to obstruct the public sidewalk or thoroughfare. One thing about the venerable mayor of Brantford, he knows when a thing is overdue.

It is a fact that all parts of Canada will feel the need of men for seedling, but perhaps on portion of the Dominion will feel this need more than the West.

The farmers here are determined to do the parting plowing for a greater world than ever. To do this they will need the help of all the soldiers now training there. In addition to this the Dominion government is advertising in 600 newspapers in the United States for farm laborers to come to Canada. Efforts are being made to correct the Canada spread through the sheets as to the existence of conscription in this country, and it may safely be stated that for every man enlisting from the farm another man will be supplied to his place both for seedling and harvest.
It is our first duty to plan to assist the English in winning the war, and when this is properly planned by the government it will not be hard to solve any of the seeming economic difficulties confronting us from the enlistment of the required number of men from Canada.
The difficulty just now is to find out from a reliable source just what is needed.

The Winnipeg Free Press says that the problem of what to do with unplaced officers is becoming acute, and quotes the authority of one of the newest colonials, who is to form another battalion at Winnipeg, there are enough qualified lieutenants in Winnipeg sections to maneuver to fill his battalion and leave a large margin over for another battalion.
What is true in Manitoba is largely true in Ontario. It is about time that some recruiting was done among the men who have at the country's expense taken and others' travel costs for no other reason perhaps than that these men imagine they are somewhat better than others. Class distinctions are decidedly out of place in Canada. As long as these men are permitted to strut around in the uniform, without prospect of going to the front, just so long will other young men find reasons for staying at home.

Why They Don't Enlist

Under the above caption last week's Midway Gazette says: Three recruiting meetings have been held in Midway during the past two months and only a dozen recruits have been secured in the township of Carleton and nearby all of these men from the village of Midway. There is a reason for this condition of affairs and the reason is one that makes a patriotic man blush to tell it. The fact of the matter is that this town and township are actually teeming with pre-ferments. And it is not among the farmers here that the pre-ferment state to the greatest degree but among their sons and daughters who know what the conditions existing in Germany.
The war has reached such a serious state that every man and woman in Canada is needed to stand behind the empire and do his or her utmost in this time of crisis. This is true citizenship and what every person in Canada owes to the Empire. What then can be said of them in this town and township who are hoping that Germany will win the war, and are doing all in their power to discourage recruiting? Is it any wonder that recruiting is difficult? This attitude is indefensible. This is no time for treason or treachery in Canada and this pre-ferment should be stamped out once and for all. At the recruiting meeting on Tuesday evening several young ladies were heard to utter the fact that the recruits were secured.

The Boys of the 71st.

A member of the 71st Battalion, commenced the following lines while he was confined in hospital. They were handed to The Times by a 71st man.
In the month of September our battalion began
To recruit for men of the very best class.
It was a very long when a big cloud burst
And to rolled 400 for the 71st.
We learned the discipline and the drill
We learned to shoot and to shoot to kill.
We're afraid of nothing and never will hide.
From any old lion from the other side.
As soon as the bugle at dawn is heard,
A first call, a second call but never a third.
Did our boys want, for they knew it was true
They should be up and standing in line.

In the month of November we were divided in four.
And when we departed we all gave a round.
It was Woodstock, Stratford, Chatham and Galt.
Where the boys were quartered and found no fault.
But now we are up to a thousand or more.
We all will be back in a body,
When we all get together and once again march.
You'll find the 71st hard to beat.

Our time is near to go overseas.
The boys of 71st will be pleased,
When they get there you can trust them all To fight so they'll not let the old flag fall.

Berlin Ont. has been refused by the private blue committee of the Dominion parliament, to change its name. There may be some pro-Germans in that town who will be laughing at their slaves just now.

Next week Port Elgin citizens will raise $100 for the Patriotic fund. At least, that is the amount set by the committee of citizens. In most places the average amount raised has been from four to five dollars per head of population. Port Elgin with 1250 people, according to this, should raise the amount quite handsomely. And it will.

Holland is said to be musing troops on her frontier so that Germans might not retreat into her territory. If it were likely that Germany, if she must go into Holland, will take over Holland as she has done Belgium. Somehow or other, the Germans don't get farther. They simply take over the country.

A merchant buys maple syrup, maple sugar, or other food products. It is bought in good faith that it is pure and unadulterated. A government in sixteen comes along and a sample is sent to Ottawa where the analysis proves that the article is adulterated. The merchant is then fined $21.00 and the law is poor. Why does the government not go after the fraudulent manufacturer instead of the innocent storekeeper?—Kinross Reporter.

The Owen Sound News was edited and controlled by the women of Owen Sound on Saturday last. Over 40 thousand copies were disposed of, netting about $100 for the patriotic societies and the hospital. The edition was well printed, contained a list of names of the men from Owen Sound and Grey who had enlisted, and was well illustrated. A particular feature was the advertising to the people at large that Owen Sound has many exclusive of women, and many very capable women, who apparently take a great part in the religious, patriotic and moral and intellectual development of the city. Owen Sound is to be congratulated on having so many women interested in such worthy undertakings.

Will We Raise $5,000?

Not since the war began has Port Elgin done anything from an organized standpoint for the Canadian Patriotic Fund. It has raised by small weekly gifts, and by entertainment, etc., since $1500 or more, but up to the present time its citizens have not undertaken any definite sum of money. The patriots here have their share of the $50,000 County grant, but this is a very small sum.

Next week a committee of citizens will undertake the raising of $5,000 a sum which would become a place the size of Port Elgin. There can be no question as to the necessity for the money. The wives and families of soldiers demand our best treatment. Those who cannot or will not fight, must pay. The centimes on Wednesday and Thursday of next week gives one and all that opportunity to pay.

A good organization has the matter in hand. We believe every citizen will do his or her duty at this hour.

Not Recruiting or Giving

While most provinces in Canada are making names for themselves in recruiting and giving to the Patriotic funds, Quebec province seems to be doing just the opposite, and is getting into the limelight on account of what she has not done. The last official figure on recruiting shows that enlistment has been a patchwork business—taking Canada as a whole. On March 3, the official figures were 251,414, and there is no indication that they have been greatly augmented since. In an estimated population of about 7,470,000, we have in the ranks about 35 men to every thousand of our population. Billaire Belloc's estimate of forces Germany actually had on service since the beginning of the war is 7,750,000 in a population of 68,000,000. Thus, under her system of conscription 114 persons out of every thousand of population are, or have been under arms. On March 3rd, 99,805 men had enlisted in four Canadian provinces west of Lake Superior, or 56 for every thousand of population. In the province of Quebec the total enlistment had reached only 18,185, or about 14 in every thousand. In Ontario, enlistment had totalled 110,776 or 44 to the thousand; and in the three Maritime Provinces the total was 34,195, or 26 to the thousand.

Americans of German Descent Are Pro-Ally

Mr. J. H. Wimper, newspaperman, had occasion to transact business with a firm in Massachusetts, and noticing that the firm was a German one, he had a German name, address in connection with a business in New York.

"I noticed that your name sounds German, so I said to you, 'I hear a great deal about German sympathy in the States. What do you think is the general feeling of the German people? Do they in America in the States, Germany is a general belief that they are, what is a way of self-defence? If so, what grounds do they take for their contention? The interpretation we get are that the Entente allies have provoked war, tried their best to prevent it, and only entered into war when they were compelled to. I suppose if we Germany would make the same mistakes, and we could never find out why? A full frank letter from you, giving your own views as well as your conclusions from observation, would be interesting to me."

To the above question the following reply was received:

"I hardly know what to say to reply to your letter of the 15th. My parents were born in Germany, but my father fought for the North in the War of 61."

Naturally most Germans in this country who were born in Germany take sides with Germany. On the other hand, I think many of the Germans born in Germany who have become naturalized American citizens, would side with America in case of trouble with Germany. On the whole, the pro-German influence in this country is not very great. It is thoroughly offset 10 to 1 by American citizens of German descent who are pro-Ally.

In my own case I am sorry that Germany is at war, seemingly with the whole world. I of course, have a kind of feeling for the German people, but I do not side at all in any way with the German Emperor and his followers nor with German military system. Frankly, I want to see the Germans defeated and whipped so thoroughly that the military system will be overthrown so as to give the German people a chance to develop along the same lines that the American people have followed. I think it is all best that Germany is fighting a war of self-defence. The German Emperor and his followers went into this war for conquests.

Mr. McDonald, member for Pictou—agrees a promise of Pension Board and Canada is likely to have it. Canada has no objection to pension lists, but she has balked at the idea of a pension list, and as they have in the United States where the arduous of the men who got a pain in his back in the Mexican war is still drawing salary from a grateful country. The pension lawyer, that aggravated example of ambulance chaser, is another plague that Canada has to deal with. Mr. McDonald's idea that this is a democratic country and that the difference between a private's maximum pension, $404, and a colonel's $5,375, is too much, was well received by the House. His suggestion that the chasm be bridged by cutting down the officer's pensions, will probably be adopted. The best colonel is not five times as good as the best private. He may be in England, where they have the caste system, which they regard in India, but not in this country where colonels, especially honorary ones, are almost too prevalent. The model the Canadian Army should follow so far as social distinctions go, is that of France where such distinctions do not exist. The club chair colonels who are engaged on half-measure service, will not agree with this, but it is a fact nevertheless. It would be simple hell if the people's money was used to maintain this sort of strutting. He would make even the honorary colonels do something to justify their uniforms. If an honorary Colonel can't fight or won't be can at least support one position—that ought to be his job. When Mr. MacDonald spoke of pensions he touched only the fringe of a big subject. Money is being spent wastefully in many places. One regiment has been kept in Canada fourteen months at a cost of a million and a quarter and is in no danger so far as can be seen at present, of going to the war at all. Colonels with government jobs for which they draw pay have been accepted for overseas service, with no idea of ever incurring it, and for this peaceful occupation they draw pay too. In fact the army is full of colonels and majors who play both ends for the middle just that way. Now that the end of the war is in sight and a peace settlement may be without danger to scruples against deeds of violence, these government job colonels are thicker than ever.—Saturday Night.

Read a Little Each Day
How many people spend a few minutes each day in reading?
How many people spend a few minutes each week? If it is to judge from the habit of exaggeration, which seems to exist to a large extent in every town, whether large or small, it is safe to say that very little thoughtful reading is done. The Post in discussing this reading habit, has some very good thoughts, as follows:
"There are plenty of bad books for boys and girls; yet they hardly constitute the real problem in connection with juvenile reading. These books are bad because they are useless rubbish, mere trash without interest. They are bad because they stunt a youthful reader's taste and drag his imagination. They are of a dime-novel sort—sometimes modernized and most respectably bound in cloth.
But they hardly constitute the real problem—that is, the boy or girl who does not even read trash. We would rather a boy or girl read dime novels than read nothing. The real rubbish may supply a foundation for something better. It may help to the formation of one of the most precious habits any person can form—the habit of relying on books as a means of passing a certain portion of every average day.
A reading habit is about two-thirds of education. We have never known a person who read much that read much trash invariably by his observation, the person who reads not so much as reads little. It could have a very easy that's boy was going to spend a couple of hours a day, as a customary habit, reading books, we should find something to get around to read books in due time.
The Boy Scouts of America have done good in suggesting good ones. We books are genuine the importance of do not let it be the bad book and getting thrown out of its place. But merely seeing a good one, or girl does not read bad books is no charge of a parent's obligation. That is, it means simply that they read no books at all."

Increase the prosperity of the individual and you increase the prosperity of the nation.

The influence thus exerted by the Ford Canadian Company has been so far-reaching that it has become one of its Dominion in times when such an influence is intensely valuable forms a story of real human interest.

It is founded on three pillars:

1. An Increase in wages of $50,000 a month.
2. The reduction of working hours from nine to eight.
3. The addition of new machinery which will pay itself as it wears.

In the Spring of 1916, Canadian manufacturing interests were in most cases being engaged in a policy of retrenchment rather than of expansion. It was a time when caution reigned the land.

The Ford Canadian executive, however, preferred to look upon the situation with more optimism. He felt that the country was passing through a very big crisis and he decided for his employees' sake to make no saving. He would stop the wheels of production at no point until they had passed the crisis.

There was a wartime increase of four to five per cent for every civilian worker in the plant. The new model cars at one price.

It is estimated that this increase amounted among the 2,400 Canadian Ford employees to about $2,000 a month. And in addition to that there was a considerable bonus.

So, by April 16, 1918, the Ford's Canadian Company will have given its employees a total of over $1,000,000.

And all this increasing tide of money is flowing forth with a vengeance.

Luxury increases the prosperity of the merchants—Fords employes buy. As it increases the prosperity of the wholesaler from whom the merchants buy and so on down the list. The commission man, the jobber, the manufacturer in turn get their share of the increased business. In fact, it is events the whole nation benefits from this increased distribution of money.

Leading cities from St. John to Vancouver there are Ford Branch establishments that are also assisting in this promotion of prosperity.

In the plant of the City there are about 2000 employees. Of these about 400 are in the four towns of Ford City, Walkerville, Windsor and Sandwich. There are 1060 men employed in the city of Detroit and 500 women.

Either in its entirety or its greater part are taken by the Ford Plant. To 3,000 persons there are dependent upon the Ford factory.

Lining an estimate on the fact given in the last census report that one-fifth live in the average family, this makes a total of 15,000 people who look to the Ford Plant for their support.

In other words half the people in these four towns whose combined population is 75,000 are directly benefited by the prosperity of the Ford Canadian Company.

At the same time that they received the increase in wages, the cost of living was reduced by as much as 10 per cent by reduction in working hours of from nine to eight per day.

Few firms, excepting those working on government contracts, have been able to do this. The reason is that employees are more apt than employers to get used to higher wages and will not accept less until some wage has been paid them.

The Ford Canadian policy of full-paid absence, war or no war, that it has followed since August 1914, has added 300 additional employees since August 1914.

Has the Ford Company as a Canadian plant with the men army and navy doing its share for Canada outside of supplying munitions?

In contributing to the Patriotic and Red Cross funds, the employees, officers and stockholders gave $52,304.38 or an average of $13.71 per man. Office employees gave $6,155.60; everyone, almost without a single exception gave to the absolute necessities fund. The Canadian soldiers' fund received $1,000.00 and fire clerks contributed a total of $77.50 worth for 12 months.

The contribution from the town of Ford with its 2,200 population was $18,716.92 or an average of about $34 per capita which is one of the largest per capita contributions of any city in the world.

Ford employees are the highest paid automobile workers in the British Empire. They are paid 4 times as well as the average Canadian workmen—receiving $1,200 a year as against the average of $300.

The Ford Canadian executives have proved to their own satisfaction—and figures make this proof obvious—that the skill gained through this longer time of service, and other factors, fully counterbalance this increased expenditure in training.

And so the owner of a Ford car receives a direct benefit from all this since it results in putting into his car a skilled workman—trained and groomed at the expense of the Ford company. Ford car the wonderful mechanical production that it is today.

They take good care not to take a ride with the private carriages picked up from the cattle trains. Cattle stables are subject to a fine if overcrowded, but no one can fine those responsible for the overcrowding of those who go to fight the Hun. "Special trains for J. Wesley Allison—dinners and tailor cars for headquarters staff—third class day coaches, packed like cattle cars for private."

The Germans are a tenacious and resourceful people. That is a fact that we should never forget. They are fighting as determinedly for the final decision as we are. They dwell on the possibility of something turning up, just as we do, which may suddenly end the war in their favor. Had their victory within their grasp there would be a strange change in their attitude toward the rest of the world. There would be no change towards us. They had set their hearts on possessing the British dominion overseas. They built their plans with that end in view. They are hoping yet that they may do something in the North Sea, which will give them command of the ocean. Then Canada would become a German Colony. All the million eligible Canadian-born who refuse to wear khaki would then put on the German grey and serve their years in the army like other good Germans.

The Big Banquet

It was a happy occasion, when a great many of the families of Saugeen township gathered in the town hall to honor the soldiers who had enlisted from the township.

The banquet was honored by Judge Klein and Major Toimie, who gave good sensible addresses. In these days when most public speakers have some official ax to grind, it is pleasant to get a rare range of men who can speak the good old fashioned homilies.

Reeve Christie and his council should be proud of the splendid response of the township people, for in honoring the soldiers they have drawn citizens from all sections of the township in a closer bond of sympathy and co-operation.

Grants To Soldiers

Saugeen township gives $15 to every man who enlists. At the big banquet cheques to the amount of $400 were handed out by Treasurer Elliott.

When the war breaks the town is small, but the war is not ended, and every week more a recruit or two from the old township. The grant is greatly appreciated by the lad to khaki.

Sales of Farm Property

Last week Mr. Dougald McFadyen sold his farm in Bruce to Julius Kott. The latter will live on the farm for some time. Mr. McFadyen purchased Mr. George Leggett's farm on the 11th of Bruce, and will move there at once. It is understood that Mr. Leggett intends to go west for awhile. The price paid for the farm was $1400.

ELSINORE

The home of Mrs. Chas. Carter was burned last Monday. Sparks from a burning chimney was the cause. Although neighbors were quickly summoned by phone a number of valuable things were burned. Mr. Carter and his aged mother will resume house-keeping in the home on the farm adjoining. The shock is very hard on the aged lady and she is resting at a neighbor's.

The Elsinore Red Cross Society held its regular monthly meeting with the Misses Howe on Saturday of last week. Mr. J. Kolb had made the first improvement in the line of building this season, having completed his new gasoline and oil house. Who comes second? Mrs. R. H. Henderson, our merchant here intends moving to Feverham where he has purchased a store. We are sorry to lose Mr. and Mrs. Henderson and family.

Mrs. Geo. Howe is slowly recovering from the effects of a fall.

Miss Sarah and Robt. Johnston are both improving after their recent illness.

The "Andrew Thompson" Mission Band of the Presbyterian church here held its annual meeting last Thursday after school. The following officers were elected.—Hon. Pres. Mrs. Mathews, Pres. Miss B. Howe, 1st Vice Pres. Clara McLean, 2nd Vice Pres. Jessie White, Sec. Marjory McLeod, Treas. Mella Hurrell, Organist, Miss Hazel

As rapidly as boarding places can be furnished at walkerton the soldiers are leaving here.

Some of the boys have leave to go out and help in reaping at home, the leave being granted, after certain conditions are complied with, for thirty days, from April 18 to May 15. By May 1st, all the soldiers will be at Walkerton, where they will be trained until the end of May, when they go to London.

SAUGEEN COUNCIL

All the members of Saugeen council were present at the meeting on April 1st. The council was instructed to draw $300 from the bank to meet current expenses, and the following accounts were ordered to be paid: P. W. Elliot, 15 months' salary as clerk and treasurer $25.00, postage—$5.50; The Times, printing to date, $13.35; E. McPeck, 50¢ for carter at $25, $22.65; Miss B. Stewart, grant to Saugeen patriotic League, $10; council meeting No 3 $11.40.

Mr. D. Smith was appointed path-master instead of D. Cameron, resigned. A communication was read from the Department of reorganization of Board of Agriculture, and on union of councilors Weston and Ashburn, Messrs. J. R. Blair and Allan McKinnon were appointed directors to represent the township.

An application was received from the Saugeen Patriotic League asking for financial aid. On motion of councilors Ashburn and Webster $10 was granted. The clerk was instructed to advertising for tenders to operate the grader.

After discussing and arranging for a banquet for the recruits from Saugeen, the council adjourned to meet on May 27th at a court of revision and for general business.

Production and Thrift

"CANADA from her abundance can help supply the Empire's needs, and this must be a comforting thought for those upon whom the heavy burden of supplying the Empire's needs has been laid. Gain or no gain the course before the farmers of Canada is as clear as it was last year—they must produce abundantly in order to meet the demands that may be made, and I believe this to be especially true in regard to live stock, the world's supply of which must be particularly affected in this time of struggle. Service and strain may yet be in store for us all before this tragic conflict is over, but not one of us doubts the issue, and Canadians will do their duty in the highest sense of that great word."—HON. MARTIN BURNELL, Minister of Agriculture.

MODERN war is made by resources, by money, by foodstuffs, as well as by men and by munitions. While war is our first business, it is the imperative duty of every man in Canada to produce all that he can, to work doubly hard while our soldiers are in the trenches, in order that the resources of the country may not only be conserved, but increased, for the great struggle that lies before us. "Work and Save" is a good motto for war-time."—SIR THOMAS WHITE, Minister of Finance.

THE CALL OF EMPIRE COMES AGAIN IN 1916

TO CANADIAN FARMERS, DAIRYMEN, FRUIT GROWERS, GARDENERS

WHAT IS NEEDED? THESE IN PARTICULAR—

WHEAT, OATS, HAY,
BEEF, PORK, BACON,
CHEESE, EGGS, BUTTER, POULTRY,

CANNED FRUITS, FRUIT JAMS, SUGAR, HONEY, UOOL, FLAX FIBRE,
BEANS, PEAS, DRIED VEGETABLES

We must feed ourselves, feed our soldiers, and help feed the Allies. The need is greater in 1916 than it was in 1915. The difficulties are greater, the task is heavier, the need is more urgent, the call to patriotism is louder—therefore be thrifty and produce to the limit.

Canadian Ford Car Parts Reduced $147 Per Car Since War Began

It is well known that the war has increased the price of practically all raw materials.

And, although all but $16.88 worth of material that goes into the construction of the Ford car is bought right here in Canada, a high import duty adds its burden to that material that must be bought in the United States.

But in spite of increased duty and increased cost, the price of parts that go to make up a complete Ford car have been decreased $147 since war began.

This reduction was made for two reasons. First, because under normal conditions, increased quality production would have made these lowered prices possible. Second, under abnormal conditions brought about by the war, the executives of this company felt it their duty to loyal British subjects to absorb from their own pockets the cost of their manufacturing cuts.

This reduction in price of parts of Ford automobiles is a reduction in the cost of maintenance and repair of Ford cars. The buildings alone for these four new plants were erected at a cost of over a million dollars.

The immense expenditure is another indication of the absolute confidence in Canadian prosperity that has been shown by the Canadian Ford executives and that has not been altered in the slightest degree by any war conditions.

At the same time that reductions in the price of Ford car parts were made there was also made a reduction in the cost of complete cars. Twelve—on August 1st, 1914 and August 1st, 1915, the price of the Ford car was reduced by $60—a total reduction of $120 in the price of the car since the start of the war.

This reduction is made on an estimated production of a definite number of cars for the coming year. Forty thousand Canadian Ford cars must be built and sold by August 1st, 1916 in order to warrant this last reduction of $60 in price.

And here is another most emphatic expression of confidence in Canada. The Ford Canadian executives are basing everything on the continued and increasing prosperity of the Dominion.

And their judgment is being fully justified.

Bonar Law is Proud of the Way in Which the Dominions Did Their Bit

"The militarism according to the Prussian standard is not crushed by this war, nothing will prevent a repetition of the present catastrophe, and civilization in Europe will go down before barbarism, as did that of Rome. All the outpouring of blood and treasure which the war involves will have been in vain if the piling up of armaments which preceded this conflict is to go on undiminished afterward."

These were the words of Andrew Bonar Law, the British Secretary of State for the Colonies, to an interviewer recently. Mr. Bonar Law was in his room at the Colonial Office, which occupies one of the wings of the largest block of Government offices in Whitehall, having on one side the Foreign Office and on the other the Home Office. The Secretary's room is as large as a small public hall, the most commodious office occupied by any Minister. It is plainly but comfortably furnished with easy chairs, sumptuous bookcases, couches, and tables, and a huge map of the world adorns the wall. The Minister is spokesman and guardian. There are maps of all the British overseas possessions, and one

Subscribers to the Times write as follows:—

Moore Jaw March 21st.—We are having nice weather here now. There's a lot of snow but it is thawing today. Last week we had the worst storm of wind and snow that has visited this country for many years lasting three days. I had a letter from my son in the trenches. He is in Flanders. His letters are all read before they leave. He is well. He goes in the trenches for five days and then has a time, then they get five days rest. It is cold and wet in the trenches with mud and water knee deep and when they come out they come out they have to sleep in barns or on the ground. They get good board, plenty of meat, beans and bread, but no cake, coffee, tea or sugar. He has come off safe so far. He was in one battle and after the battle was over they captured a German truck where the Germans lay dead in thousands, while they lost 1100 men, dead and wounded. Moore Jaw is full of soldiers the 128th battalion with 900 men and the 510th battalion just started and the 22nd battalion with 640 men. They all want more wages will be high on farms here this summer. They are paying $50 a month with board at present, but more when harvesting commences.

Peace April 22d.—We have had a very long and cold winter with lots of snow and there is not a snow yet. The weather looks like there will be a long time before spring commences. We are busy seeding at this time last year as it was fine and dry. Farm help is very scarce here this spring as there are so many of the boys joining the colours.

Pte. Nelson Ribby Gets Wrist Watch

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ribby, 11th of Bruce, was the scene of a very happy time on Tuesday last week, when their son Nelson, who has enlisted with 160th, was presented with a fine wrist watch on the part of his friends, and also a silver ring.

Mr. A. Nelson was the chairman, and under his direction a short program of speech and song was carried out, after which dancing was enjoyed.

During the evening the presentation was made by an address being made by Mr. Dan McLean, Jr., while the gift was handed to Pte. Ribby by Miss Janet Donaldson.

The address went to The Times for publication follows:

"We root friends and neighbors have met together to witness the purpose of enjoying a few social hours and to express in a tangible manner our appreciation of your loyalty, courage and unselfishness. In valuing for overseas service. We greatly regret that your absence will leave a void in the neighborhood and in your family circle but at the same time we feel honored in the action you have taken.

Kindly accept this wrist watch and silver ring as a token of our love and esteem. We wish you God speed and hope for your return knowing full well that your life and conduct will be such that nothing but the best will be reflected from your actions in whatever capacity you may serve. We shall take it upon ourselves to watch your career with the greatest of interest and trust you may be spared to return to our midst and to your parents Mr. and Mrs. John Ribby, than whom there are no more respected residents in this community.

BURGOYNE

The Women's Patriotic League here have done an immense amount of good work since they were first organized, raising funds and making supplies in the way of clothing, for the soldiers. One would think that in such a large and prosperous district as this, the work of the League would be of little consequence. It may be that people in general are not well enough posted on the needs of the League and the amount of work expected of it. This part of course is woman's realm, but it is a sketch of the work already done, such as clothing, and men was made out now and then and then given to the editor of the local paper (the free to print such interesting matter) the men would become more interested in the work and the women wouldn't have to do so much agreeing to act a few days out of their routines without making a feast.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The United States peace party is returning by pieces.

Poll tax at Stratford now costs $3. Here's a suggestion for other municipal councils to make a little extra cash.

The German chancellor says that Germany does not intend to take Canada. Thanks, old say but can we trust you?

The war calls for the young men and the young men only. The fact that the British government recommends the training of young men just turning 18 is a proof of this.

Some men want to see a club where they can have their own way, and for this reason consider that have failed in recruiting battalions as quickly as they would like want conscription at once.

It is astonishing what no newspaper editors know about the war. "The Star" appearing in some journals is about as amusing as the Mutt and Jeff pictures.

The Cheley Enterprise says that now days it is not safe to believe one part out of what people say about other people. And this editor should know as he has had a few sessions in parliament.

A few gallons of water and some green fluid, the latter the invention of Louis Zurch, of New York, will run an automobile, the cost of the fluid being but a cent for water to mix with a gallon of water. Looks good, but almost too good to be true.

The price of pork is still soaring. Some packers are of the opinion that the price will reach as high as $15 per live. This looks a little stretched, but it will pay the farmer to keep right on producing the proper kind of goods, so that he will be in line to sell while the price soars.

The Compensation Board put a rather heavy tax on employers of labor of all classes last year. The year past happened to cost less in accidents than was at first supposed, and the board having a surplus larger than necessary, the employers were returned some of the money they had paid in. This method of doing business will be appreciated.

Mr. Carrell, M. P., protests against the censoring of letters for members of parliament which happens to come from the United States, which means, of course, that Mr. Carrell imagines the politician is somewhat better than the ordinary Canadian.

The Globe, viewing the situation from the outside, ventures respectfully to suggest that no troops should hereafter be permitted to carry 5,785 Canadian soldiers across the Atlantic. A single well aimed torpedo might well cost Canada more sorrow than the losses in a great battle. And we might add that the ordinary troopship with nearly 6,000 troops on board would be as comfortable for the soldiers as a sardine box.

It is good to hear when one people are progressing and prospering, but it is not as pleasant when this is done too much at the other fellow's expense. In the purchasing of extra land, stock and goods many are doing so before they have made settlement with those who have carried them over. We overheard one day a discussion between a couple of country merchants to the effect that one payment of accounts on the part of many who had the means was most discouraging to them. And just here comes a little point that it is hardly fair to make investments for the purpose of large returns and at the same time keep these merchants carrying over accounts.

Ten hours a day plugging away is a good day's work in factory or workshop, and yet how many men are doing this, and then some more. The war has demanded many extra things, and they must be far out of proportion. There are fewer men today because of the war and it means that they remain in the workshops most work overtime. There are thousands of men serving the empire by putting in extra time. Not all the service men are in khaki. The man who is plugging away at night work to get out orders is also doing "his bit".

The Bruce Battalion is up to strength with 100 over. Now, the officers and men can render good service to their country by gaining efficiency rapidly. Every unnecessary month spent in Canada after organization means thousands of dollars lost and victory farther away. That is if men come in this game of war and they tell us they do. The first Canadian contingent was made ready in two months. Why does it take so long now? Is the nerve of men any less?

In the spring clean up don't forget the alley. Some of our streets and alleys look as if a cyclone had struck Port Elgin. What with automobiles, wood, saws, hay, wagons, buggies, cutters, etc., things are worse than spring in many years. There should be a tightening up on the part of the authorities and people compelled to clean up their old truck from the public streets and alleys.

The call of the Empire comes again. Many of our readers have been reading the advertisements in The Times on "freedom and timber". These are inserted by the Canadian Government for the purpose of preparing people for the opportunity a war they can produce the things that other countries may need, and these suggestions on the part of the government are timely and serviceable to the Canadian farmer. So many men have been taken from the soil to fight, and in several of the war countries agricultural production has been so disorganized, that it will be years before normal conditions can be resumed and anything like full crops gathered from the farmers of Europe. Canadian farmers then are urged to take full use of their opportunity. They are laboring under a handicap, and a severe one, in the scarcity of help; but determination and ingenuity can accomplish great things, and the farmers of Bruce, we believe, will not be slack in their efforts to fill the hiatus and gratify the call of the country with the crops of this year.

Cheley Enterprise says there is no truth in the story circulated to that effect that a young lieutenant who is a recruiting officer while engaged in his duties as recruiting officer in a neighboring town went into the hotel where he is staying, and seated himself at a table and while there a private came in and seated himself at the same table. The lieutenant, it is said, then left the table and went to another table and the waitress gave the lieutenant's soup to the private.

There may be no truth in this story, but supposing it were true, would it shock many people? Do officers have much in common with the men in the ranks? Of course we must not confuse our ideas of militarism to the Bruce Battalion. It was an army officer created by the British authorities quite handsomely and certainly much better than a private.

English papers have explained that the British were losing the camp officers' strength too fast, while private were being in concentration camps. Then get a little nearer home, the public statements of Mayor Chubb of Toronto that the private were marched in mud, sick and loaded on trucks, packed like cattle can do the officers and private camps for their use ought to convince anyone militarism creates class distinctions.

Well Done, Port Elgin!

Port Elgin citizens did a very worthy thing on Wednesday when they voluntarily gave $5,218 to Patriotic funds. The amount, when printed a couple of weeks ago, looked large to some of our readers, especially from such a small town. But they responded splendidly, and the result was that more than a day the sum was realized.

The war has changed the meaning of patriotism. There was a time when flag waving was counted patriotism, when by speech and song men declared themselves as the champions of loyalty. But that's all changed now, and it's a case of either fight or pay.

Not all the citizens of this town can put the "it" in fight, but they can all put the "pay" in patriotism, and most all of them did.

The result was that Port Elgin raised over $5,000 and the citizens feel glad they did so well.

After all, as one who said, "We have only the things we give."

Not Saving

We hear a great deal these days about practicing economy, and stopping all waste. But apparently this is not being carried very closely in some of the Canadian hotels, according to Saturday Night, which says:

"The hotel waste in British army operations is well exemplified in a private letter from a lad of the 24th Battalion in England, to his mother in Toronto."

Among other things the boy says: "We have an old stove here and we have a small fire on, as you know we get biscuits that are the size of a dog biscuit which come in 10 lb. tins. We use three tins a day for the stove and they certainly make a good fire."
After hearing up to what which has cost the British Government something like $2 per bushel, not to speak of the cost of labor and ingredients which go into these biscuits. Of course the fault is not the boy's but that of his commanding officer, among whose duties it is to stop just such pranks as these.

Presentation to Murray McGillivray

Last week Murray McGillivray was made the recipient of a fine wrist watch and ring by his friends and associates, and also an address was read.

There was a fine turnout of the people of the section at the home of Sandy McGillivray, 12th of Bruce, where a program of speech and song was enjoyed.

The address was given by Messrs. George Matheson, Wm. Waring and Nell McGillivray, and was as follows: "We, your friends and neighbors, having learned that you have joined the long roll of heroes, have assembled to send a social evening with you, in recognition of your loyalty to your country."

We know that in this decision a great sacrifice was made and an equally great victory won. We feel honored that we are respectfully one of our lot in this great conflict in which our country is engaged, both for freedom and the overthrow of militarism.

However, we feel deep regret that the pleasant relations that existed should now be interrupted for a time, at least, and also at knowing the hardships and dangers a solitary life is open to. However, we feel with confidence that you will perform each of your duties with unflinching courage.

As we go about our daily duties, we shall think of you, talk of you, and pray for you. We hope that in your new surroundings you will sometimes think of us. Yet, we hope that this will only be a temporary separation, and when the conflict is over, and the battle won, you may return in health and strength, and crowded with friends in your home where a hearty welcome will be given by your friends and neighbors.

QUEERLY NAMED INNS

THE names of the some 1,000 inns and taverns in England are a source of unceasing delight to the Antique Tourist, fond of the picturesque. Two of the queerest inns have recently been selected by the Antique Tourist as worthy of special mention. One is the "Blue and White," near London, and the other is the "Pink and Yellow," near Bristol. The "Blue and White" is a small, old-fashioned inn, and the "Pink and Yellow" is a large, modern one. Both inns are famous for their food and drink, and are popular with tourists and locals alike.

REBELS MAKE ATTEMPT TO TAKE CASTLE

Assault Was Half-Hearted and Was Soon Abandoned

LONDON Cable.—British regulars from Belfast and Londonderry have been ordered to the north-western frontier several important positions which the members of the Sinn Féin party and their adherents have occupied. These include St. Anne's Green and Liberty Hall.

As a measure of precaution martial law has been proclaimed in the city and County of Dublin, and the official proclamation is made that persons who are taken to support the movement in Ireland and assist all those responsible for it.

That the Government intends to deal with the offenders with a heavy hand is indicated by the publication of a proclamation in the Official Gazette, and the fact that the Government has passed the Defence of the Irish Republic Act of 1915, which gives to a British subject charged with an offence under the Act the right to be tried by a civil court.

The proclamation recites that the present state of affairs in Ireland is such as to constitute a special military emergency, as specified in subsection 2 of the Act, which empowers the Government to take such measures as it may see fit in the event of an invasion or other special military emergency arising out of the present war, and the operation of section 1 may be extended to any other emergency in a specified area.

AN OPEN MARKET For Labor, is Plan of Pitts- burg Magnates.

Pittsburg, Pa., Report.—It became known today that steps were taken last night, through the organization of the Employers' Association of Pittsburg, to try to make the district an open labor market, and to handle all questions as they affect labor. More than 100 manufacturers and other concerns, including some of the largest in western Pennsylvania, were represented at the meeting, which was held behind closed doors. An official statement declares that the objects of the association are:

To secure for employers, and employees, the freedom of contract in the matter of employment, irrespective of this or kindred associations; to oppose restriction of output, sympathetic strikes and boycotts; to discount labor conditions which are not just, and which will be detrimental to his productive capacity; to prevent interference with those seeking employment; to secure a more equitable balance; to harmonize differences between employers and employees so that justice may be done to both, and to uphold the law.

The organization, it was stated, was a reply to the announcement yesterday that organizers of the American Federation of Labor would be ordered here to reinforce the organizers who have been active in the Turle Creek valley since last week.

Fifteen hundred workers were added to the unemployed of the Westinghouse companies today, when notices were posted at the Shadyside plant of the Westinghouse Electrical & Manufacturing Company, advising the shops had been closed to prevent "absenteeism."

This practically completes the cleanup of the various factories where a situation of workmen in each struck for an eight-hour day.

Mr. James Menzies is still very lame. The men have broken out again at the mine and the other two children of Mr. Watt are down with them, on that account he did not press on Sunday. Mr. Agis Bell took the morning service. There was no service in the evening.

Miss Ethel Griener from Barrie district spent the holiday week with her friends here. Monday evening of last week two more of our young men who lately enlisted for overseas service, Messrs. Flann and Donaldson, were given a pleasant send off by a host of their friends in the northern district. The street took place at Miss's schoolhouse and among other things on the program each of the young men were presented with a wrist watch.

Again, on Thursday evening a large number of friends in the northern district met at the home of Mr. J. Ferguson and presented the John McVeety, with a wrist watch and pen. These young men expect to leave shortly for the training camp, and amidst arduous duties of camp may occasionally call to mind that their friends in this district are not forgetting them.

Getting Down to Business

With the drawing near of the time when the bars will be a source of revenue, the hotels generally are getting down to a business system, and from now on will have to make their business pay without the wet goods. To this end the accommodation for guests and the stables will have to bear their proper share, and a new tariff which provides a small fee for stabling horses not requiring feed has been issued. Of course, no right-minded person can object to a reasonable charge. The public have made a demand for the closing of the bars. Their demands are being met. The owners of hotels must now make each department of hotel keeping pay.

CARD OF THANKS

Pte. Val Cottrell desires through The Times to thank the Red Cross ladies for two pairs of socks.

Women Work Willingly

A correspondent to The Times thinks the ladies should publish an account of work done by their Patriotic Societies that the men might understand what is being done. The following is an account of the work done by the West Ararat Society during the past winter. They bought material made and sent to Toronto, 50 hospital night shirts, 10 of pajamas, 10 grey flannel shirts with collars, 10 pairs of socks, 17 sheets, 8 pillow slips, 24 towels, 16 comforters, 16 blankets, 111 dozen hospital bandages, and 2000 month wipers.

They also sent a barrel of canned fruit, and $25 to the Red Cross society and $20 to the Belgian Relief Fund.

Seedling Lots

Seedling will be late this year. Many farmers expected to get at the work Monday, but the heavy downpour day and night prevented.

The western farmers are fearful. Seedling is late there, and the worst of that part of the country is the early frost.

Mr. Jacob Roppel 4th of Bruce, is telephoning The Times, says the land in his section is very wet, and farmers having much to put in, cannot delay by May 24. Last year he sowed May 10.

Civil Purse

A number of citizens and the business men of the town assembled at the Library on Tuesday evening, where they presented Mr. Alex Vandrick, who is leaving town, with a purse containing $50 in gold.

G. McLaren presented the coin, while A. E. Nelson, read the address.

Rev. Izard presented, and in behalf of the corporation presented Mr. Vandrick with a cheque for $25.

Two recs then called upon Messrs. R. M. Lowry, A. K. George, Slieve and Bayles, who gave short addresses.

Mr. Vandrick replied very feelingly, expressing regret that he was to leave the town and to separate himself from his old friends was very hard for him, but the illness of Mrs. Vandrick was such that perhaps recovery in the west might help her and removal was necessary.

Mr. and Mrs. Vandrick left this morning for Nankaton.

They will be greatly missed by hosts of friends, all of whom hope for speedy recovery of Mrs. Vandrick, in the hope that they may again take up their residence in Port Elgin.

Underwood News

Regular meeting of Bruce Township Board of Health was held last week. Members all present also sanitary inspector Farrell. Considerable discussion took place on the maulie situation. This disease breaking out in different parts of the township and seemingly moving from South to North. The Venereal Health Officer, claimed that the well established belief that maulie was a children's disease and therefore they should have them was all false, and that if people would exercise the same caution and co-operation with the work of H. O. as they would in case of smallpox, diphtheria, there would be no more epidemic of maulie than of these other diseases. He also claimed that maulie was not as infectious and harmless as many people thought, as physicians frequently came across diseases or complications that can be traced back to an imperfect recovery from maulie, in years gone by. Arrangements were made to have all school premises and slaughter houses in Tp. inspected at an early date.

Better put in a few extra vegetable seeds in the backyard.

A special admonition comes from Ottawa to "save your rag," and here we hoped to have a new suit.

Would not the daylight saving scheme be a good thing for Port Elgin?

Well, you've cleaned up the front yard but what about the alley? Make it nice and clean, too. It is a street, not a dumping ground.

Swift Current Herald says the reason for the length of women's skirts is because boy-legged girls persist in being in the fashion, too.

The newspapers are feeling the pinch these days. Many have had to raise the subscription price, cut down in size and some suspended publication altogether. The latest to awake to its position is The Times, Medicine Hat, which has been forced to quit the daily field, and will publish a weekly hereafter.

Some people in Port Elgin, imagine that being a councillor is merely honorary. But there is real work. For instance, how would you like being on the streets and walks committee, inspecting the sidewalks in order that the citizens may walk without stumbling toes and doing acrobatic feats.

Another year has rolled around, and still Port Elgin is without speed limit signs at the town boundaries. Some will say there is no use putting up these signs, they won't be enforced. Nevertheless these signs should be put up and an effort made to have Goderich street from becoming a race track for a few speed fiends.

We are not hearing so much the past week or two from organizations of ministers and others asking for conscription money because all the young men in their communities have not enlisted, just when these recruiting enthusiasts wanted them. Wonder if these conscription fiends realize what harm they are doing to Canada? Not only does this sort of noise-making hurt the country, but it also helps the enemy, in so far as it forces out of Canada some very valuable men who do not see eye to eye with these conscriptionists. Also it keeps out desirable men from the States, who might settle in Canada.

At the end of February there were 33,111 soldiers of all ranks enlisted in the Canadian army. The figures were given in the Legislature by the N. W. Kowell, and show that of these professions, clerks, employers, merchants and students, furnished 75,636; the manual workers in villages, towns and cities furnished 170,368; ranchers, 2,941; while of farmers the figures are 14,900. The latter figures are most surprising. Can it be true that with all the time that has been made about recruiting in the rural districts that only 14,900 men have been taken in this whole Dominion who claim to be farm hands?

The daylight saving scheme simply means that an hour of daylight more people lose by being in bed on summer mornings should be transferred to the evenings when every person could enjoy it. In the places where the scheme is being passed a by-law asking the people to move their clocks forward one hour on a set day in May, and returning to the old order again in October. It would certainly give Port Elgin people a much longer evening for recreation, and many more families would enjoy the cool breeze at the lake, than it now does because it is after 7 before the tea is over.

The giving of Port Elgin since the war began are quite worthy. We do not mention this in any boasting way. There are other places of the same size which have done more. We only give publicity to the work done to encourage our citizens. With the big gift of $1,250 to the Patriotic Fund a few days ago, a look into previous work shows that $1019 was given to the British Red Cross $1500 to the Patriotic Fund and $1500 by Red Cross women. This does not include the worth of the vast amount of goods made by the ladies, nor gifts to the Belgian fund yet it makes a neat total of over $5000.

Putting the Thing Right

The Seaford Examiner last week dealt editorially with the recruiting situation in Harrow county. The Harrow battalion has not been recruited as quickly as its officers would like, and they are complaining about it, and blaming the people for not giving up to their families. At a recruiting meeting held these officers brought in another officer to abuse the people thinking they could force the money and the men.

The whole trouble is, some officers imagine that the donning of khaki has made them much greater men than they really are. They forget that it is the uniform which is looked up to, and not always the man.

The Seaford paper very properly "tells the officers something" in the following:

If there are necessary expenses incurred in the work of recruiting, in transportation of companies, in field days or other military manoeuvres, why are they not borne by the Militia Department, who authorized their organization and to which huge sums have been willfully granted by the people of Canada for such purposes? If municipalities are to be held responsible for recruiting why are they not directed by Act of Parliament and not left to make or withhold grants at their pleasure? It is quite possible that the county of Harrow has not been as liberal as have been some others, but it is equally true that what has been given was given with an object of encouragement to recruiting, not as an acknowledgement in their liability to its entire support, and for this encouragement we think the battalion should have shown a measure of appreciation for its receipt rather than a condemnation for its use.

It is likewise true that the tone which has been adopted at recent recruiting meetings gives little encouragement to municipalities to further augment their grants. And if the very grant of one of the officers who spoke at the meeting held in Seaford on Thursday evening last is a sample of the way in which the recruiting money is spent, we believe that the people of the county are justified in withholding their support, and that someone else should bear the expense. An address for a man who has fought bravely for his country, and daily respect the uniform he wears, but unfortunately the salute was due the uniform this time and not the man. No audience in Seaford has ever before snuffed such abuse as that heaped upon it on Thursday evening last, and it is not likely it ever will again. The use of profanity has never yet proven a point or improved a discussion, and the place for men who fear neither Man, God, nor the Devil is at the front, where they will have a possible opportunity of meeting all three in turn, and not on a recruiting platform, because the appeals of an officer who does not keep himself under control bear no weight, and impede instead of recruiting.

Every man has a plain duty to perform in this war, but that duty does not necessarily consist of joining a battalion. We hold no brief for slackers and we believe that there are a good many unattached young men who should join the colors, but at the same time we believe that the majority of the people in this country are alive to their duty to their country, and that any man who is doing necessary occupation is as much entitled to respect and consideration as the man who is wearing a uniform.

Practically everything in and about the home can be made to look bright and new and clean with the right paint, varnish stain or enamel. The housewife and the householder can do much of this work with very little expense and a great deal of pleasure. There is, however, one important thing to remember: use a finish that is made expressly for the work you want to do. Do not buy a product that is made for a variety of uses or surfaces. Sherwin-Williams Brighten Up Finishes are made for finishing tables, chairs, walls, floors, pipes, picture frames, skirting and balustrades of other articles and surfaces in and about the house. Each is specially made for a particular purpose. Each contains the essential qualities that insure good results.

Production and Thrift

CANADA'S CALL FOR SERVICE AT HOME

Produce More and Save More

The Empire needs food. If you are not in the fighting line you may be in the producing line. Labour is limited—all the more reason to do more than ever before. Grow food for the men who are fighting for you. The Allies need all the food that you can produce. Every little helps. You are responsible for your own work. If you cannot produce as much as you would like, produce all you can. Work with the right spirit. Put fighting energy into your effort and produce now when it counts. The more you produce the more you can save. Producing and saving are war-service.

Make Your Labour Efficient

In war-time do not waste time and energy on unimportant and unprofitable work. Economize labour. Put off unproductive work till after the war, and, if possible, help in producing something needed now. Let us not waste labour. Canada needs it all. If possible help to feed the Allies. Make your backyard a productive garden. Cultivate it with a will. Make your labour count for as much as possible.

Do Not Waste Materials

There should be no waste in war-time. Canada could pay the annual interest on her war expenditure out of what we waste on our farms, in our factories, in our homes. Every pound of food saved from waste is as good as a pound of increased production. The way for a nation to save is for every individual to save. France is strong to-day because of thrift in time of peace. The men and women of Great Britain are not only "doing it" but are learning to "do without."

Spend Your Money Wisely

Practice economy in the home by eliminating luxuries. Wasting our dollars here weakens our strength at the front. Your savings will help Canada. There can be no better investment. Save your money for the next Dominion War issue. There can be no better investment.

Canadian Ford Car Parts Reduced $147 Per Car Since War Began

It is well known that the war has increased the price of practically all new materials.

And, although all but $16.83 worth of material that goes into the construction of the Ford car is bought right here in Canada, a high import duty adds its burden to that material that must be bought in the United States.

But in spite of increased duty and increased cost, the prices of parts that go to make up a complete Ford car have been decreased $147 since war began.

This reduction was made for two reasons. First, because under normal conditions, increased quantity production would have made three hundred million dollars of Ford spare parts have been sold at a lower price than as compared to the price of parts for which the Ford car was made. Second, under abnormal conditions brought about by the war, the executives of this company felt it their duty as loyal British subjects to absorb these losses of war into their manufacturing costs.

This reduction in price of parts is of great importance as a reduction in the cost of every automobile. Millions of Ford spare parts have already been sold at a lower price than as compared to the price of parts for which the Ford car was made. This is the first time in the history of the Ford Motor Company that a reduction in the price of parts has been made.

But the Ford Canadian executives had enough confidence in the progress of the Dominion and of the Empire to feel that the future prosperity of the country was sufficiently assured to warrant making these reductions.

This is improving a service already unexcelled in its efficiency. For the Universal Car, as can be seen by the name of the Car of Universal Service.

Thus the Ford Company has let dollars in the pockets of Ford owners which it might have acquired were it not for its policy of the best service at the lowest cost. Even the finest piece of mechanism, often through abuse or neglect, sometimes requires attention. The remarkable economy of this Ford service is known to motorists all over the world.

In every community of any size in the Dominion there is a Ford dealer who carries a complete stock of parts and whose establishment is in itself a well equipped service station. A Ford owner, no matter where he drives his car, is never far distant from a Ford service station that is ready to give prompt and efficient service in any emergency that may arise.

Moreover, Ford parts, as is the Ford car itself, are standardized and will fit in place in any Ford car to the thousandth part of an inch.

And every Ford dealer, because of this standardization of parts over a number of years, has an expert knowledge of the construction and repair of the Ford car. There is absolutely no guesswork in this Universal Service to Ford Owners.

Backing up the service afforded by over five hundred Ford dealers are the nine Ford branches located in the nine leading Canadian cities from St. John to Vancouver.

In fact, these Canadian cities now branch buildings have been constructed since the war began and are themselves as large as many automobile factories. They are so completely equipped as to be able to build a Ford car completely. The buildings alone for these four new branches were erected at a cost of over a million dollars.

This immense expenditure is another indication of the attitude of absolute confidence in Canadian prosperity that has always been shown by the Canadian Ford executives and that has not been altered in the slightest degree by any war conditions.

At the same time that reduction in the price of Ford car parts were made there was also made a reduction in the price of complete cars. Twice—on August 1st, 1914 and August 1st, 1915, the price of the Ford car was reduced by $400—a total reduction of $120 in the price of the car since the start of the war.

This reduction is made on an estimated production of a definite number of cars for the coming year. Forty thousand Canadian Ford cars must be built and sold by August 1st, 1916 in order to warrant this last reduction of $40 in price.

And here is another most emphatic expression of confidence in Canada. The Ford Canadian executives are basing everything on the continued and increasing prosperity of the Dominion.

And their judgment is being fully justified.

The Address

Following is the address which was read to Mr. Alex Vandrick, at the presentation reported in last week's issue.

Dear Friend and Fellow Citizens: We, a few of your many friends in Port Elgin, having heard with much regret of your intended and permanent departure from our midst, of which for many years you have been a highly-esteemed citizen, have gathered on this occasion to give public demonstration of the deep sense of our personal loss. We would also express to you our profound regret for the sad reason that some day you will make your home elsewhere, the very serious illness of your beloved wife. We hope and trust that she will be restored to her wonted health, and that you may once more take your place amongst us, as you have ever before, as a cheerful, spirited and useful citizen.

In our attractive village, there are many buildings, both public and private that are in need of a touch of your energy, enterprise and skill. In another capacity, too, you have shown your good citizenship and efficiency. For several years you have discharged the arduous and painstaking duties of Port Elgin's assessor and collector, with much patience, tact and judgment, in view of such an extent to this function you have been successful that an ill health has been the common result.

Mr. Vandrick is our most capable assessor.

Should we would ask you to accept this purse (gold) as a slight and high regard toward you. In your departure we feel that our loss is that of a most manly and an enterprising citizen.

In your new home it is our earnest hope that you will meet with abundant success and prosperity and that above all, Mrs. Vandrick will be again blessed with robust health.

Signed by Herve Lizard, and a number of other citizens.

Cement Wall Down

The big cement wall at Rankin's bridge has crumpled up, and as a result the contrivance will be put to considerable expense in building a new one. No cause has been found for the breaking of the wall. It was built eight years ago, and looked in good shape.

The bridge is safe, and open for traffic. Reeve Christie of Saugeen, and Reeve Johnson of Bruce, have been appointed by the Warden, to have the wall built at once.

Prospects for Fruit Excellent

The prospects for fruit this year, are very bright thus far. The even temperature of the past few weeks has kept the buds growing slowly, and unless a late frost arrives there will be a bumper crop of nearly everything.

This company is planning the land to the north of its present orchard with 400 apple trees.

The peach orchard of J. H. Johnston looks good just now, and prospects are bright for a good crop as many of his trees should be bearing this year.

A GOOD START

Thirty men were present at the Dominion Day meeting Monday night, and were interested from the start. Chairman Miller presided. The plans provided for a big time. There were 1,000 people present last year. It will not be a military day. The program will be on the same lines as last year, with probably the greatest display of fireworks ever seen. There will be other features as well as the big race program. Several committees were appointed to look after a number of details. The next meeting is May 27th, and then every Friday night in June. Let every citizen show interest this year. Port Elgin has never failed to give the people in this part a program on July 1st for 25 years. Let us make this year the best ever.

To Form Bruce County Patriotic League

Judge Klein Begins a Worthy Effort to Help Bruce County—Meeting for Organization to be held Soon.

His Honor, Judge Klein last week issued the following circular, which was sent to many prominent citizens in the County and will be read with interest by all.

WALKERTON, MAY 9TH, 1916

DEAR SIR: After the 16th Bruce Overseas Battalion has left the county of Bruce, there will be little or nothing for the Bruce County War Auxiliary to do, and I would respectfully suggest that before the battalion leaves for training at London, "and when fully mobilized" that a meeting of the prominent men of the County of Bruce be held in Walkerton for the purpose of organizing a Bruce County Patriotic League.

If there is one thing in which we as a county have fallen short, it is perhaps in an organization to help our Country. Now, we can do this, and also assist our country as well. For instance the League could very properly take up the following:

1. Arrange for employment of soldiers who return.
2. Encourage admission of disabled war heroes of Bruce.
3. To induce returned farmers to return to the land.
4. To assist in future recruiting when necessary.
5. Assist and encourage immigration to the county.
6. To instill patriotism in the rising generation.
7. To boost the County of Bruce in general.

Now, I am sending this circular to 150 men in the county, and if fifty of them reply within five days favorably, I will invite all the people in Bruce to assemble for the purpose of taking progressive steps to put Bruce in the front ranks as a county organized for the benefit of all classes in agriculture, industry, education and patriotism. Will you help in this very worthy work? Will you give a day of your time to this proposition? Then submit by return of mail that you will attend.

Let us as men who have remained "behind the staid" while our strong sons are fighting for us, seek to make the home county strong in co-operation and help for all classes.

YOURS SINCERELY,
A. B. KLEIN,
PRESIDENT BRUCE WAR AUXILIARY

SERIOU. HOLDSWORTH, AND HIS AEROBATIC STUNTS

PERSONAL MENTION

Miss Joan MacIsaac has returned from the west.

Mr. Snellville of Chesley, visited here, from Port Elgin, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Lamont attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Lamont at Tara on Saturday.

Mrs. Karah Lamont and Mr. W. Lamont were at Tara Saturday when they attended the funeral of their cousin Mrs. George Harwood.

Mrs. Baker and Miss Ida are in Galt, where they attended the funeral of Mr. Baker's sister, Mrs. W. McCully.

Ordination services are to be held to-morrow afternoon in the Baptist church to ordain J. A. Barker. The evening service at 7.30 will be open to the public.

Boys and girls are reminded that they should not trespass on lawns and pull flowers. Our citizens want their lawns and gardens to look nice, and the children can help in this way by keeping the sidewalk "parade" should warn the children, otherwise some of the children who make a practice of this trespass may be summoned, as some citizens are being much annoyed. Of course the boys and girls are only a little thoughtless, and a warning is all that is necessary.

BORN—in Kurohara on Wednesday, April 26th, to Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Handberg, a son.

JUNIOR OFFICERS 100 BATTALION

A NEW FEATURE

Believing that it will interest our readers, the editor is preparing to visit and report some of the services and work of our country churches.

Sunday we visited Burgoyne, and next week we shall print our observations and the services preached by the pastor. The article will be illustrated with pictures of the church building, and the pastor.

We are not notifying the pastors of the details of the surrounding churches, but we'll be along very soon. We just want to see how the various country churches are progressing, and it possible show some appreciation for the splendid work they are doing. We haven't decided where we will visit next. You would be interested in the write-up of your own church and congregation. We are interested also in the article concerning Burgoyne in next week's issue.

Mother's Day

A mother's heart hath many charms, And love is always in her arms. And in her eyes a faith divine And home is where O mother mine.

A beautiful service was held in the Methodist church Sunday evening when appropriate music, recitations, and an address by the pastor, united to a large congregation.

The choir gave splendid anthems, a quartet sang well selected while voices were well rendered by Eddie Smith, Jas. Scott and Mrs. Scanlon. The latter gave a particularly delightful rendering of appropriate songs set to "Home, Sweet Home."

Recitations were very nicely given by Kathleen Robinson and Lulu Robinson.

Women's Institute

There was a large gathering of ladies at the annual meeting of the women's institute on Saturday, when reports of the year's work were presented and officers elected.

The reports showed that much work had been done for the patriotic progress by the women. There have appeared from time to time in print. A remarkable feature was the resignation of J. S. Gaudin, who has been secretary-treasurer for ten years. The institute has had a most capable officer for the past year.

Mr. R. H. Lowry, was again elected president, a tribute to her interest and work for the institute.

Sign Red Cross officers were left over, and the institute committee being appointed to bring in a report.

The officers are:—Hon. President, Mrs. D. McFarlane, President, Mrs. R. Lowry, Vice President, Mrs. Hugh McLarn, Secretary Treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Keane, District Director, Mrs. R. M. Lowry.

Seeding Again Delayed

After a few days of high and dry wind it looked as if the farmers would be able to get on with their seeding this week. But on Sunday noon a rain came up which lasted through the following night, and soaked the land again.

The situation is backward, to say the least. In a row through the Burgoyne section The Times editor talked with a number of the farmers. Some have a few fields which happened to be drained, seeded down, but not many had more than a downy seed put in. They were not worrying, however. They are counting on a good dry week, and rapid growth will be the result.

In Bruce the land is somewhat heavier, and it is a bit more serious, but the farmers who want to put in a larger crop, while put back, are not discouraged. There will be plenty of hay.

Last week the stockers were put on the grass, which has a splendid start. The seedling have grown up like soldiers was not much to be expected. The boys are to report to Walkerton on the 18th.

W. C. T. U. Give Two Life Memberships

At the regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. meeting held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Henderson, there was a good attendance of ladies.

After the usual routine delegates were appointed to the convention, which is to be held in Chesley early in June. Medwades McLarn, Vandyke, Kaska, Wimmer, Edie Henderson.

Mrs. Scanlon sang a solo which was greatly appreciated.

A special feature of the after noon was the presentation of two life memberships by the union to two faithful and active workers, Mrs. John Christian and Mrs. Jean Shier. Both these ladies have been members since the organization began, and have given much time and effort towards its advancement.

JUNE 3rd. IN CHESLEY

The Minister of Militia has authorized the visit to Chesley on the above date for the Presentation of Colors to the Bruce Battalion.

This will be the most important event in the history of the county, and positively the last opportunity of seeing our brave boys at full strength prior to their departure for camp and overseas. An unusual military program is being prepared. Special trains from all points have already been secured at cheap rates. Ample accommodation for visitors has been provided. Come in your thousands to give the boys an impressive send-off—No matter how many—Chesley is ready for you. Details on large bills.

The W.M.A. of the U. B. church has elected Mrs. J. Welch as delegate to attend the annual meeting at Rosetown on June 14th.

Rev. Lucian Macgregor preached a very impressive sermon in the U. B. church on Sunday from the text "Honor the Father and the Mother" making it a Mother's day service.

The helpful
sermon will not soon be forgotten by the listeners. In the evening the 4th of Bruce held a military service commemorating the war.

We could not expect this war to come to a righteous end while so much grafting money raiding, and pleasure seeking was going on. He referred to Admiral Beatty making a stirring appeal for a great religious revival in Britain as a necessary step to victory in the war.

The people, he said, were beginning to wake up to this fact.

Mrs. Geo. Chapman is visiting in committee hope to be able to engage one of the best in the business.

riding his horse and when in the act of turning across the street, near the post

The rain we have always with us, but there were only a few hours which the farmers used to put in seed. It is rather rapid growth from now on. Blossoms are breaking forth, and the country will soon look its prettiest.

Mr. J. J. B. Ryan, 4th, is returning after a summer holiday and is able to be at his home again. On Thursday last he made a number of calls on his family and friends, and was very much pleased to see them.

reorganization last week. The president is A. Lyndhurst, vice president, J. W. Scott, secretary treasurer, R. J.

monthly membership to all those members who had enlisted so they will be kept in good standing until they return.

Mr. M. J. Langer, 4th, was the winner on the 10th of Chesley Sunday morning. He is the father of Bertha Hannigan, a well known woman who used to bear him. His subject was "Prayer," based on Acts 1:24, chapter 10, verse 1. Rev. Langer had a number of of the leading young men of the church in attendance, and his sermon was not only valued, but enjoyed.

Enemy Fears an Attack by the Allies On All the War Fronts.

The order was issued from the general headquarters of the army to-day.

Marie Kessler, wife of William Kessler, 505 Charleston street. The woman said she and two prominent New York men had organized the plot. She said she was the first to be charged with a nurse and a baby in her arms with a powerful bomb concealed in the baby's luggage and after concealing the bomb in the baby's stamach, she was to return to the pier in search of lost luggage.

The woman's circumstantial story caused Mr. Battle to investigate Herbie Kessler, 114 Westchester street, who was charged with a serious crime against Vera Kessler, his stepdaughter. She claimed to have been active in both the Kessler and the Karpis-Koch organizations here and gave Mr. Battle the names of the men who she said were her confederates. One of these, she said, was an incurable drunk.

The official statements, however, from the Russian state and which follow the British, probably set out the main reasons along the difficult mountain route, detailing the western border of the Russian province of Dagestan, the so-called "Rostom" line, the Mesopotamian frontier somewhere east of Kufel Amara.

There are other indications, though, that the British isolated themselves along the Mesopotamian border, the Russians are gradually moving, and various Arab groups and now present-day Kurds are pushing in from the west, are from south of Hillah to the neighborhood of Kuzanlik, northeast of Bagdad. From almost every point along this line, the present-day Kurds stand ready to bear in the direction of Bagdad.

Paris, (AP)—A neutral diplomat who has just returned from Albania is quoted in a despatch to the Matin from Athens as saying that the Austrians have withdrawn 50,000 troops from Albania in the last three weeks. According to this diplomat, the Austrians have left only small detachments to guard the towns they have occupied, leaving a garrison of 300 at Fiera and 600 at Berat. The remainder of the troops left in the country are at Scutari and Gjirokastra. The abandonment of the Albanian front is said to be due to the impossibility of bringing up supplies.

Correct Time

People in Port Elgin and vicinity are favored in being able to set their timepieces by a chronometer, now in the window of J. J. Busby Jeweler.

What is a chronometer? That is the first question to answer. Well, it is a perfect time-keeper, in the shape of a large watch, but so mounted that no matter what way you place it it always runs level, and is adjusted to various temperatures. The clock is manufactured by the Waltham company, and their finest piece of workmanship. The balance pivots in this fine piece of mechanism run on diamonds.

These chronometers are found in the large city windows, but seldom have the people in the small towns the opportunity of always having official time. The case is a handsome mahogany trimmed with brass. The new timepiece is in the window for everybody's convenience. Keep your watch by it.

Deadly Threat to Shoot Him.

In 1894 Colonel Daniels of the Seventh Rhode Island became unpopular with some of his command, and a rumor spread that he would be shot at the next engagement. The head of it. It was customary when guns had been loaded for some time to have them discharged into some convenient tank, and Colonel Daniels took advantage of this. Marching his regiment out with loaded rifles, he forced them toward a suitable elevation, and, taking position on the top of it and in front of them as at dress parade, he gave the commands "Ready," "Aim," "Fire," and the pieces were discharged.

Needless to say, any man could have shot him with little danger of discovery, and, needless to say also, none of them did. There were no more threats of that kind in his regiment.—"Macollections of a War's Career."

Travel in 1780.

In these days of rapid transit a paragraph from a Yorkshire paper of 1780 is interesting. It is an account of a London merchant's journey from London to Dublin and back. Leaving London on Monday evening, the traveler reached Liverpool on Wednesday morning in time to catch the packet for Dublin, which city he reached on Thursday. During that day he transacted his business in the capital and next morning sailed for Liverpool, arriving there on Saturday. Monday saw him back in London, and his journey was complete, having taken only eight days. "And," concludes the writer, "there is every reason to believe that it will be possible to beat even this performance in the near future."—London Opinion.

Applause in Ancient Rome.

The first glimpse in the theaters of ancient Rome were much more pantheistic in the matter of applause than modern audiences are. When the Roman theatergoers were fairly well satisfied with a play they applauded by clapping with the thumb and middle finger. If they wanted the actors to understand that they were really satisfied with the performance they clapped loudly by bending the left fingers on the right hand. A more hearty token of approval was given by striking the flat palms of the hands against each other.

The Greatest River.

The Amazon is the world's greatest river. The Nile, Mississippi and Ganges are mighty streams, but in length probably and in breadth, density, volume of water and reach of clear sailing the South American river leads them all.—New York American.

He Knew.

"Do you know where the little boys go who don't put their Sunday school money in the pike?"
"Yes; to the movies."—Williams Purple Cow.

Men or women who sacrifice themselves for others may have a fight for it, but their cannot be unhappy.

A Three-Year's War.

We took Lord Kitchener literally, observed The London Standard, when with his usual calm wisdom, he spoke of a three-year's war. Regarding the war as a purely military problem, that estimate holds good. It was, of course, always on the cards that Germany might not consider it worth while to persevere to the bitter end, or that she might be reduced to submission by economic pressure; and those possibilities still exist. But when we reflect what defeat means in Germany, and especially to the Hohenzollern regime, some foolish optimism to count on any factor but sheer superiority in arms to bring about the desired result. The war is still undecided. But we have every reason to believe that—the present year will see a decline in Germany's strength, and that the mastery of the Allies will be established. If it is not actually accomplished, before another winter has come and gone.

GREAT AUSTRIAN FORCES AID GERMAN AT VERDUN

60,000 to 120,000 of Them Reported Sent to Aid the Enemy There.

Teuton Allies Determined to Force a Way Through the French.

London Cable.—The Crown Prince's army, repulsed at the attack on the French line from Le Mort Homme to Camiers last night, as reports were received in Rotterdam of a decision by the Germans to use every resource to carry out the offensive against Verdun which has been in progress since February 21. To this end, the reports say, Austrian troops variously estimated at from 60,000 to 120,000 men have been brought to the Verdun front along with large numbers of German troops from the eastern theatre of war.

The Rotterdam correspondent of the Daily News says that he has obtained reliable confirmation of the reported determination of the German "to further their frontal efforts to crash through" the French line at this point and that for this purpose enormous reserves of men, artillery and ammunition are being concentrated in the Verdun area.

A terrific bombardment preceded the new German attack on the western bank of the Meuse last night, and a fresh division of infantry was used. Gains were made after repeated assaults.

The French War Office confirms these gains in the region of the Bois des Carrières, where it says that the French were compelled to retire from some advanced positions in the south of the Belthemin-Camiers road. Repeated assaults against the French lines on the eastern slopes of Le Mort

30 ZEP. RAIDS. Yarmouth and English East Coast Have Been Hard Hit.

London Cable.—Distress in East Coast towns by a raid of the sea was discussed in the House of Commons today, and members of the committee offered made an appeal for relief to the Government. It came out during the debate that Zeppelins have visited Yarmouth more than thirty times.

Tourists to Yarmouth and other resorts, who in former years numbered thousands, have declined to visit the town. Many residents of the town have departed, while others, elderly women and children, have been driven to the shelter of the town.

Arthur Hall, Conservative member for Great Yarmouth, pointed out that in the case of the people of Grimsby have been dependent in the past on visitors for a living, and are now without the means of obtaining a livelihood. Thirty per cent. depended upon fishing, which also has been interfered with. Shopkeepers have been hard hit.

Mr. Edward Beersham, Liberal member for Lowestoft, said that town had been relieved by the loss of visitors.

HUNS PLAN A DESPERATE STROKE AGAINST FRANCE

Now Concentrating For Assault Worse Than Any of Those Against Verdun.

Other Fronts Stripped of Every Possible Man For the Attempt.

London Cable.—(New York Times Cable).—The Daily Telegraph's correspondent at Rotterdam cables:

"From the information reaching me, it may be accepted that the German General Staff has decided on another extreme effort to secure a decision against the French armies. To this end, all the existing forces and equipments are being devoted. There is taking place a concentration of forces in leadership and in men and material, probably unparalleled even in the opening stages of the offensive against Verdun not long ago.

"Preparations were well in hand for action against the Russians on the living front. These preparations have ceased, or at least have taken on a much smaller character than their beginnings suggested. In fact, everything in the nature of major operations is being carried on on an intimate scale. All that might disengage the German army has been kept in hand. It is a great blow to be struck, and behind that blow will be all the re-

Mc LAREN'S HARDWARE

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body. In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is failing, when strength is ebbing, when nervousness gives the alarm in headache, dizziness, drowsiness, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown.

To correct nervousness, Dr. J. E. Russell's is exactly what you should take; it is a "nervine" that gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve-cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. Free from harmful drugs.

TURNER'S

The prospect for a fruit crop this year are good. The trees are loaded with blossoms and the bees are keeping things moving. The honey crop is the best so far for years, and the honey bees are wearing a big smile. It is likely that we will see our old friends the hay press and clover mill this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Nor Walter, of Port Elgin spent Sunday week with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Pollock.

Mrs. Wm. Atkinson has returned home from Owen Sound hospital.

A few from here took in the day at Chesley on Saturday and report a big time, everybody drove. The double-trailer recreation train which passed through about 8 o'clock in the morning did not even need to stop, and we did not see many hanging on the platform. It would be better if the Grand Trunk would divide things up and put a double trailer in the place of the celebration field instead of a neighboring line, and not making so many extra trips.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hinchey, of Kitley, Ont., are visiting at A. McNeil's.

Miss McNeil, of Paisley is spending a few days at Mr. Archie Campbell's.

Returned Soldier

Pte. Graham, of London Cordaleseent hospital visited here last week.

Pte. Graham was wounded in the battle of Ypres on April 22nd, 1916. He states that his battalion under Col. Beecher held Ypres for some 24 hours during the siege. He also mentions having seen Wm. Kitchener of Southampton during this battle. He is a South African Veteran having two medals given him for his part in the battle of the Somme in 1917, and for his part in the battle of Magersfontein.

Pte. Graham's son has returned from the trenches being under age and has had several months active service in the machine gun section of the 2nd. Bn. Scottish Rifles.

Pte. Graham is a native of Scotland and first saw active service at the age of seventeen at the battle of the Somme in 1916. He states that the most appreciated gift was the trench coat. It was said that they should be sent personally. The ration is generous and a plentiful supply of clothes.

Presentation of Colors

Chester had the 160th battalion there on Saturday when they were presented with the colors.

The men marched the sixteen miles, to get them. There was a large crowd out to see the presentation, and the gate receipts were good.

A number from Port Elgin attended.

Presentation to Soldier

On Monday, May 10th a large crowd of friends and neighbors assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Foster, a com. Bruce, to do honor to their son Pte. Tom Foster.

Mr. Geo. Brown filled the position of chairman. After explaining the object of the gathering, called Pte. Foster, and the address was read as follows, by Laura Nelson, presentation was made by Olive Foster.

Dear Tom—The rally of Canadians to the Mother Country and her allies fighting against the great German Military Menace is one of the glorious things of this age. We all deplore the conditions which call for your going, while you are prepared to sacrifice all the comforts and privileges of civilian life to do your bit for the Empire.

We can assure you that we feel it a sacrifice to part with you even for the present. But hope that you may be spared to rejoin your family and friends again when the strife is over. Please accept this wrist watch, safety razor and autograph as slight tokens of our admiration and appreciation of your ready and unselfish devotion to your country's cause and interest.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbors, Fred Schmitt, Wm. Nelson, Laura Nelson.

Pte. Foster made a very suitable reply, thanking his friends for their kindness toward him. A short programme was then gone through. Addresses were given by chairman, Rev. Johnston, ex-Warden McWhinney, Fred Schmitt, George by McNeil, Young, Jacky McNeil.

Canadian Ford Car Parts Reduced $147 Per Car Since War Began

It is well known that the war has increased the price of practically all raw materials.

And, although all but $16.88 worth of material that goes into the construction of the Ford car is bought right here in Canada, a high import duty adds its burden to that material that must be bought in the United States.

But in spite of increased duty and increased cost, the price of parts that go to make up a complete Ford car have been decreased $147 since war began.

This reduction was made for two reasons. First, because under normal conditions increased production would have made these lessened prices possible. Second, under abnormal conditions brought about by the war, the executives of this company felt it their duty as loyal British subjects to absorb these taxes of war into their manufacturing costs.

This reduction in price of parts is of first importance as a reduction in the cost of service to Ford owners. Prices of Ford spare parts have always been exceptionally low as compared to prices of parts for other cars, and under war time conditions the Ford company might have withheld, with seeming justice, any reduction in the price of parts in times such as these.

But the Ford Canadian executive had enough confidence in the progress of the Dominion and of the Empire to feel that the future prosperity of the country was sufficiently assured to warrant making these reductions.

This is improving a service already unrivaled in its efficiency. Ford, the Universal Car, can as well be named the Car of Universal Service.

Thus the Ford Company has left dollars in the pockets of Ford owners which might have acquired war, not for its policy of the best service at the lowest cost. Even the finest piece of mechanism, often thought of as a neglected, sometimes requires attention, the remarkable economy of this Ford service is known to motorists all over the world.

In every community of any size in the Dominion there is a Ford dealer who carries a complete stock of parts and whose establishment is in itself a well equipped service station. A Ford owner, no matter where he drives his car, is never far distant from a Ford service station that is ready to give prompt and efficient service in any emergency that may arise.

Moreover, Ford parts, as is the Ford car itself, are standardized and will fit in place in any Ford car to the thousandth part of an inch.

And every Ford dealer, because of this standardization of parts over a number of years, has an expert knowledge of the construction and repair of the Ford car. There is absolutely no guesswork in this Universal Service to Ford Owners.

Backing up the service afforded by over five hundred Ford dealers are the nine Ford branches located in the nine leading Canadian cities from St. John to Vancouver. In four of these Canadian cities new branch buildings have been constructed since the war began and are themselves as large as many automobile factories. They are so completely equipped as to be able to build a Ford car complete. The buildings alone for these four new branches were erected at a cost of over a million dollars.

This immense expenditure is another indication of the attitude of absolute confidence in Canadian prosperity that has always been shown by the Canadian Ford executives and that has not been altered in the slightest degree by any war conditions.

At the same time that reductions in the price of Ford car parts were made there was also a reduction in the price of complete cars. Twice—on August 1st, 1914 and August 1st, 1915, the price of the Ford car was reduced by $400—a total reduction of $800 in the price of the car since the start of the war.

This reduction is made on an estimated production of a definite number of cars for the coming year. Forty thousand Canadian Ford cars must be built and sold by August 1st, 1916 in order to warrant this last reduction of $400 in price.

And here is another most emphatic expression of confidence in Canada. The Ford Canadian executives are basing everything on the continued and increasing prosperity of the Dominion.

And their judgment is being fully justified.

INCREASE WILL BE $600,000.

Ontario's Revenue Will Be Increased by That Amount Next Year.

The new tax proposals brought down by the Provincial Treasurer, Hon. T. W. McQuinn provide for an increase of revenue that is estimated will amount to about $600,000. As was announced on the budget debate a tax of one cent on each admission to any theatre, amusement hall, race track or athletic event will be levied. This is the increased in respect of the higher-priced amusements. Some 5,000,000 tickets have been ordered by the Government, and a strike accounting of these tickets will be required from the theatre proprietors, and penalties from $10 up will be imposed on persons refusing to do so without paying the tax and upon the proprietor who permits it. Ten per cent. of the receipts from this tax will be allowed the theatres for collecting it.

In respect of race tracks, the Corporation Tax Act is to be amended increasing the tax from $500 to $1,250 per day, and to encourage the breeding of Canadian horses the Government has decided to donate for distribution among the owners of Canadian horses one per cent. of the prize money offered at the races. The tax upon loan companies with headquarters outside the Province has been readjusted. The amendment provides that instead of paying 3% of 1 per cent. upon their paid-up capital, these companies shall pay 1.20 of 1 per cent. on paid-up capital and 1.30 of 1 per cent. upon the business done in the Province. It is expected that this change will work more equitably than the present law and incidentally increase the revenue by about $10,000.

The Succession Duty Act is amended to simplify the procedure in investigating large estates, and widen the powers of the Provincial Treasurer in tracing hidden values.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The Bruce County council has somewhat of a homogenous task, when it comes to the discussion of bridge expenditures. This county has a big problem in providing and maintaining bridges. Every year the wear-and-tear problem is before the men, and every year the council has some new expenditures along this line. To the credit of the council it must be said they are grappling with the situation in a business-like way, and while they held a bridge they held a good one. No more perplexing board are given, the committee and council than of trying to do the right thing by the people of Bruce than when dealing with bridges.

The Children's Aid work received a great impulse from the county council on Friday last, when they decided to provide a suitable building for a shelter. There is no more important work in this county than that of endeavoring to help place a homeless child in a childless home. Every child has a right to be well born, and men and women are not fulfilling what is expected of them when there are neglected children in their midst. When one thinks of the interest which is taken in a homeless child of every sort, the money spent therein by men and women, and yet so few of them interested in the boys and girls enough to become a member of the children's aid, it is indeed cause for regret. The board of men and women, the halfhearted of the county council, when they were then men, showed their interest in the raising of the children by giving with pleasure a report of the committee recommending a shelter and granting support.

One of the little weaknesses in Port Elgin is the lack of a proper entertainment or welcoming committee to plan a public reception when we have such visitors as the county council, or other prominent men, visit our town. Revere Lizard did everything one man could do in making the visitors feel that Port Elgin was an important place, but it is unfair that the whole of this work should be laid upon the man, who had to fill his place on the board of county council. The citizens should, and the Times believes they are willing, to have a sum of money set for the purpose of welcoming prominent visitors or organizations or conventions. A committee including the Revere and some citizens representative of the people should be formed at the beginning of each year for the purpose of making the welcome representative of the people as a whole. This town has excellent beach facilities. There might be picnics, conventions, etc., brought here if such a committee existed. Join the other day a gathering of men from all over the county assembled at Walkerton and they formed the Bruce Preparedness League. They wanted a place to meet in soon. If this town had possessed a reception committee some member of that committee could have been present and extended an invitation. The Times believes that Port Elgin loses much in not having a committee of the stature we have here in Walkerton.

Sugar Prices May Become Prohibitive

A question that concerns every buyer of household supplies is why the price of sugar is increasing so rapidly. It is not the fault of the grower, who professes that commodities shall be at a price that is within reach of all his customers, so that trade may be kept brisk instead of slow, as is the case when only a small number can purchase articles he sells. Neither is it because there is little sugar produced.

It is stated that stocks in Cuba are increasing, the total at the ports being now 910,000 tons, an against 540,000 tons last year. Moreover, there is more sugar on the plantations now than a year ago.

One explanation is that heavy buying has been done by the British Commission for the British and French Governments, but this sounds more like an excuse than a reason. The number of consuming mouths has been reduced by the war, shipping difficulties prevent shipments to Europe, and there seems to be no reason why the North American continent should not reap the benefit of this, in view of its accessibility.

As a matter of fact, the sugar industry is in strong hands; it is really controlled to the advantage of those who have their money invested in it and are holding out for the heaviest profit that they can secure. Probably the best course to pursue to secure a drop in price is for every person to give up some great extent as is possible the use of sugar, even if not compelling to do so by cost at present.

Excessive Medical Charges

An instance is reported of a doctor making a charge of $200.00 for extracting a button from the throat of a child.

The operation occupied about fifteen minutes, and, of course, required special skill and a special instrument. It is admitted that the operation, which the parent, of course, could not perform, saved the life of the child. The father refused to pay the amount asked, and says he will allow the case go to court. This raises the question of what is a reasonable charge to make for skillful surgical or medical service. Is the doctor justified in charging "all the traffic will bear"? In such a case as that stated above, no doubt the parents would willingly give $250.00 to save the life of their child, even should it take the last dollar they possessed, but few will agree that the charges made for service in saving life or relieving pain should be based on the willingness or the ability of the patient or his people to pay. It will not do for the doctor to say: "I saved your life and you ought to be willing to pay for it," or, "I saved your baby's life, would you rather let it die than pay $200 or $500?" Of course, doctors do not often put it in that way, but the case of the child and the action that followed is disposition is evident.

How about the one who plunges into the water and saves a victim from drowning, or rushes into a burning house and rescues a sleeper? Such rarely are or expect reward, though they as truly save lives as the doctor who extracted the button.

As a matter of fact, the doctor who by his skill with the knife, or other instrument, or his knowledge of disease and medicine, who claims to save life, claims too much for himself. He is not the inventor of the instrument he uses, nor the originator of the special knowledge which he applies. These are the products of advancing human knowledge and have been given to him by society. To society he is vastly indebted and he owes a service to society. If he allows to speculate along one line it is because others devote themselves to other lines.

It is difficult to see how a proper rate can be laid down to regulate charges for highly specialized service, but that the conscientious practitioner should be able to store all that the unfortunate victim of disease or accident is willing to pay in a time of crisis nobody will agree.

The British Empire lost a great man when Kitchener went down with the Hampshire last week. He was the organizer of the greatest volunteer army the world ever knew. It was not only a tribute to the British nation that such an army of men were ready to answer the call but a tribute to Kitchener. The name Kitchener still lives though the sea answered the final call, and if we mistake not, the sudden cutting off of the nation's leader will mean that there will be a clear, calm determination in the soul of every Briton that the victory in this great conflict MUST be ours. Kitchener in giving up his life sends out a clearer and greater call than ever.

Children's Aid to Have Shelter

Work of the Children's Aid Society of Bruce county is of sufficient importance to require a shelter, or, in other words, a suitable building to keep the wards of society until they can be placed in foster homes.

On Thursday last Mr. Gault, of Toronto, Provincial Inspector, Mr. Morgan, Walkerton, president Bruce county society, and E. R. Bayles, chairman of the Port Elgin branch, waited upon the county council. The law states that a shelter must be provided when the county and officials make request. This request was made, and from the first all the councilors were disposed to grant the request.

The committee appointed to deal with the matter were the Wardens, Herve Brown, of Orkney, D. B. McDonald, of Tiverton. Their report granted $4000 toward the purchase of a building, and $600 a year toward the maintenance of a matron. When an approved matron is appointed the government pays $400 of his salary. It was pointed out that there was a sum of money left to the children's aid and same as to the county hospital, and the council will look after this, so that a modern and up-to-date building will result. The report was carried unanimously.

Rev. J. A. Barker Resigns Pastorate

In the early spring Rev. Mr. Barker, the pastor of the Baptist church here, announced that he would resign his pastorate duties, and had applied for the chaplaincy of the Bruce Battalion, and if successful with his application he would enter the ranks in any other capacity.

Not having received the chaplaincy appointment he offered for service as a private, but because of defect in sight of one eye, was not accepted by the examining officer.

On Sunday morning Mr. Barker announced to his congregation that although not able to connect himself with the 160th he would endeavour to enter the Empire service as one of the city battalions.

Mr. Barker has served the churches here and at North Bruce for about two years. He was a very popular young man, and his resignation was received with a great deal of regret, not only by his congregation, but by the community as a whole.

Mr. Barker preaches his farewell the last Sunday in June.

Oddfellows Decorate Graves

The decoration service carried out by the Oddfellows on Sunday was impressive, and attended by a great gathering from the town and vicinity. Visiting brethren were present from many outside lodges.

The band headed the procession and marched to the cemetery, where after opening ceremonies by Bros. Howland and Mitchell, the graves of departed brethren were decorated with flowers. This done the lodge members assembled and along with the large crowd of citizens listened to address by Dr. Scott and Rev. Barker. During the ceremony the band rendered several selections.

A number of soldiers accompanied Sergt. McCaw from Walkerton. Mr. David Wallace was chairman and performed the duties in a very excellent manner. The address was given by Miss Elizabeth McCurdy and the presentation of a wrist watch was made by Miss Belle Shandley.

Sergt. McCaw made an excellent reply thanking his friends for the gifts. A short programme followed consisting of speeches by W. J. Fortune, Wm. McCaw and the Wm. Shandley, a ladies chorus, recitation by Janet McCurdy, songs by Miss Agnes McCurdy and Miss Alice. Miss Edith Fortune was chairman. Young friends gave three hearty cheers in his honour. Seeing Things at Night

When Dr. Veitch, the 160th army surgeon, came out along down the main street here after midnight on Friday last he beheld two shapes crouched at Dr. Sinclair's corner in a confidential, suspicious looking manner, and on coming up with a Nightwatchman, he hailed the slouch and advised him that there were two fellows crouching near the corner that he didn't like the looks of and suggested that they might be burglars. The constable, who thought he was being put out to a steady work, looked in the direction of the constable and flashing a dark lantern at the watchers behind the fence, of two well-known citizens, John Weiler, night watchman at the station, and Ed Kennedy, night head at the steamery. Canadian Ford Car

Parts Reduced $147 Per Car Since War Began

It is well known that the war has increased the price of practically all raw materials.

And, although all but $16.58 worth of material that goes into the construction of the Ford car is bought right here in Canada, a high import duty adds its burden to that material that must be bought in the United States.

But in spite of increased duty and increased cost, the price of parts that go to make up a complete Ford car have been decreased $147 since war began.

This reduction was made for two reasons. First, because under normal conditions increased quantity production would have made these lessened prices possible. Second, under abnormal conditions brought about by the war, the excess of this country left it very easy for loyal British subjects to absorb these taxes of war into their manufacturing costs.

This reduction in price of parts is of first importance as a reduction in the cost of service to Ford owners. Prices of Ford spare parts have always been exceptionally low as compared to prices of parts for other cars, and under war time conditions the Ford company might have withheld, with seeming justice, any reduction in the price of parts in times such as these.

But the Ford Canadian executives had enough confidence in the progress of the Dominion and of the Empire to feel that the future prosperity of the country was sufficiently assured to warrant making these reductions.

This is improving a service already universal in its efficiency. Ford, the Universal Car, can as well be named the Car of Universal Service.

Thus the Ford Company has left dollars in the pockets of Ford owners which it might have acquired were it not for its policy of the best service at the lowest cost. Even the finest piece of machinery, often through abuse or neglect, sometimes requires attention. The remarkable economy of this Ford service is known to motorists all over the world.

In every community of any size in the Dominion there is a Ford dealer who carries a complete stock of parts and tools. He is the man who can save you time and money when your establishment is in itself a well equipped service station. A Ford owner, no matter where he drives his car, is never far distant from a Ford service station that is ready to give prompt and efficient service in any emergency that may arise.

Moreover, Ford parts, as is the Ford car itself, are standardized and will fit in place in any Ford car to the thousandth part of an inch.

And every Ford dealer, because of this standardization of parts over a number of years, has an expert knowledge of the construction and repair of the Ford car. There is absolutely no guesswork in this Universal Service to Ford Owners.

Backing up the service afforded by over five hundred Ford dealers are the nine Ford branches located in the big Canadian cities from St. John to Vancouver.

In four of these Canadian cities new branch buildings have been constructed since the war began and are themselves as large as many automobile factories. They are so completely equipped as to be able to build a Ford car complete. The buildings alone for these four new branches were erected at a cost of over a million dollars.

This immense expenditure is another indication of the attitude of absolute confidence in Canadian prosperity that has always been shown by the Canadian Ford executives and that has not been altered in the slightest degree by any war conditions.

At the same time that reductions in the price of Ford parts were made there was also made a reduction in the price of complete cars. Twice—on August 1st, 1914 and August 1st, 1915, the price of the Ford car was reduced by $50—a total reduction of $100 in the price of the car since the start of the war.

This reduction is made on an estimated production of a definite number of cars for the coming year. Forty thousand Canadian Ford cars must be built and sold by August 1st, 1916 in order to warrant this last reduction of $50 in price.

And here is another most emphatic expression of confidence in Canada. The Ford Canadian executives are basing everything on the continued and increasing prosperity of the Dominion.

And their judgment is being fully justified.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson XII.

The Philippian Jail.—Acts 16: 16-40

COMMENTARY.—I. An evil spirit cast out (vs. 16-18). Evil spirits undertook to testify of Jesus during the earthly ministry (Matt. 12: 24, 27) and he was unwilling that the degradation of his Messiahship should be made by demons, so he cast them out.

The demon-possessed girl in Philippi undertook to declare the reliability of the apostles as religious teachers, and Paul, in the name of Christ, commanded the evil spirit to come out of her. The apostles were unwilling to have such witness borne to their master. The young woman was cured of her malady, and this was the origin of a bitter outbreak against the apostles. She was a sorceress, pretending to foretell future events, and to give advice regarding mysteries.

II. Paul and Silas imprisoned (vs. 19-24). 19. How of their pains was none. The young woman was a slave and her masters were receiving money for her utterances. When they found that she had lost the spirit of divination, they tried to get her to receive no more money for her pretended prophecies, or oracles, and they were enraged.

20. They then turned into the marketplace unto the rulers—it was the custom for the complainants to drag the defendants before the magistrates. The market place was the great place of assembly and was where the magistrates held court.

21. Rulers is the general term for authorities. 22. Trouble our city—it was difficult for the masters to bring a charge against the apostles for ruining their business, and they feared them as Jews, of bringing trouble and confusion upon the city by their new teachings.

23. Not that we received the apostles for our rulers, hence they accused them, and this they had a right to do, if they did not interfere with the religion of the Romans. 24. The multitude rose up—This accusation had the desired effect and the people were assured to join with the masters of the accusers in opposition to the apostles.

25. Rent off their clothes—The magistrates stripped off the garments from Paul and Silas and gave orders to the officers to beat them. 26. Laid many stripes upon them—The Roman floggers who beat the apostles were armed with rods and used them upon the bare bodies of their victims.

27. Having received such a charge—The charge was to keep the apostles in custody. 28. They were not to be released, but they were to be kept in custody until they were released.

of salvation. 21. Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ—This included the acceptance of Jesus as his Saviour, and complete surrender to him. It meant the giving up of paganism even in the midst of pagan influences. Those who were saved—Saved from sin and placed in the way of final salvation. And thy house—All would be saved on the same conditions. 22. Spoke—The word of the Lord—Paul and Silas preached the gospel to the jailer and his household in the night and the marvelous results of the earth-shaking 23. Watched their attitudes. The jailer tried to make amends for the severe treatment the apostles had received at the hands of the people of his city, by straightening out his life.

The jailer and his household under no delay in making full declaration of their faith in Christ and receiving the seal of entrance into the Christian church. 24. Set them before them—It was a wonderful night, both for the apostles and the jailer's household. The jailer fed the apostles and it seems as if he could not do enough for them.

25. The apostles declared (vs. 25-26). In the morning the magistrates were convinced that Paul and Silas had been unjustly dealt with, and ordered their release. Paul declared that he and Silas were Roman citizens and their rights had been seriously violated.

26. The jailer, who had been severely and demanded that the magistrates release them as publicly as they had imprisoned them. The magistrates were glad to humble themselves and let the apostles to leave the city. Paul and Silas went to the home of Lydia and comforted the saints before leaving Philippi.

"Thank you, I will take the Nerve Food with me."

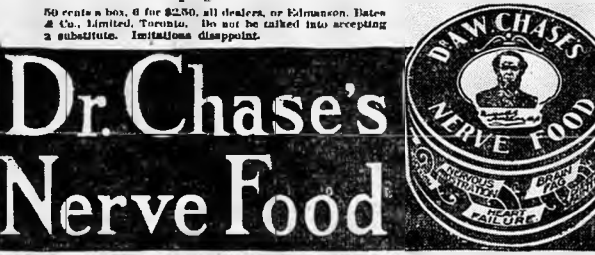

"I don't want to miss a single dose, because it is doing me so much good. My nerves were so bad that I could not rest or sleep, and would get up in the morning feeling tired out."

"Besides that, I frequently had severe nervous headaches and got so cross and irritable that every little noise would set my nerves on edge. I did not seem to have any energy or strength, and the slightest exertion would use me up entirely."

"Then a friend told me of the benefit she obtained from using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I decided to give it a trial. It was not long till I found that I was sleeping better and enjoying my meals. There did not seem to be so much to worry me, and I began to find a new pleasure in life. It is wonderful the way the Nerve Food is building up my health and strength, and since I have been using it I have found out that many of my lady friends have had a similar experience."

This is the way women everywhere are talking about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Seldom has any treatment ever aroused so much favorable comment. While natural and gentle in action, this food cure is wonderfully potent in building up the run-down system. Ask your friends about it and put it to the test when in need of restorative treatment.

deduced, consisting of prayer, praise, preaching and conversion. It was the beginning of the Christian era in Europe.

June is the month of weeds. The cultivator must be kept on the move. One hoeing is better than three weeding.

Prof. Bailey gives this advice on keeping weeds in check:

1. Practice rotations. Keep ahead of weeds. Certain weeds follow crops. If you know this, you can avoid them. Some serious change the crop.

2. Change the method of tillage. If a weed persists, try deeper or shallower plowing on a different kind of harrow, or cultivator, or till at different times of season.

3. Harrow the land frequently when it is in fallow or is waiting for a crop. Harrow it, if possible, after weeding, and before the plants are high enough to be broken by the implement. Potatoes, corn and other things can be harrowed after they are several inches high, and sometimes the land may be harrowed before the plants are up.

4. Practice frequent tillage with light surface working tools through and along the rows. This is best on weeds and does the best work.

5. Pull or hoe out weeds that are dark, but not yet green. Pull the land as soon as the crop is harvested, and if the land lies open in the fall, till it occasionally. Many persons keep their premises scrupulously clean in the early season, but let them run wild late in the fall, and thus the land is seeded for the following year.

6. Do not let the weeds go in seed on the mature pile, in the fence corners and along the highways.

7. Avoid coarse and raw stable manure, particularly if it is suspected of harboring bad company. Commercial fertilizers may be used for a time on foul land.

8. In the season and place sometimes can be employed to clean the weeds from foot and fallow land. Land infested with Jerusalem artichokes is readily cleaned if hogs are turned in. Plant in a man's soil. Land that will not grow weeds will not grow crops, for crops are only those particular weeds that man has raised.

Weeds have taught us the lesson of good tillage. There is no indication that they intend to remit their efforts in our behalf.

GOOD FARMERS NOT THOUGHTFUL. Where the soil is properly cultivated and attended to, a suitable rotation of crops weeds are of little consequence. The Farmers' Encyclopedia of Agriculture says the possibility of a luxuriant growth of weeds is a further reason for thorough tillage of the soil, and the result is seen in better crops of cultivated plants.

In gardens, cultivation and land-pulling are the surest remedies for weeds in lawns, annual weeds may be destroyed by repeated mowing. Perennial weeds may be eradicated by digging and pulling, and by weeding more and better grass seed. Weeds in grass lands are to be crowded out by securing a thick sod. If the grass seeds is impure and the stand of grass sparse, this may become necessary to sow and seed.

In cereal and other field crops the use of horse power is the best method of getting rid of weeds. Where a rational rotation of crops is followed, weeds seldom obtain a foothold. Special attention should always be given to waste-plots and road-sides in order to prevent weeds from going to seed in such places.

Many weeds may be destroyed by repeated cutting before the weeds have become mature. If, for example, the seed duty is cut which has been sown by burning it will be prevented from growing.

In recent years extensive experiments have been made in destroying weeds by means of chemicals. At the Rhode Island station it was found that common sorrel could be practically driven out of soil sold by liming. The use of lime increases the yield of clover, orchard grass, bromus grass and clover, but greatly checks the growth of sorrel. This may be accomplished by applying five tons of air-limed lime per acre, followed by an application of three tons per acre during the next year. In North Dakota it was found that nearly all the annual weeds commonly found in grain fields could be killed by spraying with copper sulphate. This may be accomplished by spraying the young weeds are just out of the ground, while the grain stands from five to ten inches high. Experiments in Vermont showed that the various species of wild mustard could be cheaply destroyed in this manner.

A number of other chemicals have been tested in spraying weeds, but usually without satisfactory results.

OLDER BUT STRONGER

To be healthy at seventy, prepare at forty, is sound advice, because in the strength of middle life we too often forget that neglected colds, or careless treatment of slight aches and pains, simply undermine strength and bring chronic weakness for later years.

To be stronger when older, keep your blood pure and rich and active with the strength-building and blood-purifying properties of Scott's Emulsion which has been a tonic and a medicine to keep your blood rich, alleviate rheumatism and avoid sickness. At any drug store.

NORTH BRUCE

(EXTENDED FOR LAST WEEK)
R. v. Mr. Hawk is to succeed Mr. Foster as the livestock work. The conversation will witness this week, but there will no doubt be a feeling of regret in parting with Mr. Foster, who for three years has laboured faithfully and unselfishly among the people.

Miss Robinson and brothers from Northampton are here today at Mr. T. Foster's, before leaving for Hamilton, where Mr. Robinson and family will reside in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. J. McMillan, Mr. and Mrs. J. Macette and Miss Macette, who were in Northampton, returned to Northampton last week, returning on Tuesday.

Lawson, Corporal Hawk spent a few days at his home here on Sunday, having motored with others from Walkerton.

Miss Pearl Nicholson has returned home from Hamilton, Ind., where she attended College, since January.

The Underwood Creamery paid the patrons 30c per pound B. F. for the month of May.

The beef-rings at Mr. Airth's applied the crumblers with nice fresh beef on Wednesday last.

Good Roads for Bruce

A question of large importance which was before the county council was the question of good roads. In January a committee was appointed to look into the question and report and their report was presented. The committee had arranged with Mr. McLean of the government Highway Dept. to be present and explain the good roads legislation which he did at length and very clearly. He pointed out that other counties had adopted the movement and not one of them had raised any objections or tried in any way to withdraw from it. Many people had the idea that it was an expensive system but Mr. McLean thought this had come from some parts where they had no gravel and had to use crushed stone which ran the cost up considerably. In a county like Bruce where they had fair roads to start on and lots of good gravel the expense would be very light while the roads would be materially improved. The Government was spending large sums of money to help counties in this work and he thought Bruce should take up the question and get its share of the money.

The matter was thoroughly discussed at length and the Council passed a resolution appointing the address and appointed a committee to look into it and report at December Session.

Fruit Plentiful

While what is so scarce fruit and vegetables will be reasonable this year. Reports for fruit are very good, and there will be an abundance. In this district there will be great yields of almost every kind of fruit.

A bulletin sent out by the Dept. of Agriculture says that strawberries are in the market. Great quantities are now being shipped from Bruce district. The quality is excellent, and the prices will be low.

Hospitals Need Assistance

Citizens of Bruce County should know that their hospital needs assistance. A delegation from the Elgin hospital, composed of Messrs. Temple, Cook and McPherson, asked for assistance from the county. Messrs. Lay, and D. Robertson, K. C., appeared for the county hospital. In the appeal of the latter deputation it was pointed out that the deficit of about $1000 was accounted for in the fact that during the year they had 9023 days of free patients at $1.60 actual cost per day, which did not include the medical attendance which the physicians practicing at the hospital had given. It was also pointed out that doctors met their free patients to the Walkerton Hospital, and their pay patients somewhere else. The delegation thought that Bruce county citizens should be more interested in the hospital. Very little assistance had been given by the women's organizations during the past year. The hospital had done a good deal of patriotic work by treating the soldiers for $1 per day.

BRUCE TOWNSHIP COUNCIL

A full-course dinner was served, and the excellent meal and good service reflected credit on Miss Hood Baker. The dinner over, a toast list, presided over by E. R. EDITORIAL COMMENT

Certain professors have decided that there are 41 varieties of fungi which are good to eat. If they would only include the common old variety of lawn grass the high cost of living would be reduced.

"Soldiers' heart" is a new trouble very prevalent to the defenders of the British trenches, caused by excessive use of tobacco. The tobacco manufacturers' advertising campaign has apparently brought results. "Tommy and the Smoker" is a very catchy headline.

Some county councils cut down the grants to the patriotic and other societies on the ground that farmers will not have too much because of inability to seed or harvest. Another argument was that soldiers' wives were too well provided for. Of course, there is bound to be reaction when a thing is overdone. On account of scarcity of help farmers' wives are working fourteen and fifteen hours a day to help out, and this sort of thing is making the farmer, the producer, do some thinking.

A writer in a daily paper says there are many men in cities, such as brothers and agents, with wives who are in desperate straits, and that the banks who might have helped the situation have taken on girls, instead of affording these men opportunity to work. It's pretty hard to beat the bank. When these sad statements made up it will likely be found that the banking institutions will be able to show, despite the war, "business as usual" in the profits department.

Enemies of the Empire

Some forty Germans from Walkerton and surrounding country, who applied for naturalization papers last week, were refused by Justice Clute of Toronto, on the ground that no subjects of an enemy country shall take the oath of allegiance and become British citizens during the war.

This finding is based on the decision of Justice Meredith of the Supreme Court of Canada, who also maintains that such alien citizens are enemies of the British Empire.

In commenting upon this matter The Walkerton Herald says: "This will put these Germans in a hard plight, for as the law states that it is an offence for any British subject to either buy from or sell to an alien enemy, or carry on business with him in any way, there is would seem a crime for any Canadian banks to loan them money, for dealers to buy their produce, or for any Canadian subjects to traffic or trade in any way with them. This being the case they would find it almost impossible to sell a horse, cow or a load of hay, etc., or even to purchase a load from the baker. Just how they could exist under the circumstances isn't clear, but such it seems is the finding of Mr. Justice Meredith in Toronto, and followed by Mr. Justice Clute at the Chancery Court, Walkerton."

"Unslight-Unseen"

When the boy gets his pocket full of toys, knives, pencils, etc., he goes to his companions and with the words "unslight-unseen" they swap bargains.

The explanation is that it is true of the mania for buying on the part of many people, especially in the rural centres, at far-away establishments. By persistent advertising these establishments have worked up a mighty business, and in their dealings they swap bargains to their customers. But in a great many cases people stock up with a lot of unnecessary things, and keep them because there is no way of disposing of them, but to use them or wear them. In the cities they tell us the disposition to trade at the big departmental mail order places is passing, and the trade is being spread over. The editor of The Ontario Farmer in the following describes a condition now in Toronto as follows:

Notice the increase of prosperous-looking, well-stocked shops and stores in many parts of Toronto, a week or two ago, the writer remarked to a city friend that evidently the departmental houses were not having things altogether their own way. The answer was the assurance that city people, in a general way, are less and less doing their buying at these large establishments. A number of reasons are given. Intimate acquaintance has at last convinced buyers, a close quarters, that takes all round, the average prices in the departmental stores are not lower than in the smaller shops. The personal relationship between buyer and seller becomes more intimate in the smaller shops and that is a binding quality. With years, the objection to going about the city carrying Eaton's or Simpson's label has become emphasized. Thousands of garments, all of a kind, mark the wearers, among knowing people, not merely as belonging to the ready-to-wear class, but even to a cheap species of that genus. Again,

Toronto folk have had it forced upon them that it is highly undesirable to concentrate in two or three immense establishments, to the depreciation of the value of property suitable for business purposes in all parts of the city. Possibly like considerations will in time come to force themselves upon people in the country and the smaller towns, though to some distance lends a glamour less easily argued against or combated. It is the height of folly for dwellers outside Toronto to sit in breaking down the smaller towns, as they are thoughtlessly or head-sail doing. With many such it is useless to argue. But the more thoughtful may soon show signs of following the lead of the city people who, in such large numbers, are said to have their eyes opened.

Letter From Pts. Dell

Writing from Shoreline Camp, Engad, Pts. Dell who is with the mechanical transport, says:

I have been quarantined for measles for the past two weeks. A couple of our party got measles and we all had to be quarantined. We have an easy life, but it will be that much harder when we have to get down to regular work again. A hundred yards from our tent the rabbits run wild in the bushes. Some of the soldiers there. Some of the boys were sent to France Wednesday, but Fred here, and myself will have to remain on account of measles. I saw Wm. Gration at Hythe, about 5 miles from here. He is camping with Roy Thomson and Ralph Geddes. They were down to see a son named Colin Campbell and Jack Oat are in camp a short distance from us. A Canadian lad visiting us, who was with the first Canadian contingent, says that last year the Germans had four shells to every one of ours, but it is changed now. This man believes the war will end soon. He says there are so many troops in France they seem to be in the way. Artillery and ammunition is stacked in great quantities waiting for use. When the drive comes, Fritz will get something he has not been looking for. Lawrence Schell went over to France last Wednesday with a draft.

Reply of the County Council to Walkerton

Clute Geddes has received the following letter, which was reply to the address of welcome given by Reeve Lizard.

"Reeve Lizard generously presented us with the freedom of the village on our arrival here, and we have gratefully appreciated that freedom. Our visit to Port Elgin could not have been made more pleasant for us, and we wish to express in Mr. Lizard's all citizens of Port Elgin, especially those ladies who so generously provided the banquet for our hearty thanks and appreciation for all their kind and caring, for they."

The automobile drive on Tuesday was enjoyed. Our visit to your leading industry was a revelation to most of us as to what a real up-to-date modern factory properly operated can do. Our visit to some of your fruit farms was also a surprise. We see possibilities for this section in the fruit industry that may make it rival the famous Niagara district in the over future.

That you are a loyal, liberty-loving people is borne by the many ways in which you have helped for active service in the present terrible war. That you are a God-fearing people, obedient to the claims of religion, is evidenced by the splendid churches. That you are alive to the importance of education is evidenced by your fine high and public schools. Our hope is that in this rural village situated on Lake Huron, there will continue to reside and grow up a loyal, contented, and exalted Canadian citizenship.

Thrift

The longer the war continues, the greater the financial burden that Canada will have to bear. It is, therefore, a patriotic duty and necessity to save as large a portion of our earnings as we can. The larger the savings, the better the country can finance its obligations, and the better the individual will be prepared for any emergency.

Red Cross Society Makes Over $150

Under the auspices of the Red Cross Society of S. B. No. 14, Bruce Tp., a tea garden party was held on Thursday evening. The affair took place at the beautiful farm of Mr. E. E. Waring, on the 12th of Bruce, and despite the clouds and the rain of the morning there was a large attendance.

A beautiful supply of good things provided a hearty supper, which all enjoyed after which a program of music, songs, and songs was presented. The program was presented and given more good people, while the Port Elgin Band kept the evening lively with selections. An instrumental trio by Miss McKeen, McLean and Mr. Parker rendered catchy airs, and the crowd thoroughly appreciated the program for the order could not have been better. Others taking part in the program were, Ray, Sawyer, Arch, McLean, E. B. Sayles, T. J. Smith, R. E. O. Smith, Miss Patterson, Port Elgin Boys' quartet, Miss Olive Sutherland.

During the evening and a day or two before the affair two cent chances were offered for a five cent draw. The draw for the 1st prize was won by Mr. W. H. W. $4.95 was realized from the draw and $11 from the supper and booth. Miss McLean, the president and the officers and members are to be congratulated on the success of the affair.

RED CROSS meeting to night 7.30

GARDEN PARTY—Under North Bruce U. B. association on Thursday August 10th. Participants invited. Remains the date.

What Church, Next?

At church services three times and Sunday school twice on July 3rd was the record of the church. We started out in the morning and called at the Wesleyan Methodist church, 12th of Bruce then at the Methodist church, Underwood, in the afternoon, and the Methodist church at Tipton, in the evening. We found good live Sunday schools at each of these churches, and bright and interesting members. Perhaps you will be interested in reading about these churches in next week's issue. We had an invitation to attend another church nearby for next Sunday, but we could not accept invitations, because they would be prepared for us. In writing to the country churches, we just want to drop in and see what is going on in the regular way. Where are we going next? Somewhere where we are less crowded.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kennedy of Wallace, are visiting at the home of J. A. Gable.

Mrs. Duncan McFarlane of New Westminister B. C. is visiting at Mr. Hugh McFarlane's.

The location assessment of Pns. Stanley Morton was struck off.

The names of E. Killico, C. Russell, S. Marindale, F. Montague, J. Clement, S. Hobson, A. J. Tardiff were taken off the roll, while the names of D. Flayson and A. J. Lown were added.

Robert Cumming Dead

On Monday morning at 10 o'clock a worthy citizen of Port Elgin, in the person of Robert Cumming, passed away after an illness which extended over several weeks.

He had not been in the best of health, suffering from heart trouble, but was not confined to his bed until about a month ago. Recovering somewhat a week ago, he was suddenly stricken with paralysis, from which he died Monday.

Deceased was 56 years of age. He was born in Waterloo county in 1860, and came to Saugeen Tp., when 24 years of age, settling on the 4th cove, where he lived until four years ago, when he returned to Port Elgin.

Some few years ago he spent three or four years in British Columbia. He was a man of religious disposition, a man of intelligence, and well liked by all. He was a consistent member and a staunch supporter of the Presbyterian church, and a Liberal in politics. He never entered into or sought public position. In 1914 he married Jane Mitchell, a young woman of the same township, and who now resides in the loss of her companion.

He leaves a son and daughter, Mrs. John, Huxley, Alita; George at Adair, Bask; Mrs. Huxley, Toronto; and Nellie and Nellie at home. To them the services of the Presbyterian church will be extended. There are also five brothers and a sister surviving: George, Almar, and Annie at Elgin, Mitchell at Elgin, Wm. at Wilmington, and John at Los Angeles, Cal.

The funeral took place today (Wednesday) at 8.30 p. m. to Port Elgin cemetery.

The Celebration Breaks all Records!

The Attendance the Largest in History of the Committee—Six Thousand People Here—Splendid Races and Fireworks.

Another big success and a record was established by the Port Elgin Dominion Day committee on Saturday, when the attendance reached the 5,000 mark.

The weather was glorious. It could not have been better. The heavy rain of the Thursday previous made the country roads beautiful, and just finished the day track to perfection.

Saturday morning the sky was clear as a bell and remained so all through the day and evening, thus enabling to enjoy the races for miles around. They came on bicycles, in trapcoaches, wagon loads and automobiles. The auto this year was a sight. There were hundreds of them, and it is to the automobiles that credit must be given for continued increase in attendance.

The crowd coming by special train was no greater than last year, an additional coach being added to the regular special of five coaches, which has usually carried the crowd. They were met at the depot by the band, and the people escorted down town.

The three hotels, which had prepared for a great crowd, were taxed to their utmost, and as well there were several refreshment serving stands open. At 1.30 a procession was formed, headed by city members of the 16th battalion, who had leave to be home for the 1st celebration. Sergt. Tom McCaw was in command, and one of the boys a piper, led off. Then followed the band, and the people escorted to the grounds.

The new amusement tax gave a little trouble, some people not being acquainted with the fact that before anyone enters a place of amusement he must buy his ticket. But there was little trouble and with the extra selling booths.

The second race showed Darky Todd to be the master of the track, although he was closely run by Ray. Billy M. The heats were:

Black Hills M. 2 2 3
Billy M. 1 1 1
Darky Todd 1 1 1
Pete the Limit 4 4 4
Tiger 5 5 5

The third race, 2.10 pace and trot for the big purse, was one that had the right to it. In the Greatest Hearts the winner had to fight against the united opposition of the other horses. In every heat this beautiful little stallion set the pace, and kept it going for the entire mile for three heats. Time and time again each of the other drivers took a hand in an endeavor to cut in, but the first place was won by the first.

The first Friday in August the Treas. J. B. Falconer, will make his statement, and the ladies wound up for the year. But the date was not the date for the year.

George Henry, the veteran ticket taker, George says: "The biggest crowd ever, and he is not wrong."

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Crawford of Ripley were visitors at R. C. Crawford's over the holiday.

The committee representing the Port Elgin Dominion Day celebration is composed of the following:

President—Dr. Power
Vice-President—R. J. Banney
Treasurer—J. B. Falconer
Executive—J. J. George, H. B. Stevens, W. C. Crawford, G. C. Green, J. B. Stevens, R. B. Stevens, G. C. Schwartz, A. Eaton, H. Mulvey

Five passenger cars were sometimes ten passenger cars on the 1st.

J. J. George's books were heavily taxed for refreshments by the large crowd. In fact it was difficult to keep between the races and before the fireworks.

The popular price makes the large program the Griffin acrobats, a pair of tony men helped to entertain the boys and girls.

The program of fireworks provided by the Head Company, of Hamilton, was beyond expectations. They are always worth coming a long way to see. There is no better spectacle than fireworks given outside of Toronto fair than that purchased for its patrons by the Port Elgin Dominion Day committee. The special features were applauded by the large crowd that attended the night performance.

The expert Mr. Lussman, carried out the entire program without a hitch.

The relay race brought teams of 12 runners from Paisley, Chelmsley and Port Elgin high schools. The race was won by the Paisley team.

For three consecutive years Chelmsley team has won the cup, but the Paisley team had the better success this year. The Port runners were: Goodall, T. Fleming, B. Cottrill, J. Fleming, Paisley—W. Deth, H. Collins, L. Gargill, D. Cottrill.

THE HORSE RACES
There were some hot contests between the horses in the afternoon. The program this year contained three big events. There was a loss of fat ones entered to all the races, and the horse to win had to work hard and keep at it. The first race was an evidence of this. In the 2.30 trot or pace, Brice, a pretty little dapple gray, looked to be an easy winner, taking the first two heats in splendid style, but Patrick, by continued effort and hard plugging, won in the third heat and for fourth heat, and by coming third in the first heat took away first money, the popular little gray being unable to stand the hard work lay back, and took only the last place.

Brice R. 1 1 4
Billy M. 2 2 3
Darky Todd 1 1 1
Pete the Limit 4 4 4
Tiger 5 5 5

Time: 2:10, 2:12, 2:13, 2:14

The fine crew in the judges' stand was very handy for the starter.

The amusement tax was now in vogue, but it must be said at all amusement except where the money is for church, charitable or patriotic purposes.

A gentleman from Hamilton, Windsor, where all the same could come from and he says he has seen some in the day.

J. J. Mackay of Winton has been a way from Port Elgin for 24 years, but has not missed a lot of July celebration. This is a record surely. Fred Vanrick pleases to offer. Of course, Fred is in Saugeen.

The first Friday in August the Treas. J. B. Falconer, will make his statement, and the ladies wound up for the year. But the date was not the date for the year.

The one track was the favorable comment of the horsemen.

Every year sees a better equipment at the park. To there any place in Ontario outside the largest cities with better facilities for looking after and entertaining thousands of people than Port Elgin has?

The new ticket booth placed up towers in the forenoon provided opportunity to purchase tickets and avoid the rush.

The electric lights at the park illuminate the grounds in good shape. Not all the lights were working, however, or the light would have been better.

Treasurer Falconer and Secretary Crawford were two pretty busy men, for on them fell the heavy duties of the day. The track committee, Messrs. Hanney, Falconer and Mulvey had a lot to do and it was well done. They have their reward in seeing the largest crowd ever.

The ticket sellers, the gatekeepers and the staff generally looked after the business of the day in good style.

The order was the best ever. For such a large crowd in a small place there was scarcely any rowdiness on the street, none whatever on the grounds. This reflects credit on the officers and the crowd.

BRIEF BUSY AGAINST HUNS

Airmen Have Better of the Day's Operations

And Patrols Do Damage in German Trenches.

Paris Cable.—The official communication issued by the British War Office Tuesday evening says:

"Last night southwest of the Ypres salient a German attack was repelled near the Ypres-Menin Canal. All along the front our patrols were very active, causing the enemy trenches at numerous points and inflicting many casualties, and capturing a few prisoners. Early this morning we successfully captured two miles near Loos. In connection with one of these operations the Infantry Regiment inflicted many casualties on the enemy during a successful raid."

"Yesterday in the air numerous hostile aircraft were encountered on the enemy's side of the line. Five of our machine guns engaged four Fokkers, two of which were brought down and fell out of control. Two more of the enemy's machines were driven down in the course of the day. Our casualties were small."

"Marked activity continues in evidence along the Franco-Belgian front held by the British and the northern wing of the French. Numerous gas clouds are being employed by the Entente forces in the operations," the German War Office announced today.

DEFENCE LINE FOR CASEMENT

Traitor Will Claim He Worked Only for Ireland.

But Such Grot Severe Blow On First Day.

London Cable.—"Blinded by hatred of this country as malignant to quality as it was sudden, this prisoner played a desperate hazard. He played and lost, and now forfeit is claimed."

In these words Attorney-General Sir Frederick E. Smith summed up his outline of the charges against Sir Roger Casement at the opening of the latter's trial this morning in the High Court of Justice on the charges of high treason. Viscount Reading presiding.

It became clearly evident that the defence intends to insist that Sir Roger was merely a spy, and that he acted purely in behalf of the Irish "for the betterment of his native land," that his efforts to form an Irish brigade against the British were merely a ploy to create a nationalist force to fight the Catholics.

This line of defence, however, received a severe blow on the very first day of the trial during the testimony of Sir Roger's witnesses. In the afternoon Sir Roger's counsel, Mr. John G. Jones, made a statement to the effect that the prisoner promised to land volunteers from Germany in Ireland only after the end of the war, but very evidently this was intended to lead the jury to believe that the prisoner was to be landed after the first German naval victory.

It is impossible to predict the defence against the charge in connection with Casement's landing in Germany, but the impression was prevalent after the first day's proceedings that the defence faces an almost impossible task, and cannot hope averting the supreme punishment which the law will inflict on the traitor.

The prisoner failed to display the slightest interest in the proceedings. During the afternoon he fell fast asleep in the dock where three guards surrounded him. This attitude was entirely different from the careful attention he showed in the Bow Street court proceedings at every step of the investigation making rogues' notes of the testimony of every witness at that time. The whole testimony in the Bow Street police court hearings will be gone over.

Several soldiers, John Robinson, Michael O'Connor, Michael Moore, the last in uniform, and an English soldier, and John Neill in hospital garb—have testimony during the afternoon in the Casement treason trial. It was mainly the evidence of the police court evidence of Sir Roger's speech and promises, in Irish prison, in Germany, and in the latter's cross-examination indicated that the defence will contend that the prisoner was merely a spy, and that he was engaged in before the war of organizing Nationalist volunteers.

The Muldoon-Greene attempted to question Neill regarding the speech a German general made to the men at the Hanover camp. Counsel Sullivan objected on the ground that Sir Roger was not charged with conspiracy, and that this was an attempt to introduce evidence of the doings of a person whom it was not proved Casement ever knew, at a place it was not alleged he ever knew.

The Chief Justice said that the court would have no hesitation in deciding the point, but suggested to the prosecution that the evidence stood up to be pursued.

Neill—Why do you always stand up for the street car companies? Neill—I have to. I can never get a seat.

WARLIKE PLANS BY WASHINGTON

Wilson to Ask Power to Re-lease Troopers by Force

If They Are Not Released by To-Night.

Washington Report.—Unless General Carranza surrenders the 23 American troopers held at Chihuahua City before to-morrow night President Wilson probably will go before Congress Thursday to ask for authority to release them by force. Pending their release the United States Government will not consider any offer of mediation or arbitration.

Prompt compliance by Congress with any request the President may make as to Mexico was forewarned today by the calm which prevailed in both Houses. Although measures designed to prepare for war were under consideration and the corridors of the Capitol hummed with rumors, there was no excitement and discussion of the subject on the floor was avoided. The legislative branch of the Government was plainly waiting to do its part, when what the majority regarded as an inevitable assault on the President's policy.

Kilroe Arredondo, Mexican Ambassador designate, said he had received no intimation of the course his Government intended to pursue, and had not even been advised of the receipt of the American note. On his own responsibility he had forwarded the State Department two communications. One complained against the enforcement of a general embargo on arms to Mexico; the other complained that Mexican citizens have been arrested without cause in California and Arizona. The latter communication stated that the present situation between the two Governments cannot fail to be severely aggravated by these matters, although setting forth that the Ambassador assumes that local authorities, not the State Department, were responsible for the trouble.

So far as it knows, the State Department has not been advised of the detention of Mexicans. It is an open secret, however, that a practical embargo on commerce between the United States and Mexico is being enforced effectively. Custom and army officers throughout the authority of a formal proclamation.

HUN ULTIMATUM TO SWITZERLAND

Paris Cable.—A Zurich agency to the effect that Germany's demands on Switzerland for the exchange of commodities are in the form of an ultimatum which expires at 4 o'clock Thursday night.

The Swiss authorities were not complied with Germany would prohibit exportation of coal, iron and other materials essential for Swiss industry. The Swiss authorities asked for time to reply, and sent a delegation to Paris to confer with representatives of the Entente Allies.

CASEMENT TO TAKE STAND

Traitor to Make Statement in His Own Defense.

Motion to Quash Indictment Overruled.

London Cable.—Dramatic developments are expected at today's session of the trial of Sir Roger Casement for high treason. Chief among these is a statement in his own defense which Sir Roger is prepared to make from the dock.

Francis P. Doyle, the Philadelphia attorney, who is acting as solicitor for Casement, announced before the opening of court that no witnesses would be called for the defense, but that the arguments of counsel would be supplemented by a statement from the prisoner. As was stated yesterday, the main defense will rest on the argument of counsel for the quashing of the indictment on the ground of lack of jurisdiction.

In reference to the decision of Casement's counsel not to call any witnesses, Doyle said:

"Inasmuch as this trial affects not only the life of Sir Roger Casement, but also the aspirations of the Irish people, it is imperative that the arguments of counsel should be supplemented by a statement from the prisoner. As was stated yesterday, the main defense will rest on the argument of counsel for the quashing of the indictment on the ground of lack of jurisdiction."

ROUMANIA TO JOIN ALLIES

New York Report.—A news agency dispatch from London, published here today, says:

Interest in the expected grand offensive of the Allies shifted temporarily today to the situation in the Balkans, with the revival of reports that Roumania is preparing to join the Allies.

A heavily censored Bucharest dispatch, telegraphed via Athens, reported that Bulgaria had closed her frontier against Roumania. Bulgarian troops were reported to be concentrating along the Roumanian frontier.

The Evening News received a Bucharest dispatch reporting that the Roumanian Cabinet, at a special session, took certain steps as a result of Bulgaria's movements. The dispatch bore evidence of having been heavily censored. It gave no indication of what steps were taken, but the censor passed the statement that Roumanian military forces participated in the Cabinet conference.

PAPEN'S PLANS TO BLOW CANAL

Von der Goltz Tells Story On the Witness Stand

At the Trial of Captain Hans Tauscher.

New York Report.—Captain Hans Tauscher was almost a perfect symphony in purple when he appeared today before Judge Hoad to stand trial on the charge of participating in the plot to blow up the Welland Canal in Canada. He had a purple necktie that harmonized with the purple stripes of his shirt and his purple silk stockings.

The calm witness, against him today was von der Goltz, whose right name is Franz Wessendorf, and whose state air on the witness stand was suggested by the judge. Von der Goltz, alias von der Goltz, alias Brigadier Taylor, told a story of his management of the enterprise, under the direction of Capt. Hans Tauscher, the German military attaché in this country. Tauscher, who was a member of the German military attaché in this country, was a member of the German military attaché in this country.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Apparently there is still some money in Germany for amusements. A bomb thrown into Karlsruhe by French aviators fell on a circus tent killing a hundred people.

Away back in the spring Port Elgin council authorized the analysis of the town water, tests to be held frequently.
The people would be interested about now as to the results of some of these tests.

Not much use of Canadians talking hard times. As a matter of fact from April 1918 to April 1919 the savings deposit in the Canadian banks had increased by several millions. In fact there has been prosperity during the two years of war.

A farmer near St. Mary's had ninety fat cattle fit for market last week and they were sold to a Toronto firm for nearly $13,000. This must be a record for the number of cattle off one farm in one year, and a record which ought to make the average farmer sit up and take notice what possibilities are hidden around on the average 100 acres.

The Provincial Government may give dollar for dollar in the construction of a trunk road from Ottawa to Port Elgin.
This means that to those sections which want good roads and are willing to spend some of their own money the government will use the money collected from other counties which do not care about good roads to help out these counties that do care. This should give the good roads movement in Bruce county a little lift.

Owen Sound motorists are usually concerned about having good roads near their city, last year standing up to several on a stretch between Owen Sound and Midland. Wonder if these motorists know of the dangerous condition of the road through the long swamp on the gravel going to Midland? The road is good, but there is no place in the long stretch to pass another auto or team.
Would it not be a good turn for the motorists to urge upon the township council the necessity of making a couple of places where it would be possible to turn out in safety?

Already in Canada there are num-ous imposters going around soliciting funds to furnish retired malined soldiers with artificial limbs. It should be generally known that the government is providing artificial limbs for all members of the expeditionary force who have suffered amputation. From now on there will be someone openly peddling from door to door by which people will be asked to assist returned heroes, when in fact they are propagated by just the common variety of dim-flem artists.
As a general rule, there is a proper organization to receive gifts for all good purposes, and people should not listen to a lot of the hard luck stories.

Mr. Rowell is a great man for providing statistics of a very interesting character. Some of the most interesting have been concerning recruiting and the eligible war strength of Canadians.
Last week, in advocating the appointment of a director of recruiting for the dominion, and touching upon the stupendous nature of the war he pointed out that there never was a war in history before when more than 4,000,000 men were engaged on both sides. There are more prisoners, he said, placed in the warring countries to-day than the total force ever before engaged in a war.
There are over 4,000,000 prisoners in the different warring countries. There were recently more than 1,000,000 more soldiers wounded and in the hospitals of the warring countries than were ever engaged in any war prior to this one.
Since the war broke out more than 40,000,000 men had been called to the colours of the different countries.

When the farmer becomes an advocate of good roads then we get good roads, and not until then, because there is no man using the roads as much as the farmer, and when he starts the ball rolling the road work is not long in coming. The automobile, which is being purchased by a great many farmers is responsible for the demand for better roads among the farmers. In a very short time an automobile mechanizes a farmer into an ardent good roads advocate. The way farmers are buying cars is, therefore of the utmost importance.
In this section of the country there have been many cars bought this year. When the farmers begin to buy it means a substantial business for the carman, because as a general rule he will use his car a great deal, use it carefully and it is the means of attracting his neighbor to buy.
Nothing shows up a bad road like an auto. The slow ride in a wagon did not show up the ruts like the car does. When the farmers ride over their roads in their home district in autos there is more interest in the road work, and the good roads advocate is not left to the small voice of the town man.

The Nation's Business

The abnormal rains in many parts of Canada have so interfered with farm work that it is now too late to plant many of the usual crops. Much land will go idle, or, if planted with the usual crops, will give poor results. This means farmers will have less money to spend with their local merchants for supplies of all kinds: manufacturers will have fewer orders, banks will have smaller deposits, there will be less money and rates for investment in municipal bonds and other securities.

But live Ministers of Agriculture at Ottawa could have retrieved much of the situation. For the loaned farm revenues this year they will be directly to blame.

At our agricultural colleges, and experimental farms, we have a lot of public servants. No man in Canada gives better results for the money we pay them. As a result of experiments, they know exactly what it is most profitable to plant at this late date, and what is not.

For example, it is too late for wheat, barley, or oats, but experiments show that peas, beans and other crops may be planted. The trouble is very few farmers know this. The Ministers of Agriculture have not told them, or if they have they have used Porthenish Century Bell Blowing methods. That is, calling meetings which few attend or sending out bulletins which few read, because neither are timely. All the farmers can be reached by the methods pursued by modern merchants and manufacturers.

They talk to the people they want to reach in the paper columns read by them.
There are no worth while farmers anywhere in Canada who are not readers of their local town, or village, newspaper.
To tell them in the columns of these papers, what experiments of our best farmers showed, at times like this, would cost but little and lead to millions of dollars worth of increased production.
The farmers are yearning for this very information.

We are told to economize to meet the tremendous burden, which war is imposing on us, but if we curtail our purchases there will be that much less employment for the workers in our shops and factories. The business-like method is to increase production that we may have more money. As Directors General of Agriculture some of our ministers are a joke. We spend millions finding what to do, then neglect to tell the people—for whom the work is done, who ought to know, we want to learn—anything about it.

This is a subject the press and business men should agitate. It means more money.

A million spent in intelligent work in the small daily and country weekly press, telling the farmers the money-making things to do—that the experts and successful farmers have discovered —and how to do them, would produce tens of millions for distribution among all classes in Canada.—Financial Post

ART CHRISTIAN WRITES HOME

Art Christian, who is with a machine gun section in France was through the battle of Zillebeke on June 1st, and had some narrow escapes. In a letter to his mother here he says:

"I suppose you read about the big battle the Canadians have been in the past few weeks. This is June 8. Just a week ago we went through the big battle of Zillebeke, and it was very some hammer. The bombardment was terrific, and I came through it without a wound excepting some scratches."

"Old Fritz attacked, but as there were very few men in the front line he succeeded in penetrating the first trench. At the time I was in charge of a machine gun in the first support, and by attacking using his famous liquid fire. Fritz also succeeded in getting into a portion of our trench but we held him, and afterwards after brilliant charges by our boys with the bayonet the men of the last ground were recovered. I have since heard that we are now in possession of all that was lost. It was a fine sight to see our boys going over after the Germans, but the cost was very great. I cannot describe to you the attacks. They were in daylight, and no doubt the Germans thought they had put us out business with their shell-fire, but thank God we were strong enough to hold our line, and I am proud to say I had a hand in stopping him, and the machine gun is the thing to stop them, when our line has a good field of fire."

"During the two nights following the 4th heavy bombardment of the Germans opened up with everything they had at five different times and also attacked at many points. Shells of all descriptions, trench mortars, hand grenades, some machine guns and 150 lbs. gas canisters of all kinds. The day was awful. It was during the first time he got 'wind up' that our machine gun was struck by bullets, and I received some small splinters in my face arm and right hand, was grazed by bullets on the right arm, and they are all insignificant, in fact I did not bother about them until we were relieved. When I was to get them dressed they sent me on to the hospital, but I will be out in a day or two. It is a good run for me. My name might appear in the list of slightly wounded, but I am all right."

CHIPPewa HILL

(Held for last week)

Mr. W. Donaldson, Jr. got a bad shaking up on Thursday of last week, when, while driving to Paisley to see his daughter, he hit the back of his car and sent him out of the buggy. The present industrial activity is due largely to war orders. These, however, will cease with the close of the war. A period of readjustment and retrenchment will probably follow. The prudent man will guard against this now by saving a substantial part of his present earnings or increased income.

Pts. W. N. Young, Writes

Writing to The Times from Camp Hughes, Manitoba, on June 23rd, Pts. W. N. Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Young, of Danville, says:

"I receive The Times regularly every week and enjoy it very much. I look for it just the same. It is a real tonic to-day. We are not on drill, so tonight I might drop a line to you."

Last night we had a drill on relieving the trenches. Just as we fell on it we were out for two hours we got thoroughly soaked.

"Port Elgin must be a hell place just now with so many of the boys away soldiering. The crops are good but, this spring, so they tell me, but I have not seen a sore of crop since I came from Winnipeg. There are 3000 men in this camp at present."

Prose!

Bookish at 23 years a pound compels a sober consideration of the advantages of a stick so long maintained by vegetarians. When breakfast hits 10 per pound, as one butcher promises, peasant cabbage and walnut joints, browned in oil, may be matters of course. And why not? Primitive men thrived on the crockpot, the only nut that carries its own gravy. Blunt reformer.

Stamilton ball team beat Port Elgin by a score of 5-3. The players were: Northampton—Hubert Taylor, McPhail, Harck, Huber, Gannell, McHanev, Longe, Port—McCullough, Bell, Morton, Fleming, Hembidge, Hanson, Wells, Schreck, Umpley, A. Harrison.

Free Gasoline for thirty-three hundred miles—Ford Owner's saving in one year

The light, economical Ford with its smooth running engine averages about 25 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

Compare this with the gasoline consumption of the 16-miles-to-the-gallon. Then figure the difference, having an eye on the present price of gasoline.

Six thousand miles is a fair season's travel. The 16-miles-to-the-gallon car, going 6,000 miles burns up 135 more gallons of gasoline than does the Ford going the same distance.

This means that the Ford owner saves enough during a single season to pay for his gasoline for an additional thirty-three hundred and seventy five miles.

You can travel a year and a half in a Ford for what it costs you to travel one year in the Sixteen-Miles-To-The-Gallon car.

Red Cross News

The last issue of the Red Cross who had in charge the selling of buttons and draws for the table had good success on Dominion Day. A number of young girls helped the committee who had the affair in charge, and the girls did good in selling. The chair was drawn at the judge's stand at 5 p. m. by President Fowler and Miss Helen Geddes was the lucky one.

Miss J. W. Pastlone gave a beautiful centre piece to the Red Cross and looked after the selling of the chairs handling $10 to the Red Cross. This is a record in this section for the work of one person. Little Berlie Martin was the lucky winner.

Chicken Thieves Heavily Fined

It costs money to have outside magistrates and officials, especially when this town is so fully supplied with the judicial minds, having no less than four justices of the peace.

Considerable chicken stealing has been going on time last while. County Constable Ward of Whiston came to town the other week, and rounded up the parties, and Magistrate Miller was also brought here to try the case. This is what most people, why it is necessary with half a dozen constables and magistrates resident here we should be able to send away for authority to make people keep straight.

However, the offenders were fined $10 and costs each, or $10 in all.

As the men were up for the first time The Times affords them the courtesy of with holding their names, but don't get into any more trouble, or the nature would be published.

The New Principal

The Kincaid Reporter had the following sketch of Mr. A. E. Nelson: Kincaid Board of Education did a good stroke of business when they chose Mr. A. E. Nelson as principal of the High School. The new principal may not be the harshest man in town, but there is one thing sure, he will be the finest in matters educational. Kincaid has had for some years a young man full of energy and a love for his work are the three attributes that have brought this success. He knows the value of education, because he fought his own way through the various schools until he attained his ambition of a university training. He was born in Peterborough county. He began his high school career at Newwood, going from there to Peterborough Collegiate Institute, where he made a record, taking two years upper school work in six months and winning two scholarships. He taught four and a half years in public school work in his native county. In 1905 he was trained at the Ontario Normal School, Hamilton. He took honors in mathematics at Queen's University, Kingston, and graduated in 1908. For two years he taught mathematics on the staff of the Bradford high school. For 6 years he was principal of Port Elgin high school, and his record has been most remarkable, his name having proved that he was an able principal and disciplinarian. Last year he passed 15 out of 17 pupils.

He is a good sport, and a thorough believer in games to bring out the good qualities in students. He was a great football player and Peterborough, Kingston, Hamilton, and several teams know his ability. As a footballer he made a reputation and in 1910 gave the amateur champion of Canada the closest run he ever had for the honour. The new principal is all normal business and Kincaid High School may look forward to a period of prosperity under Mr. A. E. Nelson, whom Port Elgin is very sorry to lose.

BURGEOYNE

Rev. Mr. Rogers preached with his old time vigor in the church here Sunday morning. Rev. W. J. Watt in his official capacity as moderator, preached in the former charges of Mr. Rogers, North Bruce and St. Andrew's and as the session is, proclaimed these churches vacant.

The burgoyne road grader under the management of Messrs. Gowanlock and Stewart has been doing some good work lately on the hills at McCulloch's bridge and other sandy road parts, contracts for graveling will be set order. A good many are opinion that no more of a road should be gravelled at a time than can be gravelled the same season, and that grading should be done under the supervision of some one experienced in road making. Mr. O. Morton was holding up his pit last week for higher pay and looked the gate with his teams came for gravel. There was considerable loss of time and the council had to do some work before he could see his error. Quer thing a man can't do with his own property as he pleases.

Several of the boys in uniform attended church services here, Sunday.

Haying has commenced. The crop is good.

Mr. Wm. Burgess has had a Bell telephone installed in his farm residence.

J. J. Malloy received word from Edmonson that his son's wife, Miss Walter McInerney, had died suddenly the Tuesday previous.

Mr. and Mrs. Piper and Miss Jessie Taylor visited at Mrs. H. McDermott's. Father's move is up to get on the boy camp. Sounding could be done again, but the have to let the grates and the laborers leave.

DUNBLANE

Mr. John Brown, owner of a fine better call's months old, blood pure bred cow. They were sold to Mr. J. H. Brown for $30. Mr. Watt, a natural breeder of the breed, at $200. Mr. Watt's a fancy price was paid.

Barren are at the house last week. Any man out of a job in town should try the women first.

THEY'RE FINE FOR KIDDIES

You should always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Syrup on the shelf. The little fellow often needs a mild and safe cathartic and they do Chamberlain's Cough Syrup. Case Adjudged

A case before Judge Greig on Thursday last was that of Alex McGillivray, Port Elgin, against Hunter Bridge Co. for a sum for painting bridge.

The painting of bridges was let to Hunter Bridge Co. and this company sub let to George Leadbeater. The men employed by Mr. Leadbeater, among which was McGillivray, were paid by Leadbeater, minus the cost of materials, which were sent by the latter. Mr. McGillivray was credited the charge by Leadbeater, minus the materials, but it was not accepted, and the Hunter Co. were not for the production of the Company's books.

Judge Greig adjourned the case to next court for the production of the Company's books.

Free Gasoline for thirty-three hundred miles--Ford Owner's saving in one year

The light, economical Ford with its smooth running engine averages about 25 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

Compare this with the gasoline consumption of the 16-miles-to-the-gallon. Then figure the difference, having an eye on the present price of gasoline.

Six thousand miles is a fair season's travel. The 16-miles-to-the-gallon car, going 6,000 miles burns up 135 more gallons of gasoline than does the Ford going the same distance.

This means that the Ford owner saves enough during a single season to pay for his gasoline for an additional thirty-three hundred and seventy five miles.

You can travel a year and a half in a Ford for what it costs you to travel one year in the Sixteen-Miles-To-The-Gallon car.

Paul at Athens—Acts 17: 16-24.

Commentary.—Paul's stay at Athens (vs. 16-21) is a story of a man who, after having remained at the latter place for awhile, he went to Thessalonica to learn how the Christian community there was prospering. While in Athens he saw evidence that idolatry was prevalent. Temples, statues and altars of the multitude of gods were everywhere and "his spirit was stirred in him." There was a Jewish synagogue in the city and he went there first, to reason with the Jews about Jesus and the resurrection. The account indicates that he next spoke with "devout" persons, proselytes to the Jewish faith, and later with others. He met the Epicureans, a class of philosophers who considered happiness the highest good, and the Stoics, who believed that one should be unmoved by pain or pleasure. They desired to know what this new religious teacher would say. They regarded him a "babbler" or "chatterbox."

How did he begin his discourse? What was the belief of the Epicureans? What was the belief of the Stoics? What was the effect of this sermon? What were among the converts?

In the First Epistle to the Corinthians, "But we preached Christ crucified, unto the Jews a stumbling block, and unto the Greeks foolishness" (1:23). The Epicureans believed that there was nothing beyond this life, hence the loss of a resurrection was really a dire calamity. Paul's hearers ridiculed the doctrine which he preached. Others said, "We will hear again because of Paul's reverence for the law and the prophets." They were slower to reject his message and were inclined to give him another hearing. 21. No Paul departed from among them. The sermon, with its prospects of results in Athens. Paul did not succeed in establishing a church at Athens. He left the city for other fields that were more ready to receive the word. 24. Certain men came unto him, and believed—Paul's preaching was not without fruit. Some heard the word, took sides with Paul and believed the gospel. Dionysius the Areopagite. This man was a member of the high court at Athens. We do not hear of him after this. "A certain man named Demetrius—Nothing is known of him, but it may be inferred, from the fact that he is mentioned as a proselyte, that he was a man of some prominence. Others with them—There must have been a considerable number in all who embraced the Christian faith.

CARE OF BROOD SOW.

Where the hogs are concerned, a large percentage of the pigs farrowed in the early spring are lost in the early fall.

Proper management of the brood sow before and after farrowing is very important. Investigations show that 80 to 90 per cent. of all the dry matter of the unborn litter are deposited in the uterus during the last 30 days of pregnancy, so that our care must include this period and feeding must be done accordingly.

The rations should be increased at least 10 per cent. over the wintering ration, and the nutrients of the feed should include protein material such as is found in alfalfa, shift milk, and tankage. Mineral matter, especially phosphorus and lime, are required. The feed should be plentiful in alfalfa. Ground oats will help the ration both in the protein and mineral matter that is highly concentrated in the nutrient of protein foods or feeds likely to produce internal fat. Keep the ration moderately bulky and avoid any radical feed changes late in pregnancy period.

No claim of animals suffer more from extreme heat and cold than the brood sow. For this reason brood sows should be provided with good shelter, but this does not necessarily mean expensive equipment. An ideal shelter may be made free from draughts, well ventilated, and with plenty of sunshine. Ground against draft, damp, still, and malarial places, also crowding the sows in close quarters where they can pile up, causing them to lose their litter.

The sow, when in the last few weeks before farrowing, lacks of exercise causes internal fat to accumulate. Causes causing the sow to be fat before farrowing. Lack of exercise causes internal fat to accumulate. Causes causing the sow to be fat before farrowing. Lack of exercise causes internal fat to accumulate.

Proper care at farrowing time will give the highest production. The number of pigs raised to weaning time is the basis of computing the value of a sow. The higher the number, the better. After farrowing the ration that will prevent any indigestion due to a sudden change in the ration. A few days before the farrowing time of farrowing, put her in the pen where she is to farrow. Nothing should be done to her until she is in the pen. A few days before the farrowing time of farrowing, put her in the pen where she is to farrow. Nothing should be done to her until she is in the pen.

After farrowing, do not feed for the last twenty-four hours, giving only clean water. Her first feed should be a thin slop of bran and molasses. Gradually increase the amount until she is on full feed about ten days after farrowing. Remember that for many weeks we are feeding the young pigs through their mother, and any irregularity in the ration will be reflected in the young. The young—H. Bentley in Prairie, Farm and Home.

TREAT SEED OATS FOR SMIT.

Last season was particularly favorable to oat smut in the eastern part of Canada resulting in a great increase of loss from this source. The grain crop of 1915 was particularly good, and these farmers should treat their seed carefully this spring. A small quantity of smut, if not treated, will this year, increase the yield per acre by five to fifteen bushels. The prevention for smut in oats is as follows: To treat the seed, prepare a solution of formaldehyde (formalin), 1 pint to 40 gallons of water. Spread the seed on a clean surface, and pour the solution over it. Stir the seed thoroughly and mix it well. Let it stand for 24 hours. Then wash the seed in clean water. The following morning spread the seed on a clean surface, and pour the solution over it. Stir the seed thoroughly and mix it well. Let it stand for 24 hours. Then wash the seed in clean water.

NOTES.

It will be necessary to plant a succession of pasture crops for your hogs if you do not have sufficient permanent pasture. Cheap corn cannot be produced in just the hogs must have pasture crops that supply plenty of grazing of the right kind. Even where corn is raised, the hogs must have pasture crops that supply plenty of grazing of the right kind. Even where corn is raised, the hogs must have pasture crops that supply plenty of grazing of the right kind.

Don't be careless about watering the colls. He should be given water just as often and as regularly as any of the other animals in the barn, and must have it in the winter as well as in the summer. Clever Fish Hawks.

Turks about the Neophorus omniae are sometimes caught. These fish are amphibious; they are often seen wading in the water. They are caught in jars lowered to the bottom, which the omnivores enter, thinking them a safe retreat from which to catch a fish.

A FEW COMMON THINGS.

The things of every day are all so sweet—
The morning meadows wet with dew;
The dance of daisies in the noon;
Of far-off hills where twilight shadows lie;
The night, with all its tender mystery of moon
And silence, and God's starry sky—
Oh, life—the whole of life—is far too brief.

The things of every day are all so sweet!
The common things of life are all so dear—
The waking in the warm half-sleep,
To find again the old familiar room.
The accents and sights and sounds that never tire
The honest work, the plans, the lift of baby's laugh.
The cradle of the open fire:
The waiting, then the footsteps coming near.
The opening door, the handclasp and the kiss
Is heaven not, after all, the now and here?

Travel from one to two years free in your Ford on your saving in one year's depreciation.

Other cars in the $1000 or less class, after one year of service, are worth from $250 to $400 less than their purchase price. That's their depreciation.

Ford cars, after a year's hard work, sell on an average for only $125 less than they cost brand new. That's Ford depreciation.

The difference in depreciation of these year-old cars ranges from $125 in the one case to $275 in the other—both considerable savings for Ford owners.

Thousands of owners tell us that it costs 0.24 per mile on an average to drive a Ford—paying for gasoline, oil, tires and repairs. So, if your saving in depreciation for a year is $125 you pay all your expenses for 5,208 miles—while if it is $275, you have kept enough money in your pocket to pay for driving your Ford 11,458 miles.

Buying a Ford in preference to other less than $1,000 cars, lets you save in one year's time a difference in depreciation that pays all your motoring bills for from one to two years.

A well written letter was read by Mr. Nelson. The letter was signed by Mr. Nelson by H. D. McFarland. McFarland was chairman, and after Mr. Nelson in reply to the presentation by Mr. Nelson, several citizens made comments. Mr. Nelson was very well prepared at leaving Mr. Nelson, who has been a most efficient principal.

During Mr. Nelson's remarks it was noted that the high school here had during the year 1937-38, was the lowest to any year was 8, and the highest last year 18. This year's results are out out yet, of course. This is a great improvement over the year before, while attendance at the high school at any time is not more than 70. People attending this school get personal attention from the teaching staff and are given help and accounts for the same.

The following gentlemen were present:
Messrs. Eaton, Strachan, Munton,
Angus McCallum, Dr. Power, H.
Hiker, J. D. Falconer, G. McLaren, H.
D. McLure, C. McPherson, A. Lym-burger, C. Curtis, H. Rhelke, McMurray, Eide, Gavin, H. H. Stevens, D. J.
Howard, R. Lowry, J. Lyness, H. Eddy,
H. Crowe, J. Wismer, Corrie, Alex.
Mitchell, J. H. Cottrell, Inspector Reid,
H. R. Saylor.

The following is the address:

The attendance of your intelligent and capable representative, Mr. Edgar H. Nelson, at the Port Elizabet High School, over which you have had charge for a period of six years, was received by your friends assembled here and citizens of Port Elizabet in general, with all the enthusiasm your friends for all the citizens are your friends. We are sure that your presence here, meeting on behalf of all the forebears of this community, is a great honor to us on this occasion to spend you on our going and to give you some indication of our high regard and warm feelings for you. You are a fine educator and an efficient citizen. It is no surprise to us that you should be offered a larger sphere of activity, suited to your scholarship, skill, tact, and unflinching energy, and wish to congratulate kindred citizens on the new position of citizenship and educational science.

For all such children we say with unmistakable earnestness: They need Scott's Emulsion, and need it now. It concentrates in concentrated form the very food elements to enrich their blood. It changes weakness to strength; it makes them sturdy and strong and active.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The daylight-saving scheme is not being well received in some places where it is being tried. The scheme is good, but the method of adopting it here and there was bad. There was an opportunity for the government to function by instituting the system throughout Canada at a set time, as was done in the Old Land.

Mr. Sam Hughes has been criticised by the Meredith-Burn commission, while Allison's actions could not be excused. And in this all the people of Canada will get out of an expense of many thousands of dollars for a commission? What this country needs is a little real service from the men who are elected to parliament to transact the country's business, and a little less expense on commissions, etc.

There is still a misunderstanding regarding the equipment of battalions with field kitchens, etc., and in many cases citizens have organized gatherings to help purchase these outfits for various battalions. It seems to us that it is absolutely the government's business to equip these battalions with what is necessary. A more helpful thing would be for the funds to be collected to be sent for the assistance of men who will not be wounded, and only to earn as they did before they had given service to Empire.

Col. McCrimmon in a letter had the temerity to point out in calling a meeting of women of the county at Walkerton, "that the women are no doubt responsible for heading back a great many men who should be going." Well, this fact is true. After calling the meeting, and after having some ladies come to Walkerton from distant parts of the county, the Colonel didn't show up. Perhaps he had been thinking over what he wrote, and did not like to face the music.

Deutschland submarine will get back to Germany with that load of mail about as early as that ship which had the cargo of cotton got there. It will be remembered that a French warship got it. Perhaps a Russian warship will get the Deutschland. Anyway, it is not likely Great Britain will deliberately invite trouble with the U.S. in destroying the Deutschland, which will no doubt carry some Yankee passengers. It is an easy feat for the nation that rules the waves to have another allied ship do the job.

The issue of standard hotel licenses at one dollar each will be the chief item of business of the Ontario Liquor Board as reconstituted under the Ontario Temperance Act. These licenses permit hotels to sell cigars, cigarettes, tobacco, soft drinks and ice cream, and conduct cafes and restaurants. It may not be generally understood that standard licensed hotels will be the only hotels under the new law with such privileges, and as far as other hotels are concerned will have monopoly of this business. Others who attempt to sell such goods will be liable to a fine of $10 and costs.

Some seven hundred men of the 16th Bruce battalion were given a month's leave last week to help in harvesting. If the men are so disposed, they can be of great service. The other day, while journeying between Paisley and Walkerton after attending the Bruce Preparatory League meeting, the editor saw at least one farmer who is in great need of help. In a hayfield which had a coil of hay about every ten feet, was the men busy while at the other end of the field was the wife, with a baby in her arms, opening the hayrake. We do not know, of course, whether this man was able to obtain help or not, but the fact remains, nevertheless, that there are many women who, anxious to save the crop after it has grown, are working in the fields in Bruce county.

At the Bruce Preparatory League meeting at Walkerton last week Port Elgin was not represented by its local league officers for the simple reason that the citizens did not attend the meeting called for that purpose in sufficiently large numbers to elect officers. This is an important league, and the question taken up concerns every municipality. It is to be hoped Port Elgin will not long remain negligent concerning so important a matter. If it was impossible to get a gathering in the evening how would it do to have the business men meet for a half hour any morning or afternoon and elect officers, so that Port Elgin might occupy its proper place in the undertakings of the league.

Don't Do It

Women are very frequently lending signing documents, loaning money and giving security for persons whom they should not.

Caroline Cook, lecture on law at Wellesley College, has recently issued a list of legal "don'ts" for women. Here is Miss Cook's list:

Don't sign or endorse a note or agree to be surety for any debt, unless you are willing and can afford to pay the amount yourself. Never vary from this rule even in the case of your husband, your dearest woman friend.

Don't write your name on a blank piece of paper. Many women have done it and bitterly regretted it for the rest of their days.

Don't give an unlimited power of attorney to anyone. It is absolutely necessary to give one at all, be sure that it is given only for what is needed, and limit the time as much as possible.

Don't do anything in business matters "for politeness" which your judgment tells you should not do.

In short, don't give any promise or sign any paper whatever until you are sure you know the legal effect of it on yourself and your family.

Don't write anything, even in a friendly letter, which you would not be willing to have used as evidence in court. On the other hand, don't destroy any letter or paper which may have a bearing on a business or legal matter.

Don't consent to your husband's assigning his wages. Don't make it necessary for anyone.

Don't buy furniture, books, or anything else for which you cannot afford to pay cash. If you think of buying on the installment plan, first estimate what the interest would amount to, and add it to the price of the goods; then find out the cost of the goods of the same quality at a cash store, and compare the figures. Realize that you own none of the goods bought on installment until you have paid for all, and that a failure to keep any portion of your agreement may place you to lose all you have paid.

Don't keep people, rich or poor, waiting for money you owe them. I could tell you some true and tragic stories which would make no ordinary dressmaker's bill a veritable nightmare to you.

Don't be peevish and pious fools. Get good advice when you need it, pay for it, and act upon it. Preventive measures, always remember, are the most satisfactory and the cheapest in the end.

It was mainly from people residing in the country districts.

It should be generally known that the Amusement tax was passed about 11 months ago, in fact it came into force May 14th, by the Provincial government, and no one should enter a place of entertainment where an admission fee is charged without having first purchased and put into a receptacle a tax ticket, whether he has another ticket or not.

It should be borne in mind that all amusements or entertainments, unless they are entirely for church, charitable or patriotic purposes, must have these tax tickets.

This is the law. Anyone who does not purchase a ticket is liable to a $25 fine, and those who put on entertainments or amusements and do not provide the tickets for sale are liable to fines. The clerks of the municipalities have to be tickets for sale.

Western Crop Prospects

Mr. Melzer Dier, in a letter to The Times says:

"Please send The Times to Plunkett, Sask. I am located for the present. The crops around here are good. It has been a very wetter for about a month, and the grain is all headed out. If frost does not come too early the crop will be a great one. Manitoba and Saskatchewan have been wheat about three feet high, and just coming out to head, and farmers here say that it grows as much more before ripening. There is good water to be had in this locality at from eight to twenty feet down and no alkali. I certainly must have the news of our home for I must have the news of the home folk."

A Steady Growth

Notwithstanding the fact that The Times found it necessary, along with other countries weeklies which are having a real purpose in their community, to raise its subscription price last January, it has been gratifying to know that instead of a falling off in number of subscribers The Times has had an increase.

The support given us by the people who live in the country has been beyond expectations, and to say that we are grateful for their continued business is putting it mildly. There, too, those on our side in the west, and other distant points, have stood loyally by the old home paper, and the very best compliment that can be paid to the editor is the prompt settlement of accounts by his subscribers, and the addition to the list regularly of new names. Now, these new names have come to us lately, we believe, because some of our readers have been commending The Times to their neighbors. To all who have spoken a good word occasionally, we are in debt, and these little services have made us feel anxious to produce an even better paper.

Country churches like the country blacksmith shop and country hotel have served their day and generation well, and it looks as though with the disappearance of the two latter and the horse farm car and quicker transportation on good roads, that the country churches will in many places pass quietly away, too. Four churches in the neighborhood of this town that are sparsely attended and may soon cease to exist unless revived by church union are: Vesta, Voreburg, Shaver and Macdon. -Cherry Interiors.

Travel from one to two years free in your Ford on your saving in one year's depreciation

Other cars in the $1000 or less class, after one year of service, are worth from $250 to $400 less than their purchase price. That's their depreciation.

Ford cars, after a year's hard work, sell on an average for only $125 less than they cost brand new. That's Ford depreciation.

The difference in depreciation of these year-old cars ranges from $125 in the one case to $275 in the other--both considerable savings for Ford owners.

Thousands of owners tell us that it costs 0.21 per mile on an average to drive a Ford--paying for gasoline, oil, tires and repairs.

So, if your saving in depreciation for a year is $125 you pay all your expenses for 5,208 miles--which if it is $275, you have kept enough money in your pocket to pay for driving your Ford 12,158 miles.

Buying a Ford in preference to other less than $1,000 cars, lets you save in one year's time a difference in depreciation that pays all your motoring bill for from one to two years.

Think it over.

TENDER FRUITS

Bulletins On Pre-Cooling, Shipment and Cold Storage.

Two most seasonable bulletins have been issued by the Dairy and Cold Storage Branch of the Federal Department of Agriculture bearing upon the pre-cooling, shipment and cold storage of tender fruits. Both bulletins can be had free on application to the Publications Branch of the Department at Ottawa.

In the first of these publications Edwin Smith, B. Sc., in charge of the pre-cooling station at Grimsby, gives details and advice regarding the pre-cooling of fruit, along with results obtained from experiments. It was only in 1914 that the pre-cooling and fruit storage plant was established at Grimsby. Since that time extensive tests have been carried on regarding conditions of pre-cooling at various stages in transit. Results and observations are given relative to all kinds of fruit, including tomatoes, and not only in reference to transportation, but also as to the effect on marketing. During 1915, this bulletin states, while tender fruit laid on the ground rotting in Ontario, the Dominion of Canada imported huge quantities of peaches, plums, grapes, pears, apricots, etc., from the United States, and it is better and more profitable care that had been taken. By following the counsel contained in this bulletin this state of things will be avoided. Rates, rules and regulations for pre-cooling and storage are supplied. The second bulletin, for which J. M. Creelman, B. S. A., shares with Mr. Smith the responsibility, not only deals further with pre-cooling investigations, but also goes fully into methods of packing, shipping and storing tender fruit, tomatoes, corn and cucumbers. Both bulletins are carefully illustrated and should command the earnest attention of fruit growers and shippers.

Varieties of Wrens.
There are many varieties of wrens, more than 100 species, both in the sphere, and they are grouped under the general term "Troglodytes," which Greek meaning "one that dwells in holes." The common wren, the European wren, is very like our best known wren, has many pet names. The French have given it more than 100 names, and other countries have given it many names. The foliage of these countries the wren is credited with being a transformed bird, and with an amount of wisdom far greater than its size would indicate.

GOOD RICH BLOOD MEANS GOOD HEALTH

Just a Little More Rich, Red Blood Cures Most Ailments.

The lack of sufficient red blood does not end merely in a pale complexion. It is much more serious. Bloodless people are tired, languid, run down folk who do not enjoy life. Food does not nourish; there's indigestion, heart palpitation, headache, backache, and nearly always nervousness. If this bloodlessness is neglected too long, a definite cure is sure to be lost. The more rich, red blood cures all these troubles. Then you have new health, new vitality and pleasure in life. To get more rich, red blood the remedy is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. No other medicine increases and enriches the blood so quickly or so surely. This is not a mere claim. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done this over and over again throughout the world. Thousands of people have had a good word to say for this medicine. Miss Gertrude Haffner, Kingston, Ont., says: "About two years ago I was suffering greatly with anemia, so much so that I had to give up my situation. I became so weak that I could not realize without help. I had no ambition, no color, no appetite and was constantly troubled with head aches and dizzy spells. I was taking medicine from the doctor, but it did not do me a particle of good. One fine day I asked me if I had tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I thought as the result of my condition I was greatly discouraged. I began to use the pills and thanks to that good friend's advice after using a few boxes I began to feel much better. I continued the use of the pills I gained in weight, my color came back and I grew gradually stronger. I had no much better than people would ask me what I was taking and I had no hesitation in giving the credit to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I am so grateful for what this medicine has done for me that I will do all I can to extend its use."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 25 cents a box or six boxes for $2.00 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MAKING WATCHES.

Wonderful Feats That Are Performed by Modern Machinery.

The rapidity with which watches are nowadays manufactured has been made possible by the ingenious machinery designed within recent years for the making of all parts of a watch. The speed with which these various parts are turned out is little short of marvellous. Great sheets of brass and steel are cut and rolled into ribbons and punched out into wheels at the rate of 10,000 a day from each punching machine. Works done in the thirty-one holes in the roof of the watch as fast as they can count. Brass is fed into a machine that measures off the length of a part, turns it, puts a screw thread on each end and actually screws it in at the rate of 2,000 a day.

The screws are of such tiny size that fifty gross of them may be put in a woman's thumb while of others there are a thousand gross to the pound.

Balances are cut from the solid steel, ground down, cracked up and drilled with their twenty-five screw holes, at the rate of 100 wheels a day from each machine. The wheels have their teeth cut, a couple of dozen at a time, some with from sixty to eighty teeth at the rate of 1,000 wheels a day from each machine—Harper's Weekly.

Irritable Nerves Restored And Health Regained In A Simple Way

The man or woman who is run-down, not feeling up to the mark, perhaps irritable, nervous or sleepless can well afford to learn about the wonderful results the newly discovered blood-food is giving to folks that use it.

There is wonderful power in this new blood-food, and every weak, laid person can be quite restored back to health that used to be directed.

After each meal, with a sip or two of water, you simply take two little chocolate-coated tablets, sold in all drug stores under the name of "Ferrozone."

The effect is noticeable at once. You feel happier, brighter, more contented, and the nervous, restless, sleepless depart—your "furore," "nerves" and no longer get irritable or cross over trifling annoyances.

There is a reason for this change and that reason consists of the fact that Ferrozone contains blood-making materials you can get in no other way.

Ferrozone makes the blood tingle and sing with new vitality. This is the reason why it is so effective. Its strength being supplied to every part of the body.

No wonder the eyes brighten and the cheeks take color and happy smiles.

With abundance of strength, a keen appetite, good digestion and plenty of sleep, the new blood-food of Ferrozone you quickly feel as if life held new charms and pleasures.

ANTIQUES

As a well-preserved antique the Wedgwood table-service, made in 1770-74 for the Empress Catherine of Russia is without a parallel in ceramic history. This service consisted of over one thousand pieces, each article painted with a crest and embellished with a view picture, no two pieces being alike.

The cost of the service was about fifteen thousand dollars, and its destination, when completed was the palace of Tsarskoye, near St. Petersburg. It was much treasured at the time, but gradually went out of sight and time, and was heard of during the last century.

About two years ago the writer of these notes compiled memoranda upon the subject, and photographed what was then supposed to be the only remains of the service—five plates owned by members of the Wedgwood family. Subsequent inquiries at the Russian Museum in St. Petersburg, the Imperial Palace, and some other hundred well-versed specimens were unearthed, a portion of which were later exhibited in London, Eng.

The order was for a vast "creamware" service for every purpose of the table, and the writer is of opinion there never has been a more beautiful service produced in any kind of ware, in which so many new forms were first introduced. The service was made in the factory of the Wedgwood family, and a few were to be painted on the underside as a distinctive mark.

The "child" part of the crest was later on countermarked and the "frog" (greenobole) appeared, painted green, within a shield, inserted into the border of the plates, and the rim of each piece of ware, instead of underneath, thus forming part of the decoration.

The production of a service of such high character and liberal proportions owed our paths leading to the betterment of the world, and the service of the eighteenth century, and its effect upon art industries generally was beneficial and lasting. For the maker it was a great step in the route of shapes and articles required for that purpose; to the decorator it meant the greater number of new blood in the adoption of new methods of treatment, as the decorations being mainly of the picture order and requiring the services of a great number of artists were available, with pottery-painting, experiences, other branches of art had been established.

The situation is summed up in the words of Josiah Wedgwood, addressed

HOW TO KEEP YOURSELF LOOKING YOUNG

It has been proven that the woman who protects her skin will keep herself free from wrinkles and much of age far longer than the woman who says "Oh, I must have wrinkles for my complexion."

If your skin is not naturally clear and fresh, or if it has suffered from sunburn, wind, sun and weather, the regular use of the "Minard's Liniment" will restore to your complexion its natural color and freshness.

"Minard's Liniment" is a formula of an old and famous beauty secret. It is a cream which softens the skin, wards off wrinkles and makes the complexion clear and fresh. It is not necessary to use any other treatment after the use of "Minard's Liniment" before retiring, and it will tone the skin and keep it free from all blemishes and freckles that alone indicate a perfect skin.

"Minard's Liniment" is put up in handsome art bottles. It can be secured through T. B. Eaton Co. Limited, 200, St. James St., Toronto, and other high-class drug stores, or direct from the writer. Send five (5) cent tax today for one bottle, and you will receive a sample of our exhibit at National Exhibition, USIT MFG. CO. LTD., Toronto, Ont.

Well, it is a terrible task, and it is in this, tell me no more of your Alexander, no nor of your Prometheus, neither, for rarely it is more to make Artists than men."

"The white, by all odds, is better and braver," was the instant judgment of the soldiers, who added uncumbersome references to the fighting exploits of the Senegalese troops, which had resulted in very few prisoners being made from among these regiments.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Lloyd-George says that "missions and brains will win the war." Numbers mean much, but not everything.

The West sends a call to Ontario for 20,000 harvesters. Ontario hears that call, but lacks the men. Try Quebec.

The London Advertiser is authority for the statement that Bruce county people want a knife battalion, and that the extra money is already in sight. Also that Walkerton will send a delegation of nineteen to London, on August 2nd to help put the thing through. This will be passed over to the few manufacturers who have barely enough help to turn out needed orders, and also to the farmer whose wife has been picking hay and stacking wheat. When another battalion from this county is shown to be necessary it would be much better to discuss the matter with Bruce county people rather than with those who know nothing of, or have any interest in, this county.

Speaking at the Bruce Proprietary League's meeting at Walkerton the other day, Mr. Steele of Paisley, said English military authorities were agreed that 15 per cent. of the people should be at war. In doing this up with the situation in Bruce county his investigation had shown that there were 200 men out of Bruce county serving in various branches at the front in training, and in the 150th. There were 25 municipalities in the county, which would mean an average of twenty men from each municipality. If 15 per cent. is what is necessary, then Bruce county has not fallen very far short. The fact is, Bruce is an agricultural county. There is not one town with 2,000 population, only three of 1,000, and 121 two of 500, leaving the 150 mark. It means that men existing from this county come from the rural districts, and the showing made from Bruce is a creditable one.

Business Methods Needed

A definite plan containing some two dozen sections is needed by those who take charge of what is called military district No. 1, taking in Bruce county. The other week men gathered at Walkerton from various parts of the county to hear the way and means of recruiting from men who are supposed to know.

The military men who attended the meeting did not show up until evening, after the men had gone home, one officer appeared and then he further suggested that Bruce county send a delegation to London to see them and find out what Bruce should do. We venture that few delegations will attend and the few who do will hardly ponder the coming to any task, other than that which has the approval of the Bruce Proprietary League.

The president of the League and other members, who are in touch with people generally in this county, know that the people, with present knowledge, will hardly make an effort toward another business.

Apparently the recruiting authorities desire some business management, they require a plan in this county wanted to make. What was to be done? Where would they go? Has there been any previous made for those who would make? But it is not alone in this section that men have become disappointed. The following is from The Redfern Mercury:

Redfern named a delegation in go to Kingston last week to what was supposed to be a business man's gathering to formulate suitable recruiting methods. Two days were wasted in the trip, for instead of straight business talk from the men who had a half century's experience from political parties and a few hurried appointments at that the self-appointed leaders would by no means miss Col. Hemmings's pink tea. It is to be lamented that when national leaders are called to give service in their country they should be exempted into such a middle of talking and talking.

Peasant Event

A VERY SUCCESSFUL event in the social gathering of the congregations of the three churches at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Webster, who had assembled to present Mrs. Webster's gift of the fine gift on behalf of the three churches.

There were many people present with Mrs. Webster in the chair. Mrs. Webster read a well worded address of appreciation of Mrs. Webster's gift. The program was made by Mr. Webster, who read a poem. A. Webster, who read a poem. A. Webster, who read a poem. A. Webster, who read a poem.

ORGANIZE for Victory!

THE THIRD YEAR OF THE WAR calls for the organized co-operation of every citizen of the Province of Ontario. ALL must help to hasten the day of final triumph. For the sake of those who have made the Great Sacrifice, and of those now overseas or in training, every citizen must give the best service possible. No one need feel "out of it" when the great day of Victory comes, but everyone must qualify now by sharing in the sacrifices which the War demands.

Suggestions for Organization

In many Municipalities there are already active patriotic organizations, such as Recruiting, Red Cross, Soldiers' Aid and Patriotic Fund Committees. In such cases, one of these, or better still, a joint committee of these and the citizens generally, might undertake to co-operate with the Central Committee at Toronto.

Where there is no active representative organization, it is suggested that one be formed at the earliest moment. It should be non-partisan in the broadest sense, and represent every interest affected by war conditions.

THRIFT and ECONOMY, and a careful consideration and preparation for our problems are essential if we would meet the present and future needs. For further suggestions and information you are cordially requested to write at once to ALBERT H. ABBOTT, Ph.D., Secretary, Organization of Resources Committee, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

What Organizations Should Do

1. Find more men for Overseas service.
2. Help in keeping our munitions plants working to full capacity.
3. Induce every possible worker, man and woman, to serve on the farm and in other essential industries.
4. Find money for the coming WAR LOAN and war funds.
5. In short, assist in the organization of Ontario's resources to meet war conditions and after-war conditions.

Is Your Cream Can Being Robbed? Is Your Separator the 'Cream Thief'?

You can never get your money back by continuing to use a worn-out or inferior cream separator. The longer you keep it, the greater your loss. Such a machine has been fittingly termed a "cream thief."

Just as soon as a man has made a bad separator bargain—that he has a "cream thief" on his plate—the best thing for him to do is to buy the best separator on the market and put it to use at once.

A new De Laval will soon pay for itself in the extra cream saved. It will also give you better cream and it will separate your milk better. It will run easier and with less noise because it runs true, and you can wash it CLEAN with less trouble. No matter which way you look at it, a De Laval will give you satisfaction.

Thrift

The longer the war continues, the greater the financial burden that Canada will have to bear. It is, therefore, a patriotic duty and necessity to save as large a portion of our earnings as we can. The larger the savings, the better the country can face its obligations, and the better the individual will be prepared for any emergency.

PREMONITION OF DEATH.

Remarkable War Story Has Been Widely Told in England.

A correspondent recently returned from the front, wounded, tells a striking story of an officer's premonition of approaching death. The question of premonitions is always of the deepest interest to psychologists, and although many stories are current of people possessing this mysterious sense of foreknowledge it is very rarely indeed that they can be verified. The truth of the following incident is vouched for by the writer, whose story, in his own words, was as follows: "My company captain was a regular 'assort'—a 'one man in every respect'. He was a typical common-sense Englishman, and there was nothing sentimental or fanciful about him. The very fact that he was such a 'normal' everyday type of man made what I have to relate seem all the more queer. He took a liking to me, and I knocked about a lot with him in France. Whenever he went I always accompanied him as escort. He used to talk quite freely to me, and treated me more like a friend than as a subordinate.

We were in the charge at—, and our battalion marched up to the trenches the night before the attack. It was decided that the captain should have an escort of four bombards and two bayonet men in the charge, so as to give him a chance to look after the company. I was selected to be in charge of the escort and early in the morning before dawn he sent for me to his dugout to see me my final instructions. When he had finished his instructions he added in a queer voice, "Keep close to me in the charge, lad." "I will, sir," I answered eagerly. He was silent for a few moments, and then, looking at me very gravely, said, "I shall no longer be in this charge." I was startled beyond measure, because he was usually so cheery and optimistic in his talk. "Do you say that?" I cried, but he shook his head sadly and added, "I know it." Then he became very quiet and blazed me, saying, "Good-bye, lad."

I must admit that when he kissed me a great fear came over me, for it was quite the last thing in the world I should have expected him to do. I knew then it was something more than a passing fit of dependency that prompted him to say what he did. I should have broken down and cried like a child if a sergeant had not come in just then with a message from the colonel. I never got a chance to speak to him again privately before the fight, and in one way I was glad it happened so. We charged about daybreak, after a short but terrific bombardment. The captain was as lively as a cricket while we were awaiting the order. He was buckling everybody up, handing "tags" round, and generally keeping things lively. The word came at last, and we scrambled over and made for the German lines. They greeted us with everything—barbed-wire, machine-bombs, and what not. It was hell's delight given across. We cleared them out of the first trench, and the captain was clambering out to make for the second, when a bullet went through his arm. He fell back, stunned dead, without a murmur. It was instantaneous. I myself was wounded about an hour afterwards.

The Rearguard at Suvla.

Lieut. Ross Stewart, of the Gurkha Rifles, gives the following account of the evacuation of Gallipoli, his regiment having acted as part of the forces covering the retreat. He says:

"I am going to tell you the wonderful story of the evacuation of Suvla and the part we played in it. For a week before the evacuation was beginning to move slowly, and the guns were one by one moving off. We had just finished a hard spell of trenching, when we were told that we were to hold the ground to the right of the Lovat Scouts till the very last. It began to get very exciting the last three days, as we were both holding the line very tight, and had no supports if the Turks had attacked. What a magnificent crowd the Lovat Scouts, the men, being all Gurkhas, stokers, and children from the North, and at least two squadrons from Skye. Then the officers were a most exceptional lot. It was a great compliment to this regiment to be taken in at the last moment to the Highland Mounted Division to form the rear-guard. We got our orders from Lord of Brodie, commanding the division. We were left a mere handful of men on the last night, and though the enemy was no more than 200 yards away, we never detected the movement. We had a most wonderful night for the evacuation. There was a brilliant moon, lit low down by the red to the sea, which we had to take, was a fine white mist rising off the salt lake at Suvla. Waiting for the last minute was the worst of all. The order to march came down, and suddenly the little hands of men left their trenches by the various routes. We reached the beach, where our gunners were ready to take us off, after a long march. The Gurkhas came on, the rifles at the trail, without a man bit or a single straggler. Our 'father and mother', the Navy, then took charge of us, and we left the beach at Suvla, to say goodbye for ever to the ill-fated peninsula. We came aboard a pitch-black transport and filled on his last load. Inside we were warmly covered by the men who had left before us, and soon were sitting at ease in a saloon with all the comforts of civilization that we had been so long without."

Now, you know, Mr. Editor the Methodist group are a rather rich class, for they all nearly have cars, and they made good use of them on this occasion by running return trips and taking the scholars and parents down to the cars, which was much appreciated by all. Lunch and supper were enjoyed and games and races made up the program.

D'Artige du Fournet Now in Chief Command of the Navy of France

VICE-ADMIRAL D'ARTIGE DU FOURNET has been appointed Commander-in-Chief of the French Fleet.

Although not much is heard of him, the French navy is taking its full share of service, and has suffered some heavy losses in its glorious work. Admiral Boue de Lapeyriere has unfortunately had to resign on account of ill-health.

Vice-Admiral D'Artige du Fournet has been in command since the outbreak of the war of the French Fleet off the coast of Syria, and subsequently of the fleet in the Dardanelles. In these commands his high military qualities constantly asserted themselves. In 1901 he directed, with an "authoritative" spirit by all, the Allied international squadron before Constantinople.

Near-Admiral Guepratte, commanding the supplementary division of the Navy, is promoted to the rank of vice-Admiral. Since the opening of hostilities he has been taking part in the Dardanelles operations.

He was appointed Commander of the Legion of Honor, and was mentioned to a Navy Order for "having by his indefatigable energy since the opening of hostilities given the fleet example of military duty and courage, and for leading his ships under fire with a courage to which too high a tribute cannot be paid."

Although Admiral D'Artige du Fournet, who has been appointed to the French fleet, is no doubt an officer of highest competency, it is to be regretted that his health should have necessitated his resignation of Admiral Boue de Lapeyriere. The latter has not inappropriately been termed "the Lord of the Sea."

When Admiral Lapeyriere entered the Cabinet France had dropped into the fifth place amongst the navies of the world. A task of magnitude was set to him in purging the French Admiralty of the begotten and alien elements into which it had been allowed to fall. His first action was to dismiss the incompetents, and to put good men in their places. He then established the policy of concentration in the Mediterranean, which helped to make possible Lord Fisher's concentration in the North Sea. The Dreadnought had come into being, and Admiral Lapeyriere instituted a great new building program. The French navy, in short, owes much of its present efficiency to his energetic efforts, and the debt of gratitude is substantial.

One of the Lords Dudley was a most alien-minded man. "One day," said Sydney Smith, "he met me in the street and invited me to meet myself. 'Dine with me to-day,' dine with me, and I will get Sydney Smith to meet you. I admitted the temptation held out to me, but said he was engaged to meet me elsewhere. Another time he invited me to put his arm through mine, muttering, 'I don't mind walking with him a little far, I'll walk with him as far as the end of the street.' He very nearly overcame my gravity once in the pulpit. He was sitting immediately under me, apparently inattentive, when suddenly he took up his stick as if he had been in the House of Commons, and tapping the ground with it, cried out in a low but very audible whisper, 'Hear, hear!'

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Last week The Owen Sound Sun worried because it heard there were 100 men from Elgin in the Bruce battalion, and now we find The Goldenich Signal ready to cry because they don't know how many men there are from Elgin in the Bruce battalion. Of course, brethren, the Owen boys can't help it because the men from other counties want to join with them.

The boys of the 160th on furlough are recalled to notice the month's last vesting leave being up. Well, the lads have had a nice change, and the majority have assisted a great deal in sorting away the crop. It is said that all but a hundred of the 1100 in the battalion were on leave. It will mean that a lot of training must be done before the 160th will get over the water, although they have been over strength since March last.

A lot of advice is being passed out in the cranny weeklies about keeping children away from stray or strange dogs. But why should it be necessary to look after children? Why not make the owners look after the dogs or see that the stray dogs are given a dose of lead. In most small towns, there are a lot of useless curs roaming the streets making life miserable, not only to children playing, but for older persons as well.

A Simcoe despatch says that 130 Brantford business men went out in a motor to tour the countryside for war business as a stamp has been placed since the removal of battalions from the city. It is the custom of the small town merchant to note the fact that some have given opportunity for people to go to other places to trade. But these same men forget that the same work both ways. The merchant has the privilege of using his auto to go out and attract trade. A merchant and an auto and some gingerly advertising can build up big business, even in a country town, if he so desires.

Although a great many people, young and old, have taken advantage of the excellent bathing at the beach here, it is notable that there has been no accident in years. This is partly provided for by a safe beach for the smaller children, and the fact that most of the small boys, and a lot of the little girls, too, are able to swim. But what is lacking at this popular business is a decent place in which bathers can do their swimming attire. This town should have a bath-house, where one might do without changing a son's like mother, Eve or father Adam, for a suitable bath or two before which to hide. We believe the people of Port Elgin would sanction a reasonable expenditure for a home of the nature to be under municipal auspices.

Southampton town council are making enquiries as to the cost of closing streets, and may make the trial in their town next year. In places like Port Elgin and Southampton, where the soil is light, it would seem to be a reasonable step to make enquiries, and in even go farther and give it a trial. Year in and year out, there is a great deal of money spent in watering streets. But the great saving in the closing method is found to be in the saving it affects in the grade. The water destroys the top dressing, whereas, oil, when properly put on, and allowed time to dry before used, preserves the street. There are a number of similar places which oil their streets, such as Clifford, Elora, and others, and the experience might well be required into.

The intention to have prohibition as a law force on September 10 next, with a referendum after the war to decide whether it should be continued or not, but now it is said that as soon as the sanction of the Legislature can be had there will be a referendum on three questions, as follows: 1. Are you in favor of the Liquor License System? 2. Are you in favor of Beer and Wine License? 3. Are you in favor of total prohibition? We suppose the latter idea has been brought about by the politicians' fear that they may be failing in support of their government. But has the day forever passed when men can be found who will stand by a principle? A few months ago, men on both sides of the Legislature were sincere in the advocacy of temperance to the extent of the abolition of the law until the war is over, can it be possible that in so short a time they are willing to dig a sincere conviction to the winds?

The Need of Men

Failing to get any definite idea of what is needed from the government of the day, the people depend upon this one and that for information.

The result is a sort of coma has settled upon the people of Canada in the matter of recruiting, and the demand for labor has much to do with it, along with the conviction that the allies are bound to win, anyway.

The only real source of information concerning the need of men comes to us from returned soldiers, and of those at the front the high-up officers are about the only ones who are acquainted with affairs there. In the letters of men of the ranks sent back it is apparent they get their news of how the war is going from newspaper sent them from Canada.

An officer comes into a district, such as one who appeared at Paisley last week, but there is little satisfaction given out. They tell you men are needed, and yet if a man were anxious to enlist he would have to pay his fare to London and take chances on whether he was physically fit. After all, there isn't any doubt, with an army of 500,000, such as Canada has at present, there is need of men to keep it up to strength, and we believe that the keeping of the army up to its strength can be done by having central training camps, such as London, Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg, and so on, and men trained to meet the needs of the war. There should be an office of some sort, such as a returned soldier, or a civilian who has been at the front, whose business it would be to recruit and furnish transport for men to these training centers. We believe that this is what is needed, and will appeal to the people. Everyone knows that it is very costly, and is not helping the serious situation, which military men picture, when country battalions are allowed to remain in the Dominion for months at a time with scarcely any training to fit them for the war. Being that recruitment is not to be in Canada, then the people must be shown the real business management is being given their military affairs in the spring and only of money but of time in getting men over to England, where real training begins.

Everyone knows we have done a lot of Canada for slow. It is easy to criticize the militia department, but after all, the people at large were a party to the plans. We voted on "our" battalion. We equipped and fed the officers and men, and it is only human that the heads of military affairs should indulge in some of this, too. The main part of the business is that Canada has raised 30,000 to assist in the war. The providing of certain equipment and training was where Canada, as an agricultural people, was weak. But, we are learning our lesson, and if there is change of militia affairs are wise, they will get back to first things, and seek, as they did when the war broke out, to raise men in a hurry at central training camps, and be as ready in the time of need to assist the war in England as they are in Canada.

The first thing is to win this war. Men are needed. We cannot more men can be got by sending over to England the thousands of men now in Canada, and it will be surprising how quickly more men will respond.

OLDER BUT STRONGER

To be healthy at seventy, prepare at forty, is sound advice, because in the strength of middle life we too often forget that neglected habits, or careless treatment of slight aches and pains, simply undermine strength and bring chronic weakness for later years. To be stronger when older, keep your blood pure and rich and active with the strength-building and blood-nourishing properties of Scott's Emulsion which is a food, a tonic and a medicine to keep your blood rich, alleviate rheumatism and avoid sickness. At any drug store, Scott & Bowne, Toronto, Ont.

The More You Know About Cream Separators

the more you will want to examine the VIKING

Just being introduced into the United States; more of them sold last year in Europe than of any other make. Made of the very best Swedish steel and iron; simple in construction, easy to operate. Its price will surprise you.

Come in and see it. If you don't know Cream Separators thoroughly, bring along a friend who does, and let him tell you what he thinks of the Viking.

Ernst-Gelschinger

On Wednesday August 9th the apartment of Mrs. Gelschinger was the scene of a quiet but very pretty wedding, when Catherine Louise, only daughter of Mrs. Gelschinger was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Verwerk Ernst, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Ernst of Berlin.

The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. J. Mann in the presence of the immediate relatives. The young couple were unattended. Promptly on the stroke of twelve the groom took his place in the drawing room among a shower of flowers and ferns. The bride, who was given away by her mother, looked very charming in her wedding dress of navy blue silk and serge, with a large white veil and bouquet of white flowers.

The bride and groom were both very happy and the ceremony was a very touching one.

The festive party then adjourned to the dining room where a dainty buffet luncheon was served. Miss Jessie Gelschinger and Miss Lillian Gelschinger were the bridesmaids. The decorations throughout were in pink and white.

Mr. W. H. Schmale of Berlin, groomed the toast to the bride and groom to which the groom responded with a few well chosen words.

The lunch took occasion to extend congratulations, supplying a few light selections from the street below, the bride and groom were their appreciation acknowledging the compliment in a very tangible form.

Later the happy couple left on the afternoon train, with showers of confetti and good wishes, for Berlin, where they took the boat for a short honeymoon on the lake, and will on their return reside in Berlin, Ont.

The bride was very well known here, having served very capably as the Public School teacher for the past four years, she was also a member of the Freshwater choir, and Port Elgin has lost one of its most popular and highly esteemed young ladies.

The many beautiful gifts are a token of the high regard in which the young couple are held.

A host of friends join with The Times in extending congratulations and wishes for a long married life of happiness and prosperity.

The friends of the bride and groom are united in presenting her with a handsome cut glass vase and mirror.

WHO'S THE BACHELOR?

We never dreamt that a paragraph appearing in last week's issue, noting that a town bachelor had been seen carrying a nice little baby up main street would create such a stir among the eligible young ladies.

Now we have several letters from busy young ladies wanting to know who this bachelor could be.

But that question par the editor is not to be answered. We don't want to give him undue publicity, but if any of these young women want to establish a nice home in this town we believe we would almost be tempted to negotiate with him.

We don't think much of holding a job as matchmaker, but for this one occasion we would like to see this fellow happily married.

Men are scarce just now and this man seems to be the most eligible fellow in the town.

Port Elgin Fair, Sept. 21 & 22

Port Elgin Fair is the next big event for this town and district.

A committee of directors was in town on Saturday arranging for special, and prospects are good for a splendid list of extra prizes, with worthwhile money attached.

The fair has been planned, and immediately the list of sponsors is ready to be inserted and bound, and ready for distribution.

Any year there is no charge for extra prizes. In order to see how the thing will work, the officers decided to put on the extra and deduct 10 per cent. of the total $25,000.

More than one hundred people gathered on the fair grounds at Underwood Wednesday night at the garden party of the Presbyterian church. The night was beautiful, and when it was over, it was found that there were very few people from surrounding towns present at the attendance was a record. The gate receipts were the best in many years, coming over the $100 mark.

A good spread was provided by the ladies. Cold ham was served, along with salads and with the other good things in abundance. It was a dinner more than a supper. The people were at the tables before 10 o'clock, and it was not before the program got started. Mr. J. H. Hunter made a very happy chairman. In opening the program he expressed regret that Rev. Dr. McArthur was not able to be present.

A particular feature about Underwood garden party is the splendid order which the program was given. It was provided for most of the big crowd and every number on the program was enjoyed. Those taking part were the Pipe Band in their usual order of providing lots of music, while Pipe Major Young and Pipe Major Matheson, and other members of the band, including Walter McKee, E. R. Sayers, Arch McKee, the choir, Mrs. W. H. Barker, Rev. Dr. McArthur, and other members of the church. The program was very well planned, and the music was very good. The garden party was a success, and the people were very happy.

The Children's School Fair

The rural school fair has come to be a great feature throughout Ontario.

Last year, for Port Elgin a thousand people, with their parents attended the fair, which was not only attractive, but educational. At this school fair the boys and girls do all.

The strict oversight given by the District Representative, and his assistants, makes for fine displays, and awards made according to merit. There are no mistakes in the judging of the exhibits, and the boys and girls are shown the way for the placing of the prizes.

These little explanations mean much for the educational value of the fair. It is an interest, and a real incentive to improve in that exhibit next time.

A suitable feature of the school fair is that they are growing in interest and in attendance.

A new feature this year is the school picnic, when the scholars of the various schools will line up, and with their teachers will bring about the fair.

The fair with the big offer all should read the advertisement of the company on the opposite page of The Times.

October 3rd promises to be a big day for the scholars of the country schools in the district, when the fair is held in Port Elgin.

The illustration above shows Martin Potter, the school fair, and his assistants. Martin Potter is a student of the S. N. S. C. and has been in the care of his school for the last year. He is a very good student, and his school has been very successful. He is a very good student, and his school has been very successful.

Mrs. Kelly's House Destroyed By Fire

Monday noon the home of Mrs. Theo. Kelly, town here was completely destroyed by fire.

Mrs. Kelly and her daughter were sitting at the table, and about noon came to the house and started the fire in the summer kitchen for the dinner, returning again to the garden. Shortly after lunch Mrs. Kelly was sitting at the table, and the fire had started in the left bedroom the ceiling and roof.

Neighbors were at once telephoned to and in a short time through the assistance of auto owners a number of men and women were on the spot, and forming a bucket brigade were able to get most of the household effects out, and to contain the fire to the house.

Fortunately the wind was blowing away from the large barn.

By night a small house in the rear had been made ready, and the family were able to start housekeeping not quite as comfortably as before, but better than without a home.

Charles Kelly, who was cutting oats was just coming in for dinner, and noticing the fire left a rather excited team hitched to the blower, and ran to the house. The horse remained for three hours hitched to the blower, never moving from the place they had stopped.

Mrs. and Miss Kelly and Charles had a good deal of wearing apparel, and the winter supply of food was also lost.

The house was insured for $10,000 with $100 on contents. The loss will be in the neighborhood of $2,000.

It was splendid the way the neighbors assisted, and sent for the prompt response the horse might have come.

Pioneer Settler of This District Dies in Palmerston

Robert P. Leeder, a pioneer settler and railway employee, aged eighty, died quite suddenly at Palmerston, Thursday.

He came with his parents from Norfolk, Eng., in 1842, and following the Niagara River north by boat, and then by stage, he came to the present site of Port Elgin, where he lived for the last twenty years.

His mother was the first white woman settler in this region. Upon the construction of the Toronto, Grey & Bruce Railway he settled it, and the St. P. R. as a locomotive at most of the stations north of Port Elgin, and for some years was agent at Palmerston and Port Elgin.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

A farm 30 miles from town on a good road is nearer than a farm 10 miles from town on a bad road.

A paper published in the United States says "that the war has forced us into a greater simplicity of living." The editor who wrote that must have a vivid imagination. We have a pretty fair one, but the United States is mixing up a real war is beyond us.

The authorities have seen fit to make an appointment of a chief recruiting officer for military district. That, of course, is the business of the militia department, but would it be well to have appointments of recruiting officers made from returned soldiers, or from such civilians as have sons at the front?

Don't think a motor car lifts you in the social scale! You can't get culture or superiority by having machinery or money! The most healthy and most happy folk are the "best born." Blessed the family crest that has been worked to death—London Advertiser.

It is reported that the Germans intended in Western Canada have refused to work unless they are paid. What effect what would happen to a Britisher if he assumed the same attitude in Germany? But the British idea of freedom does not consist of killing for offences of the kind. We submit it would be quite fair to the men during these strenuous times to put up a sign "No work, no eat."

The time has rolled around again when council are striking the rate of taxation. In most places they are somewhat higher, because of the Ontario war tax. The latter would be taken with a good deal better grace if the people were made acquainted with the use of the war expenditure in the government is making. It is allowing the Dominion government by buying equipment it might better leave the money with the people.

The House Preparedness League, as we understand it, is organized for the purpose of discussing county problems, notably dealing with the raising of battalions, but with the management of the men raised. If this is well with in the consideration of the League, would it not be proper, if the men are needed, and the military men say they are, for the league to support that the 16th be made ready at once. The Times is informed by a competent officer that it costs over $200,000 to keep a battalion in Canada for one month. Since the first of March the 16th battalion has been over strength. This would amount a million and a quarter dollars cost to the country. The average Canadian does not worry about the cost, providing men are being rapidly put in shape for the service. But is this true of the 16th? And should not the House Preparedness League undertake to suggest to the militia department that the county is looking for better management.

A Battle Creek visitor recently returned from Canada remarked the impressive statement with which Canada goes about her business of meeting the requirements of the war and dispatching her soldiers to the front. There is no "show" in the dispatch of military pomp and pageantry. Quiet men in khaki who have, under the same name, their feet well to their ankles twenty-four hours before, board the train without ceremony and whirled away to meet in a stern way the stern job to which they are assigned.

There is a marked contrast, and the opportunity for an impressive lesson, in the activities constantly going on across the Canadian border, and the whoop, hurrah, and enthusiastic hullabaloo with which the United States has assembled its regiments of militia, and continues to administer the military affairs of its volunteers on the border.

There is a simple assurance in history for the belief that we should study to our job, after a while, just as Canada does, that it would require the elimination of a vast amount of bluff and flash.

Spartan civilization may or may not have been admirable. That it was different for the business it had to do, is not in dispute. And that its methods must in some degree be followed where ever the world's work or the nation's demands call for efficiency, all experienced know—Battle Creek (Mich.) Enquirer.

A Newspaperless Town

From the standpoint of progress, a town without a newspaper is like a locomotive without steam, from the standpoint of self-respect it is like a motion picture without a villain, and from the standpoint of diversion it is like a hired girl without a boss.

Many and many a time you hear small town newspaper editors speak of a "joke." This remark may very often be quite near the truth; but in nine cases out of ten the newspaper of a town is exactly what the people of the town make it by their support and interest, and when the people of a town allow its paper to go to the journalistic body-ward, the joke is on the town and not on the newspaper.

The force of this was brought prominently to our attention during the past week, when there were numerous enquiries for a paper that had been until recently printed in a town not far from this city. Persons enquiring for the sheet wanted to know about certain persons to be pulled out of the town in question, and when told there was no paper there now, they invariably sneered and opined that it "must be some burg—gus we'll pass it up!"—Swift Current Herald.

Young Woman "Do Their Bit"

One of the ways in which women can "do their bit" is by assisting in keeping the wheels of commerce in motion by taking the place of office men who are at the front. Training in book keeping, stenography and other business subjects is necessary. This can be obtained without delay at the Northern House, 200, Queen Street West, which has special courses of study designed for preparing young people, quickly, for war-time work. Fall term begins Sept. 14.

A young lad riding a wheel had a close shave at Green and Coleridge streets Tuesday afternoon. He was run into by a car and dragged some distance.

Geo. D. McKay of Walkerton has been successful in being appointed recruiting officer for military district No. 1, and will now tell the other fellows what to do for their country.

Mr. William Campbell, of the 12th, who is on duty over-see the soldiers, the war still on, it's summer time. We are on our way to strengthen our line.

During our daily work we can do, for King and Country, and for you. So we are leaving for the Motherland. Why they have not called us, I understand. And the Canadian boys command respect. For the way they fought and are fighting yet. So cheer up in our motto, Down with it. And we're ready to go on our way. We're ready to go on our way. And be home again next May.

HONOR FOR ARMY MULE.

Sole Survivor of an Italian Battery Buried Like a Soldier.

Nux, a huge white mule from one of the Italian batteries of Mesina, has just been interred with full military honors by the Italian front in the Trentino.

Nux is not only believed to be the first army mule in the present war to be accorded final honors, but also the first mule to be buried at all, except as an artillery mule, occasionally set buried under a hail of fire or of flying debris from the enemy's artillery shells.

Nux was 21 years of age, a veteran of two campaigns and a participant in many minor actions. He went through the entire war in Italy, was called upon occasionally to dash up with his gun to settle riots in southern Italy, and then went through the first six months of Italy's present war for the restoration of Trieste and Trent.

Nux was one of the real fame, came three months ago, his battery, a famous one known as the Masotto, participating in the terrible artillery duel before Abba Garia, was struck by a high explosive shell. There was nothing left but Nux, two artillerymen, and the shattered fragments of the gun.

Heroically determined to save all of the latter that might be worth carrying away, the two survivors strapped the gun to Nux's back. Then a second shell struck, which killed the two men, but Nux, dashing wildly away for the rear of the Italian lines, succeeded in carrying his gun barrel to safety.

He was the only being, either man or mule, of the entire battery that came out alive, and the cannon strapped to his back was the only part of the equipment that was found.

From that day on Nux became more of a sacred relic than the famous Masotto battery than an army mule and the position of honor in the artillery stables and two feeds a day were assigned him.

As the fortunes of war thinned out the ranks of the other mules, however, the day came when Nux again had to take his place at the head of a battery.

Despite his 21 years and his double feeding every day for a month, he dashed away and got his gun to the position that had been assigned it. But there, in the artillery duel that followed, an Austrian shell struck him full in the head.

When the hurricane of steel had passed and the battery retired, the remains of Nux were brought back on a gun carriage under an artillery flag. The next day the battery was assembled, and full military honors were accorded at the final interment of the last of the Masotto battery.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body, and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil of cod liver fish, which is a medicinal food and a building tonic, free from any harmful drugs. Try it.

Veteran of China Re-enlisted.
One of the latest recruits to be dealt with in Britain, Eng. had received a bullet through the right arm and a bayonet thrust through the thigh, and had lost the middle finger of the right hand. He stated that he had received the D.C.M. for bringing in his officer and two other men. He had been discharged from one of the Black Watch battalions as unfit for further service in a fighting regiment, and he had had two brothers killed at Neuve Chapelle.

The man appeared before the examining doctors, and said: "I have done my bit, but I am ready to enlist again in the Mechanical Transport." His lost finger did not interfere with his grip he was attested. His name is Alexander Hunter, and he is certain of receiving his commission rank very soon.

LIFEBUOY HEALTHY SOAP

A Perilous Trip.
After an adventurous journey through Asia, six German tourists, under the leadership of Lieut. Robert Weisbacher, of Stuttgart, have reached Bagdad from China.

In 14 months the daring adventurers traveled more than 4,000 miles through deserts and over many high mountain chains.

Together with four companions who perished on the way the six survivors, Lieut. Weisbacher, and his wife, and his two sons, left Peking in October, 1914.

They possessed ample means and had fitted out a small caravan. On their march through the western Chinese provinces they encountered little trouble, as some of them spoke one or more Chinese dialects fairly well, but when they reached the southern part of Mongolia they were repeatedly attacked by native bands.

In one of these fights two of their number were killed, and in another, they lost part of their supplies. During the winter they suffered terribly from the cold in the mountain regions along the northern border of Tibet. Three of them became sick and one died from exposure. They finally met a band of friendly nomads with whom they stayed for nearly three months.

When spring began, they resumed their journey with fresh pack animals. Late in May they reached eastern Turkistan and during the summer and fall they crossed Pamir, Afghanistan and Persia.

Near Herat, in Afghanistan, one of the party was drowned while they were fording a swollen stream. In eastern Persia the remaining six men came near being murdered because a tribe of natives took them for Englishmen. They were only saved by the fact that Lieut. Weisbacher, who has a working knowledge of many Oriental languages, was able to talk to the Persians in their own tongue.

Swiss Defense System.

Switzerland's national defense is a national compulsory service system. Every man, with a few minor exceptions, is liable for service between the ages of 17 and 45.

At the age of 20 the recruit is assigned for 30 to 35 days, depending on the branch of the service he chooses to enter. Then he is enrolled in the "Auxiliary or Militia," in which he has to train eleven days a year for seven of the years up to the age of 32.

From 32 to 40 he is a member of the "Landwehr" and trains once every four years, after which he is allowed to go into the last line reserves, where he stays until he reaches the age of 45.

PLANS FOR NEW HOUSE.

First Draft is Before the Minister of Public Works.

Draft plans of the remodelled Parliament Building have been completed by the architects in charge, Messrs. Pearson of Toronto and Macdonald of Montreal. They have been at work steadily since the week following the fire, and now the resultant plans and profiles of the exterior and interior of the remodelled building have been exhibited to the members of Parliament in the office of the Minister of Public Works, at the new temporary House of Parliament. The plans are, of course, more or less tentative, and have to be received the formal endorsement of the Cabinet and of Parliament, but it is probable that they will be carried out substantially without alteration. No definite estimate has yet been made as to cost, but it will probably be the neighborhood of $1,600,000, and it will probably require about a year and a half to carry out the work. Parliament will meet again next session in its present quarters.

The main features of the new plans are the preservation of the present architectural scheme of the whole front elevation as it stands, the tearing down of the west wing, which was damaged by fire, but which did not preserve the original architectural harmony of the building; the construction of a new rear extension, the removal of the original rear extension, and the construction of a new rear extension, the removal of the original rear extension, and the construction of a new rear extension.

Externally, the new plans will provide for a harmonious extension throughout. Paint that House this Fall Protect it from the destructive effect of a winter's snow and ice—save valuable time next spring for other work. Fall painting pays. But be sure you choose the right paint—one that will give your buildings the years of protection that you've paid for.

B-H ENGLISH PAINT

is made according to the formula which scientific tests and many years of experience by practical painters prove to be best to meet Canadian weather conditions.

Formula: 70 Pure White Lead
30 White Zinc
100 Pure Paint

It contains 70% of Brandram's B.H. Genuine White Lead—of standard purity for over 100 years—and 30% of pure white zinc—thus combining, in the proper proportions, pure lead and pure zinc, and making a perfect paint. You take no chances with B-H "English" Paint. Resure you get it! There are cheaper paints, but none more economical when covering capacity and length of wear are considered.

TURNERS

The garden party of Dunblane Presbyterian church at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Christie, at Aberdour, on Monday evening, was well attended, despite the fact that it was postponed from Friday, and despite the threatening weather.

There was a fine supper served from neatly spread tables, and the abundance of good things was heartily enjoyed. After supper, time was given the people to visit one another and enjoy a social chat. Rev. Mr. Watt then called the gathering to order and a good program was enjoyed. Seats were provided, and the program was made more enjoyable because of them.

Some good stories were told by Rev. Messrs. Paddon and Wolstencroft, which kept the audience in a very happy mood. Others taking part in the program were: Mr. and Mrs. John Schrank, Sandy McDonald, J. Scott, Alex. Brunton, Mrs. Donald Launton, Arch. Bell, ex-Warden McCannell, H. Roy Saylor, Misses Nicholson, W. Nicholson, Bert Schell.

The booth on the grounds did a good business, and altogether about a hundred dollars was made. There was good order, and the party was one of the best social events of the season.

Mr. H. Pollock and family and Mr. Adam Cairns are taking in Toronto Aug.

Laid To Rest

The remains of the late Archie Pollock, one of the pioneers of this section of the province, were laid tenderly away in the family plot at Greenwood cemetery on Monday afternoon.

The remains arrived from the home of his son, at Port Huron, Alberta, where Mr. Pollock was visiting at the time of his death, on Saturday night, and were taken to the old home at Aberdour.

On Monday, many people assembled at the residence to pay a last tribute of respect to deceased. Rev. Mr. Wolstencroft of Lindsay officiated. As stated in last week's Times, deceased was on a holiday trip through the west, when he was taken suddenly ill and died, the cause being due to a heart trouble. Mr. Pollock was a wonderfully hearty and strong old gentleman, and when it is considered that in his 85th year he took the western trip alone, it is remarkable. He was always very active, and frequently walked to town, from his old home at Aberdour, a distance of seven miles.

Mr. Pollock was born in Lanarkshire, Scotland, and after coming to Canada, followed the rush to the Queen's head, arriving in Bruce County in the early fifties of last century. He worked the acre in the first that at about where Walkerton main street now is. In 1850 he had settled on a farm in Madison, by the subsequent years he made a success of farming, raised a large family, and in the daily struggle of life did his part in such a way as to win the esteem and respect of his fellow men. For a number of years Mr. Pollock was collector of taxes for the township. In relation he was a C. B. and was one of the organizers of the church of that denomination at Aberdour, which was subsequently taken over by the Congregationalists in politics he was a Liberal. He married Jane Swinton, who predeceased him many years. The family consisted of seven sons and five daughters, of whom the following are living: John, Archie, Robert and Herbert in England; Andrew at St. Catharines; Wm. James, in Peace River; Mr. Black, of Nepean; Mon. One brother is still living at Peterborough, and his only sister is Mrs. R. B. Fleming, of Exeter.

Many people suffer the tortures of Lumbago and stiffness of joints because of impurities in the blood, and each exceeding attack seems more acutely than the last has invaded the whole system.

To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is a most effective bloodmaker, while the natural nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and rebuild your strength.

Scott's Emulsion is helping thousands every day who could not find other relief. Refuse the alcoholic substitutes.

The Put-It-Offs

My Friend, have you heard of the town of Tawn
On the Banks of the River Stow, Where Blooms the Wait-while flower fair,
Where the summertime or other acents
the air,
And the soft Go says grow?
It lies in the Valley of What's-his-name,
In the Province of Let's-try-it;
That tired feeling is native there,
It's the home of the Indolent I don't care,
Where the Put-it-Offs abide.
The Put-it-Offs smile when asked to work,
And say they will do it to-morrow.
And so the delay from day unto day, Till death cycles up and takes them away
And their families starve, beg or borrow

Tuaregs of the Sahara

"In northern Africa there lies a treeless country, uninhabited by a people, the masked Tuaregs, fascinating for the mystery and exclusiveness with which they have surrounded their life. These people, natives and rulers of the middle desert, are the allies of no one, but were a fierce guerrilla warfare, with all who intrude the inhospitable Sahara sands of their domain. They are the buccaners of the trackless sand, forever at war with all civilization and the railroads," says an article issued by the National Geographic Society at Washington, which describes the people always willing to fight for the maintenance of their power to levy tribute upon the ancient trans-Saharan caravan routes.

"Masked Tuaregs are fierce nomads, a white desert people, and their country is probably the most inaccessible on earth. Even before Egyptian civilization began to leave coherent traces of its history the Tuaregs, or Berbers, were long established along northern Africa. The great Arab invasion of the eleventh century displaced them from their possessions upon the sea-coast and drove them into the savage areas of the interior desert, where, with their hands raised against all who came into their pathless country, they have maintained themselves through the intervening centuries despite lack of water, sand storms and lack of farming land, requisitioning by force of arms from the Arabs and Egyptians to the north and east, and from the blacks of the Sudan in the south, such necessities and luxuries as their cheerless portion of Mother Earth cannot supply them.

"There are five main tribes in the Tuareg confederation, and they inhabit the desert from the Tunis to Timbuktu, and from Fezzan to Zinder. Their homes are reared in the heart of arid wastes, where vast solitudes, unnatural heats and numerous distances shroud everything in uncanny mystery.

"The Tuaregs wear the end of their turban cloth drawn over their faces, allowing nothing but the eyes to be seen. It is worn for the purpose of protecting the throat and lungs from the cutting blasts of fine desert sand, and also probably as an element enhancing the mystery of their life, for they seldom or never remove their masks, whether roving over the desert or visiting in the cities on the coast. Due to these cloths, they are called masked Tuaregs, while the Arabs call them 'people of the veil.' The masks are dark blue and white, the former being worn by Tuareg nobles and the latter by the serfs and slaves.

"Some centres of trade, Tuareg towns, are situated in the middle desert. These are Wargia, Timbuktu, Ghat, Ghadames, Murzuk and In Salah. However, the Tuaregs have little care for trade and industry. He is a fearless, enduring, hard-fighting adventurer along the merchandise trails that cross the desert. Two important trails leave Tripoli, on the coast, and traverse 2,000 miles of sands and barren wastes to the Sudan, where rich cargoes of skins, gold, ivory and other interior African products are loaded upon camels and brought northward. Sometimes a single caravan consists of thousands of camels and merchandise to the value of hundreds of thousands of dollars. When passing through the Tuareg country the leaders of such caravans have had to pay a tribute to the chieftains by the way for safe escort, or run the risk of losing all their goods.

"From Morocco to Tripoli the relentless ferocity, the cunning and the daring of the Tuaregs are mingled in all the traditions unpleasant to the more peaceful nations along the coast. The Tuaregs meanwhile openly spy upon the caravan in courses of cutting fire in the coast cities and the tribute upon the tribute they are able to exact.

"The Tuaregs are of the purest Berber stock, the noble families mixed with other blood, and in their own language they call themselves 'the noble people.' Notably the Beni Mohamedans, and some of their number compose the most intolerant and warlike sect in Islam, the Senussi sect. Their hatred for the foreigner is greater even than that bred by their religion, and so they are more exclusive than ever were the Chinese or Japanese. Their social organization divides them into five classes—the nobles, the priests, the serfs, the cross-bred and the slaves. All of these classes have this in common: they are all Tuaregs. The Tuareg family, which holds itself superior to all the other peoples of the earth."

Rain Tree of Tropics.
The rain tree of the tropics has been wrongly credited many times with the quality of shedding water in such great quantities that it takes the place of an artificial irrigation plant. The common English name, Albizia, is a Spanish equivalent, arbol de la lluvia, probably of the origin of the fact that the "sleep" or closing of the leaves, is a very conspicuous phenomenon. At the approach of and during rains, as well as at night, in the Philippines, where it is by far the commonest shade tree found in the larger towns, the rain tree is commonly known as "acacia." In Hawaii it is called "monkey pod."

Nearly Every Girl Can Make Herself Pretty and Attractive

Some Wholesome Truths Every Girl Should Think About.

Probably you know just such a girl. Perhaps she is sixteen—good to look at, and pretty—quite interesting because she reflects the graces and charm that give promise of happiness to herself and others. But she is not strong. The color in her cheeks, once so rosy, has faded away—her eyes are listless—the buoyancy of spirit and vigor she once possessed are sadly lacking. Parents, friends, this girl needs Ferrigno—needs it that her blood may be renewed—needs it to restore the nerve force that growth, study and the development of her fresh youth have exhausted. This girl will become a queen with Ferrigno—which will restore her color—bring back her old-time energy—give brightness to her eyes and vivacity to her spirits. In Ferrigno every girl finds strength—there she can do things. In Ferrigno there is endurance—that drives away morning tiredness and languor. For the girl or woman that wants to be happy, healthy, winning—who values good cheeks, laughing eyes and abundant good spirits, nothing can compare with Ferrigno. 50c per box, or six for $2.50. One Gladstone Interview.

An amusing glimpse of the famous statesman Gladstone was once given by John Murray, of the publishing house which issued many of Mr. Gladstone's writings and speeches. The last time I was at Mr. Gladstone's house," said Mr. Murray, "I had breakfast early and alone, as I was going to Scotland. When I had finished I was told that Mr. Gladstone did not know that I was leaving so early, and that he wanted to have another talk with me. I went to his bedroom—a very large room, with a double bed in it. Mr. Gladstone was in her dressing room.

"Gladstone was dressed in a night-gown with a brown shawl round him. He was bent flat on his face, his head at the foot of the bed and his feet on the pillows. In one hand he held a cup of coffee, and there was a book in the other. I shall never forget that interview and the comeliness of the great old head looking up as I sat toward him."

Wirkaw—Last night I dreamed I was married. Her name I told you was a book in the other. I shall never forget that interview and the comeliness of the great old head looking up as I sat toward him."

Mystifying Chemical Trick.

A plain blue handkerchief is shown to the audience. When the handkerchief is warmed it turns white and when cooled resumes its former color.

Make a starch paste and add enough water to the paste to thin it. Then add sufficient tincture of iodine to color the liquid blue. A few drops will be enough. Dye a white handkerchief with this blue liquid, and when the handkerchief is dry it is ready for the trick—Popular Science Monthly.

TENDER MEAT.

And How to Have It From the Cheaper Cuts.

It would seem that the last word had been said on cheaper cuts of meat. But the increase in the high cost of living makes the meat problem still as tough (no pun) as ever. What are most maligned and equally much praised cuts called "cheaper cuts." To know this we must know the architecture of the animal in question. First, the most tender pieces are the least exposed parts of the animal. Whatever portions are subjected to muscular exercise (thus the loin) are tougher because the muscles have been used more. This does not mean that there is not as much nourishment in tough muscles as in tender ones. The cheaper cuts have tougher fibres, and the whole problem is to prepare and soften the fibres and thus put them on a par with more tender parts. The muscles of the abdomen are also tender, but give a very coarse meat.

The structure of the muscle fiber must be studied in order to apply the best methods of cooking. Each fiber is like a thin section of orange, being surrounded with a firm tissue and containing juice within. If we cut the fiber across the juice will escape. If we heat the fiber in a high temperature we will harden it still more and prevent the escape of juices. If we cut it and soak it in water the juices again will escape. But if we pour scalding water or liquid on the fiber, it will have much the same effect as heating it rapidly to a high point.

Now, the ideal in handling all cheaper cuts is first to harden the fiber either by pouring on boiling water or by heating it to a high degree in order to avoid the escape of the juices, and second, to cook it so that the fiber will eventually be very soft, the juices dissolved and the flavor as much as possible retained. None of these meats should be cooked at first with cold liquid or cooked slowly before the outside fiber is seared.

What are some of these cuts by name? Perhaps this partial list will give suggestions which your butcher can help you carry out:

- Cheaper cuts of beef:
- Stump—Roasts, braising, à la mode, stewing.
- Chuck ribs (1 and 2)—Roast, steak.
- Chuck Ribs (last 3)—Stewing, braising.
- "Plate"—Soup, stew, rolled pieces.
- Triplet—Corned and pot roast.
- "Skirt"—Steak—Rolled, stew.
- Brisket—Steak—Rolled, stew, à la mode, soup.
- Cross Ribs—Pot roast.
- Sho Hips—Soup, stew, rolled, sliced cold.
- Cheaper cuts of mutton:
- Breast—Stew, braising, soup.
- Neck—Soup, stew, meat for croquettes, etc.

Veal:
Breast—Soup, stew, made dishes, veal loaf.

A slow oven, which is also used in cooking other foods, can be used, or, the above all, the "fireless cooker," which cooks without heat. Here, too, the fireproof or earthenware dishes can be used to best advantage, for then the food may be cooked and served in the same dish.

Flower of the Air.
There is a plant in Chile and a similar one in Japan called the "flower of the air." It is so called because it appears to have no root and is never fixed to the earth. It twines around a dry tree or sterile rock. Each shoot produces two or three flowers like a lily—white, transparent and odoriferous. It is capable of being transported 600 to 800 miles and is as stable as it travels suspended on a twig.

Kiddies' Height and Weight.

Do you know the average height and weight of children? The average 5-year-old boy weighs, including clothing, 41.2 pounds. At 7 years he has gained 10 pounds and his height has increased from 41.7 to 46.2 inches.

At 5 the average girl weighs 28.3 pounds and her height is 45 pounds—a little less than the boy. The average boy gains six pounds a year between the ages of 8 and 11, when he weighs 72.4 pounds a year more than the average girl of 11.

The height of the average boy increases two inches each year until 11 when he measures 54 inches, as compared to the average girl 52.8 inches.

Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

Cholera Morbus.

"Cholera morbus" is a term with a curious history. Said the London Chronicle, "To our forefathers 'cholera morbus' meant not necessarily a disease, but one of the four humors present in every human body. It was a morbus, more, excess of which made a man choleric." "Cholera" and "cholera," in fact, meant just the same thing. The comparatively mild ailment which we know as 'English' cholera was referred to as 'the disease cholera' or 'cholera morbus' in order to distinguish it from the other sense of the word. Much later when Asiatic cholera was introduced to the alarmed natives of England 'cholera' got transferred to it."

A Handful of Hints.

Scrub your eyes placed in the tops of handles of brooms, brushes and mops, so that they may be hung on hooks in a closet, will allow a neater arrangement of the cleaning utensils.

If you wish to turn your pinky ring into a size one, bury an old iron clasp in the roots. Placing it in a small size tub will bring about the same result.

When the screw top of a bottle refuses to turn, try putting the top of the bottle between the door-jamb and the kitchen floor. Close the door so that the bottle top is held securely, then twist the bottle and it will usually yield easily.

Chinese glass starch is made of two tablespoonfuls of raw starch and one tablespoonful of borax dissolved in one and one-half cups of water. Garments are dipped in this, rolled tight, and left in a dry cloth for a few hours before ironing.

Any woman who owns a sterling or German silver spoon will be glad to know that common baking soda will clean it in a few minutes. It is used by most jewelers for this purpose. Just take plenty of soda and a little water and wash between the hands or with a brush.

Used Like Solder.

A soft alloy, which adheres to metal, glass and porcelain, and can be used in the same manner as soft solder, is prepared from powdered copper (copper dust), which may be obtained by stirring a solution of blue vitriol with granulated tin. The solution becomes considerably heated, and a brown powder is precipitated. Of the copper dust 20 or 25 parts by weight, according to the desired hardness of the solder, are mixed in a cast iron or porcelain mortar with sulphur of 1.85 specific gravity, to the consistency of paste, and 70 parts of powdered glass with constant stirring. When the amalgam is thoroughly mixed it is carefully washed with water to remove all trace of acid, and then cooled in 10 or 12 hours the mass becomes very hard. When the solder is to be used it should be heated to about 400 degrees Fahrenheit, in which condition it can be kneaded like wax in an iron mortar. In this plastic state it is applied to the broken surfaces, which are then pressed together and when cooled the amalgam adheres very firmly.

It means that wheeze will soon attack the lungs. Wheezing is distressing to the sufferer and annoying to his friends. Nothing half so certain in bronchitis and throat trouble as a "croupy" wheeze. It gives instant relief and cures even the worst case. Bronchitis fairly flies under the magic influence of Cataractone, which cures thoroughly the disease never returns. Other remedies may relieve, but Cataractone cures bronchitis, croup and throat trouble for all time to come.

Did He Was Told.

One evening, just as it was getting dusk, a laborer walked down the main street of the city. Coming to a poultry dealer's place, he stopped and gazed admiringly at the fowls and game displayed on the window sill. One turkey of about fifteen pounds weight caught his fancy. After running his fingers through the coils in his trousers pockets a few times he decided on having that turkey. Picking it up, he entered the shop. The shopman was very busy. "Just weigh this bird for me, will you?" said he. "Why don't you take your bird and weigh it here?" he was answered. "I don't want to be weighed," snappily replied the poultryer, without looking up. "Oh, I know that all right," he replied, cheerfully, picked the bird up and walking out with it—London Times.

Quietly Vanished.

The advantages of a glass eye give the point to the following joke:

A few days since a traveler for an optical instrument house called at a shop in Manchester, and while exhibiting his samples produced a box of artificial eyes of all colors and began to descend upon the superiority of the white eye over all other colors.

While extolling pompously upon the beauty of his goods, a little man broke in with:

"You may talk about your goods being the finest in the market, but can you prove your assertions? No, sir, you cannot. Just look at this left eye of mine; it is an eye of perfection."

The optical man examined it closely and with a half sneer in his voice asked:

"Where did you get that eye?"

"Got it in London."

"Well, sir, I can assure you that you didn't get it from one eye customer."

"No, I got it at another place."

"Exactly; such boot work as that is never allowed to leave our factory. The least defective eye customer it and yours is full of blemishes. In the first place, it is of a light shade to match the other; and secondly, you can see that it is a size too small for you. Again, it is not natural in its appearance. It will deceive no one. Its artificial points creep out on every side, and it has not one single aspect of the natural eye. How long have you worn it?"

"Ever since I can remember. You see, I was born in London, and this eye was born with me. It's a natural eye, and I never had any trouble with it."

The eye man picked up his samples and faded from view.—Tit-Bits.

The Artist and His Work.

The great artists, like the great heroes, have always done whatever came to hand.

Michelangelo grumbled and said he was a sculptor, when Julius II. set him to paint, but he painted the roof of the Sistine chapel. Shakespeare chafed at the popularity of the fool in the drama of his time, and then produced the fool in "Twelfth Night."

If either of them had yielded for perfect conditions and an inspiration, the world would have been the poorer. They would have done nothing. They made the best of things as they were. And this is the business of the artist in life.—London Times.

FARM BOY KILLED.

At about 10 o'clock Monday afternoon, a young boy, Orlan Thompson, 16 years of age, and son of Arthur Thompson, was about 100 yards from the house, when he was struck by a horse which was driven by a woman named Mrs. John Thompson. After the horse had made a few bounds, the top was thrown to the ground, the skull being seriously fractured. A doctor was summoned immediately, but before his arrival the lad had succumbed to his injuries.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

An exchange says that a Tennessee boy, competing for a prize, collected 13.9% old tin cans from the alleys of the town in 34 working hours. If that boy wishes to beat his record we can put him next.

A Toronto despatch says that since prohibition has come a bartender's place is being formed in the city to join the 204th battalion. This is providing a very honorable occupation for former bartenders. One of the arguments used by the liquor interests against prohibition was that it would throw a lot of men on the streets without jobs.

Billy Sunday, at a revival meeting in Detroit said: "There are 7,000 Protestant churches which did not add one convert last year. It's a disgrace." And most people will agree that Mr. Sunday is about correct. When a church is not making converts or giving largely to missions, it has about passed its usefulness and should be buried.

The Detroit Journal says: "For tens of thousands of cursed homes in Ontario September 15, 1916, came too late. The new law abolishing the bar is not retroactive. Were it capable of restoring the dead from tens of thousands of graves there would rise farmers and willagers who died after blighting their families in a helpless battle against whiskey."

Report has it that Lt. Col. W. N. Chisholm has been given an order to recruit another battalion from Grey County. If The Toronto Star's table is correct the first Grey Battalion is a long way short of being up to strength. And yet, some papers like Toronto Star rave at the government for granting these orders for further battalions. Is the government to blame? No doubt the Militia department were shown conclusively by those who wanted to lead the battalion that they could get the men.

There is great opportunity in most country districts for men who make insurance their business, and when we speak of opportunity for the extension of insurance business we mean for men who are actually working at the job, not as a sideline, but as a real business. Great service can be rendered every household, farmer, and every man when the insurance agent speaks in a housewife's manner to have everyone carrying adequate insurance on their lives, their buildings, their stock and equipment. How many farmers in this section have their barns, and stock adequately insured?

In Ottawa on Sunday evening one of the happiest departures of the city, Rev. H. J. Farmer, returned to the course of his sermon to the high cost of living, and took the position that no just ground prevailed for the high prices now commanded by food stuffs and other necessities of life. The West, he declared, was full of wheat, furthermore he stated that the cost of living in Regina, whence he recently came, was no higher than in Ottawa. Concluding, Rev. Mr. Farmer expressed satisfaction that there was one thing which had not anywhere gone up in price, namely, the salvation of souls. And next day there was published the announcement that the American Bible Society, through the increased cost of paper and other raw material, was to advance Bible prices!

The editor of The Walkerton Telegram paid a visit to the Bruce county House of Refuge last week, and met some very interesting old people. One paragraph reads:

"There are many interesting old people who call the House of Refuge their home and will spend the remaining days of their life there. The oldest inmate at present is Mr. Nicholas Benson of Hiram Township, 94 years of age. Mr. Benson is a man of fine character and more than ordinarily intelligent. He is a great reader." Mr. Benson is well known in Port Elgin and in this district generally, and the sad part of this little story is that a man of his fine character and intellectual capacity should have to spend his days in a house of refuge.

We note in Rorogay correspondence last week the following paragraph: "Some of the boys who went west for the harvest find that work is not as plentiful after all. Frost and black rust had spoiled the season." We suppose this is true in some localities. Frequently, this year, men have said, in the hearing of the editor, that eastern men could get ten dollars a day harvesting in the west. We suppose this might be true in an occasional case, too, but our readers will be interested in the following clipping from the editorial page of The Swift Current Herald: "Another year the government should handle the advertising of western labor requirements in the east. The railways to some insurance have flaring advertisements that thousands of men are still wanted in the west at $5 a day when they know perfectly well that we have now lots of men and that the wage for laborers is $3 to $3.50 per day."

Now that Port Elgin and Southampton hotels are under the same regulations, we hope the men of the north town will not forget to visit us occasionally. Just for "Auld Lang Syne."

Nearly a hundred Ontario weekly newspapers have increased their subscription rates to $1.50 per year—probably all which are considered by themselves as worth the advance. Among the dailies adding a dollar to their yearly subscription rates are the London Free Press and the London Advertiser, which are likely to be followed by others in that action are long. Paper bills are continuing to soar. The white paper alone in The Times cost over one third more than this time last year.

On Friday, the automobile will help carry large numbers of people to the fall fair here. The car is a great means of transportation in the country district, when a celebration or a fair is held. Many who previously either did not attend at all or did so under trying conditions are now finding it easy to come in for one or more days. At more than one small fair this year there have been more cars than heads of livestock and a subject of conversation has been automobile as well as cattle, sheep or hogs. "How do you like your car?" "How long have you run her?" are the first questions, and discussions and comparisons on the account of gas used, tire mileage, repair bills, etc., invariably follow.

The Fair

The time of our annual Fair is at hand and it is up to the entire community, townspeople and farmers to see that there is no lack of support. The directors are exceedingly anxious to make it a great success, not because they will make any money out of it but they believe it to be a good thing for the community.

A good live fair helps to keep a town on the map. It begins a local esprit de corps and stimulates social and business activities.

Friday, fair day, we hope will be a fair day and that the agricultural society will see the biggest crowd ever. Let's all go.

Prohibition Here

Prohibition has come to Port Elgin. Many a hard fight for the passing of local option in this town has been fought and as often lost.

Now prohibition comes to the town not as a result of any great desire on the part of the majority of the people of Port Elgin, but because the people of Ontario as a whole are tired of the booze business and want to see prohibition tried.

In some places the hotelmen are honest, have announced that they want to give the new act a fair trial, and will endeavor to do business without strong drinks. We believe the proprietors of Port Elgin hotels are taking this view also, and the local hotels will provide the best of accommodation at reasonable rates.

The contests over local option have made for much soreness among the people of this town, but with the new act in force and the hotelmen anxious to provide the proper accommodation, it is about time the hatchet was buried and an honest effort made on the part of every citizen to make Port Elgin grow.

In public affairs there has been a disposition on the part of many good business citizens to refrain from serving because of the divisions which existed, and which were caused as a general rule in the attitude of a man on the liquor question.

With this we are out of the argument, it should be possible for all classes of citizens to take a deeper interest in the local public affairs than they have taken in the past.

The new law is now in force. The Times sincerely hopes there will be no violations, and that it will not be called upon to give publicity to the names of lawbreakers, but rather that it may be able to herald to its readers at large that Port Elgin citizens are united in the higher cause of humanity and in an honest endeavor to build up a substantial town.

In Training at Camp Borden

Pte. Stanley Motion, in a very interesting letter home gives a splendid description of the training the soldiers are receiving at Camp Borden.

"The 201st were to take the trenches at 3 o'clock, and we did, but to start at the beginning I was one cook house fatigue Thursday morning and that means you have to wash all the pots, cut the wood and do things like that for the cook house and it means some work where you have about six or seven hundred men to do it. We were on the jump from six in the morning till twelve thirty and then had fifteen minutes to pack our stuff and get ready for the march to the trenches. We took along our rubber ground sheet, two blankets, great coat or overcoat, sweater coat, harness containing shaving material, towel, soap, and all things like that and our messes with twenty four hours grub and also rifles. The whole thing weighed about sixty-five pounds, strapped it on our backs and were ready for the march. We left at one o'clock for the trenches and arrived at a quarter to three and the most exciting time I ever had started. We immediately started into the trenches and they wind in and out and it takes about half an hour to reach the front line and I began to feel like I was on all the time. When we arrived at the front line, Jack and a fellow by the name of Skottishworth and myself were picked to go on guard at the out post trench. You see they have the same kind of trenches on the other side of us and the 171st occupied them. The out post trench is about four feet deep and you lie down and watch through the periscopes and we could see a good number of the enemy walking along their trenches, you are out there for two hours and then are relieved as soon as our two hours was up we were asked along with a couple of other fellows to start digging a mine. You start at your trench and dig along towards the enemy about five feet from the top of the ground. We worked till half past six and were relieved and while waiting sniper Capt. Whitley, a returned soldier who is with our battalion came along and started to talk. He said when he came into the trenches he was in France, in fact he would not believe he was in Camp Borden, so you can see they must be a very good imitation. Just before the night was over he said he never seen anything so real. After he talked for a while he said he was going out to a listening post after dark and wanted to know if a couple of fellows would come along with him, so I said I would, and at a quarter to eight we were out, each of us having a pair of night glasses, our packs and a long black rubber sheet covering us all over. I could not understand what it was for, but found out to half an hour. We went over the out post trenches just near a machine gun emplacement and crawled on our hands and knees to within about ten yards of the enemy's trenches, and we could hear them talking quite plainly. They with our hands we dug a small hole just room for the two of us to lay down in. It was not a big exactly but made a place so that if we lay down we could be level with the ground. After watching with the glasses for a while we saw a couple of fellows come over their trenches and crawl along to a deep hole they had dug just in front of their trench which is called a sap where they keep bombs. While we were watching to see what they were going to do the enemy started to send up rockets. There are something like ordinary fireworks only they send a great white light which lights up everything around for two or three minutes. Then I found the value of the long rubber sheet. You lie flat down and this covers you from head to foot so that when the rockets go up if you lie still they cannot tell you from the ground. They kept sending up rockets and puff balls and using a search light steady for over half an hour as we were so quiet over in our trenches that goes they thought something was doing. However, they stopped after a while and started firing. We answered fire. At least the fellows back to our trenches. It was only blank ammunition but made some noise. They had a cannon and so did we. They were loaded with some sort of powder with a thick paper covering and you could not hear puffing it. That is just what we had been waiting for as the captain sent me back to get five bombs to bomb out the sap and while I was on my way back to the trench the sent a big puff ball by right over my head and I felt it bang the ground. You would just imagine it was real war the way things were going. However, I got three bombs and brought them out and the captain showed them where to go and they soon made them get out of the sap with dummy bombs. This kept going all the time. I was relieved along with the captain at twelve o'clock and he got six more fellows one of them, Hag, Alex Mann's cousin, and we went along to the other side of their trenches and took a bunker with a coil of wire along. We crawled till we were right at the wire entanglements of their trenches and the captain with his glasses discovered three officers talking, he sent a message back to charge at once and we over the trench behind the officer and the fellows from our trench charged the other side as we got through three and before the night was over we got four of their men and lost two ourselves. You should have seen me to-day when I came out. I was sweating all the time since we had left camp and the wind was blowing the sand in our faces and as I had not had a wash all the time I was in there you can imagine what I looked like. It was a great thing as I cannot begin to tell you all about it but all the officers said it was the very same as you are in France and they said you would get it no harder over there, and it must be pretty much the same and we have more returned soldiers in the 201st than any other battalion in camp. There are 94 returned men altogether, so they know. You may think it is hard to make a charge but when you hear everyone give a blood curdling yell and go over together it is not hard at all, but just seems a thrill through you. Some of the fellows were pretty scared, enough, and I about every five minutes they would be wondering if it was time for someone to relieve them. We arrived back at four thirty afternoon and a bunch of sand to go on more fatigue, washed about five hundred plates, bowls, cups and saucers and finished about half past seven to eight, so I am rather tired."

Question:-
What is pure paint?

Answer:-
70% pure white lead plus 30% pure white zinc equals 100% pure paint.

Why?

Because white lead and white zinc, mixed in these proportions, produce a paint that resists the elements better than that made by any other formula. Scientific tests and practical experience extending over many years absolutely prove this to be so, and that is why is made by this formula. It is pure paint in the truest sense of the word. A mixture of 100% white lead and 90% white zinc might be called "pure paint" but the expression would be misleading, because the compound would not fulfil all the requirements of a first-class exterior paint.

B-H "English" Paint is pure paint that works easily, penetrates deeply, adheres well, holds its color and lasts years longer than ordinary kinds.

You can get genuine B-H "English" Paint from

J. H. Kennedy, Port Elgin

who are our local agents. Ask them for color-cards.

The blood don't travel through the feet. It is like all the auto-fads. 'Twill soon take a lot of seeds. To hire a doctor for to treat. You who have got auto feet.

Gunpowder and Artillery.

There is abundant evidence that the origin of gunpowder and artillery goes far back in the dim ages of history. The Hindu code compiled long before the Christian era prohibited the making of war with cannon and guns or any kind of firearms. Quintus Curtius informs us that Alexander the Great met with firearms in Asia. The Hindu code also states that Alexander's conquerors were arrested by the use of gunpowder. It is also written that those wise men who lived in the cities of the Ganges overthrew their enemies with tremors and thunderbolts shot from the walls.

Storm Often Misnamed.
It is a curious fact that what is generally known in some of the eastern states as a northeastern storm; in reality, says Popular Mechanics, of quite a contrary origin. The sure a strong and which frequently carries heavy rain is apparently driven from a northeasterly direction in its popular assumption in a specific area that the storm originates somewhere in a northern zone, while in truth its real origin is in the south. The explanation is that such a disturbance is merely an air draft of a barometric depression in the opposite direction. The storm is known as a "fireback" and is one of the conditions which cause a weather forecaster difficulty.

"Nay, mynster, I need be, as the sergeant said, and the former grocer, when going off French duty, received the shock of his life, for he did not see the captain, dressed in khaki, standing before him."
"Mackay? Yes, Franks, was that he?" he exclaimed, again. "Did I not see him in charge of the ambulance?"
"Yes, Mackay," said the former grocer. "Mackay," said, "but the fact is, it was no chance, for I met him in France, but a common fellow, too, so I did not care to say anything. I am confident he may as well fight himself, as he did; so I joined Tip-tilty."

THE HOUSE FOR CIGARS.

Origin of the Name Siberia.

In 1562 Yermak, a Cossack chief, with a band of warriors, came for their bravery rather than for their morality, set out to chase and subdue the nomads of the Altai and Ural Mountains When Erbakan heard of it he was badly frightened, for he feared to clash with the fierce Tatars, who were known to be merciless in their expedition to return. But it was too late. Yermak and his band had already crossed the mountains. When they saw the Tatars, they were surprised to find the strength of the Tatar chief. They found an army thirty times as large as their own awaiting them. But they were not afraid. They fought bravely and annihilation than were the Tatars and decided to fight a crucial battle. Siber was captured and the rest of the Tatars fled to the Russian empire. In Asia, the name came to the new country.

Do colds settle on your chest or in your bronchial tubes? Do coughs hang on, or are you subject to throat troubles?
Such troubles should have immediate treatment with the rare curative powers of Scott's Emulsion to guard against

Scott's Emulsion contains pure cod liver oil which peculiarly strengthens the res-

HELP THE RED CROSS!

On Tazefar Day October 18th the committee appointed to canvass Saugeen will be busy going over the township to get money for the British Red Cross.

The committee reports arrangements in good shape for the whirlwind canvass. All that is needed now is liberality on the part of the farmers in a good cause. Last year over $500 was raised. This year it is expected that Saugeen will endeavor to equal that raised by Port Elgin town on last Tazefar day, which $1000 was raised.

Heave Christ, who is president of the committee informs The Times that his committee expects to raise a thousand dollars. Any Saugeen township citizens will do something handsome for the cause.

TO THE PEOPLE OF SAUGEEN

The British Red Cross Society through the Lieut. Governor, is making an appeal to the province of Ontario for funds to carry on the work of caring for the wounded on the battle field of Europe. This is work that appeals to us all. The Red Cross knows no color or race.

Your council at its last meeting, carefully considered the matter and decided to ask you for a voluntary contribution on the 18th of October (Tazefar Day). Your response to this call last year exceeded our expectations. This year the need is much greater. Are we looking for too much to expect a more generous response this year.

Every cent that you contribute will reach its destination, free of all charges. Living here as we are, knowing nothing of the sufferings of war, let us for a moment think of the boys at the front. May we not feel it our duty to you, our duty, to do this little part in this great world conflict.

Let your response be of such a nature that the boys at the front will feel that we are keeping the home fires burning.

G. Christian, Treasurer.

Fair Board Meets

The Agricultural Society met on Saturday to deal with complaints of errors with prize list and general business. The list of prizes as published earlier in the paper was found to be correct. This should have been corrected to King and Smith.

Some other minor changes were necessary owing to wrong entry tickets having been presented to directors in charge. The treasurer was instructed to pay prizes according to the correct list. Where ownership of animals exhibited is disputed in which cases the necessary affidavit will be required.

The receipts were not quite as large as last year but still the society will be able to meet all obligations without any surplus. The treasurer will report this year was the largest for many years.

Considerable discussion took place as to how the fair could be improved in future after which the members present adjourned to assist the ladies of the Women's Institute in disposing of the good things provided in the adjoining rooms.

BURCOYNE AND DISTRICT

The news that Mrs. Herb Miller had died again loss of her parents near Harrison early last week came as a shock to the residents of this community. Last spring Mr. Miller rented his farm for a year, chiefly on account of his wife who had contracted a bad cold and was threatened with lung trouble. They left the farm with good hope that a year's rest would restore her to health and strength, but in spite of all that kind care and medical skill could accomplish the fell disease took its speedy course, and although it had been evident to herself and warm friends for some weeks past that she would not recover no one suspected that the end was so near. Up to a year ago she was a young woman full of life and vigor, genial hearted open and sociable, she made many warm friends during their few years in this locality. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved husband and in they were inseparable companions, and the loss will be extremely sad. What a wreck disease and death can make of a happy home here in a small space of time.

A few of our residents took in Paisley over the weekend. They were as fat.

Some of our older people attended the Tolmie memorial services in Northampton Presbyterian church, Sunday morning.

Rev. Mr. Watt and Rev. Mr. Little of Paisley, exchanged pulpits last Sunday.

There is considerable pleasant talk over the children's exhibits in Port Elgin last Tuesday and several good prizes came to this district.

The boys are returning again from harvesting in the west. Mr. Arthur Hargrave and Stan Ferguson arrived home Saturday evening.

Mrs. Inglis spent the holiday visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Gilroy, and other relatives.

A great many crates of live fowl were delivered from this district to the Simcoe Co. at Port Elgin, Tuesday. This company is in much favor with customers.

Thanksgiving day passed off much the same as other days. Sunday services were a recalling of subject for thankfulness and special envelope collections were taken to wipe out the deficit in the church mission work.

OBITUARY

On Thursday morning, September 29, the message came to Burgoon that Mrs. Herbert Miller had passed away. This sad news cast a gloom over the entire district, and not only this district, but Tara and Port Elgin communities as well, where many friends and relatives of the deceased resided. It seemed as if a portion of the brightness of life had been taken from us, as scarcely it had only a few years ago she came amongst us, uniting with our congregation by certificate from Knox church, Harrison, but by her constant cheery manner and hearty Christian life she won all our hearts and made a place for herself in our lives that will long be remembered. Contrasting a serene calm last night, she along with her husband gave up farming for the summer and gave herself over to organizing her health and strength. But the battle, though fought so spiritedly and patiently, was destined to end in her being released from service here and transferred to the better life, and on September 29th she passed peacefully to her rest in her twenty eighth year, at the home of her father, Donald McDougall, Minto Tp. near Harrison. She went bravely into the valley of the shadow ready to meet her Saviour, whom she had learned to know and trust, for here was a triumphant faith. To her husband who has early been deprived of his life companion, the sympathy of the whole country-side goes out at this time.

Last week the Times published a small advertisement of legions of men for service by a lady on the 10th of Bruce. The paper was in the postoffice at 12 noon and by six o'clock the news was sold. If you have a thing to sell let the Times tell the people about it.

Ladies, Attention!

We have just returned from a buying trip and have brought home some of the finest coats we have ever shown. Also some pretty waists and dresses.

Call and see them now.

Tara Fair

Tara fair attracted the largest crowd it has ever had on Wednesday. The day was so fine that everybody took a holiday, and all seemed to head for Tara fair. The exhibits were as usual. Some excitement was caused when a crowd of several hundred persons forcibly ejected a couple of quite prominent men from the grounds. These men in argument with some others concerning the war, made use of what the crowd believed to be the German language, and they soon jostled them out of the grounds and up town. Many Port Elgin citizens spent the afternoon at Tara.

Death of Mrs. Angus McDonald

Another one of the older residents of Bruce, passed away on Wednesday, in the person of Mrs. Angus McDonald, 11th of Bruce. The late Mrs. McDonald was in her 85th year, and had for some time suffered from asthma, which finally caused death.

Deceased moved to Bruce with her husband and family from Huron over thirty years ago, and she was very well known and greatly esteemed by all. She was a Presbyterian, and connected with the Underwood church.

She was the mother of a family of nine children, all of whom are living and who mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother. Those at home are: Alex, David, and Elsie, while those in other parts of the country are: Verrell, John, Malcolm, Albert, Dan, Albert, Charles, and William; Angus on the 10th of Bruce, and Mrs. Hugh D. McLeod, Underwood.

The funeral was largely attended, and was on Friday at Kincaid cemetery.

W. H. Cooper, formerly 4th of Saugren, has joined the 252nd battalion, composed of foreigners.

An urgent call for help again goes forth from the Motherland's mighty life-saving agency—the British Red Cross. The Empire is called upon to give greatly, give lovingly, give quickly, that the sick, wounded and suffering on all the battle fronts may not languish and perish in their hours of deepest need.

Here is a great work in which all can share. The Joint War Committee of the British Red Cross Society and Order of St. John is the only institution which carries voluntary aid to the sick and wounded of the British forces on land and sea in every region of the war. Thousands of lives of our bravest and best are saved through this splendid work. YOUR gift may save a life. Isn't it worth doing? It is. GIVE!

Make "Our Day" Your Red Cross Gift Day Give on October 19th

Ontario's princely gift in 1915 of $1,514,000 rank, a clarion merry call throughout the Empire. The British Red Cross were grateful beyond measure, and their appeal through Lord Lansdowne, President, now comes to us as to friends who sympathize and help. The need is greater to-day than a year ago—it is ever growing. Will Ontario do less than she did last year? No! GIVE—give a day's pay, give all you can, GIVE!

Premier Hearst Has Seen the Work

"My visit to England and France has aroused deeper appreciation than ever of the splendid work of the Red Cross. It deserves every support, and I trust the people of Ontario will respond with their usual generosity to the British Red Cross Appeal for October 19th."

HON. W. H. HEARST,
Prime Minister of Ontario.

He gives twice who gives quickly. Your help is needed NOW!

The Motherland's only direct appeal to us for help in this great war is her great Red Cross mercy work. Ontario's response must and will be quick and generous. Give through the Treasurer of your Local Committee, or send your subscription to the Clerk of your municipality—or, make it payable to Hon. T. W. McFarley, Treasurer British Red Cross Fund for Ontario, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

Don't let Your Stricken Defenders Call in Vain, but Give and heal!

Give and heal!

The Red Cross looks after the transportation of sick and wounded—it equips thousands of hospitals, rest and convalescent homes, it supplies countless requisites for hospital work, clothing and other comforts. Over 2,000 Red Cross Motor Ambulances are at work on the various fronts, while "rest stations," hospital trains, airplanes and launches, food for prisoners, books, special work for the blind, etc., are a few only of Red Cross activities.

The Sick and Wounded Call For Your Help Give on October 19th

Your gift will go entirely to the British Red Cross, where, again, through much voluntary work, the working expenses are cut down to only 2% of the total revenue. Thus if you give $10, actually $9.75 goes to the healing and saving of some stricken hero. The expenses of the Ontario Committee, advertising, printing, etc., are being met entirely by the Provincial Government.

Mr. N. W. Rowell, K.C., Brings a Red Cross Message

"I bring a message of cheer to those who have relatives at the front and who fear they may be wounded. I believe everything human skill can do, that human care and sympathy can provide, is being done and provided each day and each night throughout the year by the Army Medical Corps and the Red Cross. It is a perfect marvel of efficiency."

MR. N. W. ROWELL, K.C., Leader of the Opposition.

Wounded in the Trenches—Official Film, "Battle of the Somme."

Fine School Fair

A glorious October day brought a great crowd to the school fair held at McWhinney's on the 6th of Bruce. The children and their parents for miles around were present, and fully a thousand persons were on the grounds. The trustees, and some of the parents assisted in looking after the races and other contests, while the District Representative, Mr. MacKay, and his staff, in a large tent looked after the judging of the exhibits.

The exhibits were hardly as large as the previous year, but the quality was fine.

It was a great place for meeting one's friends and having a social chat, for everybody thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

A booth conducted by the Red Cross did a great business. In fact it was hard to get near it for the crowd.

The general greeting heard was "Isn't the school fair grand?" The prize list will appear next week.

Rev. Malcolm Campbell, of Montreal, was visiting his mother and brother, in Saugren Tp. last week.

Miss Rowland, of Walkerton, was the judge of the baking and fancy work at the school fair here last week.

TIVERTON

On Tuesday afternoon a large crowd attended Tiverton fall fair. The weather was with the society and it was a good show. The page band from Kincaid was present and rendered excellent music throughout the day. Another feature was the soldiers who paraded at the grounds. The races were not as good as in former years. The display in the hall was excellent.

Tiverton boys were given a banquet and civic send-off by their friends Tuesday noon.

NORTH BRUCE

A very pleasant evening was spent on Tuesday, October 7th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Martin, when the young people of our district assembled to present private Dick Hodge with a hand-made wrist watch. A really wonderful collection was made. Mr. Thomas Mann made the presentation. Following this a chorus was sung. "Here's to the boys of the North". The rest of the evening was spent in music and games and at 12 o'clock all enjoyed a dainty lunch. After having sung the National Anthem the people set out for home.

Dear Richard, we your friends and neighbors are gathered here tonight to say our respects to you, who have so honorably and nobly sacrificed your home and friends, for King and Country, by doing so you have greatly endeared yourself to us. With thousands of other brave men you are soon to sail for England. We have no prayer that you may not have to enter the conflict, but if you do we know you will trust in God and do what is right. As a token of our respect, kindly keep this watch and purse.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

To-morrow is Trafalgar Day, remember the British Red Cross.

Instead of asking for half-and-half, one asks for two and a half. Not much difference.

France is under the necessity of taking care of 35,000 blind soldiers. The economy to exploiters who are responsible for destroying the sight of these men deserves a hell more picturesque than any of "Billy" Sunday's imaginings.

President Wilson is to get Henry Ford's moral support, which may be a sign that Wilson may not be the president next year. Ford is alright as an automobile maker, but like plenty of others, his usefulness ends when he gets away from his regular occupation.

The editor of The Chesley Enterprise suggests that the making of poetry be placed in the High School curriculum. As if the newspaper man didn't have enough troubles now. Most poets require much publicity.

The abolition of vodka in Russia is the cause of $2,000,000,000 being deposited in savings banks by the common people of that country. This great prosperity of the masses in a war time serves to show the tremendous waste where liquor is consumed.

The war has proven a great thing for the makers of buttons. In order to be in style last week, a man should wear in his lapel a Brown Preparedness League button, Red Cross button and Rural School Fair Patriotic buttons. It will soon be too much button.

Parents are urged to send their children to school regularly. It is very discouraging to the teachers and a great handicap to the scholars, if the latter are allowed to stay home for half a day or a day occasionally as the whim takes them. Nothing but sickness should be allowed to interfere with regular attendance and then a note should be sent to the principal.

An exchange says: "Good schools, good churches and good roads are a good thing to have in a community. In order to have these things people must be educated to take proper pride in them. Your home paper can and will do more to encourage all these things than any other agency. The school children read with pleasure the home happenings, and as they grow up become interested in the community life and make useful citizens. Give the children the home paper to read. It costs you but a trifle."

We are going to need a new crop of workers after the war is over. We need even now in need of immigrant laborers. And we are going to be concerned about getting up a supply right along now. What steps are we taking towards educating the immigrant population? We are taking one notable step. We are selling enough muslin to Europe to kill the 600,000 able-bodied immigrants which we need this year. We can't have our laborer and kill him. —Detroit Journal.

In an article in last week's Christian Guardian, Rev. Byron Shaffer says some plain things about church going, and the excuses people make for not attending regularly. The blame is usually laid on the preacher. The average pastor has a lovely job. If he preaches too long he is dry; if too short he does not put enough preparation on his sermon. If he is always strictly in the people of his own church he is criticized because he does not draw outsiders to the church. If he mixes with "the people" he is a renegade and is accused of neglecting "his own" people. He has to please the officials, the managers, the Ladies' Aid, the Mission Society, the Singing circle and "The Old Women's Faith Finding Club," the members of which do not all wear skirts. He is expected to shoulder all the real spiritual work of the church, and if he does not, a ways do everything right up to the mark the devil chorale leads off in double time. The average preacher in a small place gets less than $1000 a year, and on that he has to dress well and address and educate his family well. In addition is he to please everybody who contributes so that month's salary, not accepting those who by rigid economy and stupid sacrifice manage to contribute 10c per week to the church's finances. And so it goes. And the church suffers because of it. We go to church and we criticize the preacher, we criticize the choir and let brotherly love die from starvation. And then we have to import a professional revival like Rev. Billy Sunday to revive us, and tell us our shortcomings. A little more cooperation, a few more words of encouragement to the preacher might make a wonderful difference in our churches. But after all, if we did not have the preacher to find fault with, a lot of us would, like Orpheus, find our occupations gone.

To-morrow the British Red Cross officials are looking for big things from Ontario, and they will not be disappointed. The British government has issued an order that it will not have any honorary colonels from Canada strutting about in England. This ought to be a hint to the Canadian patriotic crowd that it isn't necessary, nor useful, to make those appointments. The Provincial government is to use one half of the new money (this year by the mill on the dollar Provincial tax for the Canadian Patriotic fund. The plan is worthy, but when the people have responded so liberally to the Canadian Patriotic Fund should the government have added the war tax? Since the government has seen fit to hand over the money to the Patriotic fund is there not a danger in future Patriotic Campaigns that some people will sacrifice themselves on the ground that the government is already taxing them?

About thirty Ontario manufacturers and business men were touring Quebec last week in the hope of creating a better feeling between the people of the two provinces. At first glance it is hard to believe that there is anything but the best of feeling between Quebec and Ontario. But the manufacturers in Ontario have discovered that the French Canadian is not purchasing Ontario goods as he once did. So the big concerns caused the big dailies to cease backing French-Canadians because they will not resist as Ottawans have done, and an association was organized to visit Quebec. Banners were held and both the visited and visitor vied with each other in saying nice things. A Toronto member of the delegation, Mr. Findley, pointed all others in the complimentary line when he said: "I belong to a company which buys and sells in Quebec, and I want to say that the most given in the Province of Quebec is better than that from any other country. I would rather trust a Quebec farmer than any other man in the world." The excursion to extend the glad hand was a good thing, even if it was intended to bring grit to Ontario mills.

The school fairs continue to grow in attendance and interest. Everywhere in the district the children's fairs attracted great crowds, while the enthusiasm and interest shown by the children was splendid. In connection with these fairs some of the town centres, where the fairs are held, have begun to look upon these rural exhibitions as a holiday when all the townpeople should attend. Those in charge of the fairs do not want this to be, and therefore the school fairs are not left to the scholars and their parents and friends they will not be.

held in town centres, but in the open country. The idea in the school fairs is one of education in farm life, and it cannot be demonstrated successfully to the children and their parents when a crowd of others are on hand just to see what's going on."

In loving memory of Mrs. Herb Miller Died Sept. 27th, 1916, aged 47 years. We mourn a friend and neighbor kind and true. Transplanted in her youth to purer light, Though short her life, Her daily path was set with jewels bright.

What she thought wrong, she would denounce. And right if it she could. For what was right she'd firmly stand. Altho' alone, she stood. Kind friends, could go but to the river brink. She did not fear, alone, to venture o'er. She knew the Saviour's kind and loving hand. Would guide her safely to the other shore. May her sad hearted partner find relief. In serving God, who knoweth what is best. Begrudging not, the stricken hands and feet. Their quiet and peaceful rest. No more we hear her daily task. The busy hands and feet are laid to rest. The memory of her bright and useful life. Will be a memorial to those who knew her best. By "A Friend"

Our Battalion

Our boys they are going to represent France. They're going, the enemy's strength to reduce. Their faces bespeak their intention to win. If all batt'ns are like them they'll stand in Berlin. They're going, they're going, with many another. For Canada's giving her strength to the mother. The purpose is good and she'll never do eline. To help her who never was whipped on the Rhine. They're going, they're going, our grand CLX. They're going that war loving ruler to vex. They're going we pray, it is not to be envied. But to share in the honor of dear mother's friends.

For she is at war with an obstinate Kaiser. Who ere long will wish that he had done wiser. They're going we know that their hearts are just aching. To spoil the blue plans that the Kaiser's been making. They're going not because they are longing to fight. For fighting's not noble, nor manly, nor right. It is wicked to fight just because you are strong. The Germans do that, thus, we know they are wrong. But it's noble to fight when the cause it is just. And we know they are willing to fight if they must. They're going, they're going assistance to give. Not to cause men to die, not to help men to live. They're going, they're going, we wish them good luck. We'll boast of their courage we're proud of their pluck. They're going, we pray that by Him they'll be blest. And when victory's won they rejoice with the rest. A MOTHEM North Bruce

As more and more the sun came out, the stroll could have been taken in this shallow and brilliantly green valley winding among the hills, now brightly disporting and darkening to a shade, and ending to an end at the foot of a hill, where, in the center of which stood two chambers, and flanking trees stood side by side. When they had sat down at the foot of these trees, Marian saw a downy path and looked around her. The path was a narrow, fragrant one with ripe fruit, the perfectly ripe one being delicate split and glowing in bright red network on the border.

Miss M'Guffin had been able to offer her no substantial comfort than that she was not so miserably lighter since she had come. There was something about this intensely energetic and impulsive woman—her little lady, cool as a cucumber, her mixture of malice and overflowing sympathies, which appealed to Marian's confidence as nothing had ever before appealed. "You have done so much for the outworn little Miss More," she had made a statement as though to flatter.

"Are you quite sure that I will?" she asked, checking herself in the act. "You are secret for me to-day?"

"I am sure," said Miss M'Guffin, with a

Marion had been a week at Cane Hill when Miss McGrie met her one morning with a scrap of paper in her hand and a distressed look on her face.

"I have just got a message from the villages down on the coast," she said, in a brightly apologetic tone, "and I am sorry to hear that a terrible muddle it has been my lot to see through since I knew what a rotten mess it was. I have got to be away to-morrow, picked up two babies and a lot of things and I have got to be drenching them in proboscis. I must start immediately after luncheon and I shall not be back before dark. I mean that I must leave you to get on with the work of the day, and I shall be back about the middle of the following afternoon."

The road they had been following was at this point cut right across by a flat, bare, shelving down from the top of a steep escarpment, broken up by deep fissures, and with here and there a group of dead reeds, rustling in the breeze with a sharp papery sound.

"Jeremia is right," the Dry River man said. "There is no river here."

"The Dry River?" repeated Marlow, looking in some bewilderment. "Is it a river?" I thought it was a river, rather about ten rods run on."

I was still early in the afternoon when Marian reached the house, and after having submitted herself to examinations and the usual heretic's trial, she remained several days in a hospital to be more fully and completely filled up. It so happened that there was nothing pressing in the way of letters, the two friends therefore lay down and tried together—drawers with a consciousness which had rarely taller their lot. Marian repaired to the dining room and tried the piano, and the other, after about a half hour, lay on the average that a tone and that the song in the off-the-mountain away into brown

Mayor Brown, on the point of summoning the district attorney, was arrested by the police when another colored man, who was drunk, came out. The mayor was taken to the police station, where he was held for a few days. He was then released, and the matter was dropped. The mayor was not charged with any crime, and the case was closed.

A WORD FOR MOTHERS

It is a grave mistake for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer in silence—this only leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life.

If your work is tiring, if your nerves are excited, if you feel languid, weary or depressed, you should know that Scott's Emulsion overcomes just such conditions.

It possesses a concentrated form of the very elements to invigorate the blood, strengthen the tissues, nourish the nerves and build strength.

Scott's is strengthening thousands of mothers—and will, you try it.

cord short. The dealer was very glad to make a sale. In these days of high prices people are checking up more closely what they purchase. Not it is regretted that more are to be found in business who will give short weight and short measure.

The 160th is in England and down to hard training for the final task. If Christmas boxes are to be sent to the boys now is the time to get them ready.

Winter prices are getting almost prohibitive. Fortunately there is abundance of money this year, and bread and money make a good combination.

Grants to Farmers

Times readers will be interested in the following table showing grants to farmers in the immediate vicinity of Port Elgin. The grants are for 1916, while the amount of money paid out for prizes in the second column, is the basis on which the grants are made.

Tara	8518	$1062.25
Port Elgin	108	304.00
Paslay	315	815.00
Kilnashene	122	427.00
Trenton	113	353.00
Underwood	125	447.00

The department, over which J. Locke Wilson has charge for the Provincial Government has in mind in making these grants the idea of keeping the farms purely agricultural. But this idea, while excellent is not saving the full facts. The superintendent, Mr. Wilson, each year issues the same old threat, that he will not make a grant where horse races are held, but at the same time he gives the grant, thus making the regulations about as much value as the average town's by-law.

If the Department of Agriculture were to cut off the grants altogether and give bonuses only to those farmers who conduct a purely agricultural exhibiting the department would be rendering some service toward keeping up the smaller farms.

Thanks the Convassers

On behalf of Saenger T. I desire to assure all those who have heartily taken up the canvass for the Red Cross, and pressed to see successful a conclusion, that we greatly appreciate their services. And perhaps they will be their reward in realizing that some of our own may have the benefit of the splendid service they have rendered.

I thank you all.
G. Christie, Secy.

Col. Hugh Clark, M. P.,
Under-Secretary

Col. Hugh Clark, M. P., for North Bruce has been appointed secretary for the department of external affairs. The new position was created some weeks ago by order in council, marking the second step taken in the adoption of the system of under secretaries in connection with the Canadian administration service, the first having been the appointment of F. H. McCreedy, with the Militia and Defence. Col. Clark has already taken charge.

This is an acknowledgment of the ability of the member for North Bruce, and the appointment will be received with satisfaction by people of this district.

Col. Clark has often been mentioned as a possible Minister of Militia, and the fact that he has been chosen as an under secretary, may be the first step to the important position.

Just at present the new post does not carry a salary.

Interesting Letter From Lieut.

J. R. Geddes

Royal Flying Corps, Christ Church, Oxford,
Sept. 24, 1915.

Dear Editor—
In this letter I merely wish to give you an idea of the wonderful part Britain has taken in the war and of the enormous task she has accomplished in raising and equipping her army.

At the beginning of the war Britain had an army of 100,000, a mere trifle of the army now in the field, but although small that army was the best that ever entered a battle field. The efficiency of that body of troops was marvellous, and the manner in which it was equipped and sent forward proves the efficiency of the British military authorities.

War was declared Aug. 4, 1914, at 11 p.m. In 48 hours that army of 100,000 men was moving to meet the Germans. Does anyone step to think how the marvel was wrought? It is not my place to tell you how it was accomplished but only to place before you the enormity of the task.

Immediately on the declaration of war mobilization commenced. Mobilization consists in the bringing of a force from a peace to a war standing. Each man had to be armed, horses had to be procured, and both man and beast equipped. On the completion of this the troops were rushed to the ports, embarked, conveyed to the continent and landed. All this took but 48 hours. To anyone who does not think there seems nothing remarkable in that, but when one considers all that must be transported the task seems greater. One must consider that it takes at least three large trains to carry one battalion and its transport. Then for the 100,000 troops about 400 trains would be required. Now we have the trains we must consider the ships. To carry the troops across the channel about 600 boats would be required. It was easy enough to get the trains but it was not so easy to get the ships. They might be anywhere but in harbour. Elsewhere they were procured and the troops conveyed to France, how is not for me to say.

That is just a little taste for the one who understood the efficiency of the British army and authorities at the beginning of the war. However that army is no longer the same. The remainder of that grand 100,000. The retreat from Mons in the one operation whereby that remains to be heard of. Although that army is gone, another greater (if possible) has taken its place and is accomplishing the wonderful work now in progress. Kitchener's work in organizing the new army is showing its effects now.

But the army is not the only wonder of Britain. The supply of munitions as you know was very scant at first and thus led to the temporary delay of British success. Lord Jellicoe, here showed his ability and won the ammunition supply was abundant. Now, regardless of the enormous amount of ammunition being expended at the front, Britain is supplying about half Russia's ammunition, more than half France's and even storing up a reserve. In this manner Britain and her allies have gained the ascendancy in all branches of the service.

One branch which has shown remarkable development is the Royal Flying Corps. At the beginning of the war the British Air Service was practically nothing. Now, very few Hun aircraft dare come across the British lines. It is true there are frequent Zeppelin raids on England, but the results do not in the least repay the Germans for the expense they incur. A Zeppelin is an immense structure and a very powerful engine. For each raid the Zeppelin must be inflated with hydrogen gas, and the engines require several thousand gallons of petrol. Besides there are the bombs which are very expensive. The destruction of one Zeppelin will practically pay Britain for all she has lost. The people in Germany believe it should be in rules, but personally, since coming to England I have not even seen a chimney which has been touched. Of course some damage has been done but nothing worth noting. A few lives have been lost but still Britain lives as unaffected as ever.

The navy, too, has done its bit. Its accomplishments are known without my needing them. A few ships have been lost but still the German fleet remains inactive, thus proving that it has a right-of-dread of an encounter. The British fleet need not fight for the decision. It is the German that must move first. Until the German fleet can defeat the British, Britain is unconquered. From what I saw of one British fleet, I should consider the Germans would be wise to stay where they are.

I hope this letter may give the people at home an "eye opener" so to speak. If they would just see this as a nucleus and consider for themselves the work Britain has undertaken and is accomplishing, I am sure they would understand the situation much better. Volumes could be written and still there would be but little written. The Canadians are doing their part too, but must get because our mind. Your mother country is doing more. When you consider that practically every family has one of the most useful, the issue of the "Canada" seem small. The men are not the only ones taking part. Hundreds of thousands of women and girls are working long days and sometimes day and night to provide munitions and to take in the harvest. It is necessary as there are not sufficient men in the country to do all.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The London Advertiser believes that the career of the crooked politician has run its course. Come, come old man, enough of that dreaming!

Citizens generally are to be commended for the cleanliness they have shown in keeping the alleys free from refuse. A walk over the lower end of the town showed clearly that the people had taken pride in keeping the back door just as tidy as the front.

In order to provide farmers with additional help for their farming the Ontario Department of Education has decided to extend the regulation which allowed boys to work on farms, to the girls. This will meet with general approval, especially during this needy time.

Don't forget to write the boys at the front. A letter from home is a thing which cheers the boys in their work. It was the editor's privilege to see the picture of the battle of the Somme, arranged by the English and French governments, and one of the impressive things seen in the way the boys welcome the arrival of mail at the front. Don't forget the boys with letters and papers.

One of the little things which is helping the enemy these days is the time spent in debating and worrying about the loyalty of the other fellow. There are so many things needed, and so many ways in which one can do his bit, that it is necessary for all to get an eye on his or her particular place of duty and work so hard at it there won't be time to waste in arguing what some one else should do.

In another column, Pte. Bert Fella, who by the way is a native of England, a veteran of the Boer war, and who enlisted at Port Elgin with the 84th, tells of seeing many men in England who should be in khaki. Of course this is no doubt true, but it will hardly be a loyal or patriotic act for a Canadian who feels the call of duty to refrain from enlisting because others become hardened to the call.

The new premier of British Columbia is one who does not believe in business on Sundays. Lord Shaftesbury had some matters to talk over with the premier concerning the Canadian Pacific Railway, and being in Victoria on Sunday thought it not out of place to have Premier Brewster come to his hotel where he mentioned they might discuss some business details. A Vancouver paper says the premier is somewhat of a church-going citizen, and very courtously told his lordship that if Monday would do he would proceed with his usual custom of attending his church. In these days of commercialism it takes a man to put first things first.

Maritime province newspapers were glad to welcome Mr. J. G. Elliott, of the British Whig, Kingston, who is President of the Canadian Press Association and Mr. E. Roy Sayles, chairman of the weekly section of that organization. These gentlemen are figures of influence in Canadian newspaper councils and there is some hope that they will see that influence toward having the annual meeting of the C. P. A. held in the Maritime Provinces next summer. If this could be arranged many of the newspaper men of Canada who never have seen these provinces would find the visit well worth while, and this modest but not undervalued part of the dominion would profit to no small extent by having some hundreds of Canadian newspaper men as its guests.—St. John Telegraph

One thing the Department of Militia is seeking to do now is to have all recruits examined by a medical board, and the examination made decide whether the recruit is to be rejected or passed, so that there will be no training for months and then finding on the eve of going overseas rejection comes. What a disappointment it must have been to 120 officers and men of the 100th battalion to find, after training for nearly a year they were unfit. In some cases men have relinquished good positions to join the army and on the first few examinations have been passed, only to be finally rejected. With the new scheme by the medical board a man will know whether he is physically fit. This is the plan which should have been adopted in the beginning. However, it is satisfactory to know that at least the medical examination of recruits is being put on a proper basis.

Dominion Alliance speakers are enjoying certain duties for not carrying liquor advertising. Wonder what the Alliance thinks of the Weekly Press of Canada, which has continually refused to accept booze advertising for many years back? But in order to wake up the Alliance workers as to what influence the weeklies have in the Dominion, the editors only need to accept the contracts for advertising which are now being offered them by the booze makers. Not only have the men of the weekly press refused liquor advertising, but they have supported the cause with their contributions of money, given time on the platform, and best of all, the majority of the weekly editors have lived out what they preached. It does make one sick to hear these Dominion Alliance speakers stop over because a few dailies have discovered it best for themselves to refuse booze advertising.

A WOMAN'S MESSAGE

If you are troubled with weak, tired feelings, headache, backache, bearing down sensation, bladder troubles, indigestion, catarrhal conditions, pain in the side, irregularity of menstruation, or any other ailment, you are suffering from a woman's message. FEAR OF DEATH

Terror of the End Still Haunts Men and Women.

The statement has been made that the present generation is suffering from a hysterical fear of death, and that this explains the reluctance of some to enter the war. We doubt whether one age or one country differs from another in the fear of death. Certainly it cannot be maintained that modern civilization and its comforts have increased the fear of death. It was in the Elizabethan age, the age of heroes, as we regard it, that the prayer against "beasts, monsters and wild beasts" was said. It is in this comfortable, prosaic age, it is so common thing to hear a man or woman express a preference for a certain death to any other—death itself being inevitable.

Reason says that men fear death as children fear to go into the dark, and that they fear, not so much death as the stroke of death. There is no reason in the mind of man, he says, but it makes and masters the fear of death. "Revenge triumphs over death; love slights it; honor conquers it; grief flees it to life." Reason says that men and women fear death cheerfully in the discharge of the most common duties of life.

Men fear death to-day no more than they did a thousand years ago, but they are more reluctant to desert life. Capital punishment, once inflicted for a trifling thing, is now reserved for murder. We have a kinder sense than our ancestors of the sacredness of life. The modern movement against war is the result, not of an abject clinging to life, but of a strong repugnance to taking the life of another. When Kipling considers the calling of a soldier, he says that he is honored, not because he is willing to die, but because he is willing to live.

If reluctance to take life is merely a kind of modern or even-world sentimentalism, what shall we say of the general abhorrence of violence or of violence? Is the military service merely a form of hysteria? Surely an increased regard for the sacredness of life is a sign of advanced civilization. Our own lives are given to us in trust, and may be laid down only for some cause that is greater than life itself. It is not, nevertheless, of the great need to be cultivated, but a deep and abiding sense of duty.

Modern civilization may also diminish the passion of hatred, and that is surely an unmitigated benefit. Of all the calamities of war, hatred is the worst—more than the destruction of property or the loss of life. Hatred is universal. To the extent that it is diminished, men grow in strength of mind and heart.

Wonderful Bilious Remedy

Actually Prevents Attacks

There are two great causes of biliousness—they are constipation and defective liver action.

When Dr. Hamilton's Pills are taken, they not only correct constipated bowels, but act upon the liver as well. They cause the liver to secrete bile, which purges and gives temporary relief. Dr. Hamilton's Pills remove the conditions which cause biliousness, and thus permanent cures are effected. No person who occasionally suffers from biliousness will ever suffer from it again. The headache and stomach or bilious complaint. Get a 25c box to-day.

NO TANKS!

There has been a lot of talk in Montreal from East Frisia to Altonara. It has travelled, says a Fatherland, and the cause of all this trouble which has arisen is the Tanks.

The Tanks are little animals of thirty and forty tons, which are used to tow the ships. They are very heavy on the water, and they are very heavy on the land. They are very heavy on the water, and they are very heavy on the land.

FIRST TRAIN OPERATED

TORONTO TO MONTREAL SIXTY YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Montreal, Oct. 27.—This is the sixtieth anniversary of the inauguration of railroad communication between the cities of Montreal and Toronto. On October 27th, 1856, the Grand Trunk operated its first through train between these two important Canadian cities.

Toronto and Montreal had been dependent for their communication upon the St. Lawrence waterway and the stage routes, and after a long period of negotiation had been established. The Grand Trunk Railway Company, incorporated in 1853, to build a rail line between the cities, the undertaking being looked upon as one of the great national undertakings. The first section from Montreal to Brockville, 125 miles, was completed in November, 1853, and it was on the 27th of October of the following year that the through train from Brockville to Toronto was first operated, joining up the two principal centres.

The company had promised the people of Canada that it would provide these new facilities for travel during the winter of 1854, and it accomplished its pledge, in spite of many difficulties. The general manager of the road in his report to the directors in the following year said: "Northward standing all these obstacles, the train

For Beauty and Health Oil Work-ers Should Find Time.

Can you relax absolutely five minutes at a time, three times a day? If you can, it will go a long way towards making and keeping you beautiful, says a writer. Last week I stood on the street corner, looking at the people who were passing. The people were closing. It was the time of day when all faces are mingled together, and in a few minutes a new lot of people were appearing. A long line of people were waiting for a car.

MEAT PRICES WILL NOT COME DOWN

The cheerful news from the Department of Agriculture. Meat prices will not worry the man or woman who knows that the nutritive value of meat is the same price, the same high quality, supplying all the nutriment a man needs for a half-day's work. Here is an explanation of the old horsehoe superstition. St. Dunstan was a child who was very white at work in his large, the devil tried to disguise and requested Dunstan to show his "shoe" foot. The saint, although he recognized his malign intent, agreed to show him, but he made a condition that he would not show him until he had made a promise to him. St. Dunstan begged him to do this. The devil agreed, but only after he had made a promise to him. St. Dunstan begged him to do this. The devil agreed, but only after he had made a promise to him.

Your Autumn Cold

Take it in time. Hold up that cold. It is easy to prevent. Follow the first advice. Also secured from the back of the book, in the quantity in the place. The medicine stimulates circulation and keeps the system in a state of health. If you can, take a drink of hot water immediately and repeat every half-hour during the day. Many severe illnesses have their foundation in a cold, which, if taken in time, can readily be prevented by simple means.

A NOBLE WOMAN

Probably never before in the war has the spirit of the women of Canada been more strikingly exemplified than in an instance which occurred in Hamilton just today. Capt. Rev. A. H. MacGillivray pastor of St. John Presbyterian church. When the 178rd Highland Battalion was organized he offered his services for overseas as chaplain, was accepted, and has been with the battalion at Borden. A month or so ago Mrs. MacGillivray underwent a very serious operation and is still in the hospital.

of the doctor and nurse. Seeing the predicament his brother chaplain was in, Capt. Rev. W. G. Martin approached Capt. MacGillivray and offered to transfer with him, and go overseas, leaving Capt. MacGillivray with Tiamu.

It looked as if Capt. MacGillivray might have to give up his commission. His commanding officer sincerely hoped that he would, at least, be able to accompany the battalion to Halifax—he admitted it would be asking entirely too much to even suggest that he should charge upon public charities, and that work whereupon they are employed has nothing to do with the war. Those who are really responsible for the suffering and death of the German workers who prefer to live in the slums rather than in the hands of their labor and England has prohibited the importation of raw materials into Belgium.

It is necessary to destroy that there would be no lack of work in Belgium, if the Germans had not made a clean sweep of raw materials, copied and sold in the factories, as they perhaps make a clean sweep of the leather, which would be used in the factories, as they did not regulations in the manufacture of parts of machinery and machinery. Finally, they had not shared probably, with the German goods exported to Holland, in order to keep them out of the market.
The only remaining option is, compulsory for German industry. It is necessary to add that industries of the Germans as having no concern with the German industry, and time-killing, furnish the German army with materials for concrete, steel, and for fortification and consolidation.

If they desire to use the arms of our workmen to repair and maintain roads, which it is necessary to deport them like cattle, instead of employing them in the neighborhood of their homes and families. The truth is that Germany, by these exactions of the Roumanian Government, denounces to civilized nations the violations of the laws of nations and the rules of the League of Nations.

30 to 40 DIE IN OPEN DRAW

Boston Elevated Car Pluges Into Channel.

Victims Trapped in Thirty-five Feet of Water.

Boston Herald.—The 11:10, at from 20 to 40 persons were not counted when a crowded passenger car of the Boston Elevated Street Railway plunged through an open drawbridge into Port Channel, just outside the city station terminal.

Twelve other persons were rescued from the water by life boats and the one man, Thomas J. Cannon, died after being brought to shore. Two bodies were found with grappling irons, but the recovery of other bodies was delayed, as it was believed they were pinned in the car, which rested on the bottom of the channel, 25 feet deep.

Gerard Walsh, motorman of the car, who jumped before it went over the edge of the draw, asserted that the accident was due to the fact that there was no light on the gate protecting the opening. He and George Melson, the conductor, who also leaped and so-saved his life, were arrested on technical charges of manslaughter, and the police were unable to learn exactly the number of the passengers.

Some of the rescued people estimated the number of the passengers at approximately 40. Harvey White, publicity agent of the Boston Elevated Railroad, in a statement issued soon after the accident, said the information agreed with that of the police, that about 40 persons were unaccounted for.

Most of the passengers were employed in the Western Electric Company's factory in South Boston, and were returning to their homes from work. Many women and children were included in the number. The car was of the closed type, with a partially closed door and was not

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The Times welcomes letters from not-diers at the front.

Thinking of the high price of eggs reminds me of the days when we were careful enough to throw the shells away.

Fancy how the German newspapers will feature the case Canadians are making just now about the war is affecting prices of foodstuffs.

Over a hundred barrels raised the price of shaves to 10 cents last week. If whiskers would only understand to economize.

The wife of the mayor of Champlain, Quebec, gave birth to her 24th child last week. Large families are the rule in the Province of Quebec. In Ontario it is the exception.

Since the buyers have gone through the district, fowl is scarce. It will soon be the case, in fowl as in wheat, shipped to the large city and then shipped back to the consumer. On the way the price increases considerably, and the producer gets none of the increase, either.

Great changes have come about through prohibition in Ontario. A brewery which had existed in St. Thomas for 14 years has been converted into a milk depot. From now on it won't be a reflection if a man is seen "rubbing the can" from the old brewery.

It really makes little difference—Hughes or Wilson—one was for high tariff and a full dinner pail, the other for "peace and prosperity." These are both fine things in their place, but not when all the world is in the throes of war for liberty and equal rights for all nations.

A motorist in Toronto got clear of a fine for having his rear light out, by pleading that the woman who was riding with him had lost feet, and that in her endeavor to warm them she kicked off the switch. Woman was intended to be a helpmeet, anyway. Even the cold footed ones.

Germany is responsible for starving Belgians, starving Serbians, starving Americans, and is doing her best to put Roumanians in the same plight. But because Germany is responsible hardly relieves those who are more fortunate from the responsibility of giving assistance.

Farmers in Alberta and Saskatchewan are allowed to work Monday, where it is urgent. A great proportion of the crop is still to be threshed. The editor of The Times, who visiting Saskatchewan last fall, in conversation with a leading farmer, was told that before prohibition came it was the custom for threshers to quit Saturday afternoon and not show up until Tuesday. It would seem that since the boys were out but can't get enough work.

Subscribers for The Times. Don't borrow your neighbor's paper. It looks small if we were to publish the names of all those whom neighbors have asked to send special copies to, it would make interesting reading. As one man put it: "It's fierce. I've sooner sit down to read The Times than to add 50 and 50 cents to borrow it." If you are a borrower stop being a nuisance to your neighbor, and buy a paper of your own.

At the Baptist Convention held at Hamilton a short time ago a Toronto preacher, T. T. Shields declared "that the rural communities were depending for the support of their churches upon the money subscribed in many cases by hard working shop girls and poor people in the cities, and that if these thriving farmers would not support their churches the pastors should be withdrawn from the fields." If this statement is any where near the truth, then neither the poor people in the cities nor the farmers have had a fair deal. Perhaps the whole trouble might be attributed to the business methods of the ministers in city offices who have charge of the mission administration.

Too bad the old-time plowing matches have been allowed to pass out in this district. What a great time it afforded for the men of the townships to get together, and also to give an interest in good plowing and good farming. Why not a revival of the plowing matches!

The troubles of the young ladies are many these days. After getting able to knit fairly well they now have to learn to bake bread. Never mind, girls, there will be a lot of homes coming back soon who will be looking for young women who can knit and sew. The old-fashioned duties make happy dispositions.

Ontario government may build some good roads in the Province. It would be interesting to know just how long they expected to gather in over half million dollars in motor licenses each year and spend the money for other purposes than on the roads. Quebec has led the way in the matter of building some good roads, and the Ontario undertaking ought to be comparatively easy since they can learn something from the Quebec roadmakers.

From Trafalgar day, 1915 to Trafalgar day 1916, the little burg of Port Elgin, in three personal canvasses has raised $1,000 for Red Cross and Patriotic funds. This in no way included the work of the women, who have raised in money and much knitting and sewing, large sums. Port Elgin's population is 1520. This is written in the spirit of boasting, but rather that of commendation to our people for the generous spirit which exists.

Everywhere some reports that since prohibition came in force there has been little drunkenness and jails are becoming empty because there are no police court cases. But the brewers and distillers are not letting up in their efforts to force whiskey on the people, and it is to be regretted that newspapers and other publications are to be found willing to help in the campaign of bringing back whiskey, by allowing their columns to be used for advertising. It is rather amusing to go into a professed temperance worker's home and find the daily paper's subscribers for contains big advertising pleading for the use of whiskey.

Now that butter is demanding such high prices as agitation is beginning in the newspapers that the government allow the manufacture of oleomargarine in Canada. The Stratford Herald says that the Old Country newspapers are carrying advertisements of oleomargarine at 14 cents and 16 cents a pound, made from choicest oats and milk. If this is allowed to be sold in Britain, it would seem to be had for the Canadian consumer, and it is not much more than half the price of butter. If all that is printed about oleomargarine as it is manufactured and sold by Britain is true, the least the Dominion government could do would be to make some inquiries into the subject and have the prohibition of the manufacture and sale here removed, if these are correct.

Thrift

The longer the war continues, the greater the financial burden that Canada will have to bear. It is, therefore, a patriotic duty and necessity to save as large a portion of our earnings as we can. The larger the savings, the better the country can finance its obligations, and the better the individual will be prepared for any emergency.

Death of Mrs. James Welsh

The death of Mrs. James Welsh, whose name was Mary Chalmers, took place at her home on Con. 4 Arran, on Thursday last week, from the effects of a paralytic stroke. The late Mrs. Welsh was born in Scotland and came to Canada when fourteen years of age, settling near Brant where she resided with her brother. In 1876 she was married to Mr. James Welsh who died over two years ago. Shortly after the marriage they moved to 106 Con. 4 Arran where Mrs. Welsh resided until her death. She was of a fragile disposition and was held in the highest esteem by her many friends and neighbors. She was a member of the Methodist church at Mount Hope and was a valued helper in everything for the welfare of the church. The following family survive: John and Elizabeth, Arran Tp. Robert on the homestead, Martin, Port Elgin, Mrs. Harry Faber, Sarnia; William, Mrs. C. McMurtry, Port Elgin; Mrs. John Brinkman, Arran Tp.; Miss Maude Port Elgin. EDITORIAL COMMENT

Housewives may reduce the cost of living by taking their own bread, doing their own sewing, planning their own diets, bolting socks for the family, shopping in person and lifting all sacks. But why live at all.

Last week's Underwood correspondence noted that an Underwood woman had begun her 100th pair of socks for soldiers. Many of the country women are rendering great service, and there is little else about it either.

"It's an ill wind," etc. for some Sir Sam Hughes has stepped out of the limelight, Col. Hugh Clark, M. P. for Bruce, and editor of The Kinross Review, may fall in for the plum. At any rate, it is counted fairly certain that he will be admitted to the cabinet without portfolio.

With the resignation of Sir Sam Hughes a great many daily newspapers should be happy. It is noticeable, though, after succeeding in getting Mr. Sam's scalp, and he is out of office, what a lot of nice things they are inclined to say of him.

The Renfrew Mercury, a responsible and carefully conducted paper, says:—"Canadian customs have lately been willing to tolerate the United States dealers at 90 cents per dozen cans and charging for the same goods in Canada $1.25 per dozen cans. This is starting, but is only an example of what customs of the Dominion are doing in boosting the cost of living."

The British government may prohibit the use of white flour because of its high price. This is a move to head off the millers in this and other countries from obtaining exorbitant prices during war time. The effect of the prohibition will be to save the people money, break up a monopoly of flour prices and make the people healthier. The bread made from the whole wheat or the coarse dark flour is much more digestible, and therefore more healthful.

Captain Pooley, a recruiting speaker at Hamilton said he "was ashamed of Canadians. It was not 'lack' but greed, that was keeping Canadians at home. Canada, if she was not careful, would sink in the nostrils of the British Empire. They had done nothing for the navy, and she was a disgrace to the Empire." It is regretted that men holding responsible positions such as a captaincy in a voluntary army of over 400,000 men should be allowed at large. This is the kind of fool talk which is belittling the officers and men who form Canada's army, and Canadians generally.

Sir Sam Hughes has been fired from the Borden government and he is no longer head of the Canadian army. It may be that it was good business on the part of Premier Borden to ask for his resignation, but it is certainly a reflection on Canada that such a disagreeable episode should happen during a time when the country is at war and needs the co-operation of all its people, especially its leaders in Parliament. With this break in Canadian cabinet circles there is bound to be more or less friction. Sir Sam, although not a Minister of Militia, is a member of Parliament, and he will make it interesting for those who, he claims, have stabbed him. The regrettable part of the whole proceedings is that the government has known for long of the mismanagement of the militia department, and through this the nation has suffered.

Cash System by Grocers

As a result of advancing prices and the fact that retailers cannot get goods without the cash, conditions have become rather serious for the grocers and merchants who have been in the habit of carrying accounts without pay for months, and years, in most cases.

For a time too long to remember small town stores have been doing business on the credit basis, to the disadvantage of themselves, and the advantage of the large city stores. The latter get the cash and was rich, while the small town merchant gives the credit and dodges the shreds.

But perhaps the present war crisis may be the salvation of the small town merchant, for a movement is on foot to establish a cash basis, and it is talking head rapidly.

In Hanover the grocers have made the move. The Post last week had the following:

"As will be noted in our advertising columns, several Hanover grocers are inaugurating the cash system commencing on Monday next. These grocers claim that they have so much money on their books that they have difficulty in financing their business. It is a town like Hanover where the factories pay every two weeks there is really no good reason why the cash system should not work out to the advantage of both the buyer and the seller. When the day of settlement is deferred, as in the future—in some cases in the distant and misty future—there is a tendency on the part of all of us to become extravagant in our buying than if we had to pay spot cash. The cash system will make us cultivate the saving habit. The grocers, too, claim that they will be able to sell cheaper, and are making arrangements to improve their delivery service. We trust that the new system of the grocer will work out satisfactorily."

Apparently the Hanover merchants have been discussing their problems, and are making united action. This kind of co-operation will, in the end, benefit the people as well.

At Rest

In the death of Mr. Peter Dowie which occurred at his home Nov. 2nd 1918, the Cottonwood district lost one of its oldest and most highly respected citizens. He was born in Scotland in 1839, and emigrated to Canada at an early age, where he lived until his death at the ripe old age of 88 years. Mr. Dowie was married in Bruce County Ontario. Fifty six years ago to Miss Sarah McDonald of the same county of Bruce, who proved to be a worthy helpmate and ideal mother. In 1903 Mr. Dowie left Port Elgin, Bruce County on a trip west for the benefit of his health and was so greatly taken up with the western country, he took up land, built a home, west of Mr. Bowie, and family and here in the old home Mr. Bowie resided till his death.

Of a kindly disposition and warm hearted nature he soon gained a large circle of friends and his was a "home" in the true sense of the word, where one and all, friend and neighbor were given a hearty welcome. Mr. Dowie was a staunch Presbyterian of the old Scotch type, and was the oldest member of the Cottonwood church and in his death the church has lost a faithful member, and a generous supporter. The funeral services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. R. E. Pollock, who referred to the many changes that had taken place since Mr. Bowie left his residence here, and of the great number he received visitors in his home. The remains were interred in the family plot in the Cottonwood cemetery. Mr. Bowie is survived by his widow and three sons, James and William of the Cottonwood district, Homer, Excel, Alberta, and five daughters, Mrs. P. G. Arthur, Mrs. I. H. House and Mrs. U. B. Wilson of this district, Mrs. J. B. Cowie, Capt. Sarah Atchew and Mrs. Geo. E. Hoyt, Portland Oregon. One daughter, Dorothy having been married to a Canadian, a number of years ago, and his son Alexander, who was so well and favorably known in this locality having preceded his father in March 1917.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Bowie and family in the loss of a loving father and a kind neighbor, and a heart-rended citizen.

The late Mr. Bowie is a brother-in-law of Mr. Archie McDonald, Port Elgin.

8,000 Students Trained for Business

Northern Business College

A School with a Record of Useful Service

OWEN SOUND, ONT.

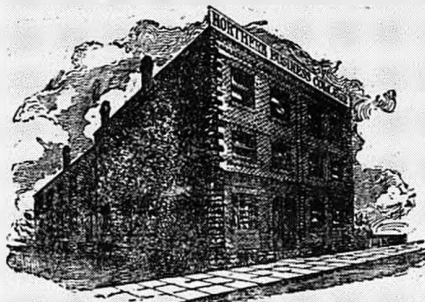

Courses of Study

On November 1st, 1881, the Northern Business College was established by the present Principal, C. A. Fleming, at Owen Sound, and its record of 35 years of faithful training of young men and women for business life is unparalleled in Canada. Since the opening over 8,000 students have been in attendance and each year the sphere of usefulness is extended. Graduates are occupying responsible positions in the commercial life of every important business centre of Canada and the United States, while men and women in every walk of life have found the instruction received at the Northern Business College an asset and an advantage.

From a school started in a very small way 35 years ago, the Northern Business College grew rapidly until it is recognized as a leader in the Dominion. Each year the courses of study have been revised and every approved modern method of business included. The school is equipped with the latest appliances and systems with which the student is made familiar. It has always been the policy of the Northern Business College to be abreast of the times; that is to teach the student exactly what he or she would have to do in an up-to-date office.

Principal C. A. Fleming, who personally directs the courses of instruction, is a Fellow of the Institute of Chartered Accountants and is known throughout Canada as one of the leading men in the profession. He is author of eight standard business works, used in scores of schools and thousands of offices throughout the Dominion. Every student benefits by his wide business experience. He has been particular in his selection of teachers and has surrounded himself with a staff of experienced specialists, each experienced not only in teaching but in office work. The instruction at the Northern Business College is "the best," and to it is credited the splendid success of the students of the institution for over a third of a century. No other school in Canada has at the head of its Faculty a Fellow of the Institute of Chartered Accountants, and is assisted by instructors of as wide experience.

The management of the Northern Business College many years ago realized the need of first-class accommodation and proper environment in order to do the best work. The three story building has been fitted up expressly for school purposes and has one-third of an acre of floor space, eighteen rooms lighted by sixty windows, on a quiet street within two minutes' walk of the Business Section. The alarm bell is extra good, and ventilation is secured by electric exhaust fans which keep fresh air constantly in the rooms. With the latest sanitary arrangements, including sanitary tiled floors, the Business College premises are unequalled in Canada. There is plenty of room for proper grading and classification and the accommodation is such that students can do their best work. It is the best building and equipment that enterprise can suggest and capital obtain.

Special War-time Course for Young Women

Young women may "do their bit" by preparing for positions in offices, banks, etc., and thus be in a position to take the place of any young man who is willing to go to the front. Such a training may be obtained at the Northern Business College, Owen Sound, where a special War-Time course of study has been arranged to enable young women to prepare quickly for office work. A thorough training is given every business pursuit, and actual practice in the required duties. Many young women are now in attendance and there seems to be no limit to the opportunities for young women in filling positions in offices at the present time. The school is open the year round and the students may enter any day as the instruction is largely individual.

Preparatory Course

This is a special course of study for those whose early education has been neglected, and includes Reading, Arithmetic (from the simplest principles to advanced work), Spelling and Meaning of words, Composition and Correspondence, Measurements.

Approved by Chartered Accountants

The Institute of Chartered Accountants of Ontario recognized the excellence of work of the Northern Business College, and admitted it into affiliation. In other words the thorough courses of instruction of the N. B. C. have the approval of the Institute of Chartered Accountants.

Business Course:

Under the supervision of a Chartered Accountant, the education offered in this department is peculiar, in that it is intended for every class of business for man and woman. Some may have the impression that the Business Course at the Northern Business College is simply to train Bookkeepers. Were this true there would be little use in its existence. The work is broad and practical; to enable the student, no matter what business or profession he intends following—Farming, Manufacturing, Teaching, Selling, etc., etc.—to grasp every business opportunity, to transact all business intelligently, to have confidence in your own ability, and to gain a knowledge of the principles of business law and practice; to secure you from fraud and imposition.

The following subjects are included in this course:—
Bookkeeping, including Business Practice, Loose-Leaf Systems, Cost and Joint Stock Accounting, Bill and Charge Systems.

Rapid Calculation
Commercial Arithmetic
Banking and Finance
Correspondence and Salesmanship
Commercial Law
Bonds and Debentures Mensuration

Passing of Robert Crosby Sims.

In the passing of Robert Crosby Sims at Alton last week there is removed one of the oldest men in this part of the province, for he was 95 years of age. Despite these years his health was good. He was predeceased by his wife three years ago, and is survived by six sons and two daughters, Harry, Andrew and David of Calumet, Mich., Paul of Gaston, Oregon, Ross of Melville, Sask., James of Winnipeg, Man., and Mrs. Chas. Keates of Arzon and Miss R. H. of Alton. Three sons Robert, Albert and Hamilton predeceased their father to the life beyond. Eight grandsons and thirteen grand daughters and ten great grandchildren are also beneficiaries of a fond grandfather. One brother, Mr. George Simpson of Toronto and one sister, Mrs. George Bell, of Port Elgin are also left. In an obituary in The Tara Leader, the following facts are noted. In 1851, Mr. Simpson came to Canada settling in Georgetown, Ont.

While living there, he worked on the Grand Trunk Railway to Joseph and while in this calling met Elizabeth Ross of Georgetown. They were married Oct. 23, 1856 and set up their new home in Luther township in the midst of the woods on the banks of the Grand river near Grand Valley. For more than fourteen years their home was the chief social centre for the whole community. Since there were no hotels in those days there, the travelling public rich and poor, ladies and white, came to the Simpson home. The large hall was the district and none ever went hungry or had the door shut upon them. Hospitality was ever a leading characteristic in both Mr. and Mrs. Simpson.

When the circuit riding Methodist preacher found them ten miles in the bush, he found a godly home and a place where church and Sunday School services could be held. The sons and daughters will remember how that after the morning Sunday School everyone stopped at the Simpson home for dinner and supper. For another session of the Sunday School was held by Mrs. Simpson out in the garden if the weather permitted. In 1890 the family moved to Arzon township and about sixteen years ago moved into Altonville village where they have since resided. Mr. Simpson will be remembered as the ship builder of the Goderich harbor and was prominent in railroading in his early days. Ten years ago, Oct. 23, 1906 Mr. and Mrs. Simpson celebrated their golden wedding. Just before that date Mr. Simpson was taken ill and never recovered his health, passing away three years ago last May. Since then his wife has been eagerly looking forward to the glad reunion. It was a strange coincidence that the reunion should come just sixty years to the day and hour from that first happy wedding day. A grand old servant of God has slipped away from us. The Methodist church will miss him. It is a year ago when the infirmities of age compelled him to remain at home, he never missed a church service or a prayer meeting.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Dr. Howard, of the Entomological Bureau of the United States, estimates that a single flying fly by September will have progeny amounting to 5,894,720,000,000 adults. Therefore swat the fly both summer and winter.

A Galician has received a letter from a friend in England who states that eggs are selling at 55 cents a dozen, butter 65 cents a pound, American sugar 12 cents a pound and the best ham 50 cents a pound. And yet a letter in a letter to The Times this week says one can get leaches in England cheaper than in Ontario. If the above figures are correct it would appear that living in England is a serious problem for those who are not wealthy.

Harley Dewar, M. P. P. says Canadian nickel is being shipped to Germany where it is manufactured into bullets to shoot Canadians. The Hon. A. E. Kemp, who is the new Minister of Militia, says that Canadian nickel is not going to Germany. Apparently the political parties provide the people with everything else but real information. You pay your money and you take your choice.

A staunch Conservative of Bruce township and a reader of The Times suggests to the editor that since the Liberals don't seem to be able to get a candidate to oppose Hugh Clark M. P. that it would be a good plan, now that the Colonel is mentioned for cabinet honors to give him acclamation. We suppose, however, that those who have charge of the Liberal interests in this riding have their man, but they are keeping it dark. Kind of a dark horse, you know.

With corned pipes doubling in price we are moved to predict a hard winter for the Great West. The Advertiser. But the editor of The Advertiser does not know the habits of The Mercury men as well as we do. Big long black cigars, about like a poker, one every other hour, is the way The Mercury editor prepares for the grinding out of those snappy editorials.

Twelve employees of the Chicago Health Department, are testing out a plan to show that poisons can live properly on 40 cents a day. They are called the "dirt squad" and are compelled to eat slowly taking forty minutes to a meal. The contention is that the faster one eats the more one eats. It is noted that the commissioner will not allow the experimenters to take other nourishment between meals, and it is further noted that breakfast consisted of fresh apples, liver, bacon, one egg, molasses, butter and coffee. Must not take other nourishment between meals! Goodness, what were the ordinary meals of these men before they enlisted in the "dirt squad"? We should think, after eating a breakfast like that they would require a stomach pump rather than further nourishment.

It was indeed a thoughtful move on the part of the Patriotic Fund officials when they ordered that a family should receive patriotic money when the husband and father was transferred to what is called "the special service," and The Times is glad that the authorities, after public indignation was shown, have changed the order. In a recent issue The Times in a lengthy article explained what the "special service" was, and the dissatisfaction which existed in the soldier's mind, in saying nothing of the feelings of the family when informed they would be deprived of Patriotic relief. It is no fault of the soldier that he is in the special service squad, to do a lot of other things than for what he enlisted. He should neither see overseas or discharged. His family, should, receive support until he is discharged.

The first order to withdraw support by officials at Ottawa raised a storm of protest, and rightly so. The people who give the money want all treated alike.

The editor of The Home Journal says that many of us live on good wholesome food until company comes. Then appear the frits and disappear the staple and satisfying. And, curiously enough, it has exactly the opposite effect we intend. The company knows that we do not live the way we have "dolled" up the table and food. And the "company" is disappointed at not getting a simple home meal. Why do we do it? Why not let people come into our lives, our homes, and in our tables, and feed us as we are used to eat? The result is that they would like us infinitely better and find us much more quickly. There is no home more pleasant to enter than that in which, as guest, one is received not as "company" but as one who comes to share our meal and our companionship. A little more of the natural quality and a little less of the so-called entertaining in our intercourse with each other would be so much better. Let food and us be as one; our home as it is; our table as ourselves eat at it!

RE-OPENING

SERVICES

Donblane Presbyterians had re-opening services at their church last Sunday. For the past few weeks the church has been in the hands of the decorator and painter until now a neat and very comfortable appearance is given to the building.

Rev. Mr. Thynne preached the sermon and there were large congregations. Forty three years ago Mr. Thynne was called to the Donblane appointment and it was a very happy occasion for him that he was able to assist Pastor Watt in the service.

On Tuesday evening the members and friends assembled to enjoy an evening in speech and song. Mr. Watt was chairman, while the speaker of the evening was Mr. J. C. Eckford, of Southampton, who reminded us with the beginning of Donblane church and the men and women who were prominent in the community since that time. In giving reminiscences of by-gone days Mr. Eckford held the audience closely as he told of hardships of pioneer life in the heavy forests.

Particularly interesting were his references to the various families who first settled here.

Rev. Mr. Thynne gave a brief review of the various pastors and work of the church, which showed splendid activity in church affairs since the beginning.

Ex-warden McCannell, made a happy speech which was much appreciated. Other speakers were, Arthur Field, and E. R. Sayles. Those assisting in the musical program were Mrs. D. L. Lant, James Scott, Alex. Branton, Sandy McDonald.

The officers of the church are: Elders—J. T. Wallace, J. H. Webster, A. J. Rowland, J. J. Rowland, J. J. Webster, D. F. Christie, Wm. Young, John Gusselock, John Wallace.

Secretary treasurer—John Scott, S. A. Sept.—G. Christie.

MEAT TO

BE HIGHER

While one is thinking of the many increases, it is noticeable that meat prices are not any higher than at this time last year. In fact beef is a trifle lower, caused no doubt by the fact that farmers are bringing to market their beef cattle, getting rid of them because of the high prices of grain. The dealers in live stock such as Messrs. Collier, James, Karcher and Jamieson also make note that there is considerable beef being brought in for shipment which is not as prime as during the autumn and early fall. This means that cattle are getting scarce, and for that reason meat prices will go on rising about next spring.

According to reports farmers in all sections are getting rid of their young pigs because of the high price of feed grain. But is this wise? While most farmers are hurrying out of the hog raising business for a time, there are some of those who are buying up and feeding more, while some who are not operating farms think it good business to buy small pigs and buy the grain to feed, believing there is money to be made even on this basis.

However this may be, it looks as if the farmer who has the forty-eight to some porkers coming along, even if he has to buy considerable feed, will be able to make some money, for the demand for good bacon and pork will be greater than usual next spring, and as a consequence prices are more than likely to reach the top notch.

Journey of the 160th Battalion Across Canada and the

To the Editor of The Times:

We left London, about 1.30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon Oct. 14, and after having a rather rapid trip across Western Ontario, which we all enjoyed much as the weather was exceedingly fine.
Toronto about 8 o'clock in the evening. Left Toronto about 9 o'clock, and as we passed through the city the people showed their sympathy towards us. Many of the men came running up to the truck waving their hands and cheering and shouting at the top of their voices.
There are some of the little things which we soldiers deeply appreciate and which make us feel as if it were worth while to be a soldier. Darkness overtook us soon after we left Toronto and as we passed through the Lake Ontario towers, we were also very cordially received. When we would pull into the different stations the men of Canadian girls would come up to the car windows and bid us good-bye and shake us by the hand. Some of them posted our letters for us and some were even so kind as to hand us things to eat. After passing very comfortably eight we arrived in the early dawn of the Sabbath to find ourselves just a short way from Montreal, going along the banks of the St. Lawrence. We arrived at Montreal about 7 o'clock a. m. Here we had our first breakfast on board train which was thought very good under the circumstances. After staying here about an hour we began our journey on through Quebec where we were not received so cordially as in Old Ontario.
However, we have to give them some credit, for there are people in this province who are just as loyal as anywhere else. We made particular note of one small village, where we saw an old lady of about seventy years of age, coming out to the station to bid us good-bye.
It was as we passed by. A good many of the French-Canadian girls also showed their interest in us, and were sitting on the stations and cheering and wave-ing at us. Some of them even came up to the car windows and shook our hands.
The St. Lawrence is a wonderful structure, it is, I would judge, about one mile and a half long and must have taken an enormous amount of labor to build it.
The Province of Quebec out of Montreal, is a very nice stretch of country. The farms differ from Ontario, in that they are long and narrow and the houses are so close together. The farms are not so big as those of Ontario.

They are as much smaller and hardly any of them have stone walls round them. Nevertheless the farms as a whole, present a very pleasing appearance and look to be in a very prosperous condition. As we journeyed on into the Province of Quebec, we found that the land was more swampy and not nearly so thickly populated. The people here all speak French, which made it hard for us to converse with them. We stopped at one place where we found six or eight children standing along side of the track. Some of the boys asked them if there was a Post Office near but they did not answer for they could not understand English.
One of our boys who was a High School student asked them in their native tongue if they spoke French and they answered him in French in the proper way. This is not incidentally strange as being rather peculiar to think that here, where we were meeting Canadian born children, just like ourselves, and living under the same flag, yet we could not hold speech with each other.
We passed the ancient and historic city of Quebec during the night, which was a very interesting sight. The city has been planned to look upon it as we went by. When Monday morning came we were much surprised to see the ground covered with snow at the waterfront. It was quite warm the night before.
The snow disappeared in a few hours and the sun shone brightly. The view of the mountains in the distance was very pleasing to the eye. Snow covered mountains reared their dark, rugged heads against the sky. Beautiful streams of fresh water were plentiful, while here and there small placid lakes could be seen. After we got down into New Brunswick the country seemed to be more thickly populated than in the more desert parts of Quebec. The buildings were much better and, best of all, we again came in contact with English speaking people. When we came to Camp-Hewitt, in this Province, we left the train and marched through the town which is a very pretty place.
About the size of Port Elgin. Arrived in New Castle in afternoon, Monday where we saw the largest wireless station in the world and it is something worth seeing. We got into Moncton about eight o'clock p. m., where we received a royal welcome. We got off again, and marched through the town. We arrived in Halifax about noon Wednesday, and boarded the ship
"Miramichi" in the afternoon of the same day. We started our journey across the ocean west evening, and after nine days we arrived safely in Liverpool October 25th. We remained for our camp on the morning of the 26th and arrived about eight o'clock that evening. After leaving our camp we all felt down to rest, glad to think that we were all safe and well again.
P. W. M. Dubois

Pte. Oliver Christie Writes
News Christie forwarded to The Times a very interesting letter from his son Pte. Oliver Christie, as follows:
Dear Father:
We have arrived at our camp at last.
It is a Canadian camp and contains a great many different battalions from a lot of different parts of Canada.
We left the boat "Miramichi" at Liverpool at about eight o'clock yesterday Saturday morning and got on our train immediately which landed on here last night about 6.30 p. m. The trip across England was extremely interesting. Everything we could see was new to us and we certainly enjoyed it very much. The trains themselves are considerably different from what we were used to. Our train had a coach which in Ontario would mean a tremendous passenger train but the cars are not much more than half the length of one of the coaches you are accustomed to see. Our engine draws this train and all the trains travel at a very fast rate. We had just started when the train ran through a subway under some buildings, about two or three miles in length. All what we could see of Liverpool I could not give any kind of description except that it is a very large place. The streets were narrow and the houses are built very close together. However, the country in the rural parts is very beautiful. Of course everything is different.
Houses are small and have mostly thatched roofs. There are no barns and the stables are made of brick much like the houses. Hay and crops are put up in stacks and either have a roof over each stack or are covered with long grass in a sort of thatch. Great care seems to be taken in making these stacks as they are all so wet and dirty. The fields are all very small with no particular shape most of them are rather long and narrow. These fields are separated by means of hedges and walls. I don't think you would trust the cattle in these fields for I am of the opinion that our cattle would never notice that these hedges were there, but walk right through them. However the cattle, horses, sheep and donkeys seemed to be quite contented and by the look of the grass they had a good right to be as it was very green. We saw a good many of the peculiarities of England. Among them were the old-fashioned windmills with the long sails. At one place there was a canal with a tow path along each side. There was a man driving a horse along this tow-path drawing a large barge. The barge looked quite large for our horse to be pulling. One thing I noticed about the country and that was the ploughing. Every place where there was any it was just as straight as it could be done.
We came through a great many towns and quite a number of large cities in coming from Liverpool to Surrey.
Some of the large places were Birmingham, Oxford, Reading and Gifford Oxford is the place where John Goodies was stationed for a while. I am not sure if he is still there or not. It is at Oxford where they have the aviation school.
There was one man from the station and another after we were out of there a few miles. We thought likely we would be passing through London as the men boards showed that we were getting gradually closer to it for a while until we were about 30 miles from there and we started to get farther away.
They say we are about 35 miles from there now, but I do not know what direction it is.
The country all around here seems pretty rough as far as you can see but it seems alright for a camp.
I saw some of the fellows from around home who belong to other battalions. I saw Willie Young, this morning, also Valentine Corbitt and Frank Howe who used to work in the Bank of Hamilton in Port Elgin.

Corp. Art Christian Still in the Fighting

In a letter to his mother here Corp.
Arthur Christian, who is operating a machine gun on the Somme, says:
Our brigade is now in a part of the line where everything is quiet, that is compared to the hot place we were in formerly. It is like a home to us, and it is a welcome relief for us. It is hard to form an opinion as to the duration of the struggle, but it seems to me that it will last through the winter and possibly until next fall but it can't stop any soon for me. There are pretty good things about this part of the line, we are pretty comfortable. It has been raining lately, and I suppose we will get lots of mud from now on.
Saw Jack McNeil a short time ago.
He is looking fine and is now Sergeant Young Amos has been wounded while on the Somme, and I suppose he is now in Blighty.
We are now in billets, in a little village. Expect to be out for a few days or more in the trenches.
Our positions built as bunkers, in old house here, and we are fairly comfortable. We are in close proximity to baths, so will be able to keep clean. Was without bath or change of clothes, for two months until a week ago, it is quite a change for us to be dirty in this line and it may seem funny for me to say, we are almost used to it now. It is almost impossible to keep clean in the trenches as nearly all billets and dug-outs are infested. The part of the line is also infested with rats and mice and they are a nuisance. You can't leave anything laying around or they carry it off.

We kill quite a number, but their numbers don't seem to diminish. The country will be over run with them after the war. It will soon be Xmas again and we will be in the line then.
Wish we could be at home, but perhaps we will get there sooner than we anticipate at least, let us hope so.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The Bruce Preparedness League joined in with the province of sending resolutions to the government for consideration. It was always our opinion that the League was a body of men. These kind of resolutions have been going to the government for the past year and a half from all sorts of organizations all over Canada, and each resolution going the way of all others—into the waste basket. The resolution passed at the request of a couple of military experts present. While the Times takes no exception to the passing of a compulsory law on the basis of the English system, it regrets that an important organization as the Bruce Preparedness League should have joined in when it was known that the resolutions of other bodies have been treated so lightly.

An editor from military district No. 1, was at Waterloo last week and addressed the Bruce Preparedness League. Besides remarks to fill up a few paragraphs he wasted also a resolution passed for consideration. It was easy to get the last damned, but not easy to get the first. During his address, he named ten or a dozen battalions in this district alone which were half-strength. In the same number of battalions are in each of the five districts in Canada and need the same number of men. They are in bad shape. The editor endeavored to show how badly men were needed, and then proceeded to destroy the force of his argument by saying these battalions could not get overseas because they were not fit to go. It is pathetic to see this, the keeping men waiting around, that is keeping recruiting. Why not join these half battalions, and get the men into the service for which they enlisted.

Living Up to a Responsibility

Much is expected of Canada these days. We have to be the United States' backstop. We have to be ready to engage in the war, at least we must be able to look to it for them. Then also Canada is making great quantities of munitions and is recognized as an important factor in furnishing the allies with munitions of all sorts. For it is understood that 95 per cent of people are now at work in the manufacturing of munitions. In the third place Canada is also looked to for the protection of foodstuffs.

Taking these things into consideration, Canadians are assuming and carrying out a responsibility on a magnitude scarcely dreamed of by our people.

Referring to first of the three phases, that of training men, Canada has enlisted 400,000 soldiers for the fight. Is there a man or a woman in Canada who will honestly say that two years ago they ever thought that Canada would have produced by the voluntary method 400,000 men? We think not. Many times we have had to tolerate public speakers who have changed in questionaire language that the Canadian people had done nothing, but that time is passing.

At a meeting of the Bruce Preparedness League, one of the speakers, as a legal Canadian, registered that men from other counties and districts were stamping around Bruce telling what should be done.

This brings us to the point where a suggestion might not be amiss, that otherwise poor recruits, especially the variety which belong to battalions about half strength, who are waiting and hoping that their battalions might be called up, rather than trying that they be allowed to proceed overseas and fight as soldiers.

Another thing, we are getting too many organizations. Every week we see some new organization champion staking through the land, until we are overwhelmed, and because of this, missing the main object, that of bending our efforts to the winning of the war by men, munitions and foodstuffs.

As far as judgment, the work done by the people of Bruce is in advance in methods and results compared to those we are hearing from men coming into the country for the purpose of showing us what to do. We submit that more men should be sent from Bruce to be trained and equipped, with less than that of the other districts. Although the recruiting agent has been somewhat called because of lack of leadership throughout the Dominion, there is no doubt that what the government has attempted to do will be done by Canadians to help win the war, the old battalions will receive and the men will be found. There is nothing wrong with the spirit of the people. They are however, demanding proper leadership from the men who represent them, both in the government and in opposition.

A Good Show

The military show arranged by the volunteer people of South Bruce and held in the town hall Thursday and Friday, was a first rate affair and patronized by many people from Port Elgin and district. As a result it was the best entertainment ever held in these parts. The jokes by the end men were quite fresh especially the one by Charlie Bell where he named his new cow "Port Elgin." It having gone dry lately.

Those taking part were all South Bruce people. Mr. Ryan of Paisley being the only one outside.

The lighting features were excellent and although the show was away by the end of the evening, the thing was the fact that the show was held to begin at 7:30, and it did. There were three and a half hours of fun and some interesting with a variety of fare. Those taking part are to be congratulated on the good success of the affair. Mrs. Taylor, as chairman and driver, calls it a first lot of praise and a gift of flowers on behalf of the community.

Let us Give Moderately to Each Other and Generously to the Soldiers' Families

Nineteen hundred and sixteen years ago came the very first Christmas, and for all these centuries there has returned the Great Anniversary with its message of good will to men.

And so we give gifts.

Men and women of Ontario! We who stand for good will among men and nations; we who men fight that there may at last be peace on earth—let us make this a Christmas worthy of the day it commemorates—let us lay aside a generous proportion of our Christmas money for the families of those who are fighting the good fight.

Give to the Canadian Patriotic Fund

the fund that guards the soldiers' families from want.

Great as the result will be among the families of our soldiers, greater yet may the blessing be among us, the givers. Christmas will have a more vital meaning for us than perhaps ever before, and as for the children, who can measure the impression they will receive and keep of that Christmas Day when they shared their Christmas with the loved ones of the men who saved their country!

Let each Canadian boy and girl get a lesson from this historic Christmas which will go with them all through life.

Good men and women of Ontario! Can the need of our soldiers' families cry in vain for the relief which this Fund alone makes possible? Can we—in the face of it all, again give lavishly among ourselves? Shall we not this year, with hearts full of the spirit of Christmas, lay aside a generous proportion of our Christmas money for the cause which so urgently needs it?

"Somewhere in France" he is fighting the good fight.

Somewhere in Ontario all that he holds dear is depending upon our decision.

Truly "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Ontario will be asked in January to send the Canadian Patriotic Fund that it can depend on having its million dollars in 1917 for the families of Ontario's soldiers.

Use Rubber To Save Leather —It Is Needed In The War!

Rubber Supply Is Ample—Leather Is Scarce and Very High

Leather is being worn out faster today than ever before in the history of the world, while production is considerably less than a few years ago. While the consequent shortage is keenly felt by the civilian who has to pay half as much again for his own and his family's shoes, it is even more serious for the Government, which must supply hundreds of thousands of soldiers.

Rubber, too, is being used in enormous quantities on account of the war—one British manufacturer, for instance, is working on a rubber boot order for the army which will take 14,000,000 pounds of rubber, fabric and chemicals. But the supply, thanks to the great rubber plantations in Britain's tropical Dominions, is easily keeping up with the demands, and raw rubber, despite a war tax of 7½%, is actually cheaper today than before the war. So, though the fabric and chemicals used cost nearly double, rubber footwear has not gone up very much in price.

These conditions naturally are leading thoughtful, thrifty, patriotic Canadians to save leather just as much as possible by wearing rubbers, overshoes, high rubber boots and heavy farm rubbers. In addition to the very substantial saving in cost, rubber footwear has decided advantages for wet or cold weather around the farm or in the woods. The men like it, women like the way it sheds the dirt instead of bringing it in to melt and track around the house. For the children, too, particularly if they are walking a long way to school, rubbers and overshoes mean a great deal in warmth, comfort and protection against colds.

A Little Story That Comes From Down by the Sea

This story comes from a small town in Nova Scotia. It is true, and it depicts a moral at this time when the Canadian Patriotic Fund is appealing to the people of Ontario for six million dollars to cover the calls upon the fund that are expected to be made by Ontario in 1917.

A public meeting had been held in the town in question, and an officer of the Patriotic Fund had explained the objects of the fund and the uses to which the call it makes on the patriotism, generosity, gratitude and sense of justice of the Canadian people. The next day came the Mayor of the town to the speaker with this patriotic little story on his lips.

AN IDEAL STATION

It has been said by officials of other roads that the Windsor street station is the best kept in any town. It has been, and this is due to the efforts of Mr. Hill, who is the general superintendent of the building. Certainly, the station proper, the yards, the platform, the tracks, the concourse, the waiting rooms—all bear testimony to the scrupulous care with which they are treated. There is not a scrap of paper to be seen anywhere. The motor trucks have their entrances and exits, but they never trouble the passengers.

The concourse has lately been entirely re-plastered with a color which gives the light all the necessary encouragement. The whole administration of the station and office is illogical work for precision and order and neatness. The higher officials are much interested in seeing that all is in apple pie order in a station which speaks the work of advance and provides for the future.

We all agree that love is blind when our girl falls in love with some other fellow.

Myth of the Doones.

How largely Mr. Blackmore drew upon his imagination for the story of "Lorna Doone" is made clear by the W. Blackmore in his book, "The Good Old Times." There were, in fact, no Doones. The word was simply a local boy, a modified form of "Duke," a memory of the Jarroff times when the fighting Doones battled the land. The only vestige of actuality discernible in the tale of Lorna Doone, a fugitive from the battle of Sedgemoor, to escape the banishment of Judge Jeffreys, appropriated the name of some wretched huts to recesses of the Hagworthy cleft, now the Doon valley, finding there a safe retreat in which he reared a considerable family, which managed to eke out a living by committing petty depredations in the district. The "last of the Doones," an ex-patriate, his grand-daughter, are said to have perished in the snow during the winter of 1807.

CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

The Hospital for Sick Children
COLLEGE ST., TORONTO.

Dear Mr. Editor:—
Thanks for the privilege of appearing through your columns on behalf of the Hospital for Sick Children, the great Perseus charity.

Our need of money is measured by the children's need of help, and you can judge how great that need must be when last year 3,045 sick little ones were treated as inpatients, and as will be seen from the 1916 figures, 2,321 patients were admitted from 232 places outside Toronto.

Last year 771 inpatients were treated for deformities, such as club feet, bow-legs, knock-knees, Pott's disease of the spine, lateral curvature of the spine, dislocation, infantile paralysis, tubercular disease of knee, hip, ankle. Is the Hospital for Sick Children to take tolls out of your pocket for death to take babies out of their cradles? That is the question.

One gift more in the Hospital's treasury means one extra bed in the LITTLE WHITE HEARSE.

The Hospital must be digging up help for little children from the soil of human almsgiving or donations will be digging graves for little children to the soil of many a cemetery.

The Hospital for Sick Children can only volunteer its money in so far as the friends of little children can give. Your money fight in the trenches of some mother's trouble and rescue some little child from the dupes of pain, disease and death.

Can the Hospital leave children to die because the fathers of those children have left home to fight for the very on the British battle line, and can the Hospital help the children of Canadian soldiers with its care unless you help the Hospital with your cash?

You have money enough to help every other war effort without keeping back a dollar from the Hospital's war fund—the fund that helps the Hospital save the lives of little children, including the soldiers' little children.

Do not let the little children pay, to the loss of the Hospital's care, the contribution that should be given and must be given to the war funds.

Your money can send a message of cheer to some father in the trenches. You send that message from the cot where the Hospital nurses some little child back to life, the child of the father who is fighting your battle in the trenches.

Every dollar kept from the line gives power to serve the little children a weight added to the burdens and a grief added to the sorrows of this war.

You can bear to have your pocket emptied of a little money easier than some can bear to have a war supply of a little child.

Will you send a dollar or more to the Hospital, to Doctor Davidson, Secretary Treasurer, or

J. ROSS ROBERTSON,
Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Increases Your Weight, Restores Your Strength, Prevents Illness

Every day comes new evidence to that great army of men and women who rejoice in new-found health that came to them through the use of that wonderful blood-purifying preparation called "FERRODOSE." Very simple how it acts. All you have to do is take a chocolate-coated tablet with a sip of water at the close of each meal.

Ferrodose is a marvel. It contains just what this blood lacks—lots of iron, but mark you, the kind of iron your blood is able to absorb. Ferrodose purifies and vitalizes the blood. Makes it rich, red and nourishing. Naturally the body is better fed and stronger.

Iron deficiency must be improved, and probably the stomach will require aid as well. Ferrodose serves the purpose admirably. Those who use it, enjoy appetite and digestive powers far beyond the ordinary.

That tired feeling is replaced by the buoyant, joyous sensation of health and vigor. Day by day as your strength increases, you feel your energy surging through your veins, and know that a great tonic of great merit is at work.

It does more than nourish or up-lifting, no treatment so sure to bring lasting health, good spirits and contentment.

What a wonderful tonic! It cures what run-down folks need. It cures because it supplies pure nutritious food that you can eat in any other way for five or six for $2.50 at all dealers, or by mail from The Ferrodoze Co., Kingston, Ont.

NOT HIS JOB

"I'm not supposed to do that," said he.

"That's just what you are doing," said she.

"I'm not supposed to do that," said he.

"That's just what you are doing," said she.

"That's just what you are doing," said she.

And time went on and he kept his place. But he never allowed his place to be a hindrance to his work. And time went on and he kept his place. But he never allowed his place to be a hindrance to his work.

If you want to grow in this world, young man, you must do every day all the work you can.

If you find a task, though it be not your job, do it.

And it should be done, take care of it. And you'll never consider or care if you do only the things you're supposed to do.

The New Army
On the Somme

It was given to me to complete a month's service at the front by taking part in the Somme offensive. What improved me morally was the wonderful organization and preparation for the attack, which was a real thing, a new chapter in the conduct of the war.

From the making of roads in the laying down of water supplies, everything seemed to have been thought out and what is more important still at the crucial moment to work without a hitch—a marked improvement on anything that had been witnessed before.

Of the British soldier himself I can speak too lightly. He clearly proved in the present offensive that once as grips with the German he was a better soldier. It had not been so before. The German machine guns I think we should have broken right through the line long ago, considering the period of training, the new armies have acquitted themselves beyond expectation and have splendidly maintained our traditions.

I shall never forget the way the soldiers of the new armies went through barrages of hostile shell fire in a manner worthy of the best disciplined troops. The spirit of our men was what I belonged only one man proved to the contrary, and he was brought to a non-combatant part of the work—a very remarkable thing. He would be abnormal in a division in the day to have 200 men reporting sick for slight or serious ailments. Here if weakness was needed by the little of our officers, we saw that their own desire is to get at the German.

I saw one of my battalions going through a barrage which seemed the impossible to penetrate, and the division broke through in a perfect manner. But for the very high individual standard of intelligence I do not think the great fighting quality of the new armies could have been so high. I saw one of our officers who was wounded in the attack, and he was brought to a non-combatant part of the work—a very remarkable thing. He would be abnormal in a division in the day to have 200 men reporting sick for slight or serious ailments. Here if weakness was needed by the little of our officers, we saw that their own desire is to get at the German.

Capt. Robertson May Run

"Well, I think I'll give Mr. Lizard a fight first."

The above was the reply of Capt. Robertson when asked by the Times if he had any notion of contesting the re-election. It will be remembered that Capt. Robertson gave Reeve Lizard a contest two years ago.

Last year there was no contest, so recognition being accorded the entire council. But from the emphasis Mr. Robertson placed on his answer to our question, it looks like a fight.

It is not known definitely whether all the old councillors will stand for re-election.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

A scientist says we must abolish handkerchiefs, that they carry germs. Well, those are big bag news will have to see their abates.

David Lloyd George is matched against the bloody Kaiser. David is so, a very large man, neither was David, or old when he went into a few smooth shaves. Kaiser Wilhelm, the Goliath of Germany, was his finish. It may be a year hence, but it's his finish.

A society in Denmark, studying the effects of the war, reported recently on the human cost of the conflict for the past two years. After a careful study it finds that in the two years four million six hundred thousand soldiers were killed, and almost eleven and a quarter millions wounded, of whom nearly three and a half millions suffered permanent disability. This figures out that the total loss is near eight millions, or equal to the wiping out of all the people of Canada. When it is taken into consideration that the loss is entirely of males in the prime of life, the cost of two years of war is staggering.

Occasional benefactors are being made to the fact that the townships are not meeting their responsibilities in connection with the Patriotic Funds. The grants by council of $500 or $1,000 for canvassing for a thousand dollars, it is argued, is hardly being felt by farmers. So far as this district is concerned the townships, it may be, do not show up quite as large as some would like, when Port Elgin's gifts are taken into consideration, but it must be remembered that a township campaign is much harder to organize than a town canvass. However, the towns do not need to take too much credit to themselves. It must not be forgotten there will be calls for 1917, and there may be calls in 1918. It's the walk that wins.

Christmas 1916

For reasons we all well understand, the "Merry Christmas" hardly has the joyous ring of other years. Christmas 1916 finds the old world full of sorrow and grief, and the outlook not the pleasantest. Yet there never was a time when good cheer was needed so much as now. In many homes for the first time the husband and father is absent. In many homes the stalwart son has gone, in nearly every family to the warring countries anxiety and grief exist. There will be sadness in these places, and it becomes the duty of everyone to speak the word of courage wherever possible. In this great crisis through which our beloved Empire is passing there will go out from the heart of every serious minded man and woman the prayer that the Giver of all Good will lighten the burden, and that ere another Yuletide has swung round, we may hear o'er all the land the glad song of "Peace on Earth, Good-will to Men."

What the Home Paper

There never was a more critical time for a lot of the small town papers than the present. The old dollar rate, which has been in vogue since the time of Noah has had to give, and a new rate of 80 cents, which, after all, scarcely makes up for the constant rise in printing materials, has had to come in force. This, and the fact that many communities have advanced, have made it hard for the small town newspaper. Frequently people will compare the big city weekly or daily in bulk with the little town weekly. But suppose it is compared another way. Do these other papers give you the home news correctly and honestly? Do they have any notion of what your children are doing in the day school or the Sunday school? Are they concerned about the welfare of your town, your church, your lodge or yourselves? Not to get a little nearer, when trouble comes in the home, are these foreign papers of service then? Take whatever papers you like, but honestly, is it wisdom to read out the "old home paper" from the home?

WHY DOES THE CANADIAN PATRIOTIC FUND REQUIRE SO MUCH MONEY?

This question is often asked, by persons and by municipal councils, when the matter of giving to the Fund is brought before them.

They are entitled to the most complete answer, for the Fund is the people's. They create it and they who must maintain it.

Now for the reasons. There are 149,230 of them.

The Fund asks for so much money because Canada has given her men so lavishly to the Cause. Between 300,000 and 400,000 have volunteered. If their families need help, this provides it. In October 53,693 families did need it. These families comprised 149,230 persons all other mothers, wives or children. Is it any wonder that so great a Need requires so great a

HOW GREAT IS THE NEED OF MONEY

The sum expended in October, 1916, was.....	$891,514.00
The average payment to each family was.....	16.29
The average payment to each person was.....	5.73
The cost of administration was.....	15,161.00

Pay special attention to the figures concerning cost of administration—including expenses for raising money. It is the ambition of the managers of the Fund to keep the cost of raising and disbursing it below that of any voluntary fund ever created in Canada. Their aim is to have the cost of administration as low as possible. The sum received in October at interest on moneys in banks was $11,500. Take this from the cost of administration. The remainder is $4,000. And that, then is all that had to be deducted from sums paid in.

That is to say, of every $100 paid by generous givers, $99.46 reached the families.

Is not that economy which should give confidence to every subscriber?

Does the magnitude of the Fund, as well as its importance, begin to impress you, Mr. is-being-asked-to-subscribe-$100, or you, Gentlemen of the Municipal Council, who are to vote $100,000 for 1917? Does the REQUEST look as large as it did now that you know more of the NEED?

Since the war began the people of Canada have subscribed to this Fund.....	$16,195,000
For 1917 they will be asked to give—and will give.....	12,500,000
Of this sum Ontario is being asked to guarantee—and will guarantee—at least.....	6,000,000

This is one million more than in 1916, but every dollar will be required for Ontario's fair share much chance for individuals or counties to economize by cutting down their contribution. On the contrary, the giving must be on a scale more generous than ever. And why not? FIGHT, isn't it a Privilege rather than an Obligation to PAY?

ONE WORD MORE:

No man should ignore his personal responsibility towards the families of those who for him, simply because his Municipal Council is taxing him slightly for the same object these people far more. Perhaps he is too poor to pay more. If not, it is up to him to give cheque to his local Patriotic Fund Committee, or mail it to

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Evidence that comes to hand from day to day shows that the Province is getting the honest and thorough enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act. Too much credit cannot be given to the Provincial Board of Commissioners for their insisting upon the discharge of duty by every law enforcing official. Certain it is that the new law is better observed and more thoroughly enforced than was the license law of this Province.

With all the high cost of living did any one say the men who carry our rural routes should receive more for their work. Some of the routes out of Port Elgin bring the carriers very low pay when it is considered a couple of horses must be kept and a distance of from twenty to forty miles driven daily. The Postmaster general ought to have consideration of these men who through rain or shine, cold and snow are making the rural route system a success.

If the Allies take the German peace proposal seriously it is more likely to be after the news has been confirmed that the Kaiser is going to let his people have a free parliament and responsible government and a franchise that isn't a farce. It is Prussian militarism that makes Germany the road hog of Europe. It is Prussian militarism that the Allies are after; it is Prussian militarism that the German people themselves were after in 1848; it is Prussian militarism that as good a German as Maximilian Helden is after to day; and the Allies know that the German people will take proper care of it when they get a chance.

We notice that ministerial associations are protesting against newspapers publishing liquor ads. This paper declines such ads, as do many others. Those who do not, have a right to do as they please, as it is their capital that is locked up in the publishing venture. The churches could make their protest stronger if they would spend money in advertising and then show they were willing to help make up falling revenue for those who decline the advertising—Kinecardine Reporter. A more sincere method would be for Christian people to refuse to have in their homes newspapers or magazines carrying booze advertising.

What is known as the "Strength of Britain" Movement is making great progress in the Mother Country. An imposing Memorial has been prepared, requesting the Government to enact National Prohibition that England may thus be enabled to put forth her whole strength in the great war. The Memorial is being very largely signed by representative men from every calling in life. It is significant that Lloyd George, who is looked upon as the most outspoken opponent of the liquor traffic is now Premier. It is almost certain that further drastic restrictions will be enacted.

Premier Lloyd George says there must be "complete restitution, full reparation and effectual guarantees" before the allies will discuss peace. Press comment in Germany is now veering toward peace, and one newspaper even goes so far as to suggest it would cost less to pay indemnity for Belgium than to continue the war. It may be that peace is nearer than we think, but certain it is that for all this blood letting, murder and pillage Germany has suffered little. No man will wish for a continuation of the awful struggle, but there will be disappointment if the Prussian Associate are not made to feel some of the sufferings which they forced upon the people of little Belgium.

THE EDITOR

A District Police Magistrate

The heavy fine placed by justices of the peace on two young men in this district recently, is having the effect of stirring up things generally.

In a recent issue The Times suggested that either a special officer should be appointed to try liquor cases, or else the privilege of grading fines by justices of the peace be stopped.

Last week Inspector White visited Port Elgin for the purpose of making further inquiry regarding the $100 and costs against the young men, and it is understood that the inspector will recommend to the board of Commissioners at Toronto that one fine be refunded. In discussing with The Times the suggestion of a special officer to try liquor cases the inspector estimated that along with his report would go a recommendation that a police magistrate should be appointed.

The name of Mr. J. W. Reany has been mentioned as a very acceptable man for the southern portion of Bruce county, while that of Mr. Miller, of Warton, is suggested for the North. Whatever comes out of these inquiries the people will accept, but it is one thing sure that no matter whether in liquor cases, or what, the people have a right to expect justice and fair play, and they look to the government and its officials to make good in this connection.

Our Duty for 1917

The year 1916 was one in which Port Elgin citizens put themselves on record as being generous towards the Patriotic fund.

The year 1917 is swinging in, and with it comes a greater need by the Patriotic Fund. In 1916 over $3000 was given to the fund, and we believe that every citizen is proud to have had a share in a work that has made a name for the people of this town. Many a place in the Dominion has been, and is being, asked to follow our example.

This is a very fine. With the war still in a critical stage and the needs of the Patriotic fund greater than ever, it will not do for our people to say "we have done enough." Instead we must lead for 1917. In the last campaign we adopted the plan of monthly payments for six months. For 1917 with the need greater we shall have to raise more money. Why not begin earlier with our pledges? The slogan of "Fight or Pay" is still to the unheeded.

Doing Our Bit

All of us cannot fight. All of us—men, women and children—can do something towards winning the war. Are we seeking that "something," or are we evading it? Are we looking for the "bit" we should do, or trying to forget it?

Take the Canadian Patriotic Fund. It has been created to care for the families of our soldiers in those cases—and those only—where need exists. Experience has shown that this means in two families out of three. Up to December 1, 1916, the people of Canada have given $16,500,000 to the Fund.

That is generous giving, isn't it? But the country is still at war, our armies are still growing; the soldiers' families are still in need; the Fund still must be maintained. And what do we find: in every part of the country men crying that they have given enough to the Fund—that Government should now take the burden.

Given enough? When the Canadian lad in the trenches is dead-tired, ready to drop in his tracks, does he chuck his job, declare he has given enough, and call on Government to get another man? Given enough? Is there a man in Canada who has ever thought if women and children are in need while he, the stay-at-home, has a dollar to spare?

No! This Fund, above all funds, has a claim on every citizen who is not himself a pauper. The fact that Government has not assumed responsibility for it is the fact that makes every man responsible for it—even if he thinks the Fund should be maintained by Government moneys.

GOVERNMENT SHOULD NOT CONTROL, BECAUSE

1. Government would have to treat all alike. The Fund helps only those in need. If Government paid the families of each soldier the average sum paid by the Fund the extra burden on the country would be between eight and nine million dollars yearly.

2. By paying the average sum those families in districts where cost of living is low would receive more than they need; those in high-cost areas would be paid too little.

3. Costs of administration would be enormously increased. This work is now done, for the most part, by willing workers without cost. Of every hundred dollars subscribed, ninety-nine dollars and forty-six cents go to the families! Never was a voluntary fund so economically administered.

4. The work would suffer. There would be no more of the friendly, almost paternal, relation now existing between the administrators of the Fund and the families. Government works automatically. The Fund's visitors are friends in need, therefore friends indeed.

5. Taxation would be unequal, for some counties and some provinces are already taxing their people for this Fund. Are they to be taxed again by the Federal authority?

6. The richer classes would be relieved of work they are cheerfully doing. They are now bearing, and bearing because they have the financial power and the patriotic willingness, the larger share of the burden. Why take from them this task, and give it to all, rich and poor?

7. The Fund blesses him that gives. It is a vehicle for public spirit—a channel for patriotic endeavor. The work of administering it has uncovered unknown reservoirs of unselfishness and sacrifice. Men and women have thrown themselves into this work because they found in it the "bit" for which they looked—their contribution to winning the war. Why stay their hand and stifle their enthusiasm?

8. Last, but not least: Government control means raising the money by selling Government bonds. Government bonds mean future taxation. And that means that the returning soldiers will pay, through long years, a large share of the cost of caring for their families—a cost we, the stay-at-homes, pledged ourselves to bear.

MEN AND WOMEN OF ONTARIO:

Send your backs once again to this burden. If you live in the rural districts see to it that your county council make grants worthy of the counties and of the cause. If in the towns, start campaigns for individual subscription. And personally, tax or not tax, give as you can afford, give as your conscience tells you is your duty, your war-time part, in this day of national sacrifice.

The Fund raised $12,400,000 for 1917. Of this Ontario is asked to give $4,000,000, being the estimated requirement of Ontario's families. If there is no local Fund to which you can subscribe, send your gift direct to the Canadian Patriotic Fund, 700-701, Ottawa.
